County to pursue shoring up oceanfront homes with dredged sand

Commissioners extend local state of emergency, ask for patience with debris removal

By Jennifer Logue

The Board of County Commissioners extended the local state of emergency during its Oct. 18 meeting, at which time commissioners approved pursuing efforts to relocate sand dredged from the St. Augustine inlet to protect endangered homes along State Road A1A.

In a report to county commissioners, County Administrator Michael Wanchick reviewed emergency management and storm recovery efforts before recommending that the local state of emergency be extended, which the board unanimously approved. Discussion then turned to the massive erosion experienced along the coastline that left numerous oceanfront homes in peril.

Wanchick presented a proposal to explore coordinating with the Army Corps of Engineers, Department of Environmental Protection and Florida Inland Navigation District (FIND) to redirect sand dredged from the St. Augustine inlet to the north beaches. That project, Wanchick said, was already approved and ready to begin construction in November, with the dredged material slated to be disposed of on Anastasia Island.

“Rather than send that stuff to an uninhabited island, we would send it to the north where we have this critical need,” Wanchick said. “That’s not a permanent long-term solution, but it’s the most viable solution we have available right now that could be quickly delivered in the next month to protect those homes until a more permanent solution is identified.”

Unlike other county renourishment projects, Wanchick noted, this project would differ in that the sand would be placed on private property, requiring the county to secure easements and permits from each individual homeowner. In addition, County Commissioner Bill McClure cautioned that doing so might negatively impact property owners’ home insurance policies.

“When you accept this (sand) because it’s been deemed a hazard area, that materially affects your insurance policy,” McClure said. “Be very aware, it effectively nullifies it. That’s an unintended consequence. Your personal property can be affected in that case.”

Wanchick acknowledged that there were a number of questions and issues

Save Guana Now fundraiser nets $2,000

Organization raising money to fight development of property near GTM Reserve

By Carrie Resch

An Oct. 15 fundraiser for “Save Guana Now” raised approximately $2,000 for the grassroots group’s campaign to preserve the 99-acre Outpost for which a housing development is proposed.

Held at a log cabin located next to the Outpost on Neck Road, the fundraiser was originally scheduled for earlier in the month but had to be rescheduled due to Hurricane Matthew. Event organizers were pleased with the turnout.

“It was a perfect evening and many neighborhoods were represented at the party, with everyone sharing a passion for saving the Outpost from development,” organizer Nicole Crosby said. “Guests took turns walking out onto the dock where they could face south and view the entire shoreline of the Outpost property that they’re fighting to save.”

Save Guana Now Co-Founder Gary Coulliette provided the entertainment – singing and playing his guitar. Guests were each asked to bring a dish so the maximum amount of funds could be raised for the cause. Supporters dined on a variety of homemade dishes from smoked ribs to Key lime pie made with homegrown limes.

The event also marked the kick-off of the Save Guana Now bumper stickers and yard signs campaign which feature photographs of animals of Guana preserve taken by local photographer Craig O’Neal.

Located near the Guana Tolomato Matanzas National Estuarine Research Reserve, the Outpost is situated at the end of Neck Road in Ponte Vedra, adjacent to the GTM Research Reserve. The land is currently owned by Gate Petroleum.

response to a zoning application filed by the Ponte Vedra Corp., a subsidiary of Gate Petroleum, in July.

The property’s current designation is conservation land, but land owners would like to change the property to residential in order to develop it. The proposed project, “Vista Tranquila,” is a 77-home development that the Save Guana Now group opposes due to concerns over its environmental impact and the amount of traffic such a development would generate.

The group’s primary objective right now, according to Crosby, is to get as many bumper stickers on cars as possible to help raise awareness.

The bumper stickers have a suggested donation of $5 apiece and can be ordered online at www.saveguananow.org/bumper-stickers.

This was the first fundraiser for the group; plans for a second fundraiser are already in progress as well as plans for “mini-fundraising events” such as nature hikes or food truck events.

to be addressed before the plan could be implemented, but said the plan was the only viable option currently available to address the threat to oceanfront properties.

“I guess falling into the ocean would also affect your insurance rates, too,” he observed.

During the public comment period, several residents raised the issue of building a seawall, which currently is deemed the responsibility of the individual homeowners. That presents a logistical problem if each homeowner attempts to construct his own wall, contended Robert Franskousky of the South Ponte Vedra-Vilano Beach Preservation Association.

ent contractors out on the beach trying to put in place all these different chains of walls that are all designed by different engineers?” he asked commissioners. “We absolutely have got to have government involvement or government design of a wall.”

Other residents, however, expressed concern about encouraging homeowners to rebuild their homes in an environmentally sensitive area.

“I’m worried about the taxpayers having to pick up the tab and subsidize these buildings in these areas,” Ellen Whitmer said. “This is really not wise because these storms...they come and when they come property is destroyed. I’m in sympathy to these people, but you don’t need to build on the beach.”

After public comment, commissioners unanimously approved pursuing the dredge relocation project.

Debris clean-up

Several county commissioners noted that the vast majority of calls they’re now receiving are from residents asking when storm debris will be collected. Wanchick said that the county is “focusing very intently” on debris collection, noting that more than 30,000 cubic yards of debris had already been collected. Given that Hurricane Matthew impacted Florida statewide, however, St. Johns County is in competition with other communities for FEMA-approved contractors, he said.

“It’s important to remember we have a county of 610 square miles,” said Wanchick, saying that he anticipated the county would have more than 20 crews in the field by this week.

“We understand that the only debris that really matters to most people is the debris in front of their own home,” he said. “(The crews) are working as hard as they possibly can. We just ask people if they’ll be patient in that regard.”

Trump makes case to First Coast voters

By Jennifer Logue

With a pledge to “drain the swamp” of Washington corruption, Republican presidential candidate Donald J. Trump took his case to First Coast voters Tuesday, traversing the northern half of the state in an effort to shore up local support and offset anticipated Democratic strength in South Florida.

A 3 p.m. rally at the St. Augustine Amphitheatre attracted an overflow crowd of approximately 5,000 Trump supporters, who were first greeted by U.S. Rep. Ron DeSantis and former New York City Mayor Rudy Giuliani – both of whom stressed the importance of keeping Hillary Clinton out of the White House. DeSantis, for example, said Clinton’s Supreme Court picks would forever alter the face of the nation.

“If we end up allowing Hillary Clinton to replace Justice Antonin Scalia with a liberal Supreme Court justice, we will have a majority of five lockstep liberal justices and they will run roughshod over our Second Amendment rights, they will undermine religious freedom and they will empower the bureaucracy...so private citizens are not going to have a chance to win in the courts,” DeSantis said. “She wants judicial activists who aren’t going to follow the Constitution but will legislate from the bench.”

In contrast, DeSantis said, Trump would appoint justices who would adhere to the Constitution, not reinterpret it to suit a political agenda.

“Ultimately,” he said, “this is about the type of constitutional system we’re going to have.”

Giuliani, meanwhile, said that the first half of 2016 saw a 78 percent increase in the number of police officers who had been shot – a statistic he laid squarely at the White House doorstep.

“Do you know where the disrespect starts – at the top!” Giuliani said. “You can’t allow that disrespect without having a breakdown of the social order.”

Moreover, the people who are hurt most by this breakdown, he continued, are the poor.

“The people who claim to be for the poor, they’re a bunch of phonies,” Giuliani said. “They’ve been claiming to help the poor for 40, 50 years and what have they done? More welfare, more food stamps, more welfare and finally Obamacare.

“It comes out of this liberal, left-wing thinking, which is it’s good to make people dependent. No, it’s not,” Giuliani said. “Do you know what’s a good thing to do? Give people a good education and give them an opportunity for a good job. That’s what Donald Trump will do.”

Shortly after 3 p.m., Trump himself took the stage to a standing ovation and chants of “Trump! Trump! Trump!”

“In case you haven’t heard, we’re winning,” said Trump, referencing a new national poll he said showed him with a two-point lead over Clinton. “What we have is a movement like they’ve never seen before.”

Trump said that numerous polls showing him trailing Clinton reflected efforts by the mainstream media and the Clinton campaign to suppress voter turnout by oversampling Democrats, thereby creating a false perception that Clinton holds a commanding lead. He referenced the recent revelation that an organization led by former DNC Chairman and Clinton ally Terry McAuliffe gave nearly $500,000 to the political campaign of Dr. Jill McCabe, whose husband – FBI Deputy Director Andrew McCabe – oversaw the investigation into Clinton’s private email server.

Trump noted that while Gen. James Cartwright faces prison for disclosing classified information to a reporter, Clinton faced no charges for sending top secret, classified information over a private insecure email server.

“How dare they take a highly respected four-star general and destroy him, but Hillary Clinton is allowed to lie over and over and over again?” Trump asked. “The fact that she’s even allowed to run (for president) means our system is rigged. She has to be held accountable.”

Trump then proceeded to detail his recently announced “Contract with the American Voter” – a list of specific actions and policy changes he pledged to take during his first 100 days in office. In addition to promising to end Obamacare and cut funding to sanctuary cities, he pledged to initiate a constitutional amendment to impose term limits on congress. Other proposals include renegotiating NAFTA, withdrawing from the Trans-Pacific Partnership, and canceling climate change payments to the United Nations in order to reallocate the funding to fix America’s water and environmental infrastructure. Several proposals addressed what Trump calls Washington’s “rigged” system, with proposals aimed at curbing insider influence, such as implementing a lifetime ban on former White House staffers lobbying on behalf of foreign governments.

Such changes are necessary, Trump said, to “drain the swamp” of Washington political corruption.

“I’m not a politician and I never wanted to be a politician,” he said. “But I could not stand by and watch what was happening to our great country.

“On Nov. 8, we can wipe away the lawless legacy and create such an unbelievable American future.”

Bill Clinton campaigns for Hillary at Jacksonville early voting rally

By Jennifer Logue

Former President Bill Clinton headlined an early voting rally Oct. 21 in Jacksonville, calling on local residents to support his wife’s platform that includes addressing everything from climate change to universal access to broadband cable service.

An estimated 1,000 people attended the rally at the Jacksonville Public Library, where Florida Democrats attempted to fire up the party base before the Oct. 24 start of early voting.

Congresswoman Debbie Wasserman Schultz urged attendees to rally their neighbors to support Clinton’s candidacy against Republican nominee Donald Trump.

“We can’t let that bigoted, misogynistic, intemperate, unqualified, narcissistic nasty man...anywhere near the White House,” she said. “Make sure we put Florida in the blue column for Hillary Clinton.”

Bill Clinton, meanwhile, said that the “good old days” some Republicans long for weren’t all that great.

“I’m a white southerner,” Clinton said. “I was born at the end of World War II into a state with an income that was barely half the national average. I remember when America was sort of great – sort of like they’re talking about. But it wasn’t so hot. It wasn’t so great to be African American or Mexican American. Gay people were off in the closet somewhere. I think America’s better today and I think it’s gonna be better tomorrow.”

Hillary Clinton’s agenda, her husband said, includes making coastal communities in Florida less vulnerable to climate change and making sure that “every family in every community has access to affordable broadband.”

Her infrastructure plan, he added, is projected to create 10 million jobs.

“We’re gonna have a record number of people vote,” Clinton said, “and I want you to promise yourselves that you’re not going to pass a living soul between now and election day to be part of a truly historic triumph for American freedom.”

As founder, president and CEO of United Rail, Inc., Norwin Voegeli oversees a railway services company that provides state-of-the-art technologies to clients in the United States and around the world. With headquarters in Jacksonville and a branch office in Toronto, United Rail was recently ranked No. 6 on the Jacksonville Business Journal's list of Northeast Florida's 50 Fastest Growing Companies, with an average growth of 234 percent over the past three years. A native of Switzerland, he lives in Ponte Vedra Beach with his wife and two children.

Norwin Voegeli

By Jennifer Logue

What products and services does United Rail provide?

In addition to offering signal-engineering services, United Rail develops and maintains our own products like the Sentinel Solutions™. We also represent international rail technology suppliers and provide consulting services. With an extensive background in the United States and Canada combined with our international experience, we offer a unique service to our customers and business partners.

How did you come to found the company?

Starting my own business was a long-term dream. After extensive international experience and six years in North America with a large international company, I saw the perfect opportunity to begin. I worked out a business plan, quit my job and just jumped in, starting out of my house.

What brought you to Ponte Vedra Beach?

In late 2005, I was assigned to the United States by a large international company. After working in the headquarters in New York for a few years, I was sent to Jacksonville to start a new office. As a family, we carefully and diligently did our research and decided that living in Ponte Vedra Beach would be a great fit for us: great schools for our kids, a safe environment for the entire family, close to the ocean and great people living in Ponte Vedra Beach. We still feel that we live in paradise.

You've worked on projects around the world. What are some of the more innovative transportation systems you've seen?

I have seen very simple systems in countries like Vietnam, very advanced systems with a high density of trains in Europe and Asia, and high-tech systems like the Maglev in Shanghai. The U.S. rail market is by far the largest market in the world with respect to track miles. Every market is adapted to the needs of a region or a country. Technologies may differ, but they all share one overall goal: to make rail traffic the safest form of transportation.

Are there significant differences between American rail systems and those around the world?

In America, we do have a clear segregation between freight and passenger transportation. I would say these are two completely different markets with their own tracks in most cases, their own standard organizations and their own trade shows. This is different than in most parts of the world, where government-owned railroad companies operate both freight and passenger service in a mixed-traffic environment. In other parts of the world, high-speed trains are very advanced and use a highly sophisticated technology.

Are there any promising new developments with regard to U.S. mass transit on the horizon?

I see a lot of development in the rail sector, especially in the mass transit segment. Existing systems will be extended, new systems will be built, and old equipment will be refurbished and/or replaced with new technology. American rail transportation is going through a Renaissance, providing tremendous opportunities for companies like ours. In particular, light rail systems in and around cities, new street car applications and heavy rail systems (subway) are becoming very popular. In large cities, this is the only answer to the increasingly problematic street traffic.

How do you enjoy spending your free time?

I love to spend time with my wife Andrea and my kids, Fabienne and Noel. I'm a very active person and like kite surfing, powered paragliding, running, and road and mountain biking. I enjoy music, playing guitar, snowboarding, fast cars, scuba diving and much more. I also love to travel: So far I have visited 42 countries, but there is still so much more to see and explore.

Plantation celebrates opening of newly renovated golf course

Ribbon cutting marks completion of yearlong, multimillion dollar makeover

By Jennifer Logue

New greens, state of the art traps, two new chipping areas and an enhanced practice area are just a few of improvements golfers will find at the newly renovated Plantation golf course, which formally reopened for play last weekend.

Plantation residents celebrated the completion of the $7 million makeover Oct. 22 with a breakfast and ribbon-cutting ceremony attended by PGA Tour golfer and Plantation member Billy Horschel.

“I think people are going to enjoy it,” said Horschel, praising the redesigned course for its clean lines and the Plantation staff for their tradition of keeping the course in top condition. “There’s no doubt it will be the best conditioned course in the entire state.”

While at first hesitant to become too involved in the course’s redesign, Horschel said course architect Greg Letsche welcomed his input.

“Greg wanted me to be involved to give my perspective as a PGA Tour golfer and from having seen thousands of courses,” Horschel said, adding that he was particularly excited that Plantation members will have access to the enhanced practice area.

“Now we can work on all facets of the game,” he said.

Plantation General Manager Rob Schlingmann and President Steve Booma praised Letsche for his work in revamping the course, which features a number of significantly redesigned holes. The ninth hole, for example, now plays left to right and positions the green along the water’s edge, with bunkers supporting the left side of the fairway. The 12th hole, meanwhile, has been recreated with less slope on the green, which now has a dramatic new look achieved by removing the former bunker peninsula.

Letsche stressed, however, that the multimillion-dollar upgrades extend beyond the aesthetic.

“The drainage was key,” he said. “(Before) there were times that because of the rainfall you had to keep the carts on the path.”

So successful were the drainage improvements, Booma noted, that the new course withstood the onslaught of Hurricane Matthew.

“Rob (Schlingmann) hunkered down in the clubhouse during the entire storm and reported he couldn’t see any standing water,” Booma said. “Fifteen inches of rain and no standing water – that’s just amazing.”

The golf course improvements build upon The Plantation’s other recent upgrades, including the newly renovated Beach Club and the spring opening of Plantation Commons, which features a aged them to capitalize on the newly designed course’s features by changing up their game.

“This course has so many different options – it’s not like every time you play it, it’s the same course,” he said. “I may be biased, but I think you’ve got a winner.”

Costumes, creativity and crafting were among the themes at the annual Beaches Town Center Fall Festival and Costume Parade, held Oct. 22 in Neptune Beach.

The annual event, which takes place on First Street between Lemon Street and Orange Street, drew hundreds of participants. Children, adults, pets – and sometimes entire families – were decked out for the event. Halloween costumes ranged from both store bought to handmade. Attendees had the opportunity to trick or treat at participating Beaches Town Center shops and restaurants, take a ride on a trackless train, make Halloween-inspired crafts, play games and participate in a costume contest.

Volunteers from the Fletcher High School Interact Club manned the craft, game and refreshment tables, and Dance Trance sponsored a Zombie Dance Experience where Dance Trance dance instructors, decked out in zombie garb, taught the “Thriller” dance to anyone wishing to learn.

Jay and Beth Handline of Dance Trance lead the parade walk around the Beaches Town Center.

Florida/Georgia on our minds!

By Janet Westling
Contributing Editor

Welcome to our fall issue and the third anniversary of Sand Castles, a luxury, lifestyle and real estate seasonal section. Just over three years ago, we launched Sand Castles in the Ponte Vedra Recorder during one of North Florida's most exciting and fun weekends: the Florida/Georgia game in Jacksonville. We recently received a First Place Award for Best Cover design at the Community Papers of Florida conference attended by Publisher Susan Griffin!

An annual event that began in 1915, the Florida/Georgia game is often called the "world's largest cocktail party." The fans arrive early to this "destination game vacation "and experience our Southern hospitality as we roll out our welcome to our neighbors from the North! We have pointed this out before and it is worth repeating: Georgia is the #1 feeder state for real estate sales in Florida! We may be rivals on the field, but when the games are over Georgia residents enjoy our beautiful beaches, restaurants and lifestyle!

Our "market watch," written by Nocatee Watson Realty Corp. Broker Phil Lamb, delves into our local market after the hurricane with input on how the storm affected real estate throughout the beach communities. Fourteen of our top agents, meanwhile, share their stories about some amazing properties currently on the market in our country club communities around the First Coast! According to a Wall Street Journal report, our market has stayed steady and North Florida remains not only "Florida's best kept secret" but an attractive real estate investment.

Our First Coast is a wonderful place to live and with Florida/Georgia on our minds we invite our visitors and residents to experience and enjoy our vibrant community. In this issue of Sand Castles, I write a story on entertaining Harbour Island style! This prestigious yacht club community is the only deep water marina in Ponte Vedra Beach! Chef Michael Ayres helps us celebrate this weekend with some great tailgating recipes he is preparing for guest and members of Sawgrass Country Club. Mother/daughter duo Betty Lemons and Laura Todd Haney share how their fashion company "The Scott Collection" helps us get ready for the games. And Elaine Caldwell, designer and owner of Luxury for Less, shows us how to stage the perfect fall setting for watching the game at home.

Our fall season is also packed with celebrations and exciting speakers. In early December, Academy Award-winning actress Goldie Hawn will be the featured speaker at the 40th anniversary Art & Antiques Show benefiting Wolfson Children's Hospital.

Our home is our castle and at the beaches it is our castle in the sand. From palm trees to sand dunes, golf courses to resort living, Jacksonville, Ponte Vedra Beach and the Beaches communities offer the most desirable real estate in Northeast Florida!

MARKET WATCH

How will hurricane impact real estate sales?

By Phil Lamb

Watson Realty Corp.

Hopefully you and your family are safe from Hurricane Matthew's unbelievable power. Despite the wind, rain and damage, we are a strong community that will rebuild what was ruined.

As life returns to normal, the imminent fall season will bring good times and surprises.

As a managing broker for Watson Realty Corp., I am often asked how hurricanes affect home sales or the future of real estate. Northeast Florida and its beaches will always be a huge attraction. With its beautiful weather, great job opportunities and professional sports surrounded by endless enjoyable waterways, Florida and its real estate market will suffer only a short-lived impact from the hurricane.

For a brief period, however, it will affect home closings. Some homes will need another inspection for any damage before it's sold to new home buyers. Many homes were scheduled to close during Hurricane Mathew, and now may be delayed due to inspections.

If repairs are done, make sure to hire licensed and qualified professionals to complete the project. Natural disasters will bring out the best and unfortunately, the worst, of people.

Stay aware of people posing as contractors to pick up extra work and price gouging across Northeast Florida. These businesses do not represent the majority of hard working people across our great state. I am not advocating fear, but caution.

Homes that are priced correctly are selling well in our area. At Watson Realty Corp., we have a high standard to ensure your home is priced accurately by providing market analysis.

Our goal is to sell your home for top dollar in the shortest amount of time possible. It's not about getting the agent another listing. It is all about you and your home!

With Hurricane Matthew behind us, hopefully brighter days are ahead.

Mediterra: A hidden treasure

By Clare Berry

What condominium is close to the beach and the Guana Tolomato Matanzas Reserve, land-planned so that the ancient oaks that dot the property were preserved, and unique in that the buildings include no more than four units? If you know it's Mediterra, congratulations! Someone let you in on the secret!

This is a very different approach to condominium living. Here, you have the feeling of a single-family home. These condominium homes are more than 2,700 square feet, with private 2-car garages that provide entrance directly into each unit.

Nestled on a beautiful Old Florida property, seven Mediterranean-style structures are positioned around the natural beauty of the site. From the neighborhood, go east on Mickler Road to Ponte Vedra Boulevard and you will reach the old beach access, now enhanced with permanent parking and restrooms. Several residents of Mediterra enjoy the beach and the Atlantic Ocean every day; it's so close by foot, by bike or by car! Like to commune with nature? The north access to the GTM Reserve (also known as Guana State Park) is about three miles west, at South Roscoe Boule-

Bites of passage Tailgate recipes for success

By Chef Michael Ayres

For me, the allure of the fall season coming near is teeming with anticipation. It's football season, and although my excitement recently has not come from the hope that my particular rooting interests will do better than seasons past, it is fun to contemplate the real question: "What will we make for the tailgate?"

The American Southeast is the undisputed world champion of the art of the tailgate. It's a religion. There is no shortage of opinions on what is the best approach from strategy, aesthetic set up, and most importantly menu. I was not born into this magnificent culture, but I have for the better part of 24 years fortified myself into this culture of food and drink that surrounds the football season in the South. Being a food professional has given me the opportunity to pick the brains of the most seasoned tailgate master. The Zen-like approach that is taken can sometimes be overwhelming to the average weekend tailgater. I too, have done it all in my time: Low Country boils, competition-grade barbecue, burgers and everything in between. This year, I am trying some different approaches to the season: more preparation ahead of time and more time enjoying the tailgate, with little fuss.

Here are some recipes that will let you enjoy more of the family, friends and camaraderie that go along with the next game you attend.

Sweet Tea Brined Chicken Wings

This is a recipe that you can make ahead of time and bring in an insulated dish covered in foil, or simply grill off at the tailgate. Serve with celery sticks and buttermilk dressing for dipping.

Brine

- 2 family-size tea bags
- 1/2 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
- 1/4 cup kosher salt
- 1 small sweet onion, thinly sliced
- 1 lemon, thinly sliced
- 1 orange thinly sliced
- 3 garlic cloves, crushed

- 2 rosemary sprigs (thyme can be substituted)
- 1 tablespoon black peppercorns
- 4 cups ice cubes
- 1 (3 1/2-to 4-lb.) cut-up whole chicken

Preparation

Bring 4 cups water to just before boiling add tea bags. Remove from heat cover and steep 10 minutes. Discard tea bags. Add all ingredients, except chicken, cool and add ice stirring to dissolve salt and sugar stir in ice. (Mixture should be cold before adding chicken.) Brine 12 hours or up to 24 hours. Remove chicken from brine, pat dry, grill and serve.

Apple Candy Bombs

- 8 apples peeled
- Your favorite chocolate and caramel candies
- Aluminum foil

Preparation

Core all apples with an apple core tool without going all the way through the apple. You want to leave a half inch on the bottom so that you can stuff candy inside without it falling out of the bottom. Stuff with candy, (I like Snickers and Rolos for their melty goodness) and wrap with foil. Toss the apples on the bottom of the grill, next to the coals after you're done cooking the wings. Let them roast in the coals for 20 to 25 minutes, turning every 5 minutes or so. Let cool slightly and open to find a roasted apple with chocolate and caramel flowing through it. It is a neat thing to do for kids, big and small alike.

In between, you'll find convenient shopping and restaurants.

High ceilings, 8-foot doors and a chef's kitchen designed with quality (Wolf, including a gas cooktop, and Sub-Zero) and to entertain a crowd are just a few of the special features of this ground-floor condominium.

The owner installed disappearing Phantom screens on the back deck, so you can decide when you want to have a screen-enclosed space.

There's such a big back yard, the new owners could extend the pavers and more than double the size of the outdoor entertaining area.

You'll enjoy peaceful views from the 24' x 19' family room. The master bedroom has oversized walk-in closets and beautiful tile and granite details.

There's even a concrete block storeroom that could become a wine cellar! You'll be challenged to fill up all the cabinets in the kitchen.

Great lot, great location

By Barbara Maple
Watson Realty Corp.

Have it your way with this mid-century split-level charmer. Situated on the largest lot for sale in the sought-after “old” Ponte Vedra Beach area, this home offers all kinds of options. Move right in, renovate or tear down.

At just under $\frac{3}{4}$ of an acre at 0.73 acres, this lot has room for expansion, pools, gardens, ponds, waterfalls, play areas, dog areas and whatever else your dreams can conjure up. Conveniently located a couple of blocks from the ocean and a short jaunt to the Ponte Vedra Inn and Club or Ponte

Vedra Lodge and Club, the ultimate beach lifestyle awaits.

The interior showcases beautifully maintained classic, hardwood floors on the main level that includes a living/dining combo and updated kitchen with breakfast nook and wall of easterly facing windows to enjoy the sunrise over morning coffee. The lower level offers more space for the family or teens to gather away from the main parts of the home, with a cozy fireplace in the family room that comes with a pull-down movie screen and projector, and an office or 4th bedroom and powder room. Upstairs rounds out with 3 more bedrooms and 2 baths.

This house also has some notable features that most men only dream about – a 6-car garage and indoor workshop. A long driveway with circular turnaround adds more space for enjoying all the “toys.” And for anyone looking for a master suite on the main level, the original 2-car garage could be converted into an additional master, still leaving a 4-car garage. The possibilities abound!

In the backyard is a large two-tiered deck system great for cook-outs and parties, especially this time of year with perfect temperatures. Years of shrubbery and plant growth have created a very private, natural barrier from neighbors.

While grilling out, there is plenty of room for football games, soccer games, croquet, bocce ball and so much more.

This home has been lovingly maintained by the original and only owners. They spent many joyous years raising their kids, going to the beach and taking advantage of all Ponte Vedra Beach has to offer. It could be your turn next. Don’t miss out on the opportunity to take advantage of this well-priced deal in “old” Ponte Vedra Beach. And no HOA fees to boot!

This home is represented by Watson Realty Corp, listed with Barbara Maple and offered at $995,000.

Situated on a premium cul-de-sac location within the community, this home backs to the water, affording a desirable southeastern exposure. “Move in ready” does not begin to describe the exquisite updates and designer finishes of this distinctive pool home, which has been updated throughout with a floor to ceiling remodel over the past six years.

The 2010 kitchen remodel boasts all new wood custom cabinets in a beautiful dove white finish with soft closed doors and drawers. Cabinets feature additional hidden storage inside the corner appliance cabinets, pull out spice racks, hidden trash

Enjoy the incredible outdoor spaces through the large kitchen window above the cast iron farm sink.

The outdoor pool and spa are absolutely amazing, with travertine flooring, cypress wood ceilings on the covered patio, and a custom-built summer kitchen with granite countertops, Kegerator and mini fridge. The screened saltwater pool and spacious heated spa has a new pool pump as of 2016. There are multiple spaces to relax and dine poolside.

Additional features include wood flooring, wood stairs with white risers, smooth ceilings, custom moldings throughout, 2 fireplaces, ample lighting with dimmer controlled switches, high ceilings with accent features, large closets and 2 walk in attics. Hook up your smart phone or iPod to the Niles multi-zone speaker system that is operated throughout the downstairs and pool area. Structural updates include a 2007 roof with 50-year shingles, two AC units replaced in 2011 and 2013 and 2010 tankless gas water heater.

La Dolce Vita: Entertaining Harbour Island style

By Janet Westling

Contributing Editor

In 1994, developers Paul and Jerome Fletcher, along with the Jacksonville Symphony Orchestra and Benchmark Homes, presented the first home in Harbour Island to the public with the Jacksonville Symphony Designer Show house. NBC Today Host Willard Scott made a guest appearance live from the show house to viewers around the nation.

Today, Ponte Vedra's reputation as a popular resort is well known. The beauty and mystique of this charming seaside community offers residents the ultimate boating lifestyle!

When you cross the bridge into Harbour Island, you are entering one of Ponte Vedra Beach's most exclusive and unique neighborhoods.

Step inside 24578 Harbour View Drive and experience the marriage of luxury and comfort in this custom designed European inspired estate.

Launch your boat or yacht from your private 40-foot boat slip. See the beauty that surrounds you every day from the marsh to the waterway, just minutes to the beautiful Atlantic with five private oceanfront clubs. Feel the flow of the open floor plan from the soaring ceilings, Italian marble stone floors and generous living and dining areas. The craftsmanship is abundant in this 5,150 square-foot home with 4 bedrooms, 4 ½ baths, library, three balconies, enclosed courtyard and elevator.

Harbour Island is the only location in Ponte Vedra Beach that has a deep-water marina for your boat. If you live on Roscoe Boulevard, the Intracoastal is tidal, which limits what size boat you may have. In contrast, living on Harbour Island you are just limited by your dock size (which is usually 40 feet). The beautiful homes in Harbour Island are located directly on the Intracoastal Waterway, the marina or on the marsh. Living on the water and marsh is the ultimate Florida entertaining experience.

According to an article in Boat Test, "in the U.S., entertaining ranks second on most owners' list of reasons for having a boat." Entertain friends and family inside your home with a gorgeous dining room. Designed by June Terry, this dining room is spacious, sophisticated and simply stunning! Open to the living/family room and adjacent to the kitchen, the dining room can accommodate a seated dinner for up to 16. The custom buffet/wine library incorporates the use of wrought iron doors that complement the gorgeous wrought iron chandelier.

Enter the chef's kitchen where all the culinary magic occurs. The five-burner Dacor grille is the perfect place to cook a gourmet dinner. The amazing energy in this room is reinforced by the Feng Shui properties that this space reveals. The phrase Feng Shui means wind and water. The Chinese believe that the arrangement of objects in your home and the placement of rooms in your home affect your health, happiness and success. The expansive windows in the kitchen's gathering room overlook Cabbage Creek with soothing marsh and water views.

After dinner, retire to the master suite in the beautiful spa retreat. The master bathroom features custom cabinetry, with onyx countertops, a spa tub and a sensational shower. Before bedtime, tune in to the news of the day, with a glass of wine from your expansive seating area with spectacular views of the sun setting over the marsh.

La Dolce Vita! Enjoy the good life in Harbour Island. This home is represented by Berkshire HathawayHSFNR, listed By Janet Westling and Allison Ferebee, and is offered for $1,500,000.

Transitioning your house for fall

By Elaine Caldwell
Luxury for Less in Ponte Vedra

Our wardrobes are changing with the season and so should our home décor.

There is pumpkin spice everywhere and fall is just around the corner. We can put away our whites and brights, and make our homes cozier with several simple changes. So if you are ready to take your home's vibe from summer to fall, here are my ideas for easy enhancements.

Put fall wreaths on your front door: Autumn leaves or boxwoods are both great options. Magnolia Wreaths are quite nice as well. Seasonal hues that incorporate clarets, golden yellow, citrines, forest green or chocolate brown.

Put away summer pillows and put out deeper, richer tones. Navy or taupe both bring a fall feeling. Fall is a great time to break out a cozy throw for your favorite spot on the sofa or your favorite chair. Texture is also a great way to create a warmer vibe, velvets and woven fabrics

Riverfront home showcases respect for the environment

By Cheryl Dolan
Berkshire Hathaway HSFNR

Living on the water has always been a way of life for the owners of this custom, coastal federal-style riverfront home in prestigious Ortega. The 4 bedroom, 4.5 bath, 3,858 square foot home was designed and built in 2010 to meet Energy Star and sustainability standards through the use of construction methods, materials, design and engineering that exceed building code requirements. The result is a uniquely gorgeous blend of fine finishes and detail coupled with a strong focus on energy efficiency and sustainability, allowing the occupants to significantly reduce their monthly energy costs without reducing comfort.

The state-of-the-art kitchen is truly a chef's and entertainer's dream. Features include 42-inch custom cabinets, exquisite granite countertops, a Wolf 36-inch 6-burner gas cooktop and 18-inch induction cooktop, Thermador double oven with convection, built-in microwave, 48-inch Subzero refrigerator/freezer, 24-inch Subzero undercounter beverage refrigerator, dual Jenn-Air dishwashers, Reverse Osmosis Water System, a spectacular 48-inch cast-iron Kohler sink with dual faucets and more.

Views of the river from every room invite nature indoors, while beautiful ¾-inch Acacia hardwood floors, vaulted and volume ceilings, and open concept dining and living areas bring a casual elegance to modern living. Enjoy coffee and the morning paper in the River Room or on the upper deck. Or curl up in front of the custom marble fireplace with the latest thriller novel. The wine room was designed with custom built-ins and Marvel wine refrigerators to house many fine bottles, readily accessible when needed and desired.

The bedrooms, each with en suite baths, are located on the first level, with the master retreat opening to its own private deck and the waterfront beyond. Relax in the spa-like master bath with soaking tub, walk-in shower, dual vanities and separate water closet. A 3-stop elevator with entry from the garage provides convenient access to all floors.

Abundant storage is provided throughout the home, in the oversized garages and in the 35' x 10' concrete basement/work room. The owners were insistent upon implementing features that offer unseen safety and home protection upgrades, including a custom drainage system; double hurricane tie-downs; additional fire retardant layers in the insulated walls, roof, and attic; and reinforced concrete foundation and first floor.

This turn-key, one of a kind home at 4056 McGirts Boulevard is represented by Berkshire Hathaway HSFNR, listed by Cheryl Dolan and Elizabeth Hudgins and offered for $1,475,000.

Nearly new on the water

By Julie Brewer

RE/MAX Coastal Real Estate

A little over four years ago, this home was just stick and bricks, as they say, when Dr. Fred Tepedino and his lovely wife, Lea, toured the property. Buying a home during the construction process involves a wide array of selections and they made excellent choices, turning this home into a masterpiece.

This extraordinary coastal Florida design with a mix of metal and shingle roof, shake siding and stacked stone offers a timeless appeal. Set among the Old Florida landscape of the Intracoastal Waterway, this home keeps true to its nautical theme with decorative two-story entry light well, and the sunrise and sunset balconies which offer peaceful vistas of the water.

Upon entering the foyer, which features large travertine floors and a wrought iron staircase with matching stone treads and risers, you are immediately drawn into the living room with its impressive views of the water. Adjacent to the staircase, the home offers a custom designed wine cellar with granite, chiseled stone and wood embellishments that showcase chilled vino and spirits.

Maximizing on the view, the architect designed an open-concept kitchen, dining room and family room so as to never miss out on the best feature of the house. Whether entertaining or cooking for the family, the epicurean kitchen comes complete with a Wolf 6 burner gas cooktop, pot filler, Miele wall oven, microwave and warmer drawer, two Miele dishwashers and a Sub Zero refrigerator. The oversized island's granite was selected for its natural movement and earthy color, resembling the vast color changes of the Intracoastal water.

Beautifully decorated in livable luxury style, the first floor social spaces are the perfect spot for entertaining and feature generously sized rooms, neutral décor, volume ceilings and an efficient use of space.

The first-floor master suite also takes in the view of the water via walls of natural light. Volume ceilings with trays and wide plank, distressed hardwood floors accent the master retreat.

The spa inspired master bath includes creamy white cabinets, granite counters, stone shower, Jacuzzi with art quality framed mirrors, plus a huge master closet with built-in closet organization.

Adjacent to the kitchen is the beautiful bedroom suite. Upstairs there are 2 additional bedroom suites and a bonus room overlooking the waterway. Contiguous to the bonus room is a full wet bar with beverage fridge and undercounter mini dishwasher. Completing the second floor is the navy blue custom-designed home theater with comfy chairs and automatic shades. If this isn't enough space, there's a separate undeveloped wing over the garage to expand the house by 1,124 square feet.

Not to be missed is the fabulous outdoor living. This home features a sprawling covered lanai with tongue and groove ceiling and large fenced lawn – a great setting for outdoor entertaining amid Florida's temperate climate. The bulkhead, dock and boathouse with second floor sun deck complete the outdoor area.

Need more covered parking? Then look no further: Not only will your everyday cars fit, but there's room for your vintage vehicles and other toys in this 6 car garage with paver driveway and gated entry. This beautiful 4,919 square foot home sits on a 3/4 acre site. The property is represented by RE/MAX Coastal Real Estate, listed by Julie Little Brewer, CLHMS, and offered at $1,895,000.

are both great options.

Purchasing a sheepskin rug can change the aesthetic of a room. Now is a great time to change out sea grass and light-weight canvas area rugs.

Autumn is also the perfect time to update your outdoor vignettes. Mums, decorative purple cabbage or kale, and of course pumpkins make a powerful statement for your entryway.

Fall is a fabulous time for you to put on a new set of crisp cotton or linen sheets; they are timeless. This is also the time to break out your down comforter. You might also want to consider a faux-fur throw.

With the days getting shorter, lighting should be softer. This can be accomplished with a dimming panel. As it gets darker, this will enable you to adjust your lighting as needed. Fall kicks off the entertaining season for the remainder of 2016 – lighting, coupled with fall scented candles, create a warm festive scene.

Simple adjustments are the best for fall decorating. Bowls of fresh fruit in your kitchen, on your dining table or on your foyer console are affordable ways to bring in fall colors. Olive branches in jars are also lovely.

Stop by Luxury for Less in Ponte Veda and check out all of our fabulous fall finds!

Fashion becomes a family affair

By Betty Lemons

There is an old adage in the business community which states that when choosing a business partner, the first choice should come from your family. No matter what befalls, you still go home together, because family is family. For this very reason, the Lemons mother-daughter team have been in the women's clothing business for more than 30 years. And, guess what? We still speak to one another, and we are still having a wonderful time!

My daughter Laura-Todd Haney and I have owned a bricks and mortar store, Flamingo Trader; have maintained an antique mall booth; and run an online business. Our present enterprise, The Scott Collection, is a traveling trunk show business which specializes in jackets, tops and accessories. The trunk show business is especially appealing because it gives us the opportunity to travel to different venues throughout the southeast, to make new friends while reconnecting with many former associates, and because many of these shows are charity fundraisers, to contribute to many worthwhile causes. Another asset of trunk shows is the luxury of choosing a work calendar. This fits especially well with a demanding family schedule.

One of the most stimulating aspects of the clothing business is attending market. We have just returned from the Atlanta Apparel Show, which is held at the AmericasMart Apparel Mart, a 13-story building in downtown Atlanta. During this market, we selected items for our fall and holiday shows, a daunting task because of the broad choices. There are fashion shows running all day in the main auditorium, offering insight into the evolving trends. Our challenge is to interpret these trends into color and weights that are suitable for our climate and lifestyle. After spending three days selecting, we left feeling that we put together an excellent shopping package for our cherished clients.

We are very excited about our upcoming shows, which include The Junior League Show of Jacksonville, The Cultural Center Holiday Shops, The Jacksonville Business Connection Show at the World Golf Village, Our Lady Star of the Sea Expo, and the Junior League Of Palm Beach Deck the Palms Holiday Show. This takes us through the Holidays, and then we begin Spring. It is great fun!

The Florida-Georgia game will be here before we know it and every attendee will be looking for a game day outfit. Be sure to check out our game day scarves and ponchos at one of our events – a perfect way to show your team loyalty! See you at one of our fall events!

LIFE AS ART
A masterful blend of contemporary and organic. Traditional and modern. An unexpected combination of materials and design elements. These are just some of the artful and unique things you will think as you enter this coastal inspired home with European touches. Gracious and airy interior living areas allow light in while providing many living spaces and abundant water views.

OUTDOOR LIVING SUPREME

Just try tearing yourself away from the virtual five-star resort outside your back doors: the 60-foot lap pool with frothing bubblers under the in-pool umbrella on its sun pad, the 12-person hot tub, the fire pit and outdoor kitchen. There's even a 60-foot floating dock in the backyard so you can boat from the Intracoastal to the ocean, at any time of the day or night, on any tide.

Harbour Island estate offers vacation living all year round

By Michelle Floyd

Marsh Landing Country Club Realty

Have you ever thought, “Wouldn’t it be great to vacation at home?” Here is the opportunity of a lifetime!

Harbour Island in Marsh Landing Country Club is a marina community directly off the Intracoastal Waterway with deep protected water. All docks are behind the homes or in the main marina basin.

Just imagine your boat behind your home or within a short walk. Even for the non-boater, the ambience of water and boats floating in water is captivating. Some of the residents of Harbour Island just have vessels to entertain, have cozy dinners on board or use as an inviting guest home (where all the guests will beg for the boat!) For the fisherman, it is total heaven to be able to outfit for fishing and be steps from the home!

The residents who do not boat can walk along the basin promenade with that early morning coffee or afternoon glass of wine. For that extra bit of vacationing at home, there is an 18-hole golf course, 12 har-tru tennis courts, a state of the art fitness center, junior Olympic size pool, and casual and fine dining. Activity for all ages and interests!

This particular home has undergone a million-dollar renovation from interior to pool to yard. The style is coastal contemporary. The living room, foyer, and family room are all 2 stories – with walls of windows out to the marina basin – and European oak wood flooring and polished travertine. The walls are a muted gray venetian plaster. The prior owners were cooks who loved to entertain and installed a Lecornue Conufe 43-inch gas range and 4 ovens, plus a Miele stainless refrigerator, Thermador 24-inch microwave drawer, Bosch dishwasher, all Grohe faucets, Granke farmhouse sink and white maple wood cabinets with white chocolate classic finishes.

A butler’s pantry is close to the kitchen for easy serving, as well as a bar with seating and a large wine refrigerator. So easy for guests! There is also an incredible additional upstairs family room with another large bar with seating and an evening porch overlooking the marina basin for those spectacular sunsets! An outdoor area includes yet another bar area with seating, a summer kitchen, bath and dramatic pool with double gas firepits. All the backyard grass is astro turf for easy maintenance and that “green” look all winter. The floating dock is 50 feet with water and power at the slip – such easy access with wide open areas in the main basin and a great turn radius.

Invest in a lifestyle: This home is a great place to live and entertain! The home is represented by Marsh Landing Country Club Realty, listed by Cici Anderson and Michelle Floyd and offered for $2,400,000.

Gate Express Car Wash planned for Nocatee Parkway

Gate Petroleum plans to build a Gate Express Car Wash at Nocatee Parkway and Davis Park Road, one of more than 20 such freestanding car washes the company plans to open across Northeast Florida.

The first location will open in the spring of 2017 at Collins Road and I-295, in front of the Super Walmart. In addition to the Nocatee Parkway site, other planned locations include A1A in South Ponte Vedra Beach, Beach Boulevard and Hodges Boulevard, Philips Highway and 9B, Emerson and Philips Highway, and Durbin Park.

The car washes will feature a 125 to 145-foot tunnel system that will use state-of-the-art technology and provide a car wash in under four minutes. The tunnel will accommodate between five and seven automobiles at a time, and drivers will have the option of pulling their vehicles into a vacuum bay to use free high-suction vacuums after the car wash is complete.

Pricing will begin at $5 per wash. Monthly membership packages will also be available. Operating hours will be from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Toto, we are not in Kansas anymore!

Harry Pappas
Columnist

Investing is a dangerous business that requires us to prepare diligently for incredible uncertainty and volatility. Relatively steep stock market declines are generally disorderly and create a contagion of fear, and regrettably, too many investors eventually lose confidence in the stock market in general and their portfolio in particular. It is in our DNA to believe that when stocks go down 5 to 10 percent in value, there is something the "market knows" but us little folks do not. This mindset creates fear, which often generates hitting the panic button. Preventing my clients from bailing out of a well-designed investment plan is arguably my single most important job as a financial advisor.

I put forth that this chart illustrates the generalized behavior of market participants (contrary to the title) a few days before the Brexit vote and the days following. Wait, you already forgot about that Brexit thing! All the gnashing of teeth about Great Britain leaving the European Union was a huge waste of time. Contrary to what the pouting pundits of pessimism wanted us to believe, the world economy was not going to shut down because the U.K. left the European Union after 43 years. Unfortunately, far too many of us have a tendency to believe that we live in the most uncertain of times. Thus, it is not surprising that we might believe our challenges are both unique and overwhelming, but when viewed through the sobering lens of history, we find they are neither.

After the big decline of that somber "Brexit" Friday, many investors caved on their long-term game plan by listening to the doomsayers and sold out with the idea that they would wait for calmer waters before entering the shark-infested sea again. When these market-timing folks go to cash, they have to be correct not once, but twice! First, they have to get it right on the sell side and then they have to be right again on the buy side. I cannot begin to tell you how many investors fall prey to the painful and embarrassing whiplash effect. Perhaps the selling part is easy, but knowing when to buy back is incredibly difficult, as nobody rings the bell to say the coast is clear. Therefore, investors notoriously procrastinate repeatedly before finally pulling the "buy back" lever.

For example, if the market makes an immediate and significant move to the upside, as with the days following the Brexit vote, often the cash holders say, "I am not getting in now since the Dow just rallied 200 points. I should have got back in yesterday. I will wait for another pullback before I buy back." If the market goes higher from there, their stubbornness may not allow them ever to enter the market again. On the other hand, if a further decline happens, so does the procrastination, as they suggest that stocks may go even lower. I have witnessed this mentality repeatedly. Please understand that I am speaking from experience. I have been there, done that, got the t-shirt, and I have the scars to prove it!

We all know the story of Chicken Little, who ran around warning the barnyard of impending doom. I put forth that there is a Chicken Little in each of us. We get a little chicken when fear and doubt cloud our thoughts. We must accept that we are in the big leagues and scary times, and volatility is part of investing. While I have always been able to handle the market volatility and uncertainty as well as being a consummate optimist when it pertains to stocks going higher over time, I am not a wild-eyed optimist looking for unicorns and rainbows. Instead, I rely heavily on history to guide my decisions. I rely on faith, not fear! I may tweak my asset allocation from time to time or change investment strategies, but I always stay the course.

One can never accurately predict when the best days will occur, so we have to stay fully invested in experiencing the gains that we want and expect. Yes indeed, Toto, we are not in Kansas anymore. So relax and stop overthinking this investing thing. Everything should be just fine. At least that is what history has taught us.

Sharks' field goal at the buzzer is a winner

By Jerry Norton

One didn't have to be a football guru to predict a high scoring affair in Ponte Vedra's game against Bartram Trail. A quick look at the season's scoring statistics said all that needed to be said. Coming into the game, the Sharks had scored 242 points and allowed 97. The Bears: 207 scored and 119 allowed. It wasn't difficult to predict a barnburner in the matchup and that is exactly what happened Friday evening at the Bears' field. The Sharks had the game's final possession and used it to claim a thrilling 48-45 victory on Chris Howard's 42-yard field goal as time expired.

It's hard to believe that a game featuring so much high-powered offense by both teams could have included any significant defensive plays but, in fact, the Sharks' defense played a key role in the win. The Sharks scored in their first two possessions – the first on a 30-yard pass from Nick Tronti to JD Parris and the second an 11-yard run by Hal Swan. The Bears answered with a drive of their own then a 93-yard kickoff return by Joey Gatewood for a touchdown that tied matters at 14-14.

Bartram took the lead 20-14 on the final play of the first quarter but the Shark defense in the person of JB Shepherd blocked the point after attempt. It was just the first of the Bears' extra point problems.

The Sharks answered with a 79-yard, 14-play drive that ended with Tronti's 4-yard pass to defensive back Andrew O'Dare, who was uncovered in the end zone to pull ahead 21-20. Ponte Vedra scored again on a Tronti keeper to take a 28-20 lead at halftime.

While both teams maintained their high scoring pace in the second half, point-after problems continued to plague the Bears. After their fourth touchdown, a two-point conversion attempt failed on Shepherd's interception so Ponte Vedra led 28-26. When the Bears took the lead on their next possession, O'Dare stepped in front of that two-point pass attempt and the Sharks trailed 32-28, but only briefly.

The Sharks' 80-yard touchdown drive featured both runs and passes to Swan, who ultimately scored on a 3-yard plunge. Ponte Vedra thus regained the lead 35-32 but that didn't last long either. In fact, Bartram, using 12 plays to cover 80 yards, climbed back on top 38-35. Discouraged by problems with the point-after they went back to kicking the extra point but that didn't work either – this time a bad snap led to another blocked kick.

Moments later, Swan busted a 46-yard touchdown run on Ponte Vedra's ensuing possession to put the Sharks on top 42-38. Shark coach Matt Toblin then pulled off an October surprise by calling for an on-sides kickoff. Kicker Chris Howard executed the play perfectly and the Sharks offense went back on the field only to settle for a 27-yard field goal and a 45-38 advantage.

Bartram failed to take advantage of a second, but unsuccessful, on-sides kickoff. They drove to a first down at the Shark 12 but could not punch in the tying touch-

Panthers fall prey to Yellow Jackets 34-14

By Jon Blauvelt

Nease didn't have an answer for St. Augustine's halftime adjustments – surrendering 24 consecutive points in the third and fourth quarters – and lost its fourth straight game, 34-14, on Friday, Oct. 21.

"I felt our kids fought it out," said Tim Krause, Nease head coach, at the newly dedicated Joey Wiles-Walt Slater Field at Foothills Stadium in St. Augustine. "They played really well in the first half, and St. Augustine did a great job in the second half. They did a really nice job with some adjustments, gave us some trouble and did a good job putting the game away."

Nease quarterback Leighton Alley proved effective early, throwing for 129 of his total 214 yards in the first half. After defensive lineman Adam Timmins blocked a St. Augustine punt, Alley threw a 25-yard touchdown to tight end Zach Sheffer midway through the second quarter. Then at the end of the second quarter, Panthers cornerback Trey Ragin intercepted Yellow Jackets quarterback Cole Northrup and stopped St. Augustine cold in its tracks. Nease seemed to have some momentum going into halftime, trailing St. Augustine 10-7.

"I was really proud of the mentality of our kids all week and how they practiced and how they came out and started the game," said Krause. "I think our kids were excited, and they like to compete. That was fun to see."

Yet come the start of the third quarter, St. Augustine shifted into a higher gear and didn't look back. After rushing for less than 30 yards in the first half, the Yellow Jackets committed to their ground game early, with quarterback Cole Northrup running four straight keepers for 60 yards. His last run was a 22-yard touchdown down the right side of the field, increasing St. Augustine's lead to 17-7 less than a minute into the quarter.

"The way we threw it in the first half really made Nease adjust, and it opened up the run game," said Northrup, who passed for more than 100 yards in the first half and finished with 263 passing yards, one passing touchdown, 75 rushing yards and two rushing touchdowns.

Filling in for suspended starter Jahq Russell, St. Augustine running back Brandon Johnson also capitalized on the halftime adjustments and had a big night on the ground. He finished with 170 yards, including a 20-yard touchdown run at the end of the third quarter that made the score 27-7.

"I told the offensive line before the game, 'you block, and I'm going to do my thing,'" said Johnson. "And that's what happened."

Nease had trouble responding and moving the ball in the second half.

"We've had our struggles on the offensive line," said Krause. "That continued again tonight and showed up in a couple situations. In a game like that, if you don't finish one or two drives, it catches up with you, especially considering as well as they execute on offense."

The Yellow Jackets also executed in the kicking game with Elijah Ryan converting two field goals on the night, both from 27 yards. Panthers kicker Michael Leisle missed both of his field goal attempts wide left from 43 and 32 yards respectively.

St. Augustine's last score of the game came early in the fourth quarter when Northrup threw a short pass in the flats to wide receiver Emerson Kabus, who streaked up the left side of the field for a 60-yard touchdown. The Yellow Jackets led 34-7.

Nease responded on the ensuing drive. Panthers wide receiver Ashton Wood returned the kickoff to the Yellow Jackets' 11-yard line, then caught a 10-yard touchdown pass from Alley just two plays later to make the score 34-14. Yet it was too little, too late as the Yellow Jackets used their remaining drives to run out the clock and seal the win.

St. Augustine (7-1, 3-0) will play for the District 4-6A title Friday, Oct. 28, at Middleburg, while Nease (1-5, 0-3) will play at Englewood Thursday, Oct. 27, at 7 p.m. in their penultimate game of the season.

"Hopefully we finish out strong here, keep improving and recognize that at some points there are peaks and valleys in years," said Krause. "Hopefully, we have some peaks ahead."

down on a fourth down at the one-yard line.

An ineligible receiver downfield penalty against the Sharks denied them a key first down and forced a Tronti punt. The Bears didn't waste this possession. They drove 40 yards to score, then surprisingly kicked the tying extra point with two minutes left to play.

Two minutes would be all the Sharks needed. Tronti connected with Marshall Few for 18 yards and a first down, then ran for another first himself. Two plays later, the clock was down to 1:30, with Ponte Vedra on the Bear 43 and facing a third and 10 situation. Tronti rolled out looking to pass, but instead kept the ball and picked up 17 yards.

Three plays later with the ball well within Howard's field goal range on the 25 yard line, the Sharks let the clock run down to 1.8 seconds before calling time out. On came kicker Howard, holder Marshall Few and the rest of field goal team to attempt a fourth down, 42-yard field goal. The kick was perfect as time expired, sparking a wild celebration on the Ponte Vedra sideline.

Raiders 33, Jaguars 16

Oakland Raiders make Del Rio's return to Jacksonville a happy one

By Mike Bonts

Former Jacksonville head coach Jack Del Rio's return to Jacksonville was a happy one – at least for Del Rio – as the Oakland Raiders won for the first time in three tries at EverBank Field, 33-16 over the Jaguars.

"Obviously we are very disappointed," Jaguars Coach Gus Bradley said. "We were excited about this opportunity, but lost our poise....Offensively we are not playing as we should."

Sebastian Janikowski kicked four field goals, QB David Carr threw for a score and Latavius Murray ran for two touchdowns as the Raiders improved to 5-2.

Carr was 22 of 37 for 200 yards and a TD pass to Michael Crabtree, who caught eight passes for 96 yards. Murray put Oakland ahead 13-3 on a 2-yard run and added a 9-yard score late on the contest.

It was a homecoming of sorts for Del Rio, who was named Oakland's 55th head coach in 2015. He served in that role with the Jaguars for nine seasons from 2003-2011.

"It was a great place to spend nine years raising the family and being blessed with the opportunity to lead the Jaguar franchise," Del Rio said. "I was very appreciative of that time. I met a lot of good folks here; a lot of good memories, a lot of good friends. It is good to come back here and get a good effort in this stadium."

The visitors led 20-6 at the end of the half.

Janikowski kicked field goals of 52, 44, 26 and 32 yards, while Jacksonville's Jason Myers connected from 23 and 37 yards.

Jacksonville QB Blake Bortles was 23 of 43 for 246 yards, but threw his first of two interceptions in the end zone to erase an early scoring chance. He hooked up with tight end Julius Thomas for a 9-yard TD with 4:12 to play.

Marqise Lee caught seven passes for 107 yards to lead the Jaguars. The Jacksonville running game was split between Bortles and backs T.J. Yeldon and Chris Ivory but only generated a total of 105 yards.

"We're just not in those situations where we can keep pounding the run and have those opportunities come up. With that being said, we need to get more movement up front," Bradley said of the running game. "I think we need to see the hole and use our instincts a little bit better and hit the seams when they are created. There are things like that we need to school up as well."

Defensively, safety Johnathan Cyprien led the Jaguars in tackles totaling 11 solo tackles. It is the second time this season Cyprien has registered double-digit tackles. With eight tackles, seven solo, linebacker Paul Posluszny moved into third on the Jaguars all-time tackle list with 840 tackles, passing Mike Peterson. Linebacker Telvin Smith recorded five tackles, four solo, including three tackles for a loss.

Despite the loss, the Jaguars are still on track for a playoff position. They play in the AFC South, one of the weakest divisions in the NFL, and have five games against division opponents, all winnable.

The Jaguars (2-4) had won two straight coming into Sunday's game and were coming off a come from behind 17-16 win over the Chicago Bears at Soldier Field.

"Well, I feel for our fans," Bradley said. "They show up and they cheer and they're supportive and we just didn't play very well in front of them today

"For us, we're trying to do everything we can to play as well as we can and we feel like when we do that, then we'll give them a good product," Bradley continued. "Today, we didn't play up to our capabilities."
