Husband-and-wife team create a five-star experience at ScanManFL

Although there was an economic impact of the COVID-19 pandemic, there were also many businesses that opened following it, including ScanManFL, which opened in 2021.

The idea for the business was first tossed around by Michael Resetar to his wife Carla and it grew from there.

“Being he was retired law enforcement, and we are public service people I agreed to it,” Carla Resetar said.

Now they are serving the public in another way, by providing LiveScan fingerprinting, FBI background reports, electronic fingerprint transmission files, VIN verification, I-9 verification, notary, notary signing, as well as copies, faxes and scans.

“We wanted to use our combined 60-plus years of public service to offer an elevated experience in fingerprinting for the professionals and service people in our community,” Carla Resetar said.

And the husband-and-wife team is able to make sure that mission remains the primary focus, because they are the only two employees the business has, so everything goes through them.

“We are the only LiveScan fingerprinting company who has more than 290 five-star reviews,” Carla Resetar said. “Our business model is to provide outstanding service and ensure every client’s questions are answered.”

As a result, they also strive to create a memorable experience when it comes to the atmosphere they have created since opening as a business, which according to Carla Resetar, can be summed up in four words: professional, secure, compassionate and experience.

Years of working with people have given the Resetars a good idea of what a proper environment for fingerprinting should be like and they want it to be welcoming, relaxing and comfortable for all those who walk through their doors.

“Fingerprinting can be uncomfortable for some,” Carla Resetar said. “Whether we are notarizing a document or fingerprinting a client, we want every person to know their safety and security is paramount at ScanManFL.”

A private experience, clean restroom, and a place to sit and wait comfortably are many of the elements that the Resetars believe are important to accompany a fast and professional approach to business.

“We would love to fingerprint your employees and/or volunteers. We offer reduced rates for large groups and are available for mobile fingerprinting and notary services,” Carla Resetar said. “Call today and let us know how if we can help you offer these services for your business.”

They do not do fingerprinting for concealed weapon permits, as they must be done by a law

“Edge of Tomorrow” (Nov. 7)

Live, die, repeat. Based on Japanese light novel “All You Need Is Kill,” this film follows Maj. William Cage (Tom Cruise) as he is forced to fight off an invasion by an alien race known as Mimics. Due to his limited combat experience, Cage is quickly dispatched by the alien threat. However, death isn't the end for Cage as he must relive the day of the invasion until he can find a solution.

“The Croods Family Tree” - Season 7 (Nov. 8)

DreamWork's prehistoric families of the Croods and the Bettermans are back for another season of misadventures. From discovering a submarine or creating a hair growth formula to fighting off a strange-looking snake and competing in a tournament to determine the dominant species on the planet, there is no rest for these kooky families.

“Dark Side of the Ring” - Season 4 (Nov. 9)

This hit docuseries is back with even more of compelling — and possibly horrifying — stories from the world of professional wrestling. From the life and careers of figures like Abdullah the Butcher, Marty Jannetty and Tammy Lynn Sytch to infamous events such as WCW Bash at the Beach 2000, Season 4 tries its best to find the truth in this wacky intersection of fact and fiction.

“Bleach Thousand Year Blood War - Part 2: The Separation” (Available Now)

After the initial invasion by the Quincies, the Soul Reapers are left in a state of disrepair, while Ichigo and allies go to the train with the Soul King's Royal Guard. Unfortunately for the forces of good, the Quincies have been literally hiding in the shadows of the Soul Society — and they're ready to strike once again.

“Akuma Kun” - Season 1 (Nov. 9)

This new animated series is a sequel to the 1989 original of the same name, which was based on a manga written and illustrated by Shigeru Mizuki. Set 30 years after the events of the original, it tells the story of boy genius Ichiro Umorigi. Since he was raised by demons, Ichiro is perceptive of supernatural phenomena, which comes in handy when solving paranormal murder and mysteries.

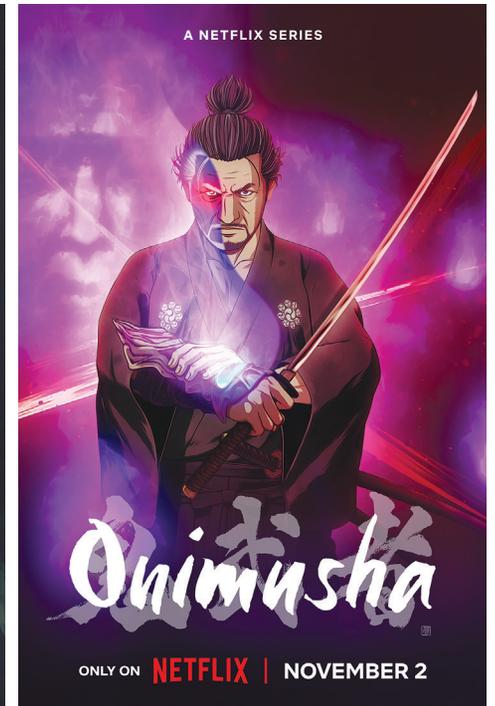

“Resident Evil: Death Island” (Nov. 9)

Based on the hit survival-horror video game series by Capcom, this animated film gives a viewer an idea of what adventures the heroes and heroines of “Resident Evil” get up to between games. When a zombie outbreak occurs in San Francisco, Jill Valentine, Leon Kennedy and Chris Redfield are sent in to resolve the crisis. They soon deduce that outbreak originates from Alcatraz Island.

“The Killer” (Nov. 10, Movie Premiere)

Inspired by writer Alexis “Matz” Nolent and artist Luc Jacamon’s 1998 graphic novel, this thriller tells the story of an assassin (Michael Fassbender) who, after a fateful near-miss, battles his employers — and himself — on an international manhunt he insists isn’t personal. Charles Parnell, Arliss Howard, Sophie Charlotte and Tilda Swinton also star.

“Onimusha” - Season 1 (Available Now)

Capcom’s long-dominant action game series gets a new lease on life with a brand-new anime adaptation. The series follows Miyamoto Musashi — who is modeled after late Japanese film icon Toshiro Mifune — as he embarks on a covert mission to rid Edo Japan of demons. Armed with the fabled Oni Gauntlet and his trusty sword, is Musashi enough to combat the forces of evil?

Cake o'clock: Buddy Valastro premieres two new shows on A&E

It's time to have your cake and eat it, too! Buddy Valastro is joining A&E's Home.Made.Nation with two new series, premiering on the network this Saturday, Nov. 11: "Legends of the Fork" and, immediately following, "Buddy Valastro's Cake Dynasty."

"We're back on TV, baby!" the infamous cake boss himself said. "I'm excited to bring not one, but two brand-new shows to A&E starting this November. Viewers are going to love 'Buddy Valastro's Cake Dynasty,' featuring the whole Valastro family, just a little older and maybe a little more grown-up (maybe!)."

"And I hope people enjoy all the great culinary stories I showcase on 'Legends of the Fork,' while traveling throughout the country looking for the most iconic food and flavors," Valastro concluded, giving viewers a taste of his first new series.

During each half-hour episode of "Legends of the Fork," the superstar baker travels from Los Angeles to New Jersey, out to "see, hear and taste the stories, histories, legacies and flavors of America's iconic restaurants," according to the network. "Buddy explores how these historic eateries offer diners an astonishing panorama of the country's social, cultural and demographic history, as well as its culinary traditions."

Following the premiere of his tasty travel series, Valastro invites viewers behind the scenes at Carlo's Bake Shop in "Buddy Valastro's Cake Dynasty," in which Buddy and his extended family work together in order to balance the nonstop demands of their cake empire with their always-hectic home life.

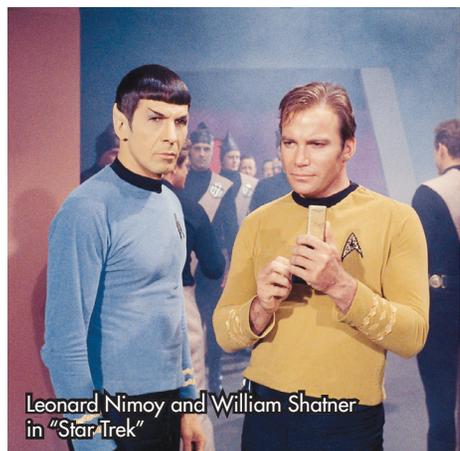

"The business is growing with restaurants, nationwide shipping, automated cake vending and more," a news release from A&E describes. "[While] baking thousands of cakes, Italian specialty desserts and cookies each day, while also creating the most brain-busting, innovative cakes around," this new series takes Buddy and the bakery to a whole new level. During this first season, Carlo's welcomes high-tier clientele, crafting massive cakes for Neil Patrick Harris' 50th birthday, the 20th anniversary of "Wicked" on Broadway, the 50th anniversary of Secretariat's legendary win, and even a massive anniversary cake for Caesars Palace in Las Vegas.

With sugar, spice and everything nice, Home.Made.Nation welcomes Buddy to the family, as "Legends of the Fork" and "Buddy Valastro's Cake Dynasty" premiere back-to-back, Saturday, Nov. 11, on A&E.

Leonard Nimoy and William Shatner in "Star Trek"

BEST OUTER SPACE SERIES

"Space Angel" (syndicated, 1962-64): One of the most unique aspects of this animated series was the mouth movement by the characters – including eye-patched title hero Scott McCloud – that appeared to have real people's lips synchronized to the dialogue.

"Fireball XL5" (NBC, 1963-65): Also a favorite of many young viewers at the time, this adventure using the "Supermarionation" process of producers Gerry and Sylvia Anderson followed Colonel Steve Zodiac and his team on their World Space Patrol assignments.

"Lost in Space" (CBS, 1965-68): Admittedly, its special effects and "monsters" are primitive by today's standards ... but back in the day, creator-producer Irwin Allen's saga of the marooned Robinson family captured the imagination of many a sci-fi fan of all ages.

"Star Trek" (NBC, 1966-69): Of course, there have been a number of spinoffs, but we'll let the show on which it all started represent the whole franchise for purposes of this list. It's redundant to say how influential and revered the Gene Roddenberry-mentored series has been, particularly since devotees continue to celebrate – passionately – the original missions of the starship Enterprise nearly six decades later.

"Space: 1999" (syndicated, 1975-77): The aforementioned Anderson spouses were creators, writers and producers on this drama that featured then-married "Mission: Impossible" alums Martin Landau and Barbara Bain as two occupants of Moonbase Alpha, thrust deep into the galaxy by a thermonuclear explosion.

"Quark" (NBC, 1977-78): Created by veteran humorist Buck Henry, this genre spoof took shots at numerous other outer-space-set projects, with Richard Benjamin in the title role of a sanitation vessel's commander.

"Battlestar Galactica" (ABC, 1978-79): Again, we'll let the original version speak for the franchise ... since even though the reboot many years later was much more complex and psychological, the initial saga of mankind's survivors against the sinister Cylons was an effective sci-fi adventure in its own right (replete with special effects by Oscar-winning "Star Wars" veteran John Dykstra).

“Desperately Seeking Soulmate: Escaping Twin Flames Universe” (Available Now)

This three-part docuseries unveils the dark truths behind the Twin Flames Universe, an alleged online love cult. As journalist Alice Hines looks for a new story, her attention is drawn toward the wacky and weird fringes of internet culture. Her research takes her into love and romance and the world of spiritual communities when she comes across the Twin Flames Universe. “Godzilla vs. Kong” (Available Now)

One will stand and one will fall in the latest entry of the epic MonsterVerse franchise as two of film's most monstrous icons collide in battle. Following mysterious attacks by Godzilla, the humans send King Kong to the depths of Hollow Earth. Kong's goal: to acquire the power source for a weapon to subdue the King of Monsters.

“Renfield” (Available Now)

From director Chris McKay, this horror/comedy film stars Nicolas Cage as the infamous (and notoriously difficult) Conde Dracula — a bloodthirsty vampire who has been stuck in an asylum for decades. His henchman and fellow inmate, Renfield (Nicholas Hoult), has spent decades waiting on Dracula hand and foot (and tooth), but now longs for a life away from the Count and his dangerously daunting demands.

“Spectre” (Available Now)

After preventing a bombing attempt in Mexico, a message left by his previous boss leads James Bond to uncover a secret criminal organization known as SPECTRE. Unfortunately for Bond, this discovery gets the notice of SPECTRE's leader, Franz Oberhauser, who stops at nothing to make Bond's life a living hell. However, this may not be the first time SPECTRE has interfered in Bond's life.

Q: When will “Home Economics” be back? – Jeff Stern, Manchester, N.H.

A: Unfortunately for the cast, crew and fans of that sitcom about grown siblings, it won't be ... at least not on ABC. A network decision on renewing the show for a fourth season was delayed during the entertainment industry strikes, and it ultimately resulted in a cancellation.

The options on the regular cast members reportedly were extended during that time — signaling that another round for the show, on which Topher Grace led the acting ensemble, was seriously under consideration. However, Michael Colton (one of its creators and executive producers, whose family experiences inspired it) has said that he hopes to find another home for it.

Q: Why did Turner Classic Movies show “A Christmas Story” in September, rather than wait until the end of the year? – Laura Gates, via e-mail

A: That doesn't mean the popular 1983 film won't turn up again during the holidays, and it surely will get its traditional 24-hour marathon on Christmas Eve and Christmas Day on fellow WarnerMedia-owned networks TBS and TNT.

The Jean Shepherd-inspired saga of young Ralphie (played by Peter Billingsley) and his quest to own a Red Ryder air rifle suited TCM's needs in September for a series of “Coming of Age”-themed movies about young people, which is why it had the extra showing then. However, December logically remains the customary month for its television return, so fans shouldn't worry that it won't still be getting that treatment soon.

Q: How many seasons has “Grey's Anatomy” been on the air? – Patricia Carr, Fairfield, Calif.

A: The season coming up will be the 20th for the ABC medical drama, which also will be the first fully without title star Ellen Pompeo as a cast regular ... or almost fully, since she'll be unseen, still providing narration for the show. Also continuing will be the firehouse-themed spinoff “Station 19,” which will be entering its seventh season on ABC. Cast crossovers between the two series are likely to continue, provided that the actors' schedules can accommodate their working on both dramas.
