First Coast Audiology offers solutions to hearing problems

Dr. Melisa Sharpe

The ability to hear can change a person's entire outlook on the way they interact with the world, because the sounds around them help shape their everyday experiences.

Those who suffer from hearing loss may not experience the world the way they used to, which can be difficult to encounter.

However, Dr. Melisa Sharpe started First Coast Audiology in 2017 after seeing the need in the community to assist people dealing with those issues.

According to Sharpe, the idea for the practice came about after seeing a need to assist people that could not leave their homes or just wanted the convenience and personalized care of having someone come and care for them.

"After doing this for six years we decided to expand this service to brick and mortar where we can treat more people," Sharpe said. "I started the mobile because a lot of older people can't get out and have to rely on family to get them to appointments."

Sharpe still offers the mobile service for patients that depend on it, but now First Coast Audiology has grown to include its new office located at 166 A1A N., Suite 100 in Ponte Vedra Beach. Appointments can be made by going to firstcoastaudiology.com or by calling 904-501-2280.

After years of treating patients strictly as a mobile service, the time was right for the practice to take the next step in its growth process.

The expansion is a sign that First Coast Audiology has done a good job of doing what Sharpe set out to do when she first created the practice. And it is a mission she has never forgotten.

"I have a passion for helping everyone regardless of income and sharing how important hearing is to your overall health and enjoy sharing that knowledge with others," Sharpe said.

Services offered by First Coast Audiology include hearing tests, tinnitus treatment, hearing aid purchases or repairs, custom hearing protection and ear wax removal.

manufacturers on the market.

One of the areas that Sharpe believes sets First Coast Audiology apart from others is convenient office hours and the continued option to have an audiologist come to their home if preferred to have a more private and personal experience.

Offering both options is unique and something Sharpe prides herself in.

As a result, of this approach and willingness to make the experience of a hearing exam as comfortable as possible has led to an interesting atmosphere.

"We have a business atmosphere that is warm and inviting for every patient," Sharpe said. "This is not a one item fits all, and I want our customers to feel like they are our only patient."

The Secrets of Hillsong also features poignant conversations with many of the congregants navigating the still-unfolding global reckoning as the church faces a rash of fresh revelations.

Ramsay returns: Gordon entices entrepreneurs in 'Food Stars'

He's been around for decades, but fans have yet to tire of the brutal honesty, invaluable tips and delicious recipes that superstar chef Gordon Ramsay serves. With shows such as "Hell's Kitchen," "Ramsay's Kitchen Nightmares" and "Gordon Ramsay Uncharted," the Scottish chef has traveled to share his experience worldwide. Now, Ramsay is on the hunt for the next big name in food. "Gordon Ramsay's Food Stars" premieres Wednesday, May 24, on Fox, following the Season 13 premiere of "MasterChef."

In this new series, Gordon makes his way out of the kitchen and into the boardroom, trading in his cast iron skillet and cutting board for revenue reports and marketing meetings, this time putting his own wallet on the line. An American adaptation of the British TV series, "Gordon Ramsay's Future Food Stars," the show follows Ramsay as he looks to find the next culinary entrepreneur he'd like to (personally) financially support, offering the most impressive contestant $250,000 to follow their dreams.

Ramsay tests these hopeful entrepreneurs in every facet of running a successful business, challenging contestants at every phase of production, from initial marketing to product development.

"The aspiring moguls will be challenged in all aspects of running a food enterprise, including creating, marketing and selling to real customers. ... As Ramsay pushes contestants to their limits, they'll have to prove they possess the raw ingredients required to succeed – drive, dedication, creativity, passion and talent," Fox said of the series in a news release.

Ramsay explained further in an interview with Variety: "I've hand-picked some of the most promising culinary innovators to compete for not only my investment but my partnership in business. They will have to hustle through tough challenges, break through and set themselves apart from the other competition, and make noise to prove they have what it takes to be successful."

Joining this season's inaugural competition are: Aaron Valentine, founder of Snow Cone King; Caroline D'Amore, CEO of Pizza Girl Inc.; Elisa Strauss, owner of Confetti Cakes; Jake Aronskind, founder of the cooking app Pepper; Kagen Cox, owner of Kagen Coffee & Crepes; Lan Ho, owner of Fat Miilk; Queen Precious-Jewel Zabriskie, spice purveyor of Indulgent Essential Spices; Sydney Webb, co-founder of Toto Foods, Inc., and more.

To see who receives the $250,000 (and who earns the most iconic insult), tune in for the premiere of "Gordon Ramsay's Food Stars," airing Wednesday, May 24, on Fox.

BEST ARNOLD SCHWARZENEGGER MOVIES

Arnold Schwarzenegger in "Conan the Barbarian"

"Stay Hungry" (1976): Schwarzenegger — whose Netflix espionage series "FUBAR" starts streaming Thursday, May 25 — didn't have to venture far from his own image for his first major film role, an Austrian bodybuilder getting ready for a worldwide competition.

"Conan the Barbarian" (1982): The sheer physique that Schwarzenegger displayed was more than enough to make him perfectly suitable for the title role of this famously violent adventure.

"The Terminator" (1984): "He'll be back," indeed ... and Schwarzenegger was, in several sequels to this James Cameron-directed action classic that was conflated by some with another "role" the star had later to get him dubbed "The Governator."

"Commando" (1985): It's not very wise for villains to abduct the daughter (Alyssa Milano) of the Special Forces veteran played by Schwarzenegger, as they learn all too clearly.

"Red Heat" (1988): Schwarzenegger and James Belushi make an entertaining pair as a Russian policeman and a Chicago cop — guess which plays which — who become temporary partners to catch a foreign drug kingpin.

"Predator" (1987): A clever merging of brawny military adventure and sci-fi saga casts Schwarzenegger as the leader of a team sent into a jungle on a mission that eventually pits them against a lethal alien.

"The Running Man" (1987): The televised, much-viewed game that involves Schwarzenegger's character and others had a deadly undercurrent in this adaptation of a Stephen King story.

"Twins" (1988): Schwarzenegger and Danny DeVito as ... the title twins? Well, sure, when it comes to this rather wacky comedy from director Ivan Reitman.

"Total Recall" (1990): Easily one of Schwarzenegger's best movies, director Paul Verhoeven's intriguing sci-fi fantasy features the star as a man who carries another person's memories on Mars. And that's just one slice of the plot that also includes Sharon Stone and probably the most unusual cabbie you've ever seen.

‘Blue Bloods’ will stay on its beat

Q: Will “Blue Bloods” be back next season? — George Ryan, Grand Junction, Colo.

A: The answer to that is finally “Yes,” though it was held up for a while. One of CBS’ most reliably performing shows will get a 14th season, but the cast and crew (including Tom Selleck, who had to have gotten a sizable salary during his “Magnum, p.i.” years) had to agree to budget cuts to make that happen ... reportedly encompassing a 25-percent reduction for the law-and-order-family drama’s top-billed stars.

Along with such other programs as producer Dick Wolf’s NBC shows, which recently got renewals after making similar budgetary concessions, this is an indication of the current series-production model that is seeing networks seeking reduced budgets no matter how successful a series is. “Blue Bloods” surely is one of television’s top success stories now, also given how many other outlets run repeats of it (ION Television, Pluto, etc.), but this situation demonstrates that no show is immune in the industry’s current economy.

Q: Since it’s starting so late in the TV year, will “Nancy Drew”

still get a full season for its last round? — Kayla Scott, via e-mail

A: It will, for what was ordered originally. The CW gave the show’s makers sufficient notice of the cancellation to be able to let them have time to complete the commissioned episodes, and also to craft a definitive finale that title star Kennedy McMann was particularly pleased about, as she told us recently. The series’ fourth and last season begins May 31, and it will run until late August.
