Walk to Prevent Suicide Sept. 10 at Young Park

By MIKE COOK
Las Cruces Bulletin

The fifth annual Las Cruces Out of the Darkness Walk to Prevent Suicide will begin at 8 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 10, at Young Park, 1905 E. Nevada Ave. September is national Suicide Prevention Month.

The event is hosted by the American Foundation for Suicide Prevention (AFSP) New Mexico Chapter and supports the AFSP's programs and its goal of reducing the annual rate of suicide in the United States by 20 percent by the year 2025.

As of Sept. 1, the Las Cruces walk had raised nearly $6,000 of its $15,000 goal. Visit afsp.org/chapter/new-mexico#events and click on "Las Cruces Walk" to donate.

"We hope for over 500 walkers this year," said Las Cruces Out of the Darkness Walk Chair Robyn Rehbein.

In 2021, with limitations because of COVID-19, the Las Cruces walk was a "drive-thru" event, as people picked up goodie bags and beads, Rehbein said, with different-colored beads given out "to represent losses and struggles with suicide." There were 202 participants and $10,115 was raised.

There were 583 walkers at the 2020 virtual event, with $41,715 raised; 819 walkers in 2019, with $21,948 raised; and 765 walkers in 2018, with $18,590 raised.

The Out of the Darkness Walk seeks to bring new ideas and possibility to those who believe their hope is empty.

"Suicide touches one in five American families," Rehbein said. "We hope that by walking we will draw attention to this issue and keep other families from experiencing a suicide loss. Our ultimate goal is to save lives and bring hope to those affected by suicide."

The Las Cruces Out of the Darkness Walk is one of more than 550 overnight, community and campus walks being held nationwide this year, AFSP said in a news release.

The walks are expected to unite more than 300,000 walkers and raise millions of dollars for suicide prevention.

"Suicide is the 10th leading cause of death in the U.S., yet suicide can be prevented," said AFSP, which has chapters in all 50 states. "New Mexico has the second highest number of suicides and suicide is the second leading cause of death for individual ages 10-34."

The New Mexico Department of Health (NMDOH) reported last December that 520 New Mexicans died by suicide in 2020, an increase of five over 2019. New Mexico's suicide rate was 24.6 deaths per 100,000 in 2020, NMDOH said, 23 percent higher than the average nationwide.

Anyone experiencing suicidal thoughts or any other mental or behavioral health issue, or who knows someone who is, can call the new three-digit 988 number for help and guidance.

Men Who Cook adds to volunteer chef lineup

By MIKE COOK
Las Cruces Bulletin

The list of volunteers for Mesilla Valley Hospice's upcoming Men Who Cook fundraiser continues to grow.

So far, it includes Kiel Hoffman, Javier Morales, Rick Jackson, Glenn Bollschweiler, Michael Guerra, Mike Tourtillott, Rick Altamirano, Saul Montenegro, Isaac Christie, Vince Campbell, Dean Craig, Michael Mays, Albert Barela, Derrick Harris, Carlos Padilla, Adrian Rodriguez and Michael Tirre.

"I am participating in Men Who Cook because it benefits Mesilla Valley Hospice," said long-time Las Cruces chef Vince Campbell. "Before my mom and dad passed, they received hospice care. It is one of those services that is there for you when times are tough.

Volunteering my time is just a little way I can say thank you to them. Cooking is my passion, and always has been. I am in a fortunate position where I have a great sponsor, Cindy Binns at The Grapevine Plaza and Event Center, who has sponsored me in the Taste of Las Cruces, Dress the Child and previous Men Who Cook events.

"This year I am in the category of side dishes, where I will put a New Mexico twist on a French classic," Campbell said. "I will be working with a root vegetable, cheese and, of course, green chile!"

The 14th annual Men Who Cook will be held 6-10 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 17, at Las Cruces Convention Center (LCCC), 680 E. University Ave.

This year's theme is Game Night. The event will include a wide variety of board games, said Hospice Foundation Director Lorraine Padilla.

The dishes prepared by volunteer chefs are kept secret until the event, said Hospice Provider Relations Representative Staci Mays, who is this year's Men Who Cook event coordinator.

Tickets are $100. Attendees get to sample dozens of dishes made by participating chefs and enjoy live music and an auction. There also will be tea and water stations and a cash bar.

Chefs prepare dishes in five categories: appetizer, main course, side dish, barbeque and dessert.

A panel of judges will determine winners in each category and an overall winner. Each chef will also have his own tip jar so guests "can choose the recipes they enjoy the most."

Students from Centennial High School and Arrowhead Park Early College High School will assist at this year's event.

For more information, contact Mays at smays@mvhospice.org.

Sponsorships range from $1,000 for a table to $10,000 for an executive chef. Among other recognitions and benefits, sponsors of $5,000 get their logos on Men Who Cook aprons.

To become a sponsor, visit mvhospice.org/news/14th-annual-men-who-cook/ and scroll to "Event Documents" and "Sponsor Application."

Contact Padilla at 575-525-5710. Tickets are available at Mesilla Valley Hospice, 299 E. Montana Ave.

Do you know how to identify a natural gas leak? You might smell sulfur or rotten eggs, you may notice dirt or debris shooting up out of a hole in the ground, dead or dying vegetation in an otherwise green area, and a loud hissing or roaring sound near pipeline markers. These and many more are all tell tale signs of a natural gas or pipeline leak. Use all your senses, even common sense and report any possible leaks to Zia Natural Gas Company. September celebrates Francis Scott Key, Constitution

By MIKE COOK
Las Cruces Bulletin

Two of America's most iconic national symbols celebrate birthdays in September. Wednesday, Sept. 14, is the 208th anniversary of Francis Scott Key writing "Defence of Fort M'Henry," which would become "The Star-Spangled Banner." Saturday, Sept. 17, is the 235th anniversary of the signing of American Constitution.

Key (1779-1843), then a 35-year-old Maryland and Washington, D.C., attorney, wrote the poem as he watched the British Royal Navy's bombardment of Fort McHenry during the Sept. 13-14, 1814, Battle of Baltimore, five months before the end of the War of 1812. Key was held prisoner aboard-ship by the British until the battle ended because he knew of British plans for the attack on Baltimore. Key had met with British officers about a prisoner exchange.

British composer John Stafford Smith (1750-1836) wrote the music in the 1770s for "The Anacreontic Song" for the gentlemen's club of musicians that he belonged to in London. The tune was adopted as the tune for the Star-Spangled Banner soon after Key's poem was written.

President Herbert Hoover signed a congressional act March 3, 1931, making the song the National Anthem.

Thirty-nine delegates to the Constitutional Convention, including George Washington, Thomas Jef-erson, Benjamin Franklin and Alexander Hamilton, gathered in Philadelphia for the last time Sept. 17, 1787, to sign the Constitution they had spent almost four months drafting.

The Constitution was ratified and became the supreme law of the land June 21, 1788, when New Hampshire approved it, providing the backing of the nine states it needed for ratification. Delaware was the first state to ratify the Constitution, Dec. 7, 1787; Rhode Island was the last, May 29, 1790.

Before the Constitution was adopted, the United States and its nearly four million residents were governed by the Articles of Confederation approved by the Second Continental Congress Nov. 15, 1777, and coming into force March 1, 1781, after being ratified by all 13 states.

The U.S. Constitution is the world's oldest functioning constitution, pre-dating second-place the Kingdom of Norway's constitution (1814) by almost 26 years. The Netherlands has the third oldest (1815), Belgium the fourth (1831) and Denmark the fifth (1849).

New Mexico in 1787 was known as Santa Fe de Nuevo México and was a province of the viceroyalty of New Spain. Its Spanish governor was Juan Bautista de Anza Bezerra Nieto (1736-88).

New Mexico was still under Spanish rule in 1814. The Spanish governors that year were José Manrique and Alberto Maynez, the 60th and 61st Spanish governors of New Mexico. The last Spanish governor of New Mexico left office in 1822, when the Republic of Mexico (including the area that would become New Mexico) gained independence from Spain. Initially a province of the Estado Interno del Norte (its capital was Chihuahua, Mexico), New Mexico became a separate territory July 6, 1824.

The earliest surviving copy of the National Anthem, from 1814, shows Francis Scott Key's poem, "Defence of Fort M'Henry," put to music. Re-named "The Star-Spangled Banner," it would become the official anthem in 1931.

Remembering 9/11; embracing 988

They are perhaps the most chilling images ever shown on live television.

If you were alive and old enough to comprehend the horrific events of Sept. 11, 2001, there's a good chance you saw the images: People trapped above the flaming floors of the World Trade Center were faced with a choice that wasn't a choice. They could wait where they were until the flames, smoke and heat reached their floor, dying a violent fiery death. Or they could leap off the building, avoiding the fire, but finding an equally certain death.

They couldn't have known a third possibility was about to happen – the towers would collapse under their own weight and the melting, crumbling framework.

When we think of 9/11, it's likely we all have different thoughts and memories, none of them pleasant.

It's been 21 years now. When I think of 9/11, I usually think of Al Marchand, the Alamogordo resident who lost his life that day.

This year I'm also thinking of those people who flung themselves off the building. Most people would not consider that suicide so much as a last desperate act.

But who is to know whether an act is suicide or a last desperate act? Couldn't it be both?

Suicide is quite possibly the saddest, most painful experience a family can endure. Also one of the most misunderstood. In New Mexico, suicide sometimes feels like an epidemic. According to the American Foundation for Suicide Prevention, we have the second highest number of suicides of all 50 states, and among people 10-34, it is the second leading cause of death. New Mexico also has a big military presence, and those members are also facing increasing rates of suicide.

For many people, it is difficult to imagine the kind of pain and anguish that would drive someone to take their own life.

For others, those thoughts are a regular occurrence. Most of us know someone who has committed suicide, and we know the impact on those left behind.

"Suicide touches one in five American families," said Robyn Rehbein, in an article in this week's Bulletin. "We hope that by walking we will draw attention to this issue and keep other families from experiencing a suicide loss. Our ultimate goal is to save lives and bring hope to those affected by suicide."

Rehbein is chair of the Las Cruces Out of the Darkness Walk, which happens at 8 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 10, at Young Park. Turn to page 3 in this edition of the Bulletin to see Mike Cook's article about the walk, and how you can get involved.

Another avenue has recently opened for individuals struggling with these questions of desperation.

It is the national 988 crisis line.

Court, governor at odds on bail reform

The state Supreme Court has come out against proposed reform to the bail system, setting up a potential clash with Gov. Michelle Lujan Grisham if she is re-elected in November.

During a public safety press conference in January, prior to this year's legislative session, Lujan Grisham called for changes to make it more likely that those accused of serious crimes would be held in jail prior to their trials.

Under current law, judges presume a defendant should be released prior to trial unless the state can provide evidence to override that presumption. The governor wants to flip that, and put the burden of evidence on the defendant in cases involving violent crimes or crimes committed with a gun.

The state Supreme Court has opposed the change, and cited a study last week conducted by the University of New Mexico to support its case.

The study estimates that 20 people who would NOT have committed a crime would be jailed for every one person who DOES commit a crime. The court sees those numbers as supporting its argument. But, I suspect a large number of New Mexicans would take that tradeoff, reasoning that the 20 people may not have been convicted yet, but they all did something to land in jail. Better that than another crime.

The study looked at the cases of 15,134 people charged with felonies from July 2017 to June 2021, and attempted to determine how many would have been detained pending trial under the conditions of the proposed bill.

WALT RUBEL

It found that, "at most, 5 percent" are charged with a new violent felony, while the false positive rate would be between 71 to 90 percent. Once again, those are numbers I suspect a lot of people can live with, especially as the crime rate continues to increase.

The problem with the old cash bond system was it discriminated against the poor. That was wrong. But the court does need to discriminate against the dangerous.

Obviously, there will always be cases where a defendant out on bail commits another crime. The only way to prevent that is to lock everyone up for weeks or months leading to trial, which goes against the concept of innocent until proven guilty. But we also need to protect our residents from violent predators.

It's a balancing act. And it doesn't help that our courts are overworked and our public defenders are understaffed and underpaid. But a rising crime rate would seem to suggest the balance on pretrial detention may need to be adjusted when it comes to violent crimes.

We're long familiar with dialing 911 for emergencies, but the 988 crisis line is different.

The line is open any time, day or night. It is anonymous and you don't have to give your name or location. On the other end are trained behavioral health care professionals, who can understand your pain, or simply give you someone to talk with.

Doña Ana County has worked hard for months to make sure access is available in our community, and also to create connections, if needed, to the county's Crisis Triage Center services and the county's mobile crisis unit.

Officials are careful not to call 988 a "suicide hotline," and to stress the line is for all behavioral health concerns, including suicidal thoughts.

"No mental health concern is too big, and no crisis is too small," said Dr. Neal Bowen, director of the New Mexico Department of Health's Behavioral Health Services Division. Bowen was in Las Cruces a few weeks ago for a public event recognizing 988's presence in the county.

There are a lot of people nationally and locally working to improve access to behavioral health, and to reduce the stigma of asking questions. For generations, we've been taught to "be tough" or to "work out your own problems," even though most of us aren't equipped to do either of those things.

Thankfully, people who are equipped to help are now just three phone digits away.

Learning more of a tragic time

I write to inform and encourage the saving of three Sunday nights beginning Sept. 18 PBS showing of "The U.S. and the Holocaust," produced by Ken Burns, one of the foremost teachers and historians of our time. It's scheduled for 6-8 p.m., but check local listings.

In recent years, Ken Burns and his colleagues Lynn Novick and Sarah Botstein have been hard at work to bring to the American public and, ultimately, the world at large how we responded as a nation to the plight of the Jews under Hitler and his multiple supporters from 1933 to 1945. Be prepared to learn much of a tragic and besieged time.

From 1942 to 1946, I was a caddy in the summers for a Jewish Country Club in Lawrenceville, New Jersey, one of the best experiences of my life, yet in all those summers, nary a word did I hear about the sufferings of Jews in Europe. So, too in my years from 1945 to 1948 despite many Jewish friends in our large central high school in Trenton, New Jersey.

Following the end of World War II with stories coming home, to be quickly followed by the creation of the State of Israel in 1948 and the discovery of the Diary of Anne Frank resulting in theater and film productions in the 1950s, we became as a nation much more attuned to the immensity and horror of a world calamity.

Yet in my college and seminary years (1948 to 1955) in Ohio and New Jersey, very little attention was being paid to what had happened between 1933 and 1945, save for the reputation of Dietrich Bonhoeffer, his writings and his execution at the hands of the Nazis in April of 1945.

All of this dumbness or insensitivity changed for me in the late 1950s and early 1960s due to my participation in a Religious Seminar Group in Wilmington, Delaware, made up of priests, rabbis, Protestant clergy and religious scholars from Philadelphia. Early in the 1960s, we had an Old Testament professor from Union Seminary in New York City talk with us about how the Jews fought back against the Nazis. We were overwhelmed, but what I took away that day was a comment from Philip Birnbaum, a Philadelphia scholar at the close of interactions.

He said to me personally, "I will give you a question which I want you to think about. Why, Mr. Miller, after two thousand years of Christian love, are the Jews still nervous?"

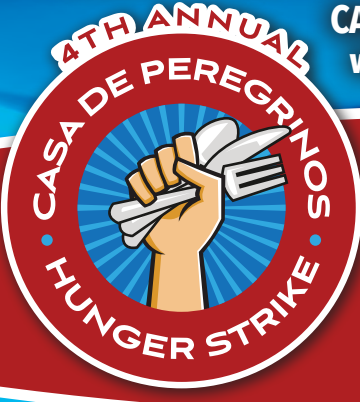

This question has stayed with me all these years which I have sought to answer in multiple ways. It will stay with me until I die.

This is why I urge you to let Ken Burns and his colleagues educate your minds and hearts in the weeks ahead.

It is our time to watch, to listen, to think, to feel and come away with new insight and understanding. Six hours is not too much to ask.

Truck crash narrowly misses church members

By MIKE COOK
Las Cruces Bulletin

At about noon on Saturday, Aug. 20, Allan and Julie Baker were preparing for the next day's worship service at Cross of Christ Lutheran Church, 1840 El Paseo Road, when Julie "heard a really, really loud noise behind me."

The next thing she and

Allan knew, a pickup truck crashed through the wall a few feet behind them, coming to rest about two feet from Julie's head. Moments later, as they were making their way to the front door to see if anyone was injured in the crash, the Bakers heard several gunshots, followed a few seconds later by another round of gunfire.

The two retreated into the church office, closed the door and turned off the lights, staying there until Las Cruces police officers arrived on the scene.

Allan and Julie discovered that, while everything around them had been damaged or destroyed, the two chairs they had been sitting in at the church keyboard were still upright and, except for a few scratches from the flying glass and debris, the Bakers were unharmed.

"That was a miracle," said Julie, the church organist and a retired medical lab tech and wildlife range manager.

"I have no explanation for that, and I know a lot of physics," said Allan, a retired electric engineer who handles the church's audio-visual needs.

Cross of Christ Pastor Nathanael Jensen, who had been teaching a Bible class at a different location at the time of the crash, said Allan left a phone message later that afternoon telling him, "We're going to need a new place for church tomorrow."

Jensen arrived at the church to find it draped in crime-scene tape, he said, and thought the Bakers had discovered the damage. He found out a little later they had actually been on the scene at the time.

Members of the Las Cruces Fire Department stayed at the church until about 10:30 that night, Julie said, covering the gaping hole in the south wall with plywood and helping Julie find her purse.

And, although it was obvious a different location would have to be found, "There was no question – we were going to have a worship service" the next day, Jensen said.

He called around and located a conference room at the nearby Courtyard by Marriott, the pastor said, which was provided free of charge for the congregation's Sunday, Aug. 21 worship.

"It was a great service," Allan Baker said. "I got a lot more hugs than usual."

"We were always a close congregation," Julie said. "We're even closer than we were. We're just incredibly thankful."

"The Lord is on our side," said congregation member Rose Mary Pedersen.

Part of Jensen's sermon that Sunday was reminding his parishioners of what is really important, he said.

"The church isn't a building," Jensen said. "It's the people."

Jensen said he used the truck crash to emphasize that "we need Christ every day, every second." What's most important, he said, is "supporting each other (and) everybody else in the community."

With a temporary wall in place, the congregation was back at the El Paseo Road location for its Aug. 28 service.

When asked the best way for the community to help the church, Jensen said, "Come here what we're all about."

"This is a temporary problem," Allan Baker said. "This is not a show-stopper by any means. Everything still works," he said, including the keyboard Julie was playing when the crash happened.

Jensen came to Las Cruces a year ago from Watertown, Wisconsin to become the new pastor at Cross of Christ. He had no family in the area, but said he felt immediately embraced by his congre-

Police recount incident

Las Cruces Police Department spokesman Dan Trujillo said a pickup truck was reported stolen in Las Cruces on Saturday, Aug. 20, prior to the crash at Cross of Christ Lutheran Church on El Paseo Road.

The owner of the stolen truck learned of its whereabouts and confronted the person who was in possession of the truck, Trujillo said. The man in possession got in the truck with a woman and a small child and drove off. The truck was pursued by its owner in a separate vehicle. During the pursuit, the pickup crashed into the church. After the crash, several rounds were discharged from a firearm at the scene. The woman and the child in the pickup and the pickup's owner were transported to area hospitals for treatment; the owner of the stolen truck suffered a gunshot wound. All injuries were non-life-threatening, and all three victims have been released from hospital care, Trujillo said.

The driver of the stolen pickup has been located and an investigation of the incident is continuing. No arrests have been made or charges filed at this point, he said.

The rise of fall: Harvest Moon on its way

By MIKE COOK

Las Cruces Bulletin

Is there a more welcome sign that the long, hot summer is finally over, and autumn is at hand than the Harvest Moon?

The Harvest Moon, which is always the full moon closest to the fall equinox, occurs at 3:59 a.m. MDT Saturday, Sept. 10.

The autumnal equinox is at 7:03 p.m. MDT Thursday, Sept. 22.

Before the advent of electricity, the full moon provided natural light for farmers to harvest their summer crops late into the night, and that likely is where the term harvest moon comes from.

We have continued to reap the benefits of that glorious moniker in songs like "Shine On, Harvest Moon," written by husband-and-wife Nora Bayes and Jack Norworth and published in 1908; in movies, poems and even video games.

In case you're wondering, from Sept. 10, it is 51 days until Halloween, 57 days until daylight saving time ends (Nov. 6), 59 days until the 2022 general election (Nov. 8), 75 days until Thanksgiving (Nov. 24), 99 days until the start of Hannukah (Dec. 18) 106 days until Christmas and 107 days until Kwanzaa begins (Dec. 26).

Here are a few lines from "The Harvest Moon," by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow (1807-82): "It is the Harvest Moon! ... on the curtained window-panes/Of rooms where children sleep, on country lanes/And harvest-fields, its mystic splendor rests!"

Fans react to athlete's crisis

Players from all four Las Cruces football teams held a carwash fundraiser Sept. 4 for Organ Mountain High School player Abe Romero, who was injured in a game Aug. 26. At the Sept. 2 game between Cliff and Silver, players honored Romero and fans took a collection. At presstime, Romero was in an induced coma at a hospital in El Paso.

City awarded $7.9 million for electric buses, facility

BULLETIN REPORT

The City of Las Cruces' RoadRUNNER Transit has been awarded almost $7.9 million by the U.S. Department of Transportation's Federal Transit Administration (FTA) for new electric buses and a new transit facility, the City of Las Cruces said in a news release.

The money, coming from FTA's FY22 Low or No Emission Buses Grant Program and Bus Facilities Program, includes $5.72 million to replace diesel fixed-route buses with seven battery electric buses, purchase electric chargers and implement workforce training. This will help reduce greenhouse-gas emissions by an estimated 887 metric tons per year.

COURTESY PHOTO

The City of Las Cruces received $5.72 million in federal funds to purchase seven electric buses, charging equipment and workforce training.

The City will also receive almost $2.2 million to complete construction of a new transit maintenance and operations facility and for training, which will enable RoadRUNNER Transit to expand its fleet, support the new buses and enlarge maintenance areas, a fueling depot and bus-wash building. This will allow RoadRUNNER Transit to relocate from its Hadley Avenue facility, leaving that area for the city to re-purpose. The new facility will be on Motel Boulevard, next to the existing Las Cruces Utilities.

"RoadRUNNER Transit is honored to be selected for these FTA funding awards which will allow the City to transform over half of its fixed route bus fleet from diesel buses to clean electric buses," said city Transit Administrator Mike Bartholomew told the Bulletin.

"These zero-emission buses will result in significant progress towards the city's clean air and sustainability goals. This award will also allow the city to complete the full build-out of a new operations and maintenance facility on Westgate Court, which will include electric bus-charging infrastructure. Finally, this award allows for a robust workforce development program to train frontline staff, creating strong job skills to support transit operations as it moves forward to a clean and sustainable future. Kudos are in order for the many people – both city staff and contractors – who spent many hours contributing to the development of two strongly competitive funding applications – everyone's hard work paid off," Bartholomew said.

The city expects delivery of five electric buses in April 2023. The order for an additional seven buses will be submitted by the end of 2022, with an estimated build time of 18 months. The transit fleet of electrical fixed-route buses will be complete with 12 buses by summer 2024.

RoadRUNNER Transit is among 150 transit agencies, territories and states awarded $1.66 billion in FTA grants. The funding comes from the recently passed Bipartisan Infrastructure Law. The funding will help meet the goal of net-zero emissions in the U.S. by 2050.

This year's funding will nearly double the number of no-emission transit buses on U.S. roadways, according to the FTA.

Lovell's journey out of homelessness

By MIRIAM CHAIKEN
Volunteer

Community of Hope

Editor's note: This is the fifth in a series about the Mesilla Valley Community of Hope's Camp Hope tent city and Tents to Rents.

His studio apartment at Desert Hope provided Lovell with the longest period living indoors in many years. He worked as an institutional cook at soup kitchens and homeless shelters around the United States, but at age 59 with a number of health issues, this work became too difficult for him. A lingering respiratory problem left him short of breath.

When he arrived at Desert Hope Apartments, Lovell had no real income and the staff worked with him to help him try to qualify for SSI disability and food stamps to give him a safety net.

When we interviewed Lovell for this profile, he said he was very grateful for his apartment and amazed it came fully equipped with a full kitchen and clean linens for bed and bath. He said he felt a new contentment for the first time in many years and hoped to remain at Desert Hope forever.

Sadly, shortly after our interview, Lovell died of natural causes, but he spent the final year of his life safely sheltered and protected by his fellow residents of Desert Hope.

Mesilla Valley Community of Hope expects to raise $100,000 or more during its 2022 Tents to Rents campaign which began Aug. 15 and continues through Sept.

LOVELL

23. (It had raised almost $60,000 at the end of August, with more than $40,000 to go to reach its 2022 goal.)

Campaign participants raise funds for Tents to Rents by soliciting donations from family, friends, co-workers, churches and other events and activities. Sponsors and donors are also welcome.

Tents to Rents began in 2016, raising $13,000. In 2021, it raised almost $80,000. In its first six years, Tents to Rents has raised more than $200,000.

There are currently 45 residents of MVCH's Camp Hope tent city. It costs about $7,800 to move a person who is struggling with homelessness into his or her own apartment.

To sign up as a participant or sponsor or donate, contact Executive Director Nicole Martinez at 575-523-2219, extension 114, and hope@zianet.com. Visit www.mv-communityofhope.org.

From “Queen America” creator Meaghan Oppenheimer comes this drama series that follows college sweethearts Lucy and Stephen (Grace Van Patten, “Under the Silver Lake,” and Jackson White, “Mrs. Fletcher”) as they fall into an addictive entanglement that will permanently alter the lives of themselves and those around them. “Movie: Whose Streets?”

From directors Sabaah Foleyan (“Look at Me: XXXTentacion”) and Damon Davis (“The Holly”) comes this 2017 documentary that takes a close up look at how the police killing of Ferguson, Mo., teen Michael Brown Jr. in 2014 inspired a community to fight back and sparked a global movement.

“Movie: What Just Happened?”

Robert De Niro and director Barry Levinson satirized the business of politics in “Wag the Dog,” and they reunite to give Hollywood similar treatment in this comedy. De Niro plays a producer who tries to reason with various parties in getting a movie finished, prompting him to mull whether it's all worth it. Bruce Willis, John Turturro and Kristen Stewart also star.

Movie: Marry Go Round

Abby Foster (Amanda Schull) and Luke Walker (Brennan Elliott) were high school sweethearts who were married for a brief time. But when an unexpected letter arrives and throws Abby off course, she must decide what her heart really wants in this 2022 romance.

6 p.m. on LIFE
Movie: House of Chains

Following their own set of strict religious beliefs, parents

Laura (Mena Suvari) and Tye (Greyston Holt) keep their children sequestered from the outside world. But as the children grow older, Laura and Tye's authoritarian ways grow stronger leading them down a path of child abuse, neglect and imprisonment. In order to save their younger siblings and free themselves from their parents, the older children band together and risk a harrowing escape to alert authorities and save their family in this 2022 thriller. Natalie Jane and Maddy Kane also star.

6 p.m. on TCM
Movie: The Thomas Crown Affair

Style is everything in the original 1968 version of this sophisticated crime story, casting Steve McQueen as an urbane Boston millionaire who masterminds bank robberies for kicks. Faye Dunaway (who also was in the 1999 remake) plays the insurance investigator determined to get the goods on him — but she doesn't count on surrendering her emotions in the process. Director Norman Jewison's cast also includes Paul Burke, Jack Weston and Yaphet Kotto.

8 p.m. on EPIX
NFL Icons

Arguably the greatest icon in football history, John Madden's rare combination of charisma, vision and leadership made generations of fans fall in love with the game. He shaped the identity of the Oakland Raiders and their climb to a Super Bowl title. His legend grew as the voice of pro football on television, through video games, and enshrinement in the Pro Football Hall of Fame — all of which Madden attributed to his vocation as a teacher. The Season 2 premiere pays tribute to Madden and is narrated by Rich Eisen.

9 p.m. on FX
Movie: Jumanji: The Next Level

In director and co-writer Jake Kasdan's 2019 follow-up to 2017's "Jumanji: Welcome to the Jungle," Dwayne Johnson, Jack Black, Kevin Hart and Karen Gillan return to their roles as the virtual avatars of some teenage friends who get trapped in the Jumanji game. tonight's picks

Tom Brady

6 p.m. on KFOX
Monarch

The reigning King of Country Music Albie Roman (Trace Adkins), and his very talented and tough wife, Queen of Country Music Dottie (Susan Sarandon), have created a dynasty. And while the Roman name is synonymous with authenticity, the origins of their success aren't. When their reign as royalty is jeopardized, heir to the crown Nicolette "Nicky" Roman (Anna Friel) will do whatever it takes to protect her family's legacy in the series premiere "Stop at Nothing."

6 p.m. on STARZ
The Serpent Queen

If you like historical dramas that break the fourth wall, you'll want to tune into this series that follows the life and rise to power of 16th century French monarch Catherine de Medici (Samantha Morton) via flashbacks. Married into a loveless relationship at 14, she lived to see three of her sons take the throne of France. But getting there took some fairly aggressive moves that cost several people their lives via various horrific methods. Colm Meaney, Liv Hill, Charles Dance, Ludivine Sagnier and Rupert Everett star.

7 p.m. on KRWG
The Boleyns: A Scandalous Family

Sometimes you've got to be careful what you wish for. Anne (Rafaele Cohen) makes her play for — and wins — the biggest prize in the kingdom when Henry breaks with the Catholic Church, overturning 1000 years of history, making Anne his queen. But when she fails to provide a male heir, Anne is arrested and tried on charges of treason, adultery and incest with her brother George (Sam Retford). Both are executed. But the Boleyn legacy lives on in the Season 1 finale "The Fall." Shelley Conn narrates.

7 p.m. on FOOD
Alex vs America

If you like your food made in a centrifuge and then finished off in a rotary evaporator, the Season 2 finale "Alex vs. Modernist Cuisine," has your name on it. Host Eric Adjepong welcomes three modernist cuisine experts from New Jersey, Colorado and South Carolina as they attempt to stretch the boundaries of food as we know them. Judges Byron Gomez Chacon and Marcel Vigneron will decide if they succeed in out-cooking Chef Alex Guarnaschelli.

7:15 p.m. on KTSM
NFL Football

NFC Championship Game preview, anyone? That may be on tap tonight at AT&T Stadium, where Dak Prescott and the Dallas Cowboys hope the home field works to their advantage in their game against Tom Brady and the Tampa Bay Buccaneers. The 'Boys come into the season as NFC favorites, eager to wash the bitter taste of their Wild Card Round defeat to the 49ers last season out of their mouths. As for the Bucs, they're set to go with Brady at the helm, who at 45 is entering his 23rd and presumably last NFL season.

10 p.m. on HMM
Movie: To Her, With Love

Kayla (Skye P. Marshall) returns to her hometown after her teaching job at an elite, private high school comes to an early end. She accepts a job at her alma mater and initially struggles to connect with her students, but fellow teacher Jordan (Tobias Truvillion), steps in to help. When Kayla learns the school may be cutting the arts department due to budget cuts, she and Jordan work together to set up a fundraising showcase, with a little help from her longtime friend Shanice Wilson-Knox in this 2022 romance.

10 p.m. on SHOW
American Gigolo

It's been a bumpy ride for the television reimaging of this iconic 1980 film with various major players leaving. But the series premiere picks up after the release of Julian Kaye (Jon Bernthal) from prison where he's served 15 years for murder. Struggling to adjust to the relationships with his former lover Michelle (Gretchen Mol), his mother and the people who betrayed him, he tries to reinvent himself.

Illustrator Cynthia Warren (Bebe Daniels) opposes the idea that every woman is destined for matrimony and motherhood, and decides she has as much right as a man to play around. So, leaving behind steady-but-dull Randolph Morgan (Randolph Scott) she heads for Paris for a little joie de vivre. One there, she meets a Prince (Barry Norton) and takes the wrap for a possible murder, before her real prince comes to her aid, as this 1933 classic is among the night's block of films featuring Daniels.

“Movie: Two Ways Home”

From director Ron Vignone (“Say I Do”) comes this 2019 drama that follows Kathy (Tanna Frederick, “Hollywood Dreams”), an ex-convict with bipolar disorder, as she tries to re-establish her relationships with her estranged daughter and cantankerous grandfather. Tom Bower, Joel West, Rylie Behr and Shanda Munson are also in the cast.

“Movie: The Best Exotic Marigold Hotel”

Several British acting veterans — including Judi Dench, who was guided to her “Shakespeare in Love” Oscar by this film’s director, John Madden — star in this tale of retirees who invest in a site in India where they intend to enjoy their retirement. Once there, they find the place isn’t in quite the lavish condition promised. Maggie Smith, Bill Nighy and Tom Wilkinson also star.

“Movie: Rockaway”

First-time filmmaker John Budion wrote and directed this 2017 coming-of-age drama that’s inspired by a true story as a New York man recalls the summer of 1994, when he and his brother plotted revenge against their abusive father. Keidrich Sellati, Maxwell Apple, James Di Giacomo and Tanner Flood head the cast.

“NFL Football”

The 17-game slate kicks off with a powerhouse AFC West match-up as Patrick Mahomes and the Kansas City Chiefs play host to Justin Herbert and the Los Angeles Chargers. Other noteworthy games include Miami Dolphins at Cincinnati Bengals (Sept. 29), New Orleans Saints at Arizona Cardinals (Oct. 20) and Buffalo Bills at New England Patriots (Dec. 1). Al Michaels and Kirk Herbstreit call the action. (ORIGINAL)

Austin Butler
in "Elvis"

"ELVIS"

Director Baz Luhrmann's ("Moulin Rouge!") expectedly musical biography of Elvis Presley – boasting an effective performance by Austin Butler in the title role – also gives plenty of time to Tom Hanks as Col. Tom Parker, Presley's domineering manager. Many of the details of pop-culture icon's life are widely known, but they take on a different sheen when filtered through Parker's perspective on the events. Though Presley went along with many of the career decisions made for him early on, that changed as his superstardom gave him true power, a fact that made Parker attempt to be only more controlling. Olivia DeJonge portrays wife Priscilla Presley, with Helen Thomson as Presley's mother Gladys.

Hanks became one of the first celebrities to contract COVID-19 while making this movie, and general delays caused by the illness ultimately made the filming stretch over a full year. ★★★ (PG-13: AS, P) (Also on Blu-ray, 4K Ultra HD, Digital and On Demand)

"LIGHTYEAR"

Many weren't happy that Tim Allen didn't get to reprise his iconic "Toy Story" voice role – despite the explanation by this picture's makers that it wasn't about a "toy" Buzz Lightyear, but an actual astronaut – but this computer-animated spinoff did moderate business at the summer box office. Chris Evans assumes the part as

Buzz is depicted as a young space ranger trying to get his ship and crew off a planet whose residents aren't exactly friendly. The concept of time also gets a big alteration, with what seem like minutes to Buzz actually translating into years ... a fact that comes to have a sizable emotional impact on him. Keke Palmer, Peter Sohn, Taika Waititi, James Brolin, Uzo Aduba and Bill Hader also are heard. DVD extras: three "making-of" documentaries; audio commentary by filmmakers; deleted scenes. ★★★ (PG: P) (Also on Blu-ray, 4K Ultra HD, Digital and On Demand)

"WHERE THE CRAWDADS SING"

The best selling novel by Delia Owens fuels this drama about a young woman (played by Daisy Edgar-Jones, of the latest television version of "War of the Worlds") who raises herself in the marshlands of North Carolina, prompting suspicion and fear among nearby residents. Though she has kept herself isolated from them, she decides to integrate herself into the community when she takes an interest in two young men ... but a subsequent tragedy only reinforces the locals' hunches about her, while it also reveals skeletons in various closets. Taylor John-Smith, Harris Dickinson, Sterling Macer Jr. and David Strathairn also star in the film, on which Reese Witherspoon was a producer. DVD extras: three "making-of" documentaries; deleted and extended scenes; Taylor Swift "Carolina" lyric video. ★★★ (PG-13: AS, P, V)

"PLATOON"

Military movies had entered a different phase by the time Oliver Stone earned an Oscar for directing this controversial drama, named the best picture of 1986 at the Academy Awards and now making its debut in the 4K Ultra HD format. Stone also wrote the Vietnam War story that casts Charlie Sheen (who would work for him again in "Wall Street") as a young soldier who becomes caught in a battle of wills between two sergeants (Tom Berenger, Willem Dafoe). As if the internal strife isn't enough for all of them, they have to try to survive the outside forces that add considerable rigors to their professional mission. Kevin Dillon, Forest Whitaker, Keith David, John C. McGinley and – in one of his earliest film roles – Johnny Depp also star, and filmmaker Stone makes a cameo appearance. ★★★ (R: AS, P, GV)

"THE WHITE LOTUS: THE COMPLETE FIRST SEASON"

The cast and crew of this seriocomic HBO and HBO Max series created their own "bubble" by largely taking over a Hawaiian resort for the two months of filming writer-director Mike White's comedy, about a Maui hotel's staff and the diverse guests they service. This first round of the show – nominated for a hugely impressive 20 Primetime Emmy Awards, including outstanding limited or anthology series – features Alexandra Daddario as a newlywed who develops second thoughts about the marriage, with Jake Lacy as her worried husband and Molly Shannon as her meddling mother. The ensemble cast also includes Steve Zahn, Connie Britton, Jennifer Coolidge, Natasha Rothwell, Sydney Sweeney, Murray Bartlett and Brittany O'Grady. A second season of the show, filmed in Sicily, is slated to debut soon. ★★★ (Not rated: AS, P)

Checking in with
AJ MENDEZ

First and foremost, AJ Mendez regards herself as a storyteller.

As a pro wrestler in the WWE, her character AJ Lee was part of numerous storylines. Now retired, she tells stories from behind the mic as color commentator and executive producer of "WOW – Women of Wrestling," which premieres in syndication the weekend of Saturday, Sept. 17.

"Storytelling is really what saved my life growing up," explains Mendez, who is also an author and mental health advocate. "I grew up kind of rough in New Jersey, and being able to write my own stories and create my own comic books and superheroes saved my life, and that escapism is really what my heart is in.

"And I found that in pro wrestling and I found that in film school," continues the former student of New York University's Tisch School of the Arts. "And so once wrestling, that chapter was closed, it was cool, too, to find that storytelling in a different way. And now combining both of them is kind of a dream situation."

And storytelling is integral to "WOW." Created by David McLane (the founder of the original "GLOW: Gorgeous Ladies of Wrestling") and owned by Los Angeles Lakers President Jeanie Buss, the series blends ring action with the personal stories of the wrestlers.

From 2007 to 2015, Mendez was one of them in the WWE. But now she's content to sit ringside with host Stephen Dickey and watch a new generation of women perform and help them advance their careers.

"To be in a role where I feel like I can help women whose shoes I was in a decade ago feel comfortable and safe and seen," Mendez says, "it's just been really cool to make sure that we have this product that is inclusive and forward-thinking and is just empowering and uplifting."

'Grasshopper' still trying new things

Artist to show ceramics, drawings at exhibit

By MIKE COOK
Las Cruces Bulletin

The work of Las Cruces artist and storyteller Douglas Jackson will be featured in an exhibition that opens Friday, Sept. 9, at Aa Studio, located behind 2645 Doña Ana Road, on Calle de Oro.

"Douglas Jackson's Fall Collection," including ceramics and drawings, will continue through Sunday, Oct. 9, at Aa Studio.

Events featuring Jackson will be held at the studio 5-8 p.m.

Friday, Sept. 9; noon-3 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 10; and 2-4 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 11. Aa Studio is open the second weekend of every month and by appointment by calling 575-520-8752.

Las Cruces artist Douglas Jackson will show his work at an exhibit opening Friday, Sept. 9, at Aa Studio.

Jackson is a retired educator. He worked for the El Paso Independent School District for 22 years and taught in Florida for 13 years before that.

"I have worked primarily with deaf students, but at times with gifted ones as well," Jackson said.

He also is a longtime member of Storytellers of Las Cruces.

"I have told tales all over town, most frequently at COAS (bookstore), New Mexico State University and Highland Elementary School," Jackson said. "I pick people from the audience to play characters in the stories, and their performances never cease to amaze me. The results are less like a traditional narrative and more like a one-act play," he said.

"The biggest blessings in my life are my two wonderful grownup children and my two grandsons," Jackson said.

"Art-wise, I have been a compulsive doodler since childhood, and blank scraps of paper within my reach don't stay blank for long," he said. "I came to ceramics fairly late in life; at that point I already looked like a good candidate for Grecian Formula.

"My ceramics sensei has been the gifted clay master Jan Archey (of Las Cruces)," Jackson said. "She has mentored, encouraged and challenged me, as she has done for many, many others. 'Don't be afraid to try new things, Grasshopper,' she says. 'Yes, sensei,' I reply.

"I have never seen ceramics as a way to make money," Jackson said. "My business plan could have been written on a Big Chief tablet with a box of Crayolas. The stuff that I didn't give away to family, friends and students I gave to charities, like Empty Bowls and En Voz Alta, our educator-parent group in El Paso.

"I was surprised and moved when Roy van der Aa (owner of Aa Studio) asked to do a one-man show in 2019," he said. "It wasn't something that I ever imagined would happen. Roy and his wife, Robin, couldn't have been more supportive and enthusiastic.

And it was fun kibbitzing with everyone who came to see the show. Consequently, when Roy discussed the possibility of a second show in September 2022, it took me at least three seconds to agree to it.

"I am by no means the most accomplished artist in this community," Jackson said, "but there are two things of which I am proud: 1) All my creations may be goofy looking, but they were all clearly made by the same two hands. They have the same bloodline. You can ID them from across the room. When someone adopts one, I feel like I have given a part of myself; and 2) Many people respond to these creatures. They take them into their hearts. They tell them what they are going to do with them — a gift to a loved one, a friendly place to put their daily medications in, a part of their holiday celebrations. It gives me special joy when kids tell me that they use these figures to decorate their houses every December. My own grandsons told me that in a video that I promise you I watched less than 100 times.

"I hope that people feel the same way about the cast of characters in my September show at Aa Studios," Jackson said. "I hope they find a goofy clay face that worms its way into their hearts. What could be cooler?"

Writer honored for military book

BULLETIN REPORT

Las Cruces writer Bob Worthington's book "Fighting Viet Cong in the Rung Sat" has been awarded a silver medal by the Military Writers Society of America (MWSA), Wilson Binkley Advertising and Marketing said in a news release. The book is the second in Worthington's Vietnam military trilogy. The award was announced Aug. 27.

Worthington's book earned the silver medal in the memoir/biography category.

In the book, Worthington describes his second tour in Vietnam as some of the fiercest fighting of the war and tells of his experiences training South Vietnamese commandos to conduct raids in the swamps south of Saigon.

"Fighting Viet Cong in the Rung Sat" is the follow up to "Under Fire with the ARVN Infantry," for which Worthington received an MWSA national award for excellence. His final book in the trilogy, "The Making of an Army Psychologist," is scheduled for publication this month. All three books are published by McFarland & Company, Inc.

Worthington, who is a member of the Las Cruces Writers Group, has another anthology of military tales titled "Untold Stories" available on Amazon.

A retired U.S. Army officer with 15 years of experience in the infantry and a decade as an Army clinical psychologist, Worthington was awarded the combat infantryman badge, seven decorations for valor, a Purple Heart, the Air Medal and several awards for meritorious service. NMSU professor shares 25 years of 'street photography'

By MINERVA BAUMANN
NMSU News Team

When asked about his new book, Bruce Berman might say it's about "nothing."

The "Seinfeld" comparison is not far off the mark. Like the television show, "Backlands: Photographs 1975-2000" explores nuances of everyday life, but instead of New Yorkers, Berman's photography reveals the nooks and crannies of smalltown America.

"I was traveling a lot in those years," said Berman. "I'm in Utah, I'm in Minnesota, I'm in Wisconsin, all these places. If you love photography, those are the best years because you're shooting your own stuff, just shooting. It's my personal work, not assignments."

Berman describes the book as 90 percent about people. From a man kissing a llama in the cover photo to some hitchhiking nuns and a man driving his 1953 Buick in a foggy California forest. Others in the book include a Dallas bridegroom with his shotgun on his wedding day and an Albuquerque taxidermist showing his wares. The book has a story without a beginning, middle or end. It was then. It is now. The reader can only experience it one page at a time.

"The challenge is to work with people and not just get a surface image, not get my picture and run but get to know something about the soul of the person and transfer that," Berman said.

On the book jacket, Berman reflects on the 120-plus-page collection of photos as "a state of mind, done off 'The Grid.' Here we find battered people, people who love their cars, workers, the faithful, simple landscapes, places where there's great generosity, absurdity, intimacy, a little mystery and where slow time still exists."

"Backland" is Berman's third book in the less than three years. His previous one titled "Cutting the Wire," is a collaboration with two poets. It won the Southwest Book Award in 2020.

A working photojournalist for national and international publications since the late 1960s, Berman began teaching at NMSU part time in 2006 and has been an associate professor focused on documentary photojournalism since 2008.

He loves teaching, especially passing along what he's learned to his students and giving them the benefit of his decades of on-the-job experience. Berman wants them to learn techniques but more than that, he wants them to find what resonates with them.

"If I were to summarize the book, I'd say it's a book about becoming, basically developing your viewpoint," Berman said. "Photographers call it 'finding your signature.' I think musicians call it 'finding your voice.' That's what this book is about - finding my voice in photography."

"Backland" started as a two-week project that turned into a six-month journey. For Berman, still photography is an adventure he will continue to the end of his life.

Video may be king in today's social media and internet environment, but Berman sees the still image as a more powerful way to capture a moment in time and cement its influence for future generations. That moment is what he calls "dropping the veil."

"If they let you in, if they'll drop that veil, you'll know it," Berman said. "Somebody will drop that veil, and then you're really looking at who they are."

"It's not actually a book about nothing. It's a book about me and walking between the lines, between the people I've encountered that I think you might want to encounter too."

"Backland: Photographs 1975-2000" is available on amazon.com.

Young at Heart celebrates 50

By RAY SCROGGINS
Young at Heart Chorus

The Young at Heart Chorus is the continuation of a community chorus that began in 1972 in the old senior center at the corner of Nevada and Chaparral. Various known since then as the Munson Senior Chorus and Las Cruces Senior Chorus, the group has been known as the Young at Heart Chorus since 2006.

Over the years, Young at Heart's mission has evolved to focus on two goals.

First, to entertain residents of assisted living and nursing homes and senior centers in the Las Cruces area with music. Second, to provide an opportunity for people in the Las Cruces area to belong to a choral group, to sing and to enjoy music and friendship together.

The group rehearses two or three times a month and generally sings at four facilities each month.

Music and themes change monthly, selected from a large library of old songs that are favorites of the audience and the chorus. Programs are enhanced by varying the themes and by highlighting the talents of individual members with vocal solos or duets, group harmony and instrumental accompaniment as part of the performance.

Harold Mack (director) and his wife, Audrey (pianist), started the chorus in June of 1972. Their first performance was for Halloween 1972, with four singers. Harold was with the chorus for 22 years, until 1994, and was a resident at The Aristocrat, one of the places where the group still performs, when he died in 2013 at the age of 86.

Dr. John Early was chairman of the chorus for many years. He and his wife, Martha, took care of many details to keep the chorus running smoothly. They also were instrumental in preserving much of the group's history. Some of the early programs included many of the same songs the chorus sings today. Although many more old favorites have been added since, the focus continues to be on songs with "real melodies."

In 1999, Dr. Early asked his neighbor, Marilyn Gioannini, to accompany the chorus, which began another chapter. In addition to serving as pianist, Marilyn was music archivist and collector and occasionally served as director until retiring in March 2016.

Over the years, many other people served as director and assistant director, including Elgin Bryce, Joe Otero, Alice Schwebke and Roger McCandless. Current co-directors include Chuck Riggs, Dennis Cherry and me.

In 1995, when known as the Munson Senior Chorus, there were 23 members, while today, there are more than 30 active members. The chorus performs from September through December and February through May each year. On the fourth Thursday of those months, the group offers a free concert, open to the public, at the Good Samaritan Auditorium, 3022 Buena Vida Circle, from 2 to 3 p.m.

Visit the chorus website at www.youngatheartlas-cruces.website or watch past performances on YouTube at yahchoruslas-cruces.

'Being Earnest' coming to RGT

BULLETIN REPORT

Blank Conversations Theatre Company (BCTC) of Las Cruces is opening its 2022-23 season with a dive into the classics, with "The Importance of Being Earnest," by Oscar Wilde.

Directed by Christopher Lininger, the production will run Thursday-Sunday, Sept. 15-18, at Rio Grande Theatre, 211 N. Main St. Downtown.

The play follows two bachelors, John "Jack" Worthing and Algernon "Algy" Moncrieff, who create alter egos named Ernest to escape their tiresome lives. They attempt to win the hearts of two women who, conveniently, claim to only love men called Ernest. The men struggle to keep up with their own stories and become tangled in deception, disguise and misadventure.

Wilde (1854-1900), who was born in Ireland and lived in London, grew famous and infamous for his ridicule of Victorian sensibilities in this hilarious comedy of manners.

The cast features Chad Gonzalez (Jack), Riley Merritt (Algy), Ashley Dahl (Gwendolyn), Alyssa Gose (Cecily), Karina Diven (Lady Bracknell), JoAnna Hubbard (Miss Prism), Eva Cullen (Rev. Chasuble) and Steven Couler (Lane and Merriman).

The show's creative team includes Roxi Garcia (stage manager), Anjelica Martinez (costume designer), Gus David Sanchez (set designer), John Schwendinger (sound designer) and Mattie Ruminer (lighting designer). "With a show like 'Importance' happening now, especially in our community, it's a return to classic comedy we're all in need of right now," said Sanchez, the president and co-founder of BCTC.

Tickets are $15, with a student ticket available at the door for $10. They can be purchased at the theatre box office or at www.riograndetheatre.org. Concessions will be available during the show.

NEW NATURAL GAS RATE IMPLEMENTATION

By C.T. Barnes

Like everything else, natural gas prices have continuously been on the rise, especially in 2022. Las Cruces Utilities (LCU) is doing everything they can to make sure customers are prepared for the increase, but that they are also not seeing much of a spike on their LCU monthly bill as we head into the colder months.

As many are aware by now, the increase in natural gas prices has been affected by the fuel being used to generate electricity, the export of liquefied natural gas (LNG), and the Russian invasion of Ukraine. The approved LCU natural gas rates are to be phased-in over three (3) years. The Decarbonization Rider was approved by City Council to implement the increase in year one.

"We will be done collecting the emergency commodity recovery surcharge at the end of August, and that was one of the stipulations by the LCU Board that the new rates cannot be implemented until the surcharge is completed," LCU Interim Deputy Director Business Services Domonique Rodriguez stated.

The natural gas rate increase will begin September 1, 2022. This includes the cost of service rate, which LCU determines the revenue requirement in order to function as a safe and reliability utility. "It's figuring out how much the utility needs to run their operations for a safe and reliable system, and how that revenue requirement is allocated to the different customer classes based on how those classes use the system," stated Rodriguez.

The natural gas rate increase will take small commercial customers' access charge from $16.41 to $16.77. This $0.36 increase will bring their average monthly cost from

LCU staff working on a natural gas line - Courtesy LCU

$75.15 to $83.57 showing a $8.42 difference. For residential customers the average price is going from $26.87 to $27.29, a $0.42 increase. These prices are dependent on the cost of natural gas, but LCU averaged in with their rate of increase, estimating the cost of gas at $2.50 per dekatherm.

The Decarbonization Rider goes into effect October 1, 2022. It will not be phased in throughout the next three years as originally planned and will be a one-time increase of 15-cent-per-dekatherm. Annually this increase will cost the average household $10.80 more, with the assumption of 72 dekatherms being used annually. The goal for the Decarbonization Rider is to generate $500,000.00 per year, that LCU will use to fund an energy transition plan and for energy efficiency upgrades in its service area while also exploring renewable energy diversity.

The upgrades will help the City-owned utility in reaching the carbon neutral goals that the City of Las Cruces and State of New Mexico have set forth.

As natural gas prices continue to fluctuate, LCU reminds customers that the cost for natural gas is directly passed on to the customer; LCU does not profit from the commodity price of natural gas. Moving into the winter season, LCU's main obligation is to continue to satisfy customer demand for natural gas.

Tombaugh Gallery September exhibit is 'Peace, Love & Unity'

BULLETIN REPORT

Tombaugh Gallery will host an exhibition entitled "Peace, Love & Unity," featuring the artwork of Georjeanna Feltha, in September and October, the gallery said in a news release.

The show opens Sunday, Sept. 11, and continues through Saturday, Oct. 8.

The opening reception is 11:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m. Sept. 11 at the gallery.

A conversation with the artist will be held noon-2 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 17.

"Peace, Love & Unity" is about Feltha's "response to the world the way it is right now," the gallery said. "It is the result of works she has been exploring for the past 30 years. She feels that the best way to make a difference is through her art, a seed of hope she is planting for our future. She believes it is only through peace, love and unity that we will have a chance to save our country and our world for future generations."

In her art, Feltha "blends messages through the use of techniques borrowed from her African, Native American and Caucasian roots, using traditional weaving and sewing methods," the news release said. "She fashions fiber, handmade paper, clay and a variety of found objects into everything she creates, including sculpture, collage, multimedia paintings, stylish clothing and home furnishings."

Tombaugh Gallery is part of the Unitarian Universalist Church at 2000 S. Solano Drive.

Gallery hours are 10 a.m.-2 p.m. Thursday-Saturday and 11:30 a.m.-2:30 p.m. Sunday.

For more information, call 575-522-7281. Visit www.uuchurchlc.org/about-us/our-art-gallery.

The art of Georjeanna Feltha will display at the Tombaugh.

Las Cruces home values hold strong

By STEVE MONTANEZ

For the Bulletin

In August, Las Cruces saw an increase in homes available, buyers a few more options to see before rushing to write offers. Sellers saw their homes sit on the market for a little longer than in recent months, but values still held very strong and sold prices even saw a small increase over the July. More incentives were being offered over the last month. Those incentives included closing cost allowances and price reductions. Even lender incentives are now being offered to help offset rising interest rates. The increase in active inventory is a great sign for homebuyers as the fall months tend to be slower. In addition, buyers have more options than they did over the last two years. It's still a great market for sellers, who are getting 98 percent of their list price. Overall In Las Cruces, it's still a great time to be a homeowner.

Memorial unveils Daisy Wall, honoring nurses

By MIKE COOK
Las Cruces Bulletin

Memorial Medical Center (MMC) unveiled The Daisy Wall Aug. 25 at the hospital, 2450 S. Telshor Blvd. The wall was created to recognize “the compassionate care of nurses” at MMC.

The wall’s centerpiece is artwork titled “DaiZia” by Las Cruces artist Cynthia De Lorenzi, which “connects the award’s daisy symbol with the Zia, an iconic symbol for the state of New Mexico and the Pueblo tribes,” MMC said.

De Lorenzi attending the wall’s unveiling, along with MMC staff, including past DAISY award winners.

The DAISY Award for Extraordinary Nurses is part of the DAISY Foundation’s mission to recognize the extraordinary, compassionate care that nurses provide patients and families every day, MMC said.

MMC presents DAISY awards to its nurses throughout the year, based on nominations from patients, families and physicians.

The DAISY Wall “honors nurses who care for patients,” said Holly Wilber, RN, who is MMC’s DAISY award coordinator. Awards are presented based on recommendations “from patients and family members in our care,” she said.

The nonprofit DAISY Foundation was founded in memory of J. Patrick Barnes by members of his family. Patrick died at the age of 33 in late 1999 from complications of Idiopathic Thrombocytopenic Purpura (ITP), a little known but not uncommon auto-immune disease. (DAISY is an acronym for Diseases Attacking the Immune System.) The care Patrick and his family received from nurses while he was ill inspired the award.

Nurses may be nominated for a DAISY award by patients, families and physicians. Recipients are chosen by an MMC committee.

Payne Stewart: A giving spirit we can all emulate

On Aug. 23, longtime PGA Tour golfer Billy Andrade was celebrated as the 2022 recipient of the PGA Tour's Payne Stewart Award. The award was initiated in 2000 one year after Stewart's untimely and tragic death in a plane crash.

The first recipient was Jack Nicklaus. Since then, the PGA Tour has presented the Payne Stewart Award annually to a professional golfer who best exemplifies Stewart's steadfast values of character, sportsmanship and charity.

Andrade, who attended Wake Forest University on an Arnold Palmer Scholarship, helped the Demon Deacons win the NCAA Championship in 1986, then played on the winning Walker Cup team in 1987 and turned pro that same year. He won four times on the PGA Tour from 1991 to 2000, including the win at the 2000 Invesys Classic in Las Vegas by one shot over Phil Mickelson. He also won three times on the PGA Champions Tour, all in 2015.

Although Andrade is recognized as a champion pro golfer, he is best known for his passion for giving back. Shortly after his first PGA Tour victory in 1991, Andrade partnered with Brad Faxon to create Billy Andrade/Brad Faxon Charities for Children Inc., with a mission to support children's charities in Massachusetts and Rhode Island. Since its inception, the organization has generated more than $30 million through its various efforts. So far in 2022, the organization has supported 61 different children's charities in those communities. In April 1999 Andrade and Faxon were both recognized by the Golf Writers Association of America with the Charlie Bartlett Award which is given annually to a playing professional for unselfish contributions to the betterment of society.

CHARLIE BLANCHARD

Payne Stewart was always one of my favorite PGA Tour players. I was struck by his gracefully fluid and seemingly effortless golf swing, as well as his slightly flamboyant attire that included knickerbocker slacks and ivy caps.

Stewart's golf swing was such that he dragged his right root and tore up the right toes of his shoes. He had an expert shoemaker, Fore Ltd., custom create his golf shoes with a gold metal piece protecting both shoe toes. They are made and sold today by www.goldtoeshoes.com (Vecci Fashions Co.) for $300. I admired Payne Stewart so much that I own five pairs of gold toes.

Stewart liked to needle those who he liked, and everyone on tour knew he was a true sportsman and a fierce competitor. Most of all he was a Christian.

After he won the 1999 U.S. Open at Pinehurst, by memorably holing that final 15-foot par putt on the 72 green, Stewart credited his win to being more at peace with himself with his ever-strengthened religious belief. Scottie Scheffler echoed much the same sentiments some 23 years later after he won the Masters.

As for Stewart's charitable side, one story stands out. In 1987, Stewart won the Hertz Bay Hill Classic in Orlando (later named the Arnold Palmer Invitational), shooting 63 and 65 in the final two rounds. At the time, his home was on the 12 hole at Bay Hill.

After his victory he donated his $108,000 prize money to a Florida hospital in memory of his father, who died of cancer two years earlier.

When the news about Stewart's death broke Tiger Woods was devastated: "Anyone who knew Payne ... it's a huge blow to all of us because he was part of our lives. To have him gone, it's really difficult to refer to him in the past tense. I just saw him the other day. It's hard to believe he's not going to be here."

It was hard for all of us.

Consider Composting to Fight Food Waste

Submitted by South Central Solid Waste Authority

There's probably a hidden nook in your yard that might help less food waste head to our landfill. That spot could be the perfect location to start composting organic material left over from your kitchen.

According to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), landfills produce the third largest amount of methane emissions in the United States, after petroleum production, and animal gas and manure – a recorded 14.1 percent in 2017. Methane's presence in the atmosphere affects Earth's temperature and climate, and per the EPA, food is the single largest category of material placed in municipal landfills.

Locally, South Central Solid Waste Authority (SCSWA) has been harnessing the methane produced at the Corralitos

A compost tumbler is an easy way to remove food waste from your trash and our landfill and make fertilizer for your plants and trees.

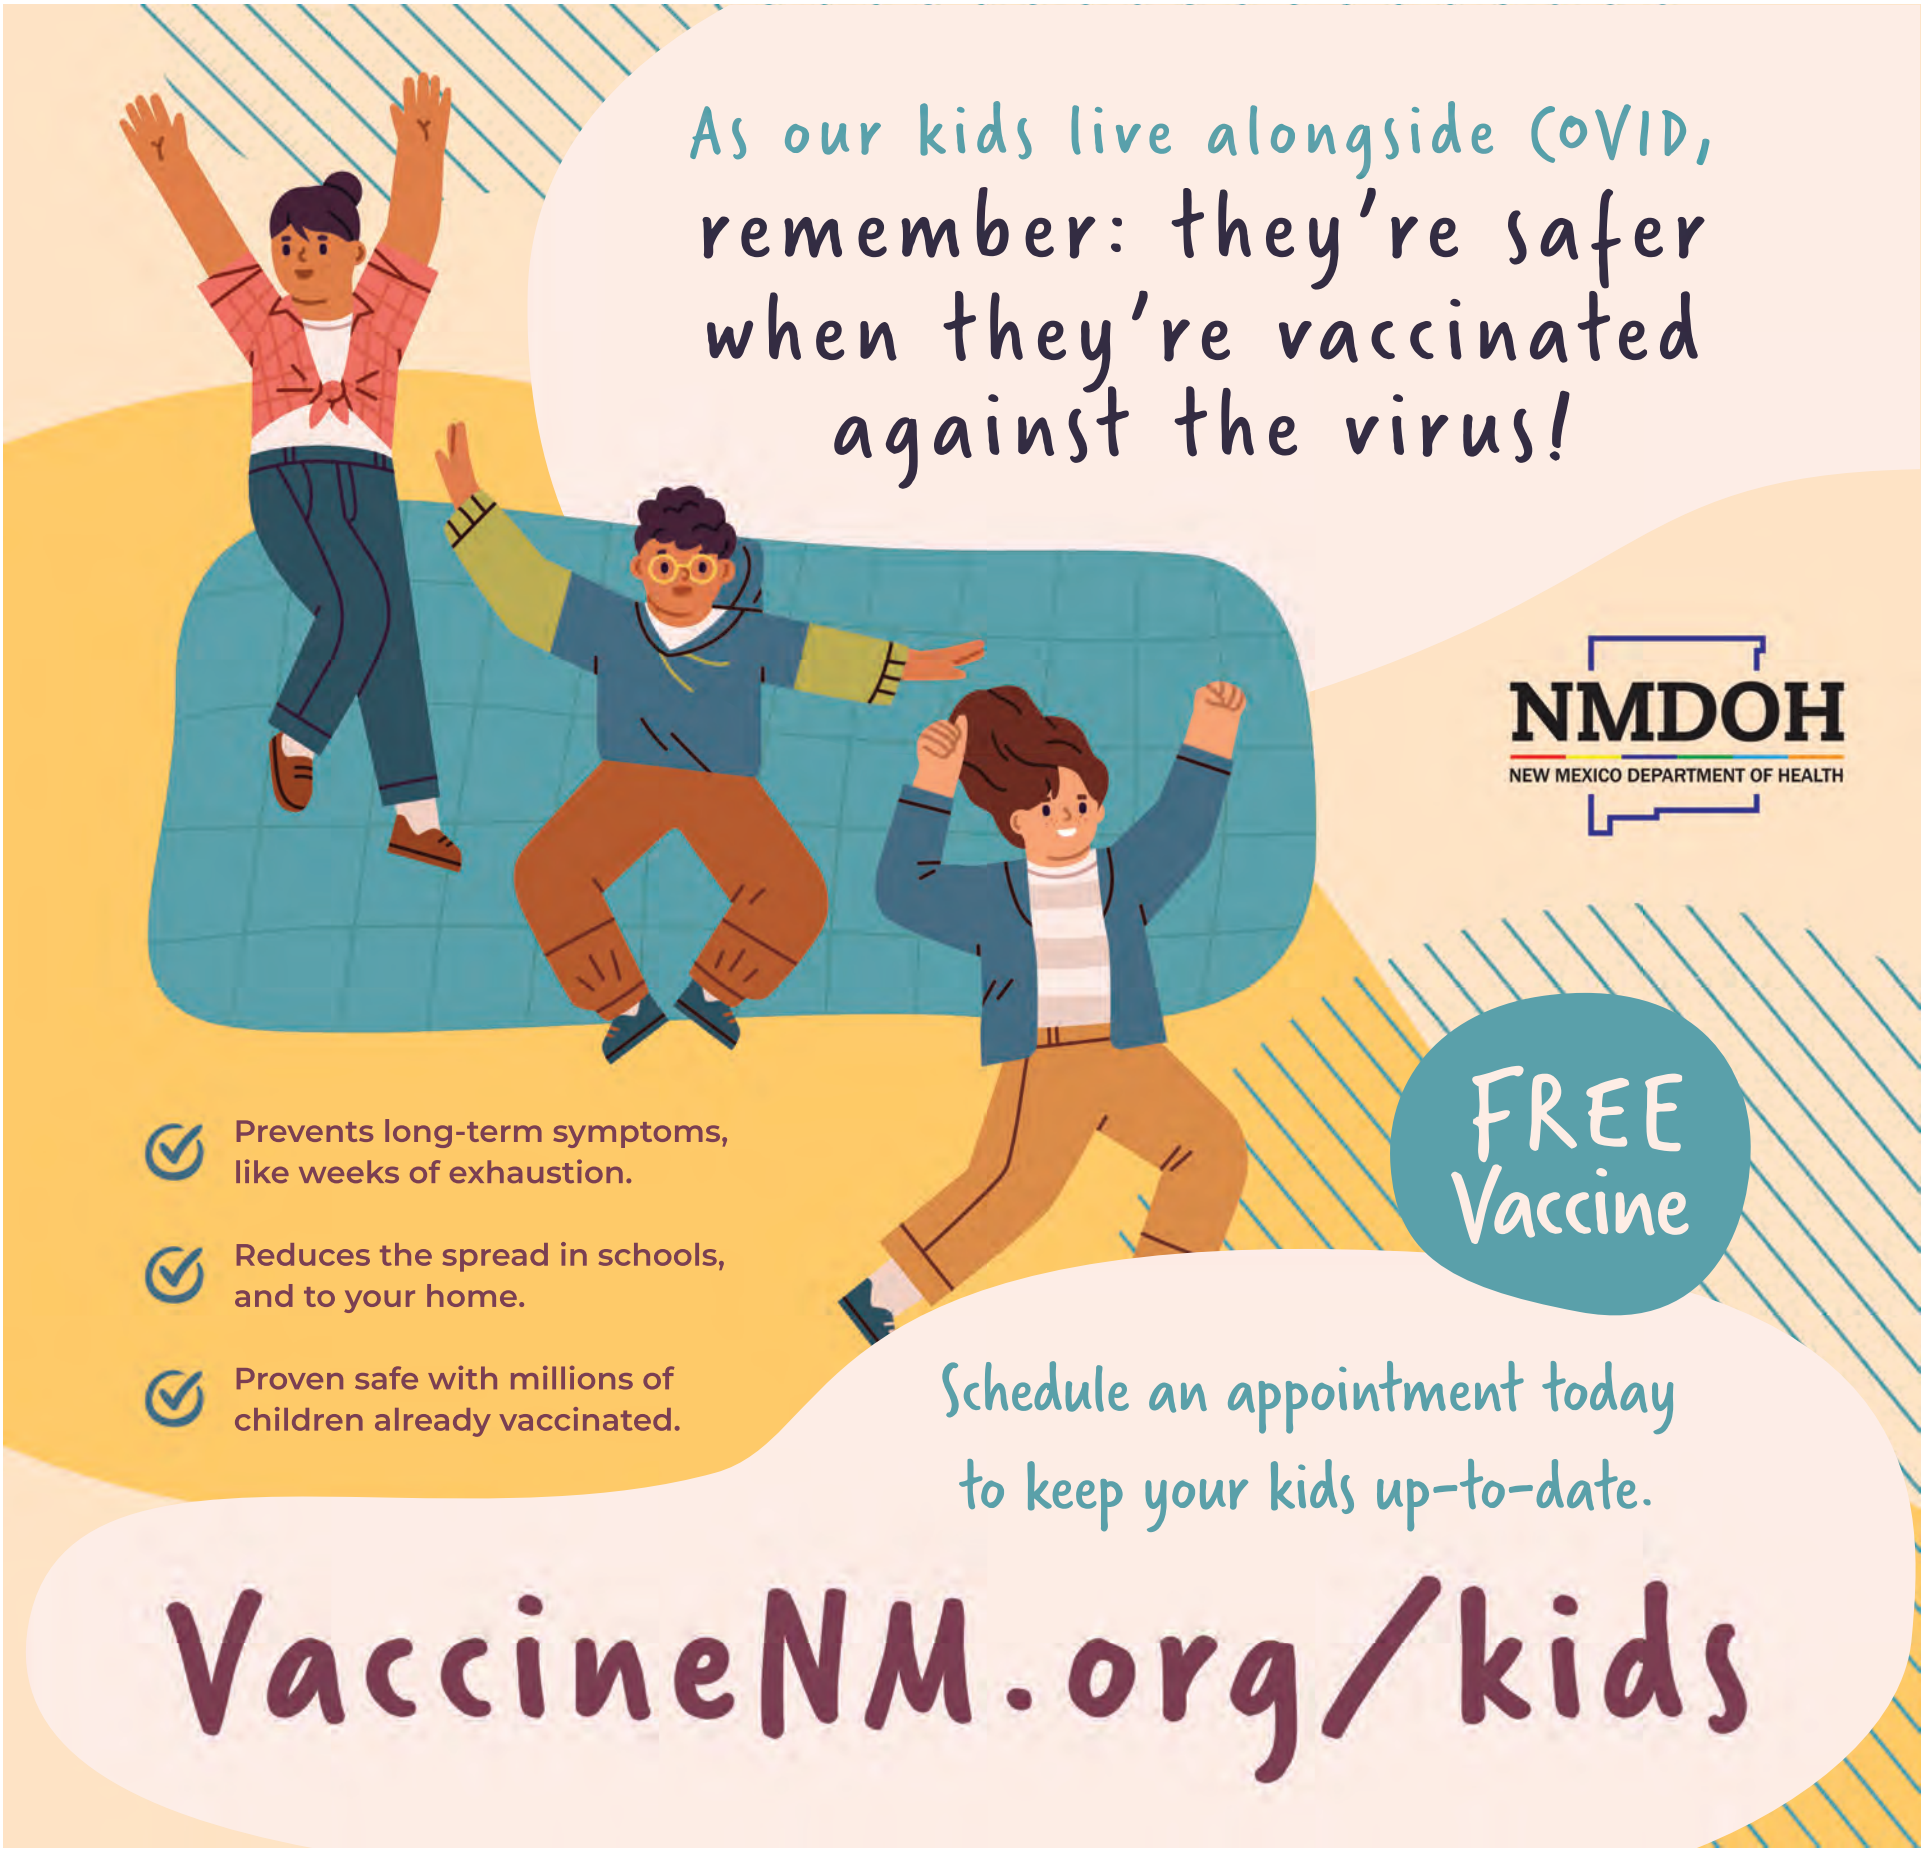

Landfill through pipes running throughout the landfill which has been processed into energy to power the attendant operational house. However, SCSWA encourages residents to consider removing food waste before it hits the landfill by composting.

"There is always waste with food prep – apple cores, corn husks that aren't good for tamales, or even the unappetizing peels. It could be something that's already gone bad or things you wouldn't consider boiling into a vegetable broth," said Brandi Misquez, SCSWA recycle education coordinator. "There are several ways to compost, and it's easy to maintain once it's been set up and you've established the habit," she explained. "If you have the space, a compost heap can be in an open bin, a pile, a closed bin, or a compost tumbler. In time, the food waste will break down into fertilizer for your plants or trees."

"If you're willing to have a few more pets, worm compost, aka vermicomposting, is a unique and educational way to compost, especially for curious kids," said Misquez.

South Central Solid Waste Authority manages recyclables and solid waste for residents and businesses throughout Doña Ana County. Contact SCSWA at (575) 528-3800 or visit www.SCSWA.net.
