The suspense series "NEXT" premieres Tuesday on Fox.

An artificial hyper-intelligence may be Fox's 'NEXT' big thing

If you're already dazzled or baffled by artificial intelligence, wait until you see what's next.

Technology runs amok – with dangerous implications for virtually everyone – in "NEXT," a Fox drama series originally slated for last spring, but now helping to fill the network's pandemic-impacted fall lineup as it debuts Tuesday, Oct. 6. "Mad Men" alum John Slattery stars as a tech expert who finds that one of his own creations has gotten away from him, reaching through the internet with the potential to invade and manipulate the lives of anyone who's connected. Fernanda Andrade ("The Devil Inside") plays an FBI cybercrime agent he joins to fight the threat.

While Charlie Gogolak, John Requa and Glenn Ficarra of "This Is Us" are among executive producers of "NEXT," so is "24" veteran Manny Coto, who also created it. "The whole premise of the show started because of Alexa," Coto says of that device. "My son woke me up one morning, and I was like, 'What's the matter?' And he said, 'My Alexa started talking to me at 3 a.m. out of the blue, for no reason.' He claimed this had happened a couple of times, so I didn't know if he could set an alarm or what. We never got down to the mystery, but those things kind of seem to have a mind of their own every once in a while."

Slattery agrees by noting, "You have a conversation with someone, and the next day, your phone is blowing up with ads for whatever you were talking about. Every time you look at Instagram and you hit something, then you're loaded up with ads for whatever. It's obviously watching ... I just feel like I'm not necessarily doing anything interesting enough to worry about it."

Additional "NEXT" cast regulars include "Ozark" co-stars Michael Mosley and Jason Butler Harner as well as Eve Harlow ("Marvel's Agents of S.H.I.E.L.D.") and Evan Whitten ("The Resident"). Though the artificial-intelligence concept might suggest the characters stand around and do a lot of talking about it, Coto was determined from the outset to make the series more than that.

"If a group of people found out about it, it would not strike in large, huge assaults," he reasons. "It would go after them in the smallest way possible so as not to be detected, which inherently led to a story whereby this AI – which knows everything about our characters – is actually attacking them through their personal lives and slowly trying to destroy their lives and their careers, so that they can in turn not attack it. It was a challenge, but research kind of gave the idea of how this series could progress."

In Focus

"How to With John Wilson" (HBO — series premiere, Oct. 23)

Documentary filmmaker John Wilson is practically a one-man show for this new six-episode docu-comedy series, serving as writer, director, cameraman, producer and narrator. Wilson, also self-described an "anxious New Yorker," embarks on an odyssey of self-discovery and cultural observation by covertly and obsessively filming the lives of fellow New Yorkers while trying to share practical everyday advice. With his unpolished commentary, Wilson's take on a range of deceptively simple topics eases the awkward contradictions of modern life.

“Movie: I Feel Pretty”

Amy Schumer is no stranger to self-deprecating comedy, and in this 2018 comedy, she stars as Renee Bennett, a young woman struggling with low-self-esteem and poor body image. During an exercise class, however, Renee falls off an exercise bike and knocks herself out. She regains consciousness unchanged physically yet brimming with self-confidence and believing she's a raving beauty. Michelle Williams and Busy Philipps also star.

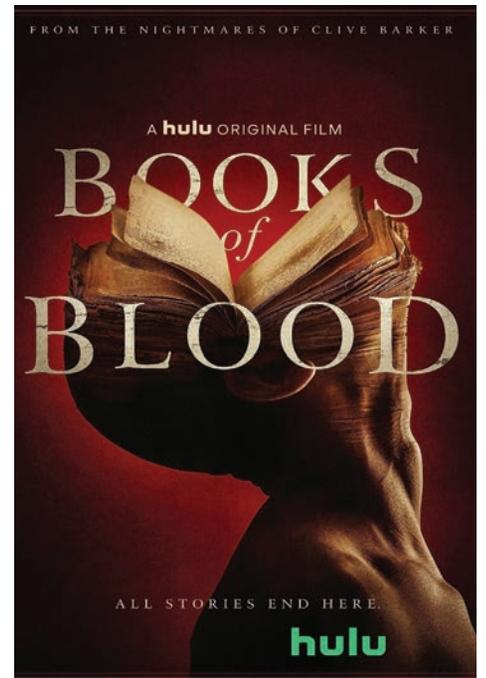

“Movie: Trolls World Tour”

Anna Kendrick, Justin Timberlake, Rachel Bloom, James Corden, Ron Funches and even rocker Ozzy Osbourne are but a small part of the formidable list of vocal talent for this 2020 animated adventure about six troll tribes that unite when a rock and roll king and queen set out to destroy all other forms of music.

“Movie: Middle School: The Worst Years of My Life”

After the principal (Andy Daly, “Reno 911!”) destroys his sketchbook, a high schooler (Griffin Gluck, “American Vandal”) and his pal (Thomas Barbusca, “Grey’s Anatomy”) set out on a mission of revenge to do the same to the administrator’s code of conduct in this 2016 family comedy from director Steve Carr (“Daddy Day Care”). Lauren Graham, Alexa Nisenson and Retta also star.

“Movie: Books of Blood”

“Star Trek” franchise mentor Brannon Braga made his feature film directorial debut with this horror anthology that tells three tales of adventure tangled in space and time. The solid cast includes Britt Robertson (“The Space Between Us”), Anna Friel (“Pushing Daisies”), Yul Vazquez (“Russian Doll”) and Ravi Gafron (“A Star Is Born”). (ORIGINAL)

Cox, Jay Pharoah and Blair Underwood are also in the solid cast for writer/director/producer Justin Simien ("Dear White People").

In Focus

"Bad Hair" (Hulu — movie premiere, Oct. 23)

Set in 1989, this original horror satire movie tells the story of an ambitious young woman (Elle Lorraine, "Insecure") who gets a weave in order to advance in the image-oriented world of music television. But success comes at a cost when she realizes the hair has a mind of its own. Vanessa Williams, Lena Waithe, Laverne

"A Swingin' Sesame Street Celebration: 50 Years and Counting" (PBS — new special, Oct. 30)

Big Bird and Elmo are among the beloved "Sesame Street" characters performing brand new big band arrangements of songs from the long-running and award-winning children's TV series to celebrate the show, alongside the celebrated Jazz at Lincoln Center Orchestra with Wynton Marsalis. Patrick Stewart

"STAR TREK: PICARD — SEASON ONE"

Though he had played the part throughout the run of "Star Trek: The Next Generation" and in several of the feature-film spinoffs, it still was a big deal when Patrick Stewart agreed to reprise the role in this CBS All Access series, on which he's also an executive producer. It opens with Jean-Luc Picard happily retired from Starfleet at the end of the 24th century ... but just from the show's title, you know that won't last long. A young woman (Isa Briones) seeks his assistance, and when he realizes he may have personal ties to her, it's time for him to go again where no — or, at least, hardly any — man has gone before. Alison Pill ("The Newsroom"), Michelle Hurd, Santiago Cabrero and Harry Treadaway also are in the regular cast, and such familiar faces from the franchise's past (or is that "future"?) as Jonathan Frakes, Brent Spiner and Jeri Ryan also make appearances. The series has been renewed for a second season. ★★★ (Not rated: AS, V) (Also on Blu-ray)

"HAPPY HALLOWEEN, SCOOBY-DOO!"

Goodness only knows what the occasion of trick-or-treating will be like under this year's circumstances, but at least this animated offering upholds some of the traditions while adding Mystery Machine-flavored spins. Scooby-Doo (voiced again by Frank Welker), Shaggy (Matthew Lillard) and the gang have more chills than usual to contend with, as a strange phenomenon has a drastic effect in a pumpkin patch and yields some extremely unusual and dangerous jack-o-lanterns. Cassandra Peterson, alias "Elvira," and "Science Guy" Bill Nye lend their voices to their cartoon likenesses here. The project's release now also serves as a sort of tribute to Joe Ruby, the "Scooby-Doo, Where Are You?" co-creator who passed recently. ★★★ (Not rated)

"AMERICAN PIE PRESENTS: GIRLS' RULES"

The series of bawdy comedies had only a relative handful of editions in theaters, but direct-to-video releases — such as this one — that have borrowed the umbrella title also have kept the franchise going. The latest chapter finds several female high-school seniors doing whatever it takes to get what they want ... and if you know your "American Pie" history, you know that can translate into a lot of things, sometimes less than tasteful. The cast includes Piper Curda (recently seen in the surprise hit "The Wretched"), Madison Pettis ("The Fosters"), Natasha Behnam ("Crazy Ex-Girlfriend") and Lizzie Broadway ("Splitting Up Together"). Original cast member Eugene Levy isn't around this time, as he has been for other "Pie" sequels, but Danny Trejo and Sara Rue are among the better-known performers on hand. ★★ (R: AS, P) (Also on On Demand)

"DIANA, OUR MOTHER: HER LIFE AND LEGACY"

In 2017, a number of television documentaries commemorated the 20th anniversary of the death of Princess Diana, but few got s close to the heart of the occasion as this British-made program that got worldwide distribution (in America, on HBO). As the title suggests, Prince William and Prince Harry are the principal interviewees, discussing their globally beloved mother as no one else really could ... though Elton John and Diana's brother Charles Spencer also are featured. A lot has happened (often very publicly) in the lives of William and Harry since the time of this telecast, and there's a certain sweetness in dialing the clock back to see them at this point, when they largely were known for their determination to carry Diana's social concerns and philanthropy forward. ★★★ (Not rated)

"CHRISTMAS AT THE PLAZA"

One of several yuletide-themed Hallmark Channel movies making their home-video debuts, this very pleasant confection stars a disarming Elizabeth Henstridge ("Marvel's Agents of S.H.I.E.L.D.") as a history expert enlisted to help create a holiday display at New York's famed Plaza Hotel (where some of the film actually was made). She's assigned a hunky decorator (Hallmark staple Ryan Paevey) to work with, and though she has a fiance ... well, it's pretty easy to guess how that goes. Acting veteran Bruce Davison ("Willard") and "Newhart" alum Julia Duffy also are featured, and one of the picture's nicest surprises is how perfectly England native Henstridge nails an American accent in her role here, something that likely won't be expected by fans of her now-finished "S.H.I.E.L.D." work. ★★★ (Not rated)

Rodgers proves age isn't slowing him down

At 36, the Green Bay Packers' Aaron Rodgers is at an age where things can go south in a hurry for a quarterback.

The arm strength wanes, the feet lose their quickness and injuries mount. Soon, the team starts looking for an heir apparent.

But in the Packers' season opener against the Minnesota Vikings, the two-time NFL MVP was vintage Rodgers, completing 32-of-44 passes for 364 yards and four touchdowns in the Packers' 43-34 road victory over their NFC North rivals. So much for the end of the Rodgers era at Lambeau – at least going by his Week 1 performance.

But that's how it's been for Rodgers, who may be at an advanced NFL age but is far from "washed up" or "no longer elite," as his critics charge. He certainly was one of the game's best last season, when he threw for more than 4,000 yards for the eighth time in his career (with 26 touchdowns against only four interceptions) while completing 62 percent of his passes. He even led the Pack to within one game of the Super Bowl before turning in a mistake-ridden performance in a loss to the 49ers in the NFC Championship game.

By most measures, that still qualifies as a great season but the Packers saw fit to draft Rodgers' potential successor, Utah State's Jordan Love, in the first round this past spring. If nothing else, Love's presence may serve as motivation for Rodgers to keep aging like a fine wine.

Rodgers can be seen in action when the Packers play host to the Atlanta Falcons in a game airing Monday, Oct. 5, on ESPN.

For culinary information, turn on Tubi

In our ongoing quest to unearth sources of food knowledge, we present for your consideration Tubi.

Indeed, in the “Good Eats” section of the Fox-owned, ad-supported streaming service can be found dozens of titles from around the world, ranging from how-to’s and competition series to travelogs and documentaries, featuring culinary luminaries such as Gordon Ramsay, Anthony Bourdain, Lidia Bastianich, Mary Berry and even Julia Child.

It’s a veritable cornucopia of content bound to interest any self-respecting foodie and best of all, it’s free. The following is a taste of what’s there.

“Lidia’s Kitchen”: She may be best known for Italian cuisine but Lidia Bastianich is actually a very versatile chef. Here in episodes from her PBS series, she takes on preparing everything from eggs and chicken to fruit desserts and cooking with wine. And yes, there are plenty of Italian recipes to be found. Deliziosa!

“Fluffy’s Food Adventures”: Comedian Gabriel “Fluffy” Iglesias hits the road, the dinner table and the gym in this travel/food series that aired on the cablenet Fuse from 2015-17, which in each episode finds him venturing to a different American city, downing a sinful feast and then burning off all those calories through larger-than-life physical challenges, the latter of which he admits is not his favorite thing to do.

“Anthony Bourdain: A Cook’s Tour”: It’s food, it’s travel, it’s Bourdain and his inimitable storytelling – need we say more? Originally aired on Food Network in 2002-03, this series follows the late chef, author and host as he visits exotic countries and cities worldwide, where hosts treat him to local culture and cuisine. Among his stops are Tokyo, France, Cape Cod and Vietnam – where one of his more notable meals is cobra heart. Cuisine based on a dare.

“The French Chef”: It’s probably the granddaddy (or in this case grandmommy) of the cooking genre and it made French cuisine approachable and Julia Child a household name to American viewers. In black-and-white episodes from Seasons 6 and 7, the legendary chef demonstrates the preparations for creations such as petit fours, osso bucco, a swordfish dinner and sauteed brains. She also makes mayonnaise by hand. An education in a half hour from one of the true masters.

“Cook Like a Chef”: From Canada comes this innovative series that features five young chefs as they explore and explain a myriad of cooking techniques, breaking them down step by step, and sharing kitchen tips, hacks and secrets. A few more tools for the home chef’s toolbox.

“Kitchen Nightmares”: Gordon Ramsay is well-represented on this platform, led by this series that finds him administering advice and some tough love to struggling restaurateurs. Other Ramsay titles here include “Gordon Ramsay’s 24 Hours to Hell and Back,” “Gordon’s Great Escape,” “Hell’s Kitchen” and “Gordon Ramsey’s Ultimate Cookery Course.”
