Here is a fantastic place to hang your heart with a lot of livability. This wonderful home enjoys views of a meandering lagoon and nature preserve, with no neighbors behind. In the heat of the day enjoy your screened pool/lanai that opens to an iron fenced back yard with an access gate to the water for kayak or SUP board. Take ten minutes to drive to Mickler's Landing Beachfront Park. Your bedrooms are split with personality. Three bedrooms on one side and the oversized master suite leads to its own pool exit. An Upstairs bonus room found at end of kitchen can be a flex room for sewing/art studio or even 5th bedroom.

Hatred threatens to tear a city apart in Showtime's supernaturally-tinged 'Penny Dreadful: City of Angels'

It's 1938 and Los Angeles is rife with political and social tension. And in the middle of it is Tiago Vega.

As played by Daniel Zovatto ("Vandal") in the Showtime supernatural thriller "Penny Dreadful: City of Angels," the spiritual descendant of the original "Penny Dreadful" that premieres Sunday, April 26, he's the LAPD's first Mexican-American detective whose first case is to investigate a grisly murder case with partner Lewis Michener (Nathan Lane, "The Producers") that appears to be linked to a brewing race war between the city's Latino population and rich whites.

Those tensions are further exacerbated by a proposed freeway through a Latino neighborhood that's being spearheaded by city councilman Charles Townsend (Michael Gladis, "Mad Men"). Tiago is resigned to his old stomping grounds being plowed under in the name of progress but his brother Raul (Adam Rodriguez, "CSI: Miami"), a local union leader, is determined to stop it, thus putting the siblings at odds and setting the whole city on a collision course with a bloody race riot.

Which is just what two supernatural entities want. Magda (Natalie Dormer, "Game of Thrones"), a dark goddess, can take any form she wants, including that of Townsend's uber-efficient assistant, and her intent is to fan the flames of discord. When the smoke clears, her sister Santa Muerte (Lorenza Izzo, "Once Upon a Time ... in Hollywood"), the angel of holy death, will be there to collect the souls.

Also in the toxic mix are Nazis, evangelists and elements of political, religious and racial hatred, all of which series creator John Logan ("Genius") says make this story relevant today.

"Although it's set in 1938, it's about 2020," he says. "Looking over the world landscape now, I'm struck by parallels to the late '30s and what's going on now, particularly the rise of extremist political hatred, of a sort of racist demagoguery that is taken for granted, by the pernicious influence in the danger of a foreign power in our electoral process, in our communication, and particularly by the marginalization and victimization of an ethnic community. And as the son of immigrants myself, this is a story that I wanted to tell."

And one of the more insidious characters in "City of Angels" is Magda, the otherworldly being who takes various forms to incite hatred and violence on humanity. It was a formidable acting challenge that required Dormer to play multiple characters through Magda, one that she relished.

"This is the actor's dream," she says, "to play countless iterations and countless characterizations. You see in the first episode ... two of Magda's iterations. There are more. You'll have to wait to see how many there are.

"By adding the supernatural element to it," she continues, "you have this catalyst, you have this metaphor that can lift the story in that way that illustrates John's themes even more emphatically. And every good protagonist needs an antagonist, and I just have a lot of fun interweaving with all the cast, being several antagonists, which I'm thrilled to be doing. And yeah, I mean, every character – a different wig, different voice, different physicality – this is catnip to an actor."

"THE RHYTHM SECTION"

For fans of the James Bond movies, it's an event when those producers decide to invest - both figuratively and literally - in an outside project, because it doesn't happen very often. Their somewhat far-fetched but still entertaining adaptation of a novel by Mark Burnell casts Blake Lively as Stephanie Patrick, an assassin-in-training who's out for revenge upon finding out that her parents' plane-crash deaths were not accidental. Her life takes dark turns in the immediate aftermath of her family tragedy, but after getting relevant information from a reporter (Raza Jaffrey, Smash"), she pulls herself together and seeks mentoring in the killing game from a CIA veteran (Jude Law) However, Stephanie is not remotely as ready for action as she might think she is, and Lively plays that aspect quite well as her alter ego barely escapes from peril after peril. "This Is Us"

Emmy winner Sterling K. Brown also is in the cast assembled for director Reed Morano, who made a mark (and also won an Emmy) by guiding early episodes of 'The Handmaid's Tale." ★★★ (R: AS, P, V) (Also on Blu-ray and On Demand)

"ARROW: THE EIGHTH AND FINAL SEASON"

One of The CW's staple series has ended its run, and this set compiles the stories about DC's Green Arrow character that marked its farewell. They open with the hero's alter ego Oliver Queen (played by Stephen Amell) bouncing between versions of Earth in pursuit of stolen particles that could wreak massive havoc in the universe if used for the wrong purpose. The adventure continued to move back and forth in time right up to its finale, facilitating the returns of some familiar faces certain to please fans. Series regulars Katie Cassidy and David Ramsey each directed an episode of this final round of the show. A major bonus of this release is the inclusion of the recent "Crisis on Infinite Farths" miniseries that united The CW's superhero shows, which have been referred to collectively as the network's "Arrowverse." A "Complete Series" set of "Arrow" also is newly available.  (Not rated: AS, P, V) (Also on Blu-ray)

"THE ASSISTANT"

The background of the film industry is explored through the experiences of the title character, played by Julia Garner, in writer-director Kitty Green's drama based on the accounts of some who have come forward during the MeToo era. The script covers one day in the life of a assistant movie mogul's assistant, whose developing concerns about her duties drive her to a human resources officer (Matthew Macfadyen, "Succession") who proves less than a great resource for her. Kristine Froseth ("Looking for Alaska") also appears as a newcomer to the tale's ethically questionable environment, with Jay O. Sanders supplying the voice of the mogul who's heard but never seen (not unlike the studioboss title character during the first season of the backstage TV drama "Bracken's World"). ★★★ (R:

"FRONTLINE: AMAZON EMPIRE -THE RISE AND REIGN OF JEFF BEZOS"

The founder and CEO of the online company which, with its immediate name recognition, has developed over the past quarter-century into one of the principal suppliers of consumer goods in the world - has become a personality in his own right, yielding this recently televised PBS exploration of him and his shopping firm. Certainly, the huge profits racked up steadily by Amazon are examined, but this profile isn't entirely sunny ... delving into what the makers of the show term "the darker side" of the operation, and also considering the effects of the power that Bezos has accrued in the course of overseeing such a global success. Others in the business sector offer their views on what he has achieved. ★★★ (Not rated)

The character played by Freida Pinto ("Slumdog Millionaire") faces the plight of possibly being the last woman alive in this science-fiction tale that may hit a bit - or much more than a bit - too close to home for some people these days. A virus released by a comet targets female humans specifically, prompting the couple portrayed by Pinto and "Hamilton" Tony Award winner Leslie Odom Jr. to sterilize their apartment as much as possible and quarantine themselves. Eventually, they decide to venture back out into the outside world for what may be their last time together, though bounty hunters are on their trail. One would suspect that writer-director Takashi Doscher couldn't have foreseen current world events while making the film, but the result was alarmingly prescient. ★★★ (Not rated: AS. P)

"Hollywood"

From writers/creators Ryan Murphy ("American Horror Story," "Glee") and Ian Brennan ("The Politician," "Glee") comes this limited series that follows a group of aspiring actors and filmmakers in post-World War II Hollywood as they try to make it in show business — no matter the cost. The solid cast includes David Corenswet, Darren Criss, Jeremy Pope, Dylan McDermott, Holland Taylor, Patti LuPone and Jim Parsons. (ORIGINAL)

"Movie: All Day and a Night"

Amid gang warfare in Oakland, Calif., an aspiring rapper (Ashton Sanders, "Moonlight") finds himself imprisoned beside the father he never wanted to be like (Jeffrey Wright, "Westworld"), thus sending the younger man on a journey of self-discovery as he tries to break the cycle of incarceration for the sake of his newborn son. Yahya Abdul-Mateen II ("Watchmen"), Isaiah John ("Snowfall") and Kelly Jenrette ("The Handmaid's Tale") also star in this drama movie from writer/director Joe Robert Cole ("Black Panther"). (ORIGINAL)

"The Midnight Gospel"

From the makers of "Adventure Time" and "Story Pig" comes this animated series that tells the story of Clancy, a spacecaster with a malfunctioning multiverse simulator who leaves the comfort of his extra-dimensional home on the Chromatic Ribbon to interview beings living in other worlds. (ORIGINAL)

"Middleditch & Schwartz"

Thomas Middleditch and Ben Schwartz bring their act to Netflix with three completely improvised comedy vignettes done from random audience suggestions at the NYU Skirball Center for the Performing Arts last fall. The first, "Dream Job," follows a man on a job interview that spirals into an existential crisis. The other installments, "Law School Magic" and "Parking Lot Wedding," also drop on this date. Andre Johnson: From Hurricane to Hall of Fame?

When Andre Johnson helped lead the Miami Hurricanes to the national championship in the 2002 Rose Bowl, he was a sophomore wide receiver looking ahead to a long and productive career.

In that game, which replays Sunday, April 26, on ESPN Classic, he teamed with quarterback Ken Dorsey for two touchdowns and 199 yards through the air as Miami completed an undefeated season with a 37-14 victory over Oregon. Both players were awarded co-MVP honors.

A year later, Johnson entered the NFL Draft, where he was taken third overall by the Houston Texans. And for the next 14 seasons (12 with the Texans), he would prove himself to be one of the top receivers in NFL history.

Among his accomplishments were seven Pro Bowl selections, two First Team All Pro designations and two years leading the league in receptions and receiving yards. He recorded seven 1,000-plus yards seasons and his 14,185 career yards receiving is 10th on the all-time list while his 1,062 receptions ranks 11th. Although the Texans weren't much of a factor in the postseason, Johnson managed to catch 25 passes for 358 yards in four postseason appearances.

He retired in 2017 and became the first-ever inductee into the Houston Texans Ring of Honor. In two years, he'll be eligible to be enshrined in the Pro Football Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio, where the only question will be whether he gets in on the first ballot.

Sharpen your culinary skills through streaming programming

It seems a lot of us have time on our hands these days.

Some are getting to work on long-delayed projects around the house, others are taking courses on the web and still others are – ahem – honing their wine-tasting abilities. And then there are those who feel a yearning to cook.

Yes, social distancing has brought out the inner chef in some folks, though that may not necessarily be a good thing. To ensure you're not one of those people whose cuisine sparks fear and loathing among family and friends, we've made a few recommendations for instructional streaming content designed to make you a better cook.

Martha Stewart will take viewers to class in her "Martha Stewart's Cooking School" on the PBS website (www.pbs.org/food/shows/martha-stewarts-cooking-school/), in which she gives home cooks a culinary master class, giving step-by-step instruction on fundamentals that everyone should know, from roasting and poaching to braising and blanching.

The New York Times offers up a comprehensive library in its "Cooking Techniques" section (www.nytimes.com/video/cooking-techniques), which contains how-to videos on such topics as prepping vegetables, making stock, mise en place (organizing ingredients before cooking), making mayonnaise, tying a roast and caramelizing onions. In all there are more than 50 videos, none of which are behind the site's paywall.

The "ChefSteps" channel on YouTube (www.youtube.com/user/chefsteps) encompasses techniques and recipes, with videos on making a steak, shopping for fresh fish and peeling garlic interspersed with how-tos on making such comestibles as Peking duck, ratatouille and vegetable and seed crackers. There is also plenty of food science here, covering subjects such as pressure cooking, microwave cooking and the use of liquid nitrogen.

If pasta is your passion, the new streaming service Quibi has "The Shape of Pasta" (quibi.com/shows/shape-of-pasta-467/), in which host and chef Evan Funke ("Food Revolution") tours Italy to uncover the craft and culture behind some rare and forgotten pasta shapes such as rasccatieddi di miscchieddu, agnolotti del pin and strangulet. A definite horizon expander.

Those who want to take their abilities to the next level can enroll in courses on the pay site Salted (www.saltedtv.com). Here, students can enroll in online courses taught by professional chefs from across the U.S., covering a wide range of cuisines including Italian, Scandinavian, farm-to-table, Asian fusion and Spanish. Memberships are $9.99 a month with a free month for anyone who brings a friend aboard.

"Movie: Rambo: Last Blood"

Sylvester Stallone's Vietnam veteran returns 11 years after "Rambo III" for this 2019 effort that finds the retired, PTSD-ridden character heading off to Mexico after his housekeeper's granddaughter is kidnapped by sex traffickers. Paz Vega, Sergio Peris-Mencheta, Adriana Barraza and Yvette Monreal also star for director Adrian Grunberg ("Get the Gringo").

"Movie: Hotel Artemis"

Drew Pearce wrote and made his feature directorial debut with this 2018 thriller set in a dystopian near-future Los Angeles, where Jean Thomas (Jodie Foster), a severely agoraphobic nurse, runs a secret facility that caters exclusively to criminals (house rules include "no killing of other guests"). The impressive ensemble also includes Sterling K. Brown ("This Is Us"), Jeff Goldblum, Charlie Day ("Horrible Bosses"), Jenny Slate, Dave Bautista ("Guardians of the Galaxy") and Zachary Quinto.

"Movie: Creed II"

The eighth entry in the "Rocky" film series, director Steven Caple Jr.'s 2018 sequel to 2015's "Creed" finds Michael B. Jordan returning to his role as Adonis Creed. The rising young boxer encounters a powerful adversary in the ring: Viktor Drago (Florian "Big Nasty" Munteanu), the son of Russian champion Ivan Drago (Dolph Lundgren), who killed Apollo Creed, Adonis' father, during a match. Sylvester Stallone also returns to his Oscar-nominated role as Rocky Balboa; Tessa Thompson, Phylicia Rashad and Wood Harris also star.

"Upload"

"The Office" mentor Greg Daniels took several decades to hatch this sci-fi comedy series that imagines a future where hologram phones, 3D food printers and automated grocery stores are the norm and humans can choose to upload themselves to a virtual afterlife when they're near death. It is in this world where young app developer Nathan (Robbie Amell) hastily opts to upload himself to the luxurious afterlife of his shallow girlfriend's parents following a self-driving car accident.
