Jet & Ivy offers mix of stylish clothes, affordable prices

Jet & Ivy Children's Store opened at its location at 206 Ashourian Ave., Suite 110 in St. Augustine in November 2020 and they have been offering children a look they can feel confident about ever since.

"Our goal has always been to provide children with clothes that they would feel comfortable and confident in," owner Teri-ann Wigfield said. "Our vision is to offer great quality and stylish clothes and offer them at affordable prices."

Although Jet & Ivy is a relatively new business, the operation of a children's store is nothing new to Teri-ann, having more than 20 years of experience in that world. "We have always dreamed of offering a store that kids would want to shop in," Teri-ann said. "As parents, we felt that if we tailored the shopping experience to children, it would make for a smooth experience as well for Mom and Dad."

The time felt right to explore the option of owning her own business and she leaned on her past experiences in the field when coming up with the idea for Jet & Ivy. "We opened a 4,000 square foot store with fitting rooms and a lounge area for kids to relax. Like many parents, we had many unworn ticketed clothes in the closet that our kids refused to wear because they were itchy, rough or they were not part of the selection process." A variety of selections is something that Teri-ann takes pride in being able to offer any customer that walks through the doors of the store.

"Every kid has a favorite piece they love to wear," Teri-ann said. "Why not give them many choices that they equally like and take away the 'battles' on what to wear?"

Therefore lessening the stress for both kid and parent."

A lot of thought went into creating the name for the business because Teri-ann wanted a name that was catchy but also signified the message they were hoping to get across.

"Our mission was to provide apparel, accessories, footwear for fast and growing kids," Teri-ann said. "We wanted a trendy name for the store, so we chose Jet & Ivy. Our tagline is 'For Fast and Growing Kids' with 'Jet' being the fast and 'Ivy' the growing."

The store offers clothing for children from newborn to size 16, and consistently has new items in stock depending on the season and the latest trends.

"As an owner-operated business, we are able to react immediately to the needs of our customers and offer an ever-changing assortment," Teri-ann. "We do offer and have manufactured our own clothing line, however under today's climate, we are looking forward to revisiting that next year."

According to Teri-ann, making sure to keep the prices affordable is something that is always at the forefront of her mind.

On top of striving to keep the pricing reasonable, Wigfield has tailored the look and feel of the store toward a very family atmosphere designed to make her customers, which are families, feel right at home.

"We are a relaxed, stress-free, pressure-free shopping experience," Teri-ann said. "We make it fun for kids to see items at their level. It's perfectly fine to touch and feel the product. Kids have an opinion, so why not let them have a say in what they wear."

For Teri-ann, it is the smile on a child's face when they find a piece of clothing or shoes they love is what it is all about.

"As a parent knowing that there's a store your child is willing to go to makes shopping so much easier," Teri-ann said. "It absolutely makes our day when a kid wants grandma to bring them to the store to go shopping, has saved up their own money to buy something, or simply invites their friend to come just to show them the store."

Thanksgiving doesn't have to be turkey day

By now, you're probably sick of turkey.

Between turkey bacon, sausage, burgers and the rotisserie turkey breasts sold in supermarkets and delis, the big bird has lost its specialness as it's become a regular staple of our diets. So making it the centerpiece of a Thanksgiving feast seems almost anticlimactic at this point.

So what to do instead? Well, a lot if you give it a little imagination. The following are a few suggestions for alternative Thanksgiving meals that are guaranteed to wow your holiday diners.

Certainly, filet mignon has to be on anyone's list. In her "Everyday Italian" segment on YouTube (www.youtube.com/watch?vASJk1pmJjAI), Giada De Laurentiis seers her beautifully marbled cuts in butter in a hot pan before drizzling them with balsamic syrup, then melts goat cheese on top. Not exactly for the calorie conscious but then neither is traditional Thanksgiving dinner. Enjoy just the same.

Of course, ham also has to be on the radar. Ree Drummond shows how to do a glazed ham right in this "Pioneer Woman" video (www.youtube.com/watch?vASpwAKy_Eog). The secret, she says, is in the glaze, which she makes from orange juice, brown sugar, apple cider vinegar, grainy brown mustard, grated garlic, the zest of three oranges and spices, then cooks on medium high until thick.

She drizzles it over her spiral cut ham and puts it in the oven. What comes out is a caramelized masterpiece. Yum!

Another option is leg of lamb. In his video (www.youtube.com/watch?vSzv5Yx7xdyM), Jamie Oliver seasons his with garlic, rosemary, anchovies (just a little), olive oil, salt and pepper before placing the meat directly on the rack in the oven (for a more even roasting) with a tray beneath to catch the drippings. Cook to taste and serve.

If you really want to go outside the box, how about a Thanksgiving clambake? Ina Garten shows how to do a kitchen clambake in this segment from "Barefoot Contessa" (www.youtube.com/watch?vVaVeas0P2pfQ) using kielbasa, clams, mussels and shrimp steamed in a leek and white wine broth. How can one resist?

And if you're going meatless, try this vegetarian lasagna courtesy of Al Roker. In this video from "Today" (www.youtube.com/watch?vE1W3gSzX1cQ), he shows how to make a delicious veggie lasagna using crushed peppers, zucchini, yellow squash, noodles, mozzarella, ricotta and grated parmesan cheeses and marinara sauce – homemade or store-bought. He then bakes at 350 degrees for 50 minutes. The smell practically comes through the screen. Too enticing to say no to.
