coverstory
BY GEORGE DICKIE

A college department head is up to her ears in problems in Netflix's 'The Chair'

Professor Ji-Yoon Kim may represent a first at her university but she might be the last person who'd want to take on this mess.

As played by Sandra Oh ("Killing Eve," "Grey's Anatomy") in the Netflix half-hour comedy "The Chair," which begins streaming Friday, Aug. 20, she's the first woman chair of the English department at Pembroke University as well as one of the few staff members of color at the prestigious Massachusetts institution.

Though its stately buildings and finely manicured campus suggest wealth, the university is in fact hemorrhaging money and Dean Larson (David Morse, "Outsiders") instructs his department heads to find the dead wood among the faculty and push them toward the door. Translation: Pick out the old-timers with high salaries and low enrollments and make them want to retire.

Which puts two profs squarely in Ji-Yoon's crosshairs – Elliot Rentz (Bob Balaban) and Joan Hambling (Holland Taylor, "Two and a Half Men") – both of whom are painfully aware of the budget cuts and the fact that their advanced age makes them a target.

For Taylor, the script by Amanda Peet (an actress who steps behind the camera as creator, executive producer and showrunner here) and the opportunity to play a character her own age were big drawing cards.

Taylor explains. "She's sort of, as Amanda Peet ... said to me when we began, 'This character is unedited at this point in her life.' And that really appealed to me because I would say that I was brought up with a lot of manners and a lot of awareness of others and I definitely have an editor that controls how I behave very, very well. And I can sort of see that loosening as I get older."

There are other issues making Ji-Yoon's life interesting. Bill Dobson (Jay Duplass, "Transparent"), a popular instructor, suffers a series of embarrassing episodes as he struggles with his wife's tragic death during childbirth; Yasmin McKay (Nana Mensah, "New Amsterdam"), a younger professor, agitates for change and advancement in the department; and young daughter Ju Ju (Everly Carganilla, "Yes Day") acts out, much to the dismay of her single mom.

Meanwhile, Joan deals with the prospect that her longtime friend might also turn out to be her executioner, professionally speaking.

"This is a mentor/mentee relationship," Taylor notes, "and when the mentee has excelled and climbed the mountain and done very well, it's very exciting for the older person who has been her friend and advising her. And even though Joan is being pushed aside by (Ji-Yoon's) generation, Joan would not see (Ji-Yoon) as a personal threat at all until she does feel that she's been let down by her, which is very crushing. So it's a very, very human story."

Relax. We've got this.

“Movie: Unsane”

Claire Foy continues to prove her versatility in this quirky Steven Soderbergh-directed 2018 psychological horror film in which she plays Sawyer Valentini, a woman who seeks therapy after a traumatic experience with a stalker. When she appears for her appointment, however, she inadvertently signs a release voluntarily committing herself to a 24-hour stay at the behavioral center. Joshua Leonard and Juno Temple also star.

“Movie: The Marijuana Conspiracy”

Based on a true story, this 2020 drama from writer/director Craig Pryce (“Good Witch”) is set in 1972 and tells the tale of five women who endured 98 days of captivity to participate in an experiment studying the effects of marijuana on the female body and psyche. Brittany Bristow, Morgan Kohan and Julia Stone head the cast of the Canadian production.

“Nine Perfect Strangers”

Author Liane Moriarty’s bestseller served as the basis for this David E. Kelley-produced dramedy series set at a boutique health-and-wellness resort that promises healing and transformation to its stressed-out city dweller clientele. Nicole Kidman stars as the head of the place, in a talented cast that also includes Melissa McCarthy, Michael Shannon, Samara Weaving, Luke Evans and Bobby Cannavale. (ORIGINAL)

“Movie: Jungleland”

By day, former pro boxer Walter “Lion” Kaminski (Jack O’Connell) and his ex-con brother and manager Stanley (Charlie Hunnam) work menial jobs in a factory, but at night they shoot for a bigger payday in underground boxing matches. After they have a falling out over a covert bet Stanley has placed on Lion, a gangster (Jonathan Majors) tries to exploit their tensions for profit.

You will NOT be disappointed.

DISCOVER FLORIDA'S FIRST LIGHTHOUSE

Where it all began...

The original first-order Fresnel lens in the St. Augustine Lighthouse was manufactured in Paris, France. In 1986, a vandal shot the lens at the top of the tower, damaging 19 of its 370 prisms. Then President of the Junior Service League of St. Augustine, Virginia Whetstone, spearheaded a first-of-its-kind restoration project with Dan Spinella of Disney Corporation. Taking advantage of breakthroughs in laser technology, Dan measured the prisms and created the means to fabricate a new bullseye panel and 18 other prisms.

Two Coast Guardsmen, Joseph Cocking, and Nicholas Johnston, who still service the Fresnel lens today, took out the damaged parts, replaced them, and aligned the beam correctly. Initially thought of as an impossible task for a fledgling non-profit, a team effort ensured the Fresnel lens restoration, which served as a pilot project that led to other original lens restorations across the United States.

Rookie Briscoe looks to make Cup history at the Brickyard

NASCAR's Cup Series has a fairly long and storied history at Indianapolis Motor Speedway, one that dates back to 1994 with the inaugural Brickyard 400. Now that race comes off the main track and onto its road course for the first time with the Verizon 200 at the Brickyard.

Airing Sunday, Aug. 15, on NBC, the race is run over 82 laps on the 2.439-mile, 14-turn course where the likes of Chase Elliott, Ryan Blaney, Kyle Busch, Martin Truex Jr. and Chase Briscoe hope to continue their success on road courses.

Briscoe is a particularly intriguing case. A rookie to the Cup in 2021, the 26-year-old Indiana native had a strong record on road courses during his 2018-20 stint in the Xfinity Series, posting seven top-10 finishes in nine starts, including wins at Charlotte in 2018 and Indy last year.

But so far in 2021, that success hasn't translated to the Cup, where he's managed two sixth place finishes (at Circuit of the Americas in Texas and Road America in Wisconsin) to go along with a 17th at Sonoma and a 32nd at Daytona. Not embarrassing showings for the most part but certainly not what he had hoped for coming into the season.

Still, he has the experience of the Indy road course and that 2020 victory under his belt, which will certainly work to his advantage on Sunday. Should he win, he'd be the first Cup rookie to take the checkered flag in a road course race since Juan Pablo Montoya at Sonoma in 2007.

And thus make more Cup history at the fabled Brickyard.

Celebs get enshrined in ice cream on 'Ben & Jerry's: Clash of the Cones'

Anyone with an interest in making ice cream would do well to check out a novel competition series upcoming on Food Network and discovery+.

In "Ben & Jerry's: Clash of the Cones," premiering Monday, Aug. 16, the finer points of making the cool treat are bandied about in detail as contestants are tasked with making new and innovative flavors of ice cream that capture the essence of a celebrity, be they actor Kevin Bacon or rapper Chris "Ludacris" Bridges, based on direction given by the celeb themselves. So while a celebrity may say they like chocolate, blueberries, marshmallow and strawberries, combining all that in one ice cream and making it flavorful and delicious can be a monumental challenge.

The winner receives a $20,000 grand prize and the opportunity to have their ice cream sampled by fans at an event in their hometown.

Filmed this past spring at a specially constructed ice cream lab at the Ben & Jerry's facility in Waterbury, Vt., the show is hosted by Molly Yeh ("Girl Meets Farm") with the creations judged by Jet and Ali Tila ("Guy's Grocery Games") as well as Ben & Jerry's flavor guru Chris Rivard.

"It's actually a lot of challenges in one," Jet Tila explains. "(It's) abstract in that this flavor has never existed. You have to get the personality of every single celebrity, which must be stressful, and you also kind of have to live up to, beyond Ben & Jerry's, just deliciousness, fun, craveable. And then within the realm of Ben & Jerry's, the swirls,

"Ben & Jerry's Clash of the Cones" crunches. So I think it's a very fun challenge for an experienced ice cream maker."

And for the judges, there are specific criteria to consider.

"You want to look at the texture," Ali Tila explains. "That's one of the big things. It shouldn't be gummy. It should be scoopable, it shouldn't be icy, things like that. And they're technically able to create a good base ice cream. And then on top of that, there are a lot of mix-ins. Ben & Jerry's is really big on chunks and swirls and stuff like that, so we want to make sure that their inclusions in the ice cream were also well-executed, they're not too hard. ... And if they haven't mastered any of those types of techniques, that's going to show in a competition like this."

And the concoctions can even cross into the sweet-and-savory realm. But as to whether Kevin Bacon's ice cream included a certain salt-cured pork product, Jet Tila wasn't saying.

"I remember eating bacon in one of the challenges," he allows with a laugh, "and I remember a lot of judges were split on whether they should or shouldn't have and they went for it anyway. And you know, high risk/high reward but it also means there are some high failures. So we did eat bacon somewhere in the show."

“Growing Up Animal” (Available now)

From National Geographic comes this six-episode unscripted series that takes viewers on the intimate and extraordinary adventure of baby animals such as chimps, sea lions, elephants, African wild dogs, lions, and grizzlies, from the safety of the womb to the uncertainty of birth and their tentative first steps. (ORIGINAL)

“Eragon” (Aug. 20)

A young man’s (Ed Speleers) discovery of a dragon’s egg is just the start of an adventure that ultimately pits him against a sinister king (John Malkovich) in this version of the Christopher Paolini fantasy novel, directed by visual-effects master Stefen Fangmeier (“Twister”). Jeremy Irons plays the hero’s guru in a cast that also includes Sienna Guillory, Robert Carlyle and Djimon Hounsou.

“Breaking Bobby Bones” (Available now)

This series sends radio personality and “American Idol” mentor Bobby Bones on a road trip across the United States to meet local heroes who challenge him to attempt the daunting tricks of their trade. In one episode, for example, Bones must overcome his crippling fear of heights to dangle 4,000 feet above the Grand Canyon floor to clean the clear-glass underside of the Skywalk.

“America’s Funniest Home Videos: Animal Edition” (Available now)

For TV executives, when it comes to their ratings, too much of a good thing is wonderful, which helps explain this fluffy but fun spinoff of the long-running comedy docuseries “America’s Funniest Home Videos.” Since that show launched back in 1989, clips of critters at their crankiest, clumsiest and most cunning have been a mainstay of that broadcast megahit, hosted nowadays by Alfonso Ribeiro.
