Prodisee Pantry and The Fairhope Store are partnering again this holiday season in a campaign to shine a light a on the invisible issue in our communities — HUNGER. More than 1500 families in Fairhope alone depend on Prodisee Pantry for emergency food and hope. "Our volunteers provide fresh fruits and vegetables, meats, milk, cheese and staple grocery items to the 14,000 Baldwin County families who will visit Prodisee Pantry this year. For just $20, we can feed a family of four for a week," says Executive Director Deann Servos. "While canned food drives and other projects are awesome, we can stretch dollars so much further. Prepare your lawn for fall and winter

By WENDI WILLIAMS
Alabama Extension Service

Cold weather and frosts mark the end of the growing season and the start of fall and winter. Now is a great time to prepare your lawn for the fall and winter months. It is time to get back outside and start clean-ups, preparations and plantings for the spring.

“Here are some actions you can take to prepare your lawn for the fall and winter months,” said Rudy Pacumbaba, an Alabama Extension horticulture specialist.

Remove Finished and Dead Plants

Overwintering plant litter can harbor pests and diseases. Tilling under pest and disease free litter is an option. Be sure to replenish your compost pile with pest and disease free plant litter. Always remove diseased litter to promote good sanitation and to prevent future pest problems.

Build a Compost

Nature also works during winter. A finished compost can be used as a soil amendment. Litter from a finished garden is ideal to replenish the compost pile. Remember the three Rs: reduce, reuse and recycle.

Cut the Grass

Cut warm season lawns to a height of 1-2 inches and cool season lawns to a height of 3-4 inches. If you are in an area that receives snow and cold, cutting the grass too short may damage roots and cause sections to die out. If the grass is left too long, blades could mat under snow and develop mold disease that can causes bare spots in the spring.

Fertilize Lawns and Control Weeds

Apply a winter fertilizer to cool season lawns to encourage thicker root growth. Warm-season lawns go dormant and turn to amber shades after frost. Warm-season lawns really don’t benefit from applying fertilizers in the fall.

Fall and winter is the best time to get a head start on controlling lawn weeds. Apply a granular pre-emergent weed control in the fall and late winter. A pre-emergent will control fall, winter and early spring weeds. It will also greatly reduce or eliminate the amount of weeds in your lawn during the growing season.

Drain Irrigation Systems

Turn off your automated sprinkler and irrigation system and properly drain. Blow out the systems to avoid damage from freezing and thawing temperatures. Call the company that installed your system if you’re unsure how to do this. Drain and coil hoses for winter storage. Remove hose nozzles, sprayers and wands. Store these items in a non-freezing spot such as a garage or basement. Cover and insulate outside hose bibs.

Add Mulch to Landscapes

Adding mulch helps to manage soil moisture. Mulch can also help to manage soil temperature and to add organic material to the soil profile as well. Adding a good layer of mulch around dormant perennials can prevent potential winter damage during very cold months. It is recommended to provide a minimum of 3 inches of mulch in and around your planting beds.

Prune Perennials

Winter is the best time to prune plants and flowering beds. Shrubs and trees require periodic pruning to remove diseased or dead material, to help control and direct growth, and to prevent potential hazards. Ornamental grasses are best pruned during the spring.

Divide and plant perennial bulbs. Late fall and winter is the best time to divide and plant. If it blooms on “new” wood, prune it in winter and spring. If it blooms on “old” wood, prune it in summer and fall. It’s essential that you prune after flowering.

More Information

More information about caring for your lawn this winter can be found in the Extension publication Winter Maintenance for Lawns and Landscapes. For further information, visit www.aces.edu or contact your county Extension office.

Outdoor Conditions Report: As our waters start the typical winter cooling pattern, Redfish and Speckled Trout begin stacking up in the inshore rivers and creeks. Finding them can be tricky. Weak incoming tides along with north winds can make it even more challenging. If you’re after Redfish, try looking for sheltered coves with grass beds along the shore and quick drop offs to deeper water.

Try bumping a plastic paddle tail shad with a lead head off the bottom to entice a bite. Speckled Trout like to drop down into deep holes and troughs. Live or plastic shrimp worked right off the bottom might do the trick. Sheepshead respond to the cooling water by heading offshore and can be found around the near shore gas platforms and gulf side piers. Gulf State Park Pier in Gulf Shores offers great Sheepshead action this time of year. Live shrimp or fiddler crabs are the bait of choice. If you’re heading out there, keep an eye on the weather, bundle up and be safe!

with storage, a Media Center with collaborative seating, two new parking areas totaling 198 spaces for student and staff parking, and security cameras incorporated into the entire campus. The total cost was $8.639 million.

“We’re here to celebrate and also to check a box, a very important box, on the addition here at Elberta High School,” said Superintendent Eddie Tyler. “We’ve been working on this for a long time and now it’s here, and it’s a beautiful new facility.”

Adams Stewart Architects designed the new wing, and Bayshore Construction was the contractor. Both have worked with the school board on a multitude of recent projects. The new addition to Elberta is part of the Baldwin County School Board’s “pay as you go” plan, which has been rolled out in phases to bring new additions to schools and new campuses to accommodate the recent growth. The plan has been instrumental in school constructions as it was designed to create debt-free expansions throughout the county.

“Through the efforts of our CFO John Wilson and managing our money well and our board having a vision and working with myself and our staff, these things are reality now,” Tyler said.

At each ribbon cutting ceremony a book is donated to the school’s library. This time Tyler presented “Bay Boy: Stories of a Childhood in Point Clear, Alabama” by Watt Key to be added to the new media center.

Principal Branton Bailey has even more plans for the campus as he looks forward to the future and the continued growth of the school.

“This is a community that is very strong in kindness,” he said. “This is a big day for Elberta. This building was thought of long ago, and a lot of people helped make it come together.”

The “pay as you go” phases began in 2015 after the school board gave approval on the project. On the horizon will be even more improvements and new constructions, including the completion of the Elberta High School parking lot and landscaping. Students have already taken their new facility to heart, helping with maintaining the construction and taking pride in their school. Along with school improvements, town improvements will follow.

“We were here when this was a dream, and it’s still a dream, but it’s a dream that’s come true,” said Mayor Jim Hamby. “This is a tremendous addition to the town of Elberta, it has created a level of sense of community that wasn’t here before. The town wants to do our part as well, and we will be paving the streets around the school including Illinois Street, School Street, and Chicago Street. We’re still going forward, still moving in the right direction, and still going to get even better.”

of just $5 — enough to feed one family of four for one day. Diners and shoppers at participating restaurants and merchants may add $5 to their restaurant tab or bill as a direct donation to Prodissee Pantry. “This is a simple concept supporting Prodissee Pantry, a treasure in this community,” offers Lisette Normann of The Fairhope Store. “It’s stunning how many families are depending on them every week to put any food on the table. And these are our neighbors.”

Prodissee Pantry is non-profit community ministry providing food and disaster relief for 14,000 families a year throughout Baldwin County. Since its founding in 2003, over 148,00 families or 356,000 individuals have depended on Prodissee Pantry as a weekly “hub” for food and more at its facility on Highway 31 in Spanish Fort. “We are helping single parents, the unemployed or under-employed, families in transition, homeless, retirees or grandparents raising grandchildren,” says Servos. “It can be the loss of one paycheck, or unexpected medical expenses that can create a crisis.”

“What impresses me is Prodissee Pantry isn’t about groceries for life, says Normann. “They understand if a family needs groceries there’s more going on. They bring together other social services every Tuesday along with employers. It’s a hub to help them get back on their feet.”

One Family One Day campaign will run through the end of December across Baldwin County. Panini Pete’s, Sunset Grill, Ed’s Seafood Shed kick off the restaurant partnerships in Fairhope — with more being added daily. Additional restaurants and merchants will be posted to The Fairhope Store and Prodissee Pantry social media throughout the month.

ROSINTON — As it has countless times before, the community of Rosinton came out Saturday, Nov. 16 to support its school, and to celebrate its 100th anniversary.

The school's cafeteria was filled with 100 years of memories: old photographs, newspaper clippings, and school annuals, along with information on the history of the school.

Outside, under tents, the Rev. Wesley Enfinger of Lighthouse Baptist Church gave the blessing and a meal was served consisting of pulled pork, Cole slaw, chips and drinks, and a variety of desserts, followed by a Following an introduction by school Principal Andy Benton, event coordinator Tiffany Driver and Rosinton School students led in the Pledge of Allegiance.

F.B. Ellison presented a history of the school and former faculty reminisced about their time at the school, including former principals Joel "Mr. E" Earlandson and Dr. Theresa Hardin.

Rosinton School was first built in 1919 with two classrooms and a library with Lillian Kennedy as its first principal. It was the consolidation of three small schools: Antioch, Rosinton and Wilcox. It was the first in the county to be built on the "State Aid Plan."

The first school had two teachers with an enrollment of 140 students in grades first through 10th grade. In 1921, a third teacher was added and in 1923, two more classrooms were built and a fourth teachers was added. At the same time, Holinger and Styx River schools were also consolidated.

Robertsdale High School was built in 1925, at which time the ninth and 10th grades were moved and Rosinton became a first through eighth grade facility.

Several more additions were built to the old school through the years before a new school was

New CACC pushing workforce development

Local leaders welcome Craig Pouncey, new president of Coastal Alabama Community College

By GUY BUSBY

BAY MINETTE —
After about a month on the job, Coastal Alabama Community College’s

new president told local business leaders and officials that he plans to realign some school leadership and emphasize workforce development and training.

Pouncey, who took office Oct. 1, met Tuesday, Nov. 19, with representatives from the county’s five chambers of commerce and local officials at a reception at the college. The event was sponsored by the area chambers.

“I’m starting my fifth week here and I have recognized a couple of things. Number one, how important the chambers are and how well the chambers of the various parts of Baldwin County work together,” Pouncey said. “Secondly, I realize this institution means a lot to this county and has always served this county well.”

Pouncey said he plans to develop a strong partnership with the chambers and business community to help train the county’s workers for the future.

“We’re ready to move ahead. We’ve been working through a realignment. We’ve gotten approval to move forward with a realignment which will bring in some new leadership in some different areas,” Pouncey said. “One area is a dean of workforce development that I know will be a resource for our chambers. We’ve got to Baldwin County and this school as well.”

Donna Watts, president and chief executive officer of the South Baldwin Chamber of Commerce said the local business community is also ready to work with CACC on workforce development and other issues.

“As chambers of commerce, we are here to support you, partner with you,” she said. “This college is critically important to our community, so we look forward to you being a part of all of us.”

Before taking office at CACC replacing the retiring Gary Branch, Pouncey served as superintendent of education of Jefferson County Schools since 2014. He has been in education for 38 years, according to reports.

The Catholic Social Services Offices were also completely renovated and expanded to include the Pregnancy Center, which had been housed in a modular building next to the CSS offices.

Beam also expressed thanks to Vance McGown and his crew who completed the renovations.

After starting the program as a sixth grader, Austin raised more than $9,000 for the program last year and said his goal for this year is $10,000.

The facility serves the entire Baldwin community. Annually, more than 2,300 people are assisted, often more than once a year. It is estimated more than 90 percent of those who are helped are not Catholic.

Operation Christmas Child announces local drop-off sites

FOLEY — This month, sites in the Baldwin County area will be among 5,000 U.S. drop-off locations collecting shoebox gifts for children overseas during Operation Christmas

Child's National Collection Week, Nov. 18-25. Area families, churches and groups are busy transforming empty shoeboxes into fun gifts filled with toys, school supplies and hygiene items. The Samaritan's Purse project partners with local churches across the globe to deliver these tangible expressions of God's love to children affected by war, disease, disaster, poverty and famine. For many of these children, it will be the first gift they have ever received.

This year, Baldwin County residents hope to collect more than 24,000 gifts to contribute to the 2019 global goal of reaching 11 million children.

"I love seeing the local community rally together for a global impact," said Regional Director Shelli Wishard

"We see all ages getting involved — and more and more every year." First Baptist Church, 1201 Hand Ave., Bay Minette: 9 to 11 a.m.

Thanksgiving Service held in Lillian

By SALLY MCKINNEY

The sanctuary at St. Joseph Catholic Church in Lillian was filled to capacity as the Optimist Club of Perdido Bay hosted the Alabama Bicentennial Community Thanksgiving Service. This is an annual event shared by pastors from Lillian, rotating to a different church each year. It was especially appropriate to have the service at St. Joseph in the bicentennial year, as it was the first church in Lillian, established in 1914. Many of the Lillian congregations used the original chapel on Santa Piedro Street and US Highway 98 to conduct services until their churches were built. Participating in this year's event were Lillian United Methodist Church, Bayside Baptist Church, New Mt. Marriah Missionary Baptist Church, Eternal Life Christian and Missionary Alliance Church, First Baptist Church of Lillian and Lillian Fellowship. Divine Revelation Deliverance Center was scheduled, but was unable to participate due to a family emergency. After the service in the church, participants gathered in Immaculate Mary Hall for music by church choirs from St. Joseph, LUMC, Mt. Marriah and Bayside Baptist. The food was provided by the Optimist Club and St. Joseph Church. Fellowship was enjoyed by all who attended. The 2020 Community Thanksgiving Service will be hosted by Bayside Baptist Church.

Faust announces bid for second term as revenue commissioner

Baldwin County Revenue Commissioner Teddy Faust recently announced he will be seeking another term in his current position.

“I’ve been blessed and humbled to be able to serve the people of Baldwin County for two terms as your Revenue Commissioner, and I ask for your help and support as I seek a third term in this role,” Faust said. “I want to be able to continue the great work our revenue department has been able to accomplish and keep making sure that we protect the property rights and values for our citizens.”

Faust was first elected in 2008 and re-elected in 2014 for the position, and points to several initiatives undertaken at the revenue department under his tenure as positive changes for Baldwin County.

“We’ve been able to equalize property values countywide and maintained incredible efficiency and customer service across the county for people,” Faust said. “We’ve also worked to expand and provide information about home-stead exemptions to our citizens who qualify.”

Faust has also streamlined Baldwin County’s collections process by implementing a banking “lock box” system that processes property tax payments efficiently and securely.

Faust helped lead the county’s revenue department to become the first in the state to be able to make electronic disbursements to the county’s public schools, municipalities, county government and volunteer fire departments.

Faust also helped pass legislation that changed the delinquent tax sale to a tax lien sale, which helps protect property owners’ rights. In the past, the county would auction properties with unpaid taxes and sell them for those taxes, including excess funds on the appraised value of property.

“This new method charges an interest on the amount of the tax only,” Faust said. “It’s a big win for the property owners and our citizens.”

Faust has served as past president of the Association of Alabama Tax Administrators and formed the bylaws for the Alabama Chapter of the International Association of Assessment Officers.

Faust is a lifelong resident of Baldwin County, graduated from Fairhope High School and he received a degree in Finance from the University of South Alabama. Prior to being elected Revenue Commissioner, Faust served as a Certified Real Estate Appraiser with R.L. Farmer & Co. for 15 years.

Faust is married to Jennifer Moore Faust for 32 years and has one daughter Elizabeth Rebecca “Lizzy”.

do, those tests probably would come back the same. It’s not just about what Fairhope is doing, it’s a huge campaign where everybody has a part to play. Water knows no boundaries.”

So, what is Fairhope doing? The giant black sewer lines currently waiting to be lowered into the ground is the beginning of four years of sewer work that will essentially rehabilitate and/or replace defective sewer lines in the city.

Richard Peterson, superintendent of utilities, said to do that, you must start at the beginning, where the sewer lines meet the wastewater plant, located north of City Hall, which was upgraded in 2013.

Restore funds money amounting to $10 million will help pay for the rehabilitation of old gravity collection mains. Several existing lift stations will also be replaced or rebuilt. Most wastewater under the city is moved by gravity, down pipes built into the naturally downward sloping topography, into lift stations where the water is pumped back up to the top of another hill and sent, downhill, to the next lift station.

After flowing through these series of underground roller coasters, the water eventually reaches the wastewater treatment plant.

The problem, Peterson said, is that those lift stations, were built for far fewer gallons of water than currently pump through them.

“On a normal day we may peak at a flow rate 3 million gallons a day of water flowing through but during the heaviest part of some rain events we’re peaking at a rate of 7 – 8 million gallons a day,” Peterson said. “The pumps at the lift stations and the gravity mains they discharge into were not designed to handle that much

The result is overflows, into the streets, into neighborhood yards and into the bay. Peterson said the only way to fix it, and try to keep the flow consistent, is to start at the treatment plant and work outward.

“We’re trying to do it in a systematic way, so each new project gives us an opportunity to upgrade every flow that comes to that particular location,” he said. “The growth hasn’t slowed down for the last three or four years. We think that momentum will continue, and we need to be prepared for it.”

Reviving the aging sewer lines is the immediate fix. Wilson said the city is also looking forward to solutions that do not yet exist.

First, is the introduction of legislation by U.S. Sen. Doug Jones (D) who met with city officials to discuss the pollution problems. Jones said his team was able to quickly draft legislation that will be introduced next year as part of the Water Resources Development Act to encourage the sharing of data regarding water quality between municipalities. It does not create any new federal mandates.

“This is not a new issue for Fairhope,” Jones said. “They don’t have the information necessary to know what is going on upstream. This will create a repository where information is shared so that any issues can be addressed.

“We’ve seen the issues with the water quality throughout the Black Belt area so it doesn’t take a real scientist to understand those issues can filter down into Mobile Bay and to Fairhope,” Jones said. “It was really easy to understand that, unless they can talk and exchange information with the people upstream, nothing is going to get done.”

Wilson said she hopes that once communities begin talking and sharing data they can move forward toward innovative solutions.

She said the city is looking at an incentivized challenge that will send the problem out to engineers and designers to allow them to propose solutions to help clean the bay, rather than simply hire someone to tackle the job.

“We’re going to have to really bring the most creative people around,” she said. “Let’s treat this as a state of emergency. It’s part awareness and then its part having accessible funds that can help everyone do their part. If we can get the help we need there is economic impact for the whole state to improve the health of Mobile Bay.”

Jones said he was “excited” to see the city moving towards looking to solutions not just within its own borders but throughout the watershed.

“Baldwin County is one of fastest growing counties in Alabama. Fairhope in particular has become this mecca for people who are either moving there or talking about moving. This is an important economic development issue for the whole county,” Jones said. “At the end of the day clean, fresh water is a bipartisan issue that everyone should be working towards.”

Local film revives the legend of King Arthur

A magical, mythical world nestled in the woods of Baldwin County

By ALLISON MARLOW
allisonm@gulfcoastmedia.com

They laughed out loud — a couple of elves, the dark queen and the human sitting at the head of the picnic table surrounded by very real, heavy and lengthy swords. She was telling a joke that had the group in stitches.

Passersby glanced at the horses dressed in royal regalia. They stopped and stared at the human-like creature painted completely blue all the way to the top of her pointy ears.

When Shari Prestwood holds a staff meeting, it tends to turn heads, even when held deep in the woods.

cast of characters have spent much of the past year re-imagining the lost years of King Arthur through the movie, “Beyond the Myst,” being filmed in Baldwin County.

Prestwood, well known throughout Baldwin and Mobile counties for her work with the Mobile Ballet, Joe Jefferson Players and in the theatre department at the University of South Alabama, has spent the last several years writing the book, “Beyond the Myst,” with the help of two other authors.

When her husband passed away several years ago, her close friends gave her a very special gift, she says, the gift of work.

“My husband had just died the year before so they were kind of looking for something to make me think of something else,” she says. “So they gave me the gift of a major project to undertake.”

The project has blossomed into dozens of weekends sweltering in the Alabama summer sun to film Empress Morgana plotting in the deep woods, as elves disappear in and out of the forest’s undergrowth. There are horses, and sweeping battle scenes yet to be filmed. There are choreographed sword fights in which the weapons are every bit as heavy and real as they look.

The costumes are handcrafted, often by specialty companies overseas that painstakingly recreate historically accurate armor patterns. Every detail medieval world.

Every actor, stage hand and even the horses are volunteers.

“People are very generous with their time and talent,” Prestwood said. “We get people from all walks of life. You meet people you would have never met before with unique talents. They are all so excited and that makes me feel good.”

Organizations such as the Church of the Redeemer have loaned costume pieces. Fort Conde and Blakeley State Park have been the backdrops of many scenes. A composer in Texas is crafting the film’s score while a New Orleans based videographer is adding the special effects that make those magical scenes all the more glittering.

With cooler weather set in the cast will begin filming large battle scenes that require more characters and lots of extras. Prestwood is hosting a casting call this Saturday in Foley at the Copper Kettle Tea Bar to fill those slots. “The more the merrier, we really want to show off people’s talent,” Prestwood said. “Everybody has a little bit of dress up inside of them.” Once finished, the film will be released online as a series of webisodes, with the first expected to air in January.

As more costumed volunteers arrive and join the crowd at the table during that autumn rehearsal there are more laughs. More fun. More friendships made. That, Prestwood said, is what she hopes the movie can bring to everyone. “In our world everything is so dark. The King Arthur legend was always a ray of hope, that good will overcome. This film is our ray of hope,” Prestwood said. “Good will overcome. We hope people see that. The world is not all dark. There is a ray of light at the end of it.”

Blakeley to host artist workshop focusing on nature

Historic Blakeley State Park invites you to join us for a special workshop focusing on our amazing natural environment from 9 to 11 a.m. on Saturday, Nov. 23.

This short, interactive program will help amateur and aspiring artists develop their drawing skills and encourage guests to venture into the forest where their own new discoveries await. The workshop will draw on easily-overlooked botanical jewels such as mushrooms and wildflowers as inspiration for the hobby of nature journaling.

Our instructor, Nancy Milford, is a Baldwin County girl through and through. She has a passion for Alabama flora and fauna which led her to study biology at the University of South Alabama. She later pursued a career as an engineer, but re-connected with nature and began to explore her more creative side by drawing and painting wildlife. Nancy is a self-taught artist, but continues to attend workshops to polish her craft. She is a member of the Mobile Arts Council and the American Society of Botanical Artists. The workshop is complimentary with regular

Indigo Girls coming to Mobile Saenger Saturday, Feb. 1

Twenty years after they began releasing records as the Indigo Girls, Amy Ray and Emily Saliers have politely declined the opportunity to slow down with age. With a legacy of releases and countless U.S. and international tours behind them, the Indigo Girls have forged their own way in the music business. Selling over 14 million records, they are still going strong. Amy & Emily are the only duo with top 40 titles on the Billboard 200 in the '80s, '90s, '00s and '10s.

After signing to Epic Records in 1988, the Indigo Girls released their critically acclaimed eponymous album to thunderous praise; it remained on the Billboard Hot 100 Chart for 35 weeks, earned double platinum status, received a GRAMMY nomination for "Best New Artist" and won "Best Contemporary Folk Recording." They were overnight folk icons who continued to live up to the high standards they'd set for themselves: they've since released 14 albums (3 platinum and 3 gold), received six GRAMMY nominations and have won one. Indigo Girls have toured with innumerable star acts including Neil Young, Emmylou Harris, Joan Baez, R.E.M., Sarah McLachlan, Natalie Merchant, Jewel and Mary Chapin Carpenter.

The duo has balanced their long, successful musical career by supporting numerous social causes – the Indigo Girls don't just talk the talk; they walk the walk. Having established an intensely dedicated fan base, the duo continues to remain relevant and attract new fans.

Indigo Girls will be releasing their 15th studio album, Look Long, produced by John Reynolds and mixed by Trina Shoemaker, in spring of 2020 and previewing it at the show.

Baldwin Business

Personal credit is a cornerstone of small business ownership

Grateful hearts are never depressed. To be grateful let’s count our business blessings in Baldwin County.

One of the keys to growing your business is having access to capital, in personal terms having access to money for investing into your business. When starting a business

Know Yo! Business

personal credit is a corner stone to access as well as the ability to repay the loan if the business fails. Having a second household income and personal cash on hand to invest rounds out those cornerstones. There is not a risk-free option to obtaining business capital. Read that again. Opening a business is establishing an entity that you are personally responsible for from the day it opens until the day all of its debts are paid. Yes, that is correct. If your business closes you are still responsible for its finances. You and your family’s borrowing power is directly impacted by what is happening in the business. Global cash flow both personally and within all businesses where you own 20% or more is also directly impacted. There is not an organization that guarantees business loans where you, as the business owner, is relieved from the financial responsibility. Repayment of business loans are always required. Let’s grow Baldwin County’s economy responsibly.

Cleaning the bay is a regional issue

Water knows no boundaries. The water that eventually runs into Mobile Bay, and then the Gulf of Mexico, travels across 65 percent of the state of Alabama and portions of Mississippi, Georgia, and Tennessee, according to the Mobile Bay National Estuary Program. The Mobile Bay Estuary serves as a drainage system for 43,662 square miles, making it the sixth largest estuary in the nation, by area. One of the last stops on that route is Fairhope, which nabbed the unenviable distinction of being named the dirtiest beach in Alabama this summer. A study by the Environment America Research and Policy Center showed that the beach had 21 days – the most of any Alabama beach, where the amount of fecal bacteria in the waves was more than the Environmental Protection Agency recommends. City leaders received hate mail. The online skewering was demoralizing. And the city was partially to blame for some of the overflow and runoff gurgling out of its aging sewer systems and, in fact flowing, into bay waters. However, Fairhope should not carry the blame alone. As the water runs through four states and hundreds of cities and towns in that 43,662 square mile watershed, it runs through places where it is used for commercial fisheries, industry, tourism, recreation and coastal development. Pollutants, runoff and waste is dumped into the streams and rivers across those hundreds of miles and it all flows down toward the Gulf and some of it through Fairhope. This week the first set of new sewer lines will be placed along Fairhope streets as part of a $10 million effort to replace and rehabilitate defective sewer lines in the city and stop overflows that happen when the current system becomes overrun with extra water during heavy rain events. Within four years the city’s entire sewer system will be rehabilitated and ready to move the ever-increasing amounts of wastewater that accompany the ever-increasing number of houses being built within city limits. The city’s leadership has taken the opportunity to be proactive and do their part to work toward a cleaner bay. But they can’t do it alone. Even if the city of Fairhope, and every coastal city in Baldwin County takes every measure imaginable to stop the flow of dirty water out of their cities, the dirty water will still reach Mobile Bay. It is flowing from places beyond Baldwin County’s control, from places where the local government may not have the money to replace aging systems or simply not be as proactive in protecting a global asset, the Gulf of Mexico. City leaders in Fairhope should be applauded for taking responsibility, addressing the issue and then urging a regional approach to continue work toward creating a cleaner watershed. Clean water is not a luxury. It is a necessity. It is time that every citizen in the Mobile Bay watershed place its protection at the top of their priority list. *This editorial represents the collective opinion of the Gulf Coast Media Editorial Board, composed of editors and staff of the Gulf Coast Media family of newspapers. John McMillan – A good man as State Treasurer

Alabama is in good hands with John McMillan. A good man is in the job of State Treasurer of Alabama for the third straight quadrennium. Young Boozer served two successive four-year terms from 2010-2018. Mr. Boozer did an excellent job as Treasurer. He was perfect for the job. He had been a successful banker. He ran for and did the job for the right reason, not for political gain or prestige, but to do a good job as Alabama’s treasurer. Some folks thought Young Boozer would make a good choice for higher statewide office. However, he and his wife, Sally, opted to enjoy a relaxed life. John McMillan is now doing the job of State Treasurer for the very same reason. He, too, could go to the house and enjoy his life but he wants to serve the state he loves. Before being elected State Treasurer, John served two consecutive successful four-year terms as Commissioner of Agriculture and Industries for Alabama from 2010 to 2018. The jobs of Agriculture Commissioner and Treasurer, like all state constitutional offices, are term limited for two four-year terms. John McMillan and his wife Kathryn will eventually return to Baldwin County. McMillan’s family roots grow deep in Baldwin County soil. His family were some of the original settlers of the area before the Civil War. They have been in the timber business around Bay Minette for close to a century. Interestingly, Congressman Bradley Byrne, who currently represents Baldwin County in Congress has deep roots in Baldwin County. His folks settled on the Eastern Shore around Fairhope before Alabama was a State in 1819. In fact, John McMillan and Bradley

Byrne are cousins. John McMillan grew up in the rural community of Stockton near Bay Minette in Baldwin. He grew up in the county when it was primarily agricultural and was known as Alabama’s potato growing county. He graduated from Baldwin County High School. He must have been a pretty good student because after high school he attended and graduated from the prestigious Rhodes College in Memphis where he earned a BA in Economics. McMillan was appointed to the Baldwin County Commission by Governor Albert Brewer. After serving on the County Commission, McMillan was elected to the state legislature. He served two terms in the House of Representatives. After the legislature, he was chosen to head the Alabama Department of Conservation and Natural Resources. During his time as Commissioner of Conservation, McMillan was instrumental in the creation of the Alabama Trust Fund which preserves revenue from offshore oil and gas leases. He then spent 20 successful years as Executive Vice President of the Alabama Forestry Association. He was elected Agriculture Commissioner in 2010 and reelected in 2014. As Ag Commissioner, he oversaw one of the largest departments of state government. He served as President of the Southern Association of State Departments of Agriculture and also on the National Board of Agriculture departments. As is fitting for a former conservation director, McMillan loves hunting, fishing and other outdoor activities. However, he mostly loves his family. He and Kathryn have two sons, William and Murphy. They also have two grandchildren. His most famous relative is his twin brother, Steve McMillan. Representative Steve McMillan took his twin’s seat in the House from Baldwin County in 1980 when John was appointed Conservation Director. Steve McMillan has served with distinction in that Baldwin County House seat for over 38 years. He has been elected to nine four-year terms. Steve is only superseded in Alabama history for legislative longevity by Pete Turnham, Alvin Holmes, Ron Johnson and James Buskey. You can bet your bottom dollar that your money will be safe with John McMillan as Treasurer. However, that has not always been the case with Treasurers in Alabama history. In March of 1887, Alabama State Treasurer, Issac “Honest Ike” Vincent, absconded with more than $225,000 in State funds and fled the state. This was quite a sum of money in 1887. Our fugitive State Treasurer was arrested on a train in Big Sandy, Texas and returned to Alabama for trial. Vincent was tried and convicted of embezzlement and sentenced to 15 years in the state penitentiary. See you next week. Steve Flowers is Alabama’s leading political columnist. His weekly column appears in over 60 Alabama newspapers. He served 16 years in the state legislature. Steve may be reached at www.steveflowers.us.

pecially with those all-important personal matters.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Once again, you find a creative way to resolve a pesky problem in short order. However, a matter involving a possible breach of confidence might need a bit more time to check out.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Reuniting with an old friend could lead to the sharing of some great new experiences. But be careful you don't find yourself once again being super-critical or overly judgmental.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) You should be seeing some positive results following your move toward repairing that unraveling relationship. There might be some setbacks, but staying with it ultimately pays off.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Encouraging a friendlier environment in the home could go a long way to help dissipate anger and resolve problems, especially those affecting children. It won't be easy, but you can do it.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) A recent act of kindness is beginning to show some unexpected (but very welcome) results. On another note, expect to hear more about a possible move to another locale.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) The good news is that the sure-footed Goat can rely on his or her skill to get around obstacles in the workplace. The not-so-good news is that new impediments could turn up later.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) A change of pace is welcome but also confusing. Before you make decisions one way or another, be sure you know precisely what it is you're being asked to do.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Don't fret if you don't get the gratitude you think you're owed for doing a nice thing for someone. There might be a good reason for that. In any event, what's important is that you did it.

7 p.m. on HALL
Movie: A Christmas Duet

Former singer turned innkeeper Averie Davis (Chaley Rose) is stressed to the max when her business partner, Susie (Chiara Zanni), is forced to go on pregnancy leave just as their inn prepares to welcome a big Yuletide Festival and one of its eminent judges (Teryl Rothery). Things take an even wilder turn, though, when the big event faces a fiscal crisis that may shutter the celebration, just as Averie's old flame and musical performing partner Jesse Collins (Rome Flynn, "How to Get Away With Murder") checks in during a tour.

8 p.m. on PBS-42
College Behind Bars

Master documentarian Ken Burns is an executive producer on director Lynn Novick's two-part, four-hour film (concluding Tuesday night) that takes viewers inside six prisons across New York State, where a rigorous education program run by Bard College gives inmates a chance to earn college degrees during their incarceration. The program, called the Bard Prison Initiative, is aimed at giving incarcerated men and women a better chance at making a fresh start upon their eventual release.

8 p.m. on FOOD
Holiday Baking Championship

Host Jesse Palmer opens the new Thanksgiving episode "Trendsetting Turkey Day" by assigning the seven remaining bakers to use baked Brie and jam mini-pies to elevate a familiar and popular holiday appetizer. In the main heat, the bakers take a prepared ingredient and incorporate it in a crowd-pleasing Thanksgiving dessert. After sampling their work, judges Duff Goldman, Nancy Fuller and Lorraine Pascale send one baker home.

8 p.m. on FREE
Wrap Battle

Nine talented gift wrappers compete to become the Wrap Battle Champion and win a grand prize worth $50,000 in this six-episode free-spirited holiday competition series, which airs two back-to-back episodes each week. Comic Sheryl Underwood ("The Talk") hosts the proceedings, with Carson Kressley ("RuPaul's Drag

Rome Flynn

Race") and fine stationery businesswoman Wanda Wen serving as judges. Guest judges include producer Candy Spelling, actors Sherry Cola, Lala Kent and Diggy Simmons, Sandra Lee and Sabrina Soto.

8:01 p.m. on FOX-10 FOX-25
Prodigal Son

Malcolm (Tom Payne) finds himself with unexpected time on his hands, now that his father (Michael Sheen) is in solitary confinement and the FBI has taken over the Junkyard Killer case, so he decides to try having a "normal" lifestyle in the new episode "Pied-A-Terre." Things are going pretty well, too, until he accepts a challenge to profile his date.

Movie: Check Inn to Christmas

New York attorney Julia Crawley (Rachel Boston) looks forward to a cozy holiday visit back to her Rocky Mountain hometown, where her family has run a picturesque inn for years. The scene that greets her arrival, however, is a long way from peace and goodwill, as a generations-old feud with another clan that runs the town's competing inn somehow has been rekindled. Julia finds herself swept up in the center of things in a romance with Roger Mason (Wes Brown), a scion of the other family, in this 2019 romance.

50 Years at the Opry

One of the most beloved stars in country music history is honored in this new two-hour special, which celebrates Dolly Parton's 50 years at the iconic Grand Ole Opry. Parton herself will perform several of her biggest hits on that very stage, in front of a live audience, but a number of her friends — including Dierks Bentley, Emmylou Harris, Chris Janson, Toby Keith, Lady Antebellum, Margo Price and Hank Williams Jr., among others — will be on hand for the musical party as well.

Lindsey Vonn:
The Final Season

She's almost universally recognized as the greatest female skier ever, but Lindsey Vonn's storied career has followed a remarkable course marked by twists and turns and, especially in its final chapter, some dramatic peaks and valleys. This feature-length 2019 documentary presents a surprisingly intimate chronicle of this iconic athlete's last competitive sports campaign, interspersed with a look back at Vonn's transcendent career, which took her from child prodigy to decorated Olympian and ultimately beloved global superstar.

Thanksgiving dinner, the Rachael Ray way

For any newbie intimidated by the thought of cooking a Thanksgiving turkey, Rachael Ray has this piece of advice.

"Order one," she says. "I always say order two small birds instead of one large one. You can sleep later and you can platter one whole. And I'm not joking, if you're nervous about cooking a turkey, don't. There's plenty of butchers or specialty stores that can do the whole thing for you."

With that said, the host of Food Network's Saturday morning series "30 Minute Meals" and author of the recently released cookbook/memoir "Rachael Ray 50: Memories and Meals From a Sweet and Savory Life," does adhere to a strategy, starting with what may seem like heresy to some traditionalists — don't cook a whole bird.

"If you grew up working in restaurants, you rarely make a whole turkey — at least, I never did," she says. "I always cook pieces of turkey. I also think if you're going to do a whole bird, it's very smart to make a spatchcock bird by removing the spine and having it flattened. And that's pretty hard to do with a large turkey so I would ask your butcher to do that for you. The turkey cooks more evenly and a whole lot faster than it would cook with the spine still in. That's the point of spatchcocking — even cooking and faster cooking time."

For her own turkey, Ray does it two ways: cider-brined pieces and breasts smoked outside and another more traditional bird baked inside with butter, salt and pepper on the skin, white wine in the pan and herbs under the skin. Complementing that is her mother's apple, celery and onion stuffing — which instead of being cooked in the cavity or a baking dish goes into muffin tins to create her famous "stuffin muffins."

"I do that so everybody gets a muffin instead of a portion of stuffing," she says.

For sides, Ray does the same thing every year: green beans with lots of shallots, butter and broth; brussels sprouts with panchetta or bacon, mashed potatoes, cracked cranberries and roasted butternut and/or acorn squash. For cocktails, she leaves that to her husband, singer/actor John Cusimano.

OF 'FBI' ON CBS

Having spent the first season of "FBI" and a good chunk of a second one working in New York, are you much more familiar with the city now?

It felt a lot better driving back (for Season 2) and coming back to the chaos. I was like, "OK. This is home, for now." It was about really putting down all of the questions and the trepidation that I had. Before, it didn't really feel like home because we still had a place in

BY JAY BOBBIN

OF 'CHRISTMAS AT THE PLAZA' ON HALLMARK CHANNEL

"Christmas at the Plaza" is your first Hallmark Channel movie. Did they seek you for it?

Yes, that's how it worked, and it was such a nice surprise. I went away for a little vacation, and when I landed back in L.A. and turned my phone on, there was this email about it. And it was like, "OK, vacation's over. Time to get back to work."

With the famed Plaza Hotel being the setting of the movie, did you actually film there?

We did! We had a whole week there. It's such a landmark of New York City, to be able to shoot there was great. It's incredible, for sure.

Your character in "Christmas at the Plaza" is an archival historian. Did you feel that was a nod toward the accomplished Jemma Simmons, your "Marvel's Agents of S.H.I.E.L.D." character?

I'm not sure. I suppose they looked at my work and thought, "Oh, what could she do?" It's always good to play an intelligent woman, and I like playing people who have a passion and an academic ability. This person is so passionate about history and what it means, and about preserving it to keep it relevant to people, I really enjoyed playing that.

Since "Marvel's Agents of S.H.I.E.L.D." has completed production – including the final season that will air next year – what do you envision as your next career stage?

There's that thought of "Will I ever work again?" that creeps in every now and then, but I'm really taking this time to pump some creative energy into my own process. It's a weird thing, but I love auditioning and trying out things and being a lot of different characters. It can be an emotional rollercoaster, and you don't want to be on it for too long, but it's a nice kind of wake-up call.

Sam the Snowman

"Frosty the Snowman"

"Jack Frost"

BEST ON-SCREEN SNOWMEN

Sam ("Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer," 1964) This character warms our hearts as the narrator of one of the most well-known holiday specials in history. Voiced by Burl Ives, the well-dressed Sam tells us the story of the year Christmas was almost canceled due to a big snowstorm, until a certain reindeer saved the day. Pull up an ice block and lend an ear.

Frosty ("Frosty the Snowman," 1969) The happy, jolly soul celebrates his 50th anniversary this year. While trying to avoid an evil magician, Frosty tries to find his way back to the North Pole with the help of a little girl named Karen. Though a certain scene may make your eyes puddle up, don't you cry. Santa arrives on the scene to make things right. Happy birthday!

Jack ("Jack Frost," 1998) As a touring musician clinging to dreams of stardom, aging rocker Jack Frost (Michael Keaton) never had much time for his wife, Gabby (Kelly Preston), and young son, Charlie (Joseph Cross). A year after Jack's tragic death in a car accident on Christmas Day, Charlie plays a mournful tune on his father's harmonica. Much to his surprise, the elder Frost is magically brought to life as a snowman on the family lawn. Given a second chance, Charlie and Jack struggle to make up for lost time. A sure bet to melt the holiday blues.

Leon ("Elf," 2003) Having a striking resemblance to another very famous snowman, Leon is one cool dude. He's seen having a heartfelt conversation with Buddy (Will Ferrell) when the "elf" discovers he's not like everyone else at the North Pole and goes in search of his real father. Leon's deepest piece of life advice? Don't eat the yellow snow.

Olaf ("Frozen," 2013) Do you want to build a snowman? Voiced by Josh Gad, the huggable frozen friend was first created by sisters Anna and Elsa when they were young but it wasn't until they were older that he actually came to life. Though he might be created for the colder climate, Olaf dreams of what it might be like in warmer temperatures. Winter may be a good time to stay in and cuddle but put him in summer and he'll be a ... happy snowman!

today. Circle each answer that you find and list it in the space provided at the right of the grid. Answers can be found in all directions—forward, backward, horizontally, vertically and diagonally. An example is given to get you started. Can you find the twenty answers in today's puzzle?
