Baldwin County is home to dozens of Mardi Gras secret societies. Some elect kings and queens each year. # LET THE GOOD TIMES ROLL!

There are more than a dozen secret societies in Baldwin County. They throw parades, host balls and toss thousands of dollars' worth of prizes to revelers each season.

What most people don't see is the work that happens the rest of the year. Collectively, these organizations raise thousands of dollars for Baldwin County-based charities. They volunteer at events during the year and host events for volunteer organizations.

Here is a look at a handful of those organizations.

Parade Tips:

Sure, the floats are beautiful. The bands are rocking. But everyone knows that the draw at Mardi Gras parades is the throws!

If you've never attended a Mardi Gras parade, know they are big, boisterous and fun. There are also a few unspoken rules. Here is our guide to navigating Mardi Gras parades like a seasoned pro.

Travel light

You will likely have to walk quite a distance to your car. The more you pack to bring with you, the heavier that feels after the parade is over and you head home. Also, packed crowds means there won't be much space for your chairs, blankets and wagons of coolers and snacks. Bring a large bag to carry the throws you catch home and be prepared to walk and stand.

Carry cash

Vendors and food carts often travel up and down the parade route. Cash is easiest.

Plus, you will want to leave your purse and valuables at home, not in your car six blocks away, at home.

Arrive early

Want to avoid that long walk back to the car after the parade ends? Arrive early to get a good parking spot and be prepared to wait. Also, check in on maps posted online by the city or local police department to make sure you are not parking in a tow away zone. Cars parked along the parade route will be towed before the floats begin to roll.

Stay behind the barricade – It's tempting to jump over the barricade and grab that lonely stuffed animal lying in the street, but don't do it. And don't drop your kid over the barricade to collect deserted throws either. The floats are faster than they look and it's dangerous to be in the way.

Check the weather

Parades roll in rain, heat and wind. The krewes riding them come prepared for any type of weather. You should too.

Named for the Baron de Feriet, a general in Napoleon's army who retired to the Eastern Shore and purchased the Ecor Rouge. Most of his property is now Montrose. A ghostly version of the Baron leads the parade.

Parade

» Feb. 26, 6:45 p.m., Daphne – If you are lucky you will catch a skull on a stick, a fair likeness of the Baron himself

Ball

Founded by a mysterious figure known only to members as Chester. This krewe festoons its floats and balls with outrageous, hand-crafted, circus-themed costumes and regalia.

*Mardi Gras season means it's king
cake season*

BY MELANIE LECROY

When February rolls around, most parts of the country start gearing up for Valentine's Day, but here on the Gulf Coast we are prepping for Mardi Gras. The centerpiece of any Mardi Gras celebration is a king cake.

It's easy to find a king cake in any local grocery store, but if you want a fresh locally handmade confection you need to get yourself to BuzzCatz Coffee and Sweets in Orange Beach.

Pastry chef and general manager Kimberly Asbury grew up in Pennsylvania and had never made a king cake when approached by customers in 2007 at the bakery she worked. It took some time developing a recipe, testing different types of dough and methods before creating a winning recipe.

"I was making it for a while with the same dough that I use to make my hollas because I like that dough, but it was too crusty and not sweet enough. Next, I tried the yeast dough I make our cinnamon rolls with and it was too soft. I ended up pulling from a few different recipes and creating one that worked for me. It's a brioche dough so it has a sweetness and a richness, but it stays soft and gets good color," Asbury said.

Everything BuzzCatz makes is made fresh so if you are wanting a larger king cake, you will need to call and pre-order, but you can pop in and grab an individual king cake from the display case. It's the perfect size for yourself or to share with a friend. Strawberry, raspberry, cherry, chocolate hazelnut, cream cheese, Bavarian cream and cinnamon sugar are available, but they run out, so either call ahead or get there early in the day.

The larger king cakes feed eight to 16 people depending on the slice size and come in the standard flavors but for a little extra money you can get one filled with their signature pecan praline filling.

"With the larger cakes, I make two individual stands and braid them together. Each stand is filled so if you wanted strawberry and cream cheese then I can alternate so when you slice into it you are going to see the different flavors. You can custom order any flavor combination," Asbury said.

BuzzCatz sells the individual king cakes for $6 for cinnamon sugar and $8 for filled. The large king cakes are $15 for cinnamon and $20 for filled and are by pre-order only. Orders will be taken starting Jan. 1 through Fat Tuesday.

BuzzCatz is located at 25689 Canal Road, Orange Beach. 251-980-2899 or visit [www.buzzcatzcoffeand sweets.com](http://www.buzzcatzcoffeand sweets.com).

Mardi Gras Lingo

Float Barn

A secret location where Mardi Gras organizations build and keep their floats when it's not parading season.

Throws

Items thrown from parade floats such as doubloons, Moon Pies, beads, cups and stuffed animals.

Laissez Les Bon Temps Rouler

French for "Let the good times roll!"

King Cake

Usually oval and braided, this cake is iced with traditional Mardi Gras colors of purple, green and gold. A tiny, plastic baby doll is hidden inside and, according to custom, whoever finds the baby in their piece of cake buys the next King Cake or throws the next party.

Krewe

Mardi Gras societies often refer to themselves collectively as a Krewe and often the term is part of the society's official name.

Ball

A celebration, usually after a parade, involving food, beverages, call-outs and dancing. Some organizations don't parade and just host Mardi Gras balls. Tickets are sold to some balls while others require invitations from a society member.

When the line is short

Winter months are a great time to visit popular Gulf Coast restaurants.

Each year, roughly 7 million visitors pour into the seaside communities of Gulf Shores and Orange Beach.

Some summer nights, it can be tough to get a spot in line at your favorite local haunt.

But during these cool, breezy winter months, the lines are short and the bars and restaurants are full of faces you probably recognize.

While the lines are short this year check out these popular stops and soak in the atmosphere.

Wednesdays are Welcome Wednesdays. Flora-Bama provides a main dish and visitors are asked to bring a covered side dish or dessert to share.

“It’s right on the beach, what else would you want to do on a Wednesday?” said Jenifer Parnell, marketing and PR director.

On the second Sunday in January and February the Flora-Bama also celebrates customer appreciation days from 4 to 6 p.m. Visitors receive a free drink card, was to do relaxed beach food and “do it right.”

Indeed. Saunter in with a craving for a shrimp platter or a chargrilled ribeye and McCutchen has you covered.

What’s a perfect meal at the beach without the perfect cocktail?

Fresh Off the Boat boasts a wine menu 68 varieties long with 20 more on reserve. McCutchen also has the most extensive collection of bourbon available for customers to sample, 46 at last count.

“If it’s hot we put ice in it, if it’s not we don’t,” he said. “There’s no bad time of year for bourbon.”

The most popular drink, however, is one that beachgoers love for its cool blue hue and seaside flavor, the Three Hour Tour.

And you can bring that relaxed, vacation spirit home.

Mix equal parts Pickers Pineapple Vodka, Malibu rum, pineapple juice, and blue curacao and ice. Shake about 20 seconds. McCutchen said the shaking is the important part as it helps release the flavor.

Strain and pour over new ice. Top with soda water and enjoy.

Of course, you could visit Fresh Off the Boat, take in the endless water views, enjoy the live music and try their hand squeezed margarita or the very popular watermelon mule, made with watermelon puree.

Either way, it’s going to be a delicious day.
