Conan O'Brien says goodbye to late-night TV ... again

<section-header><section-header><section-header><image><text>

2 Thursday, June 17, 2021 I The Recorder entertainment EXTRA

Conan O'Brien is no stranger to signing off from hosting a talk show, but that probably doesn't make it any easier for him now. Famously a relative unknown (though he had written for "Saturday Night Live" and "The Simpsons") when he was tapped to succeed David Letterman in NBC's late-late-night slot in 1993, the gangly redhead won over an audience – primarily a young one – with his offbeat humor and eye for production. He then inherited "The Tonight Show" after Jay Leno left ... only for Leno to return and O'Brien to elect to leave NBC. After nearly 11 years, and despite the fact that it had been renewed through 2022, O'Brien's subsequent talk show "Conan" will end its TBS run Thursday, June 24.

While the almost-every-weeknight (except Fridays) "Conan" began traditionally in its structure, starting its hour with a topical monologue and then proceeding through comedy bits and celebrity interviews, its main difference has been (as it has in all of his talkshow ventures) O'Brien himself. Working within the genre's familiar format while eschewing it as much as he could (with assists from his affable longtime sidekick, Andy Richter), he has distinguished the program in part by taking it on location fairly often. And to some locations quite out of the ordinary, moreover.

First, O'Brien emulated talk-show legend Jack Paar by taking "Conan" to Cuba in 2005. Later that year, he went to Armenia (his assistant's native land), and subsequent years and episodes have seen him visit Qatar, Korea, Berlin, Mexico, Israel, Haiti, Italy, Japan, Australia, Ghana and Greenland.

That's a lot of passport-stamping, but at the start of 2019, "Conan's" length was reduced from an hour to a half-hour, loosening typical constraints of a talk show in a number of ways. O'Brien's wardrobe was more casual, and the host's desk was jettisoned ... decisions that would play through later when O'Brien did the show from his home during the start of the coronavirus pandemic. In July 2020, production moved to Los Angeles' Coronet Theater, where O'Brien did improvisational comedy early in his career.

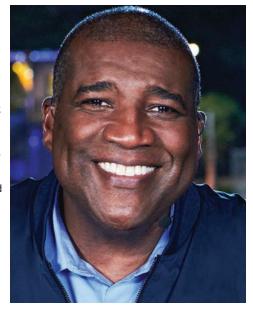

Even though O'Brien is ending "Conan," he's not ready to give up being a public presence completely, understandable from his obvious appreciation of the media. He'll be staying in the WarnerMedia "family" by moving to the HBO Max streaming service, where he will produce a weekly series described as being in the variety genre.

While that may give O'Brien an easier schedule, the pace of doing a nightly program may turn out to be something he will miss, having done it for so long – so after the talk-show rebirths he's already had, don't be surprised if another lies in wait for him.

"An Animal Saved My Life" (A&E Network – series premiere, July 6) Fox Sports broadcaster Curt Menefee hosts

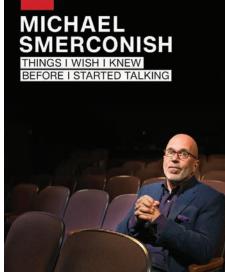

Fox Sports broadcaster Curt Menefee hosts this new half-hour series (premiering with two back-to-back episodes) showcasing acts of heroism performed by different yet equally gallant members of the animal kingdom. Drawn from headlines, viral videos, surveillance footage and interviews with grateful humans, the show highlights moments ranging from the heartwarming to the pulse-pounding. It's common knowledge that most pet owners regard their animal companions as family members, but often these caring critters also act as saviors of a human life.

DISCOVER FLORIDA'S FIRST LIGHTHOUSE

Where it all began...

The original first-order Fresnel lens in the St. Augustine Lighthouse was manufactured in Paris, France. In 1986, a vandal shot the lens at the top of the tower, damaging 19 of its 370 prisms. Then President of the Junior Service League of St. Augustine, Virginia Whetstone, spearhcaded a first-of-its-kind restoration project with Dan Spinella of Disney Corporation. Taking advantage of breakthroughs in laser technology, Dan measured the prisms and created the means to fabricate a new bullseye panel and 18 other prisms.

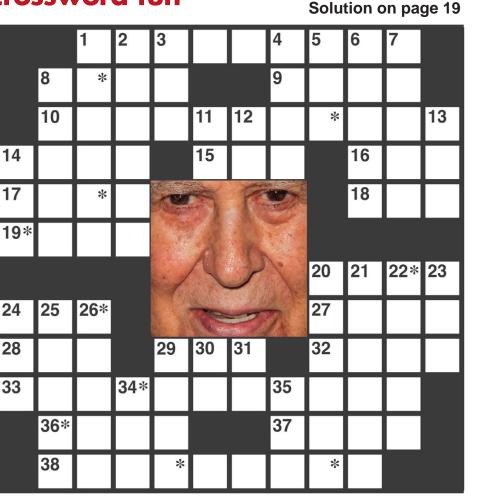

Two Coast Guardsmen, Joseph Cocking, and Nicholas Johnston, who still service the Fresnel lens today, took out the damaged parts, replaced them, and aligned the beam correctly. Initially thought of as an impossible task for a fledgling non-profit, a team effort ensured the Fresnel lens restoration, which served as a pilot project that led to other original lens restorations across the United States.

"The Real Housewives of Potomac" (Bravo — season premiere, July 11) Entrepreneur Mia Thornton brings a boss

Entrepreneur Mia Thornton brings a boss mentality and a conviction that respect is earned, not given, as she joins the cast as a new housewife in the Season 6 premiere. Elsewhere, returning housewife Gizelle Bryant focuses on building a happy home with her children as things with her ex-husband, Jamal, continue to deteriorate, while an over-committed Robyn Dixon lets her crowded schedule cause tensions with her fiancé, Juan. Karen Huger, Ashley Darby, Candiace Dillard-Bassett and Dr. Wendy Osefo also return.

player profile BY GEORGE DICKIE Cuban defector Garcia blossoms into force for Texas Rangers

And from seemingly out of nowhere comes early 2021 AL MVP candidate Adolis Garcia.

Rangers have a player who has torn up opposing pitching in the season's first two months. But given his skill set, it's fair to wonder if he's the real thing or just another all-or-nothing slugger.

After seeing limited action in the pandemic-abbreviated 2020 season, he blossomed into a legitimate player in 2021. As the .290 with 15 home runs, 40 RBIs, a .613 slugging percentage discipline, whiffing 46 times in 155 at-bats while walking only nine times. And as he moves into his thirties, those tendencies will likely not age well. Thus the doubts.

Garcia and the Rangers can be seen in action Saturday, June 26, on FS1, when they continue a three-game home series against the Kansas City Royals.

Garcia defected from Cuba in 2016 and signed with the St. Louis Cardinals the following year, landing in their Double-A and Triple-A teams for three seasons, posting good but not great numbers and not landing on anyone's list of top prospects. But he did show power, cracking 32 home runs in 2019 with Triple-A Memphis though with 159 strikeouts and a .253 batting average. Still, he had only a cup of coffee with the big club and the Cardinals wound up designating him for assignment in December 2019 before trading him to the Rangers for cash considerations.

Rangers' starting center fielder and clean-up hitter, he's batting and a .940 OPS as of late May. But he's also shown little plate

tastyt√ BY GEORGE DICKIE Food Network's 'Grill of Victory' puts barbecuers' creativity to the test

The gas grill can be one of the most versatile tools in a cook's toolbox, as viewers of an upcoming Food Network competition series will soon learn.

In "Grill of Victory," premiering Monday, June 21, home cooks with a passion for food prepared over flame are tasked with preparing breakfast, lunch, dinner and even dessert on their grills over the course of three rounds. The winner at the end of the six hourlong episodes, as determined by a rotating panel of judges including Susie Bulloch, Tregaye Fraser, Darnell Ferguson and Christian Petroni, wins a custom-built backyard kitchen.

So not only are standards like steak, chicken and seafood on the barbecue menu, but there are also unlikely items such as pizza, banana splits and even a Shepherd's pie as contestants used their grills for functions like baking and smoking.

Sabin Lomac ("Seaside Snacks & Shacks"), the show's host, was impressed by the contestants' outside-the-box thinking.

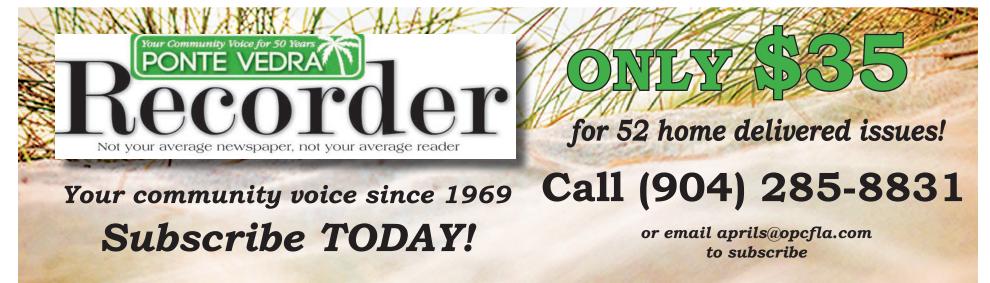

"We had people putting in wood chips to create the elements of smokers," he explains. "You know, we obviously had people using their saute pans on the side of the grill to make side dishes and really round out the meal. Some people, the contestants, their use of the pantry and just getting outside of their comfort zone." There were nerves all around as the cooks grappled with the jitters in the early rounds and the judges locked horns over the different dishes, a nacho cheese hot dog being a particular bone of contention. But Lomac says the successful chefs were the ones who took the judges' criticism well and listened to their advice.

"I really remember a couple of the contestants," he says, "first round maybe didn't go their way, the second round got a little better, and by the third round I think the nerves were gone and they just said, 'I'm gonna go win this.' And a lot of times, we just said, 'Take your time. Compose yourself. Think about what you want to do before you start running and scrambling.' And I think they actually did that. And so in the end, you looked at a really wellcomposed, rounded dish."

But this being a grilling competition, the final product needed to look and taste like it was prepared on a grill.

"A lot of times," Lomac says, "we were also saying, 'We need to be reminded that this was cooked on a barbecue, so don't forget the char, don't forget the smoke. Don't forget we kind of like that. You know, we like having chicken with some burnt edges. It doesn't need to be so pretty all the time.' "

"X-Men Origins: Wolverine" (Available now)

Hugh Jackman spins his character off from the other mutants of the "X-Men" stories in this effective adventure. The action is almost as much cerebral as it is physical, as the Marvel Comics figure first recognizes his unusual abilities and sometimes uses them against his half brother, alias Sabretooth (Liev Schreiber). Ryan Reynolds, Taylor Kitsch and Danny Huston also star.
