The link is 'a space that inspires'

The heart of Nocatee is home to a unique facility that, since its founding last year, has proven its value to local businesspeople and the community at large.

The link, founded by Raghu and Gurpreet Misra, defies facile classification. It is a co-working space, an innovation incubator, a membership-based venue where people of all ages can go to "learn, play, think and do" and a community asset that hosts events for the general public.

But most of all, the link is "a space that inspires."

With its broad variety of classes, camps, activities, educational opportunities and entertainment, it inspires children, teens and adults. So attractive are the benefits, that some people purchase homes to be near it.

"It's very satisfying when people come and say, 'Raghu, we moved to Nocatee because of the link,'" said Raghu Misra.

In fact, it's common to see adults working at one task while their children are engaged in some other activity — all under one roof. This provides convenience to busy families.

The 22,500-square-foot smart building at 425 Town Plaza Ave. is a wonder in itself. It regulates energy use for maximum efficiency, employs artificial intelligence for security and much more.

The link's Sapna Academy offers self-directed education for very young students through teenagers. There's a stage and video wall for TED Talk-style presentations. The Flagler Health+ Immersive Studio, a 360-degree environment that surrounds people with images and videos from around the world, is one of the largest immersive spaces in the nation. For the professional, there is a variety of office-space solutions, including desks, meeting rooms, virtual office space and a mail service.

One of the key elements of the link's success is its team. Gurpreet Misra is in charge of programming, Elaine Raby is in charge of member-related experiences. Jeff Tawney handles building operations and related matters. Though Raghu Misra continues to be involved in the day-to-day issues, he credits the others for making it possible to focus on long-term plans.

"Thanks to how strong the team is, I'm kind of moving more into the strategic side of things," he said.

Recently, the link introduced new membership levels that offer savings for those who want to take advantage of the many amenities. It is one of several ways the facility has evolved since it was originally proposed.

"We're still evolving and will continue to evolve," said Raghu Misra.

Another way the link is evolving is in its "Future In ___" series, which introduces audiences to technology that is shaping the careers of the future. Beginning in September, Raghu and Gurpreet Misra stand in one of the link's hallways where works of art by Susanne Schuenke are exhibited.

the link will offer daytime sessions so that schools can bring students for special field trips.

Misra takes the educational component of the link seriously. To that end, he continues to seek ways to benefit the next generation through a presence in the Metaverse and through student "open mic" gatherings to share information across grade levels.

Another educational idea might include using the Flagler Health+ Immersive Studio to give students virtual tours of real college campuses. This would be especially helpful to those families who have limited resources.

"Not everybody has the luxury to go to every college that they want to apply to," Misra said.

He also hopes to work out cross-generational gatherings, where young people could interact — and learn from — senior citizens. At the same time, seniors will benefit from these visits.

"They'll see some kids smiling and enjoying things that, hopefully, will have a positive emotional effect on them," Misra said.

The link will celebrate its first anniversary on July 15 with a special business expo from 6 to 9 p.m. Area businesses are encouraged to register and reserve a spot where they will have an opportunity to tell the public about their products and services. The expo will be held in conjunction with a family Olympics event from 6 to 8 p.m. featuring the kind of fun games people enjoy at their local fairs. Both are free to attend, though there is a fee for the expo table. To book a table or register to attend, go to thelink.zone/events-1.

With so many plans for the continued evolution of the link, Misra is not standing still.

"It's going to be busy the next year or two," he said.

“Movie: Ted K”

Tony Stone (“Severed Ways: The Norse Discovery of America”) co-wrote and directed this 2021 drama that explores the life of Ted Kaczynski (played here by Sharlto Copley, “District 9”) in his years in Lincoln, Mont., leading up to his arrest as the Unabomber. Drew Powell, Travis Bruyer and Wayne Pyle also star.

“Movie: The Worst Person in the World”

Director Joachim Trier (“Thelma”) was Oscar-nominated for co-writing (with Eskil Vogt) the screenplay for this 2021 drama about Julie (Renate Reinsve, “Welcome to Norway”), a young woman forced to take a good, hard look at herself when she encounters turbulence in her love life and career. Anders Danielsen, Maria Di Meo and Herbert Nordrum also star.

“Movie: The Burning Sea”

From Norway comes this 2021 actioner about an explosion that rocks an oil rig and sends it to the bottom of the sea, and the researchers who discover that it could presage an even bigger catastrophe. Kristine Kujath Thorp, Nils Elias Olsen and Rolf Larsen head the cast for director John Andreas Andersen (“The Quake”).

The Bear

“The Bear”

Jeremy Allen White (“Shameless”) stars in this comedy series as Carmen “Carry” Berzatto, a young chef in the fine dining world who returns to Chicago following his brother’s suicide to help run his family’s sandwich shop and cope with the soul-crushing realities of running a small business, including a rebellious kitchen staff and strained family relations. Ebon Moss-Bachrach, Ayo Edebiri and Abby Elliott also star. (ORIGINAL)

Love & Anarchy

“Love & Anarchy”

The sophomore round of this Swedish comedy finds Sofie (Ida Engvold) trying to create a life for herself and Max (Bjorn Mosten) but unforeseen events put her in the middle of a life crisis that jeopardizes the relationship and their plans for the future. Bjorn Kjellman and Reine Brynolfsson also star. (ORIGINAL)

The Wrath of God

“Movie: The Wrath of God”

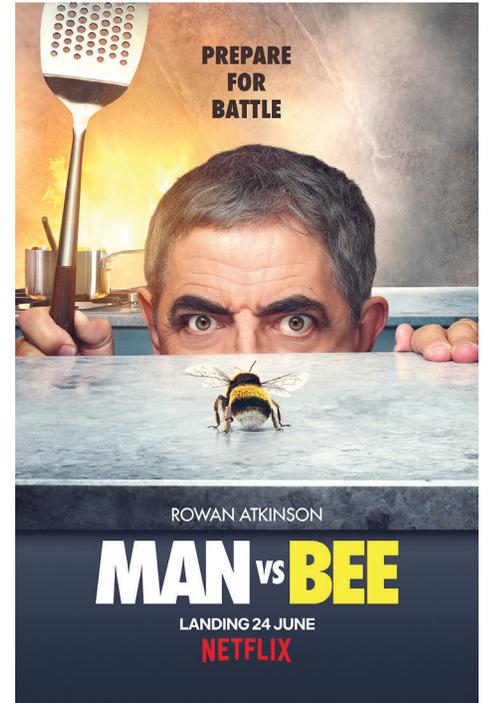

From Argentina and director Sebastian Schindel (“The Boss, Anatomy of a Crime”) comes this thriller about Luciana (Macarena Achaga), a young woman who increasingly suspects her boss, an enigmatic writer, is responsible for a growing circle of mysterious deaths of relatives. Juan Minujin, Diego Peretti and Pablo Del Teso also star. (ORIGINAL)

The Umbrella Academy

“The Umbrella Academy”

The third season of this action adventure picks up after 1963’s doomsday was thwarted, as the Umbrella Academy returns home to the present thinking they’ve averted calamity. But things weren’t great when they left as they learn when they have to deal with the Sparrows as well as a destructive entity wreaking havoc in the universe. Elliot Page, Tom Hopper, David Castaneda and Emmy Raver-Lampman star. (ORIGINAL)

MAN vs BEE

“Man vs. Bee”

Rowan Atkinson (the “Mr. Bean” movies) is front and center of this comedy series that casts him as Trevor, a bumbling dad who lands a job as a house sitter at a posh mansion full of priceless artwork, classic cars and an adorable dog called Cupcake. But when a bee lands on the scene, the ensuing chaos may jeopardize his assignment. (ORIGINAL)

PBS searches for 'The Great American Recipe' in eight-part series

It may be titled "The Great American Recipe," but what an upcoming PBS series serves up is actually multiculturalism.

Indeed, in the eight-part cooking competition that premieres Friday, June 24 (check local listings), home cooks from around the U.S. get the chance to showcase their signature dishes and compete to win a national search for the – well, see the title – which will then grace the cover of "The Great American Recipe Cookbook."

And these dishes are reflective of the melting pot that is this country. From family favorites that have been passed down through the generations to recipes with international and regional influences, the series blends camaraderie with competition to reveal the personal stories and inspirations behind the dishes. In the end, the contestants are tasked with creating an entire meal so that the judging panel of celebrity chefs Leah Cohen ("Top Chef"), Tiffany Derry ("Bar Rescue") and Graham Elliot ("MasterChef") can render their final decision. "Today" food contributor Alejandra Ramos is the host.

The recipes range from the relatively simple like tacos and mac and cheese to more esoteric fare such as a Vietnamese beef salad and are judged on the basis of taste, execution and presentation. Viewers can follow along as the chefs make them and may even find themselves inspired to give them a try – provided they can find the ingredients.

"I feel there was nothing technique-wise that was so out of left field that no one's going to be able to recreate it at home if they wanted," Elliot explains. "Hopefully every viewer is going to see that with so many different cultures being represented, ingredients that they use and have in their pantry are probably different than what everybody has at home. So hopefully this will encourage them to go out and try some new things and experiment with those ingredients ...and then hopefully as you understand the flavors more, you can almost get inspired and take it in your own direction from there as well."

But the series is about more than just food. In the opening episode's first challenge, the cooks are tasked with creating a dish that has "every single flavor that defines who you are." Personal stories ensue.

"You have to have people who not only understand food and are great cooks," Derry says, "but they're also great storytellers. So that would be cast. ..."

"Truthfully, honestly, this was a fantastic group," she continues. "I mean, obviously, first thing I'm crying, you know. I mean, that just sounds about right. As I'm watching, I'm like, 'Oh, it was so good.' So it just takes very special people to do what we just did."
