Joey Graziadei as seen in "The Golden Bachelor," also on ABC.

Back to 'Bach': Joey Graziadei named 28th 'Bachelor'

Bachelor Nation has a new idol in Joey Graziadei. First introduced to the franchise in Season 20 of "The Bachelorette," the 28-year-old is back for a second chance at love when Season 28 of "The Bachelor" premieres Monday, Jan. 22, on ABC.

A teaching tennis professional from Koloa, Hawaii, Graziadei first melted hearts on television with his near-winning stint in Charity Lawson's season of "The Bachelorette." One of two final matches for the leading lady, Graziadei left the show broken-hearted — and took the sympathies of many viewers with him — when Lawson chose Dotun Olubeko over him, leaving Graziadei as the season's runner-up.

But the heartthrob wasn't without prospective partners for long — during the "After the Show" special for the Season 27 finale, "The Bachelor" host Jesse Palmer introduced Graziadei to Lea Cayanan, a fellow Hawaiian and future contestant this season. While Cayanan was brought on the aftershow as somewhat of a teaser for things to come, Graziadei hardly has to choose someone from his state — some 32 women await him, as announced by ABC on Sept. 16 of this year.

Among them are Zoe Antona (24), Rachel Nance (26), Allison Hollinger (26), Autumn Waggoner (26), Chandler Dewgard (24), Edwina Dorber (25), Evalin Clark (28), Erika Cardenas (25), Jennifer Tran (25), Katelyn DeBacker (26), Jessica Edwards (24), Kyra Brusch (26), Kelsey Anderson (25), Lauren Hollinger (28), Lexi Young (30), Marlena Haddad (26), Starr Skyler (25), Sandra Rabadi (26) and Sydney Gordon (28).

The youngest contestants this season are 23-year-olds Lea Cayanan, Taylor Wiens and Talyah Jackson. Los Angeles native Kelsey Toussant, meanwhile, joins Samantha Hale and Madina Alam at the top of the age range, all at 31.

Most notable among the women vying for the new bachelor's affections, however, would likely have to be 25-year-old Lincoln, Nebraska, beauty queen Samantha Washington. The daughter of retired NFL safety Brian Washington, who ended his career with the Kansas City Chiefs in 1996 after eight years in the league, Samantha has NFL ties herself, as a professional cheerleader for the Miami Dolphins. Looks like this potential connection could be rife with sports conversation.

Graziadei also flaunts some of his Canadian ties this season, bringing cameras north of the border to Montreal. Rumor has it Season 28 also filmed at Alberta's Fairmont Jasper Park last October — a site that was previously arranged for Season 17 of "The Bachelorette" but was canned due to ongoing travel restrictions (presumably due to COVID-19) imposed by the Canadian government.

Similarly, Graziadei's roster of potential matches also includes three Canadians: Maria Georgas (29) of Kleinburg, Ontario; Natalie Crepeau (25) of Sudbury, Ontario; and Chrissa Perez (26) of Abbotsford, British Columbia.

South of the Great White North, cameras continued rolling, capturing tons of footage in Agoura Hills, California, a quaint town in the Santa Monica Mountains where several seasons of "The Bachelor" and "The Bachelorette" have previously been filmed. Punctuated by stately mansions, high-end restaurants, well-groomed parks and a lively nightlife — particularly where live music is concerned — Agoura Hills is the perfect location to bring a date ... or 32 dates, as it were.

When Agoura Hills becomes old hat, though, the private jet awaits to take Graziadei and his chosen guests abroad: Mdina, Malta; Tulum, Mexico; and Marbella, Spain, are all on the flight plan in Season 28. But for hardcore "Bachelor" fans, it's not just about the places visited, it's about the bachelor himself.

According to an August 2023 news release from ABC, "Graziadei is looking for a life partner who is outgoing, caring and shares his love for adventure and exploring the outdoors."

The article also notes that "he loves hiking, surfing and ending his days watching the sunset," but it makes sure to mention that "he has much more love to give, and the only thing missing is someone with whom to share his life."

As the newest bachelor, Graziadei hopes to find all of this in one lucky, hopeful contestant. Having already been prepared to propose at least once in his life — to former Bachelorette Lawson — seasoned fans already know that the Season 28 star is ready to find the one and focus on their future together. A child of divorce himself (Graziadei shared the story of his father's coming out and his parents' subsequent split with Lawson and Palmer during the "Bachelorette" aftershow in August), Graziadei has since wished for someone with whom he can truly be himself, but he never expected it would lead to such a dramatic televised journey.

"This is crazy," Graziadei told Palmer following "The Bachelorette" Season 20's final rose ceremony. "I never expected this at all. I never knew this is what my life was turning into."

Tune in to find out what happens next for Graziadei and stay tuned as his romantic journey continues throughout Season 28 of "The Bachelor," premiering Monday, Jan. 22, on ABC.

Hot commodity: 'Superhot' searches for world's hottest pepper

From director Brian Skope ("Ranch to Table," 2021), "Superhot: The Spicy World of Pepper People" premieres Monday, Jan. 22, on Hulu.

This limited, 10-episode docuseries brings the heat, narrated by funnyman Ben Schwartz ("Parks and Recreation"), who takes viewers on a quest for the spiciest of spices. "Superhot" is a wild ride into the Spicy World of Pepper People — the self-proclaimed chili heads who have taken the chili pill and want to find out how deep the rabbit hole goes," Hulu describes.

"This 10-part series goes deep into a subculture fueled by spice: from the elite growers who strive to create new superhots to the chili eaters who chase the endorphin rush of consuming them. Along the way, one legendary chili head sets out on a quest to answer the spiciest of questions." The platform asks: "is there a pepper that can challenge the world's hottest?"

"Pepperheads" will know that the Carolina Reaper held this spicy title for years, only to be recently dethroned by the tongue-burning chili Pepper X for 2023's Guinness World Records. According to the records, the Reaper pepper clocked in at 1.64 million Scoville heat units — SHU, a measurement of the pungency or "spiciness" of a pepper's heat — while this new, green, bell-shaped pepper boasted an impressively hot 2.69 million SHU.

Developed by American chemist Wilbur Scoville in 1912, this measurement — the Scoville scale — aims to classify the concentration of capsaicinoids, which are said to cause the heat that comes off peppers. While subjective, Scoville's scale is derived from the average capsaicinoid sensitivity people experience while eating specific hot chilis. The average jalapeno pepper, for example, scores an average between 3,000 and 8,000 on the Scoville scale, meaning this new pepper is almost 900 times hotter than its more common cousin.

Both the Carolina Reaper and Pepper X were grown by Puckerbutt Pepper Company founder Ed Currie on his farm in South Carolina. According to an article published by CNN: "Ed cultivated Pepper X on his farm for over 10 years, cross-breeding it with some of his hottest peppers to increase its capsaicin content."

Whether it remains the highest mark on Scoville's scale — well, "Superhot" plans to find out.

From paprika to jalapeno poppers, to Currie's Pepper X, explore a world of explosive flavor when all 10 episodes of "Superhot: The Spicy World of Pepper People" make their streaming debut Monday, Jan. 22, on Hulu.

BEST TOM HANKS MOVIES

Tom Hanks and Daryl Hannah in "Splash"

"Splash" (1984): Hanks made a big splash himself in the comedy that made him a movie star, casting him as an ordinary guy in love with a mermaid (Daryl Hannah).

"Nothing in Common" (1986): Showing his dramatic side as well as the more playful one that made him a star, Hanks excels as an advertising whiz who has trouble navigating his parents (Jackie Gleason, Eva Marie Saint).

"Big" (1988): The childlike spirit Hanks exudes is crucial to this comedy about a youngster who gets his wish to grow up overnight.

"A League of Their Own" (1992): "There's no crying in baseball!" Hanks delivers an iconic movie line as the manager of an all-female baseball team.

"Sleepless in Seattle" (1993): The template for Hanks' work as a romantic leading man marked one of his memorable teamings with Meg Ryan.

"Philadelphia" (1993): Oscar came calling the first time for Hanks for his fully felt portrayal of a lawyer with AIDS suing his former firm. Turner Classic Movies shows the drama Wednesday, Jan. 24.

"Forrest Gump" (1994): Hanks earned his second Oscar - in as many years - as he took the iconic title character through encounters with others real and fictional.

"Apollo 13" (1995): Hanks is compelling as Jim Lovell, one of the three astronauts performing a mission that almost turned tragic.

"That Thing You Do!" (1996): Even more as writer-director than co-star, Hanks paints a warm portrait of a fictitious '60s rock band's rise and fall.

"Saving Private Ryan" (1998): Under Oscar winner Steven Spielberg's direction, Hanks is the perfect everyman in representing a U.S.

soldier in charge of others amid the horrors of World War II.

"The Green Mile" (2000): Hanks does stunning work in Stephen King's story of a prison guard deeply affected by a death-row convict (Michael Clarke Duncan) possessed of a unique ability.

"Cast Away" (2000): Considering his sole co-star for much of the film is a volleyball, Hanks' talent is invaluable to this saga of a courier-company executive stranded on an island by a plane crash.

"Toy Story 3" (2010): He may have been a star of it in voice only, as toy cowboy Woody, but Hanks was part of what is sure to remain considered one of the most affecting animated films ever ... all the more remarkable for a franchise on its third round.

It's been better 'Late' than never for Stephen Colbert hosts subbing for him, it's become the norm for the hosts whose names are in the shows' titles to remain the ones seen behind the desks, new episodes or not. There's a consistency that comes from that, and with the rivalry as it is between Kimmel, CBS's Colbert and NBC's Jimmy Fallon — friends though they are off-camera — that's very important to maintaining audience loyalty in an age where there's already sufficient viewership fragmentation.

Late-night viewers were accustomed to seeing repeats for much of 2023, given the Hollywood strikes that prevented production of new episodes for some time. It's always preferable to have something fresh to present, but in a situation such as Colbert and the surgery he needed for his appendix (which came after another bout with COVID-19 for him), life sometimes overrides the best intentions professionally.

Q: I recently saw “Youngblood” with Rob Lowe and Patrick Swayze on cable. Didn't they make another movie together? – Danielle Scott, Colorado Springs, Colo.

A: They certainly did, and it's widely regarded as a modern classic. Three years before they made the 1986 hockey drama “Youngblood,” the two actors were in the ensemble cast of the Francis Ford Coppola-directed drama “The Outsiders,” based on the popular young-adult novel by S.E. Hinton. They played brothers in the story of Oklahoma youths trying to find their way in their socially separated locality.

“The Outsiders” is famous as a launching pad for many young talents of that time. Also in the group were Tom Cruise, Emilio Estevez, Matt Dillon, Ralph Macchio, C. Thomas Howell and Diane Lane. It's interesting that an appeal from a Fresno, California, school librarian and many of the school's students inspired Coppola to consider making the movie; a short-lived Fox TV-series version followed in 1990.
