2022 GENERAL ELECTION

Two contending for presiding commissioner

JOHNSON COUNTY — After the primary election, there are now two candidates running for Johnson County Presiding Commissioner in the Nov. 8 general election: Republican candidate Troy Matthews and Democrat candidate Matt Swope.

Commissioners serve a four-year term.

Each candidate was asked to fill out a questionnaire. Answers were limited to 150 words and are listed in the order the candidates appear on the ballot.

Why are you running for office?

Matthews: I am running for Presiding Commissioner because I have been a lifelong farmer and small business owner for 30 years. Johnson County has been good to me and my family for many years and this is the perfect opportunity for me to give back. I want to help maintain the good work of previous commissioners and continue to improve our county.

Swope: The county commissioner's office must be managed with less daily political influence and equally consider issues affecting all of its citizens, not a select few.

What are your qualifications?

Matthews: My background is in agriculture and construction. I not only worked in these industries, but I owned a business that has been successful and continues to serve our county. I feel that would be very beneficial in the maintenance of county buildings, roads and bridges. In addition, as a business owner, I have experience working with budgets, proposals and purchases affecting the bottom line. I feel my experience of staying within a bid or estimate to my client gives me an insight as to what the county faces with its budget.

Swope: Many years of managing large and complex government contracts and projects. I was born and raised here and I am familiar with the residents, county properties and issues. I own and manage a local construction company, balancing finances, subcontractors, suppliers and employees on a daily basis.

What do you think are some top issues facing Johnson County that need to be addressed soon?

Matthews: Three main issues that are present with the county include how to spend the ARPA funds, improvement of our road and bridge infrastructure and maintaining our workforce. First, I feel it's very important that the ARPA funds need to be used in a manner that will benefit our county for years to come. Second, we need to maintain our road and bridge infrastructure as well with money available. Third, I think we need to make sure our employees can make a competitive wage so we can retain employees instead of spending resources to train new employees.

Swope: We have an increasing homeless population with no clear direction for the future. The rising cost to provide ambulance services and its potential tax implications is looming over us. Among many things we need to talk about, these are two important but difficult issues without easy answers.

What goals do you have for office if you are elected?

Matthews: My goals are to spend money responsibly so we can see the benefits now and continue to see those benefits as we move into the future. I would also like to see some of the dead ends eliminated so we can stop wasteful spending.

Swope: Maximize efforts to attract industry to diversify opportunities to increase job opportunities for the future. We need to plan for the replacement of the county jail and consider our long-term goals for the courthouse and county offices. Enhance the safety and security of our county offices and employees. Continue with long-term planning and implementation of road and bridge improvements.

How would you approach the budget and how do you plan to keep it balanced?

Matthews: As the presiding commissioner, it will be a priority to Amendment 5 would make Missouri National Guard its own department

By Skye Melcher
skyem@sedaliademocrat.com

In the Nov. 8 general election, Missouri residents will consider a ballot question that would make the Missouri National Guard its own department within state government.

Amendment 5 would create the Missouri Department of the National Guard as an administrative department within the state's executive branch. Currently, the Missouri National Guard is one of eight divisions in the Missouri Department of Public Safety.

Amendment 5 would define the department's purpose as providing for the state militia, upholding the U.S. Constitution, upholding the Missouri Constitution, protecting the constitutional rights and civil liberties of Missourians, and providing other defenses as required.

The National Guard has two purposes, to serve the state and serve the country, so it has two bosses, the governor and the president.

Jackie Wood, a registered lobbyist for the Missouri National Guard Association, said making the Missouri National Guard its own department is an administrative move. She said the Guard was a department before 1974. The governor at the time, Christopher S. Bond, wanted to reorganize and add a couple more departments. The Missouri Constitution only allows 15 departments at a time.

"That was 1974, right after the Vietnam War. There was not a lot of things going on, so the Guard's main purposes were state disasters," Wood said. "That is when the National Guard became part of public safety."

If Amendment 5 is approved, the Guard would continue its current operations, but if there were a chance of a disaster, it would have a direct line to the governor instead of going through different channels.

"You will see a cut-through of red tape if they become their own department," Wood added. "Because then they'll report straight to the governor with that information, so there is no chance of miscommunication."

WARRENSBURG — Cathi Truesdale, 85, has been the choir director at the First Presbyterian Church for 50 years and does not intend to retire soon.

Truesdale started her tenure at the church in 1972 with the retirement of Frederic Homan, an organist and professor of music.

Jack Curtis was the reverend at the time.

"(Curtis) came to me and he wanted to know if I would take the choir because Fred didn't want to do that anymore," Truesdale said.

Marilyn Homan stayed on to play the organ while Truesdale conducted the choir.

"When you're in choir, you're like another family," Truesdale said.

Truesdale said the church choir is like a little family within the family of the congregation.

"That's a nice part about being a choir director is having the closeness of being with your choir," she said. "They were there for me when my husband died and things like that. ... It's been a blessing to me and I think it was a good fit. It's a little different today than it was when I took it."

Much about the church has changed in the last 50 years, she said, including a rebuild of the church organ and who attends.

"Most of the people that you see out there on Sunday were not even here when I took the job," Truesdale said.

Truesdale joined the choir when she and her husband joined the church, the same year they were married.

"I sang in the choir right away. I didn't direct it (yet), I sang in it," she recalled. "There were a lot of professors at UCM in the choir at that time, most of the music people."

Truesdale's own voice instructor, Eleanor Shockey, was part of the choir.

"And then there was Dr. Hart, who was the head of the Music Department, and he was actually right before me (as director)," Truesdale said. "He took it for a short time."

The exact date Truesdale started as the choir director was not recorded, but she said it was definitely in the fall.

"The reason that I knew it had been 50 years is because Jevon is 50," Truesdale said, referring to her son, Jevon, who WARRENSBURG — Director of Maintenance Lyle Kreisel discussed completed and ongoing capital improvement projects with the Warrensburg School Board of Education during the Tuesday, Oct. 18, meeting.

Kreisel said there were 45 projects in total and seven projects that were added in the course of the summer. Some projects are still in progress.

"Several projects got added throughout the summer that we worked on," Kreisel said. "Projects completed to date are 35."

Kreisel said the Maintenance

Department continually faced issues with product delays, which further delayed several projects.

Projects included recoating all gym floors, replacing the retaining wall at Central Office, installing playground equipment, installing concrete, building a fence and installing HVAC units, as well as improving safety measures such as installing cameras in a bus zone.

Building Highlights

Principal Lorna Cassell presented information on activities and highlights about Martin Warren Elementary.

"Probably one of the most fulfilling events that we've had this quarter was our STEAM Night," Cassell said.

Cassell said they were expecting about 20 kids to attend because it was their first year hosting a STEAM Night. There were about 300 people in attendance.

"It was just over the top; it was amazing," Cassell said.

Consent Agenda

The board approved all items under the consent agenda, including memorandums of understanding with Heroes, Trails Regional Library, Warrensburg Animal Rescue and the Salvation Army.

The board also approved the dyslexia handbook and revisions

Retired professor to present 'Becoming a Woman Farmer'

The University of Central Missouri's Lifelong Learning Series will host speaker Dianne Havner Bryant as she presents "Becoming a Woman Farmer" on Thursday, Oct. 27.

The program, free and open to the public, will be at 6:30 p.m. at Trails Regional Library, 432 N. Holden St. in Warrensburg.

While teaching at UCM, Havner Bryant was given the opportunity to purchase a family farm in the northeast corner of Johnson County. To make this happen, she pursued a USDA loan for First-Time Farmers and, particularly, women farmers.

With her junior partner and husband, Blackwater Bend Farms was founded with a farm plan to focus on three components: beef, bees and apples.

During this presentation, Havner Bryant will share the process of becoming a first-time farmer, the blessings and struggles of learning new skills and the obstacles to overcome as a woman in agriculture.

Havner Bryant recently retired as a UCM professor of Emergency Response Planning, and also served as the director of the Institute for Rural Emergency Management. She has a doctorate in Rural Sociology and Community Development from the University of Missouri and a Master of Science degree in Industrial Hygiene and Bachelor of Science degree in Biology from UCM.

Remembering Sedalia's Ted Walch

By Faith Bemiss
fbemiss@sedaliademocrat.com

SEDALIA — Sedalia lost a native son with the passing of Ted Walch on Sept. 8 at his home in Studio City, California. Walch, a 1959 Smith-Cotton High School graduate, is remembered by many as excelling as an educator and director of performing arts, often teaching the children of prominent movie stars in Los Angeles — a career that spanned 55 years at three high schools across the U.S.

Walch, an educator and director, born in Sedalia

According to his obituary, Walch, who was approved in September for induction into the SCHS Hall of Fame, took a leave from teaching in 1979 to establish the Kenyon Festival Theatre at his alma mater, Kenyon College, where he served as producing artistic director until 1985. The Kenyon Festival Theatre formed out of an earlier production celebrating the completion of the Bolton Theatre at Kenyon College in 1978 with a new play by playwright and friend Michael Cristofer, directed by Kenyon graduate Paul Newman.

In the early '90s, Walch moved to Los Angeles and became head of performing arts at the Harvard-Westlake School in Studio City, where he taught for 30-plus years and was preparing to return to the classroom for the fall 2022 semester when he became ill.

The obituary went on to say Ted was born in Sedalia in 1942. He was the youngest of four sons of Harry Walch and Martha Inge Walch, the granddaughter of A.D. Stanley, a founding owner of The Sedalia Democrat. His mother died of cancer in 1946, and his brother Charles Frederick ("Chuck") died in 1956 in a plane accident; both losses shaped Walch.

Sedalia shapes the Walch brothers

Walch's brother Tony Walch, of Cincinnati, Ohio, noted recently that he and Ted loved growing up in Sedalia. Both brothers worked at the Sedalia Democrat in their early years as proofreaders.

"Sedalia is really a town that nurtured us and so many others through the early and mid-part of the 20th century," Tony noted. "I think back when Ted and I were young at Smith-Cotton High School — really, those were marvelous teachers."

He added he remembered

some seniors saying they couldn't wait to leave Sedalia, but he and Ted never felt that way.

"Although Ted and I did go on to other cities and towns after we graduated ... we always came back," he noted. "Sedalia kind of works into you that way. It's not a small town, but it's not a big town either."

"Those early years were formative," he continued. "Sedalia really became a touchstone for all the good that was to follow for both Ted and me. We treasure that time in Sedalia. And frankly, that's why we keep coming back to Sedalia."

Ragar remembers a friend

Ted's longtime friend Myrna Miller Ragar, of Sedalia, noted she attended school with him from second grade at Mark Twain Elementary through graduation at SCHS in 1959.

"We used to talk on the telephone all the time in second grade," she said with a smile. "And then we were on the (SCHS) Archives Committee together for years. We were kind of like boyfriend and girlfriend type thing back then."

She added in eighth grade at SCHS, she and Ted "beat out" the seniors with the most votes as the Valentine King and Queen.

"We had a pie supper at Ted's home, and I think it was a penny a vote," she noted. "We made a lot of money from the pie and put it in and beat out the seniors."

Ragar, a local artist and owner of Ragar Banners, remembers being artistic in high school and added Ted was already delving into theater. As his career unfolded, Ted eventually became good friends, Ragar said, with actor Tom Hanks. The two became close when Ted taught Hanks' son, Chet, while at Harvard-Westlake High School in Los Angeles.

Ted comes home a final time

Tony added it was important to him and his brother to be raised in a community where so many people could be a part of their upbringing.

"We were the two youngest of four brothers," he said. "So, Ted and I would kind of hang together. When anyone asked Ted, or me for that matter, we would always say, first and foremost, we're from Sedalia, Missouri."

Tony added when he spent the last weeks with Ted, he often spoke of Sedalia and wanted to be brought back and buried there.

"That is exactly what we're doing," Tony noted. "He would have it no other way but to be buried next to his brother and his father and mother."

"(Sedalia) was certainly the lifeblood of our early years," he continued. "And it did become a touchstone for our later life. And we honor that, and it's a privilege to have grown up that way. I wish, in many ways, everybody had that kind of experience."

In a June 2018 interview with the Democrat, Ted noted teaching had taught him three essential facts — find out what you love and what makes you happy.

"The third most important is it's got to be about other people," he added. "It can't be about yourself. It's got to be about the kids. I think the nicest thing a kid ever said to me ... he said, 'you treated me as the person you thought I might become, not as the person I was. And, as a result, I became that person.'"

Visitation for Ted Walch will be from 5 to 7 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 29, at McLaughlin Funeral Chapel, 519 S. Ohio Ave. Graveside service will be at 1 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 30, at Crown Hill Cemetery, 830 N. Engineer Ave. in Sedalia, with the Rev. Anne Meredith Kyle officiating.

WARRENSBURG — County Clerk Diane Norcross Thompson presented the program on voting in Johnson County during a meeting hosted by the Warrensburg chapter of the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution on Friday, Oct. 14, at RISE Café.

Thompson gave a brief history of the first woman in Missouri to hold elected office and the first woman to vote in Missouri.

There are no polling place changes for the November election.

Thompson encouraged voters to review the sample ballots prior to voting and also study the issues on the ballot. There are four Constitutional Amendments to be considered.

The new voter ID law is now in effect, and voters will need to present a current photo ID such as a driver's license, non-driver ID, military ID or passport.

Curbside voting will be available at the courthouse prior to Nov. 7 and at the polling place on Election Day.

Thompson explained the procedures that ensure the voting machines work properly.

Anyone with questions about the election or voting should contact the Clerk's office.

New chapter member Melanie Cheney was welcomed into the chapter. Participating in the welcome ceremony were Regent Fran Billings, Chaplain Virginia Campbell, and Registrar Vickie Whitsitt.

Four counties invited to meeting on state plans for broadband access WARRENSBURG — The Missouri Office of Broadband Development will take part in a meeting for residents of Johnson, Lafayette, Pettis and Saline counties regarding state plans to increase broadband access for Missourians.

The meeting will be at 4 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 2 at the Heckart Community Center, 1800 W. Third St. in Sedalia.

The meeting is hosted by the Pioneer Trails Regional Planning Commission, which provides a variety of economic development and planning services for local governments and communities in Johnson, Lafayette, Pettis and Saline counties.

The State of Missouri is expected to receive more than $500 million through two components of the Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act: the Broadband Equity, Access and Deployment program and the Digital Equity Act program.

BEAD represents an unprecedented investment in broadband infrastructure across the State of Missouri. DEA addresses non-infrastructure barriers to getting online, like the inability to afford internet service or devices or digital skills deficits.

The funds from these two programs will be used to implement the state's recently announced Connecting All Missourians initiative. Both topics are on the agenda as OBD officials travel the state to hear from Missourians about how this money should be spent.

Their input will be incorporated into the state's plans for BEAD and DEA funds.

Meeting attendees will hear from OBD officials about the Connecting All Missourians initiative and measures local communities can take now to prepare themselves for this round of funding opportunities.

They want to hear from attendees about the situation in their region: the specific challenges faced by residents who struggle to access the internet and the local resources, strategies and know-how that can be used to overcome them.

The OBD is partnering with the state's 19 Regional Planning Councils and the University of Missouri in its planning efforts for the Connecting All Missourians initiative. For more information about engagement opportunities associated with this planning effort, visit ded2.mo.gov/connecting-all-missouri.

ans. The OBD is an office of the Missouri Department of Economic Development. Along with BEAD and DEA funding, the American Rescue Plan brought an additional $265 million in broadband funding to the state.

OBD is currently reviewing applications for projects under this round of funding.

Another stellar group for 20 Under 40

Today's edition of the Star-Journal includes our second annual 20 Under 40 special section, and I'm excited for the community to see it.

This section takes quite a bit of work, from soliciting nominations from the community and coming up with candidates of our own, to an hours-long meeting with the newsroom to select this year's honorees. Then, our small staff splits up the story assignments and we head out to meet these young professionals who are helping form the next generation of Johnson County.

I've got to say, this year's group seems to be just as outstanding as our inaugural group in 2021.

We've done this project for several years at the Sedalia Democrat, and every year I remain impressed with the work being done in our communities by people 40 and under. And I'm not just saying that since my age of 31 includes me in that group.

We've got multiple honorees who are helping the community through education in a variety of ways, whether that's Tiffany Cochran at the UCM Foundation, Travis Hume helping the future of agriculture through UCM farms, or Emily Elkins and Creighton Collier, who are working with younger students in the Warrensburg School District. There's also UCM mock trial coach Adam Sommer who is a full-time local attorney.

He may not be in a classroom, but Pastor Peter Norton is using his faith to teach others about their own faith at First United Methodist Church.

Small business owners turned out to be the unintentional theme this year. Dr. Layton Gray owns his own chiropractic office, Max Ridenhour owns a technology business (at the young age of 22, I might add), Delilah Byron owns Goddess Studio, Jess Yarborough owns Parlour Seven, Stacey and Jon Howerton own Hazel Hill Farms, and Jess Blevens owns Well Planted Greenhouse. Not to mention Dane Ross is a combo of education and business as a Leeton teacher and owner of Old Drum Coffee with his wife, Bailey. And Rachel Suchecki's day job might be in nonprofit finance, but she opened an in-home bakery this year, too.

Civic duty is also strong in this group. Enrico Villegas is somewhat new to Warrensburg but has jumped right in as the assistant city manager. Anna Koons is helping make women's history at the Warrensburg Fire Department, and Jake and Stephanie Prindle are serving citizens at the Warrensburg Police Department. Heck, we've even got elected officials covered with Leeton Mayor Taylor Elwell.

They might not own a business, but Jamie Brisbin and Chelsea Lee Fowler are both making a name for themselves through their work in mortgages and real estate, respectively, as well as their constant involvement in the Warrensburg Chamber of Commerce.

Every year that we've done the 20 Under 40 project, whether in Sedalia or Warrensburg, I get asked at least once why we've chosen to single out only young people. Why not a section dedicated to those in their middle-aged years? Don't we care about the over-60 crowd?

My response remains the same this year as in previous years: this project is not meant to slight our older citizens and readers but rather to put the spotlight on the future leaders of Johnson County. These are the men and women who will be leading our county one day, if they aren't already.

I want to highlight the work they've already accomplished in a short amount of time. I want to give them the microphone for a few minutes so they can express their opinions on the state of our community and where they think it should be headed.

Several people we interviewed said their involvement in the community stems from wanting to improve Warrensburg. They want to leave it better than they found it. They want to ensure their children, the next generation of 20 Under 40, doesn't have to endure as many struggles as they did. Sometimes people get caught up in "well, I had to do it the hard way when I was your age — why shouldn't you have to struggle too?" Luckily, we have young people in our area who don't believe in that sentiment and they're working hard in their businesses, in our schools, and with nonprofits and civic organizations to make the world a better place simply because it's the right thing to do.

Some of them are already strong, well-known leaders in Warrensburg and beyond, while others are well on their way to doing so.

I'm proud to say I'm a fellow under 40 resident in West Central Missouri because I'm in good company.

BEN ON WINE

The best area where grapes are grown

Every wine-producing country has discovered an area where grapes grown there have proven to make the best wines consistently.

In Chile, it is the Central Valley that is the main grape-growing region and the center of winemaking in that country.

The vineyards of the Central Valley butt up against the towering Andes mountains and reap the reward of the mineral-rich water that runs off of the mountains during rain storms. It is this runoff water that gives the grapes and the wines made from them their signature mineral background that is their hallmark and what helps to make Chilean wines both interesting and enjoyable.

Another point of interest concerning Chilean wines is they are the only grapes in the world that are grown on their own rootstock.

Because of a root-destroying bug, called Phylloxera, an insect that almost wiped out all of the vineyards of Europe during the mid-19th century, all of the wine-making grape vines of the world are grafted onto American grape rootstocks which are Phylloxera resistant.

It appears that something in the soil of Chile has resisted the invasion of that nasty little bug so that Chilean wines are the truest to the variety they represent and help to answer an age-old question: whether the wines of Europe were changed after employing the necessary grafting or not.

BENNET BODENSTEIN

The entire incident is covered in the book "The Great Wine Blight" by George Ordish or by Googling the name of the book.

Marqués de Casa Concha 2020 Carmenère ($24.99)

The Marqués de Casa Concha Carmenère is a wine that is, in many ways, similar to a Cabernet Sauvignon however, it is not a carbon copy and presents its own individual and very distinctive flavor and aroma.

This wine comes from 25-year-old vines and offers aromas of dark plums and black currants, which are joined by spices such as licorice cloves, along with a suggestion of coriander and black pepper.

This is the wine for the smart and adventurous; smart to take advantage of the price and adventurous for sampling a wine from a variety you may never have heard of but are willing to give a try.

Marqués de Casa Concha 2019 Cabernet Sauvignon ($24.99)

A well-made Cabernet Sauvignon at an affordable price is more than a rarity, it is almost an impossibility.

It now appears that the winemakers at Maqués de Casa Concha have done the impossible. They have made a wine that is true to the varietal style while also being affordable.

Made from a blend of 85.5% Cabernet Sauvignon, 10% Cabernet Franc and augmented by small amounts of Syrah and Petit Verdot, the wine has a deep red color and offers the aromas of cherry, black currant and blackberry with a hint of tar, oak and smoke.

Here too, the haunting mineral sub-flavor adds an extra level of interest to this wine.

This is a cabernet sauvignon that I can endorse without any reservation.

Errazuriz 2019 Wild Ferment Chardonnay ($22)

Another Chilean impossibility: a Chardonnay that has been fermented by naturally occurring wild yeast.

When grapes are brought into a winery, they are processed to remove the wild yeast, which is the white bloom that naturally forms on all fruit.

These wild yeasts could add unwanted elements to the finished wine or even result in incomplete fermentation. There are, however, some regions that have a more friendly form of natural yeast that is specific to the area, which will add a desirable individuality to a wine and such is the case with this wine.

This is a full-bodied chardonnay that offers the aromas of lime, peach, pear and oak that follow through to the flavor and then to an extraordinarily long finish.

This is not an ordinary chardonnay by any means, as this wine is as close as one can come to the chardonnay wines of years gone by and a chance to drink history.

GREEN MINUTE

Five feet above sea level

A few years ago, my wife and I spent the better part of a week in Cape Coral, Florida. It was our "headquarters" as we visited Sanibel Island, Pine Island and nature areas in that part of Florida.

You may have heard this city mentioned recently, as it lies between Pine Island and Fort Myers and was inundated by the wind, storm surge and rain of Hurricane Ian.

Cape Coral was a beautiful place with 400 miles of canals running through it, where you could fish for snapper from your backyard dock or pilot your boat out into the Gulf of Mexico through the canals.

Unfortunately, the city has an average elevation of 5 feet and 30,000 of the homes are less than 5 feet above sea level; a recent analysis of flood data found the city to have more than 90,000 homes at substantial risk of flooding.

There is an interesting article in the Oct. 6 edition of the Los Angeles Times giving the history of this city that is worth reading.

I was intrigued by the fact that the people they interviewed said they wouldn't entertain the idea of moving, even though predictions of the climate emergency do not bode well for this area of Florida.

One resident, who was a city planner, is quoted as saying, "why would you say we shouldn't enjoy it for the next 30 to 50 years."

This attitude got me thinking that the city planner's statement is really not that different from what our attitudes seem to be around the climate crisis that is upon us.

The United States had five 1,000-year weather events in a five-week period this summer, one of them in St. Louis.

We know about the exceptional drought in the southwestern United States and are just now learning about the droughts in Nebraska and Kansas. We've also heard recently about "zombie ice" in Greenland and Antarctica that will raise sea levels by at least 3 feet when fully melted.

U.N. Secretary General Antonio Guterres said in September that more action and leadership are needed to tackle the climate crisis and that efforts to keep the rise in global temperature to 1.5 Celsius above pre-industrial levels are on "life support."

After visiting Pakistan, where one-third of the country is underwater and one-seventh of the people are displaced, Guterres said that "though emissions must be cut by almost 50% before 2030, they are on track to rise by 14%."

It seems like all this information should lead us to go full speed ahead to reduce our carbon emissions, but it doesn't seem to have the effect in our thinking that it should.

My opinion is that we need all entities, including individuals, corporations and all levels of government, to get on board quickly. We won't stop climate change, as that is already happening, but we can mitigate the worse predictions that are being made now.

Will you do your part?

Local SAR chapter hears presentation on Harry S. Truman

WARRENSBURG — Jon E. Taylor, professor of American and Public History, was the featured speaker at the Oct. 15 meeting of the Martin Warren Chapter, Missouri Society, Sons of the American Revolution.

Taylor's presentation, "Harry S. Truman: Life-Long Learner," stressed the part of Harry Truman's life from birth to his first term as President of the United States beginning on April 12, 1945, following the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt, and his re-election in 1948.

Taylor emphasized Truman's contributions to education, K-12 and higher education. He mentioned Truman's visit to Warrensburg on June 17, 1948, during which Truman gave an address extolling the federal government's role in assisting education.

Truman was instrumental in the civil rights movement by establishing the Commission on Civil Rights and in the integration of the military.

After his presentation, Taylor was awarded the SAR Bronze Good Citizenship Medal and Certificate. The SAR first authorized this award in 1895 to be given to individuals whose community, school, local and state achievements are noteworthy.

Taylor has several publications regarding Harry S. Truman and his influence on the lives of citizens of the United States.

The Martin Warren Chapter meets at 10:30 a.m. at the RISE Café on the third Saturday of January, March, April, May, June, September, October and November and the second Saturday in December.

Distinguished alumnus returns for 'Victory Vertical Piano' presentation

WARRENSBURG — The University of Central Missouri School of Visual and Performing Arts is hosting a public musical presentation about the World War II-era "Victory Vertical Piano" program by 2010 UCM Distinguished Music Alumnus Garik Pedersen at 11 a.m. Thursday, Oct. 27 in Hart Recital Hall, located in the Utt Music Building.

The public is invited to attend this free event co-sponsored by the UCM Department of Music and the UCM Speaker Series.

Victory Vertical Pianos were manufactured during WWII by the Steinway Piano company with the specific mission of enhancing the "morale and resolve" of soldiers in the field.

The pianos were small, boxlike instruments that were packed in a crate; they came with sheet music, instructions, tools for tuning and repair and had handles for easy transport. The enthusiastic response to the first shipment of 400 pianos resulted in more orders for O.D.G.I. (Olive Drab Government Issue) "field" pianos.

By the time production ended in 1953, more than 2,000 "Victory Vertical" pianos had been shipped to troops on three continents and countless hours of diversion, education, entertainment, worship, enrichment and outreach had been provided.

Pedersen will share the history of this unique program and provide illustrations through video and a live performance of music from that era.

Pedersen began his musical career as a student of Emeritus Professor Wesley True at UCM prior to receiving a doctorate from the University of Iowa. Since then, Pedersen has enjoyed a long and decorated career as a professor at Eastern Michigan University, as well as serving as a past president of the Michigan Music Teachers Association.

A Steinway Artist, Pedersen has presented programs for the U.S. State Department, the National Federation of Music Clubs, Music Teachers approve a balanced budget and oversee spending for all County operations. Being fiscally responsible with taxpayer dollars is a priority.

National Association, the European Piano Teachers Association, Canadian Federation of Music Teachers Associations, the Royal Conservatory of Music and on numerous public television and radio broadcasts.

Swope: It is the responsibility of the commissioners to set policy and oversee the budget of all county offices. Policies need to be reviewed and amended to allow for transparency from all county officials concerning spending. Engage in competitive bidding for all county purchases and services. Actively pursue more efficient ways to deliver county services. Attract new business and industry to increase revenue without asking taxpayers to involuntarily continue to pay more and more. Finally, count every dollar spent and share those numbers openly with the citizens.

What infrastructure issues do you see in Johnson County, if any? How would you address them?

Matthews: The Johnson County Road and Bridge Department works very hard year-round. Their job is continuous and never done, even with the countless hours put in maintaining the infrastructure of our county. I think this is very important and I feel that we need to continue to look at processing and make sure we are giving the support needed to provide the most efficient work allowing cost savings but also providing the best improvements.

Swope: Roads, bridges, buildings and property, water and waste-water services, internet and telephone services. These are all concerns for the commissioner's office and require constant consideration. We need to create a position for the purpose of creating standards for these systems and supervision of their installations. Unsupervised installations cause additional work and expense for road crews to correct, costing more money that the service providers should be paying.

Why should people vote for you?

Matthews: As a conservative Republican candidate, I feel I can bring fresh ideas, a strong work ethic and fiscally responsible background that supports family, farms and businesses to the commission. I was born and raised in this community, I have raised my family here and am dedicated to making this the best county in our state. I am prepared to put in the work to make our county, its employees and the citizens of the county a priority. I thank you for your support and ask for you to vote for Troy Matthews as your next presiding commissioner. I am ready to work for you.

Swope: I am honest. I do not owe political favor to any person or party. I will manage the day-to-day business of the county with due diligence.

Compiled by Meliyah Venerable.

was born the same year she became the director. “I don't know if there's anything about that ... I'm sure it's somewhere, but to this day, I've asked for it and I still haven't seen it.”

Truesdale said she accepted the position because she had the time.

“I was asked and I had the time and I had a skill, I guess you'd say,” she said. “I had just gotten my (master's degree), so I was pretty set up there and so many people came up to ask me if I would take it. ... I was excited about it ... and of course, it paid a little bit.”

In her career outside of the church, Truesdale taught at Warrensburg High School, where she served as the choral director for nine years.

“It was a wonderful job, I loved it,” Truesdale said.

She then joined the Opera Theater as a pianist.

“It was really a good learning experience,” she said. “You had to read scores, like symphony scores, which are really hard to read. It gave me some really good practice, so I became a really good sight reader during that time and it was a fun job.”

She also performed as an opera singer.

“I always felt that whatever I did was a calling from God, that He'd given me the talent in the first place, so I just felt that this was something He wanted,” Truesdale said.

Truesdale has a Bachelor of Music Education, earned in 1958, and a Master of Arts - a performance degree in voice. After completing her master's degree, she taught piano and voice at the university for a year.

“I think I could have stayed there if I really were more interested, but I actually like high school,” Truesdale said. “I love the high

Truesdale has also directed the Community Chorus for 14 years and served as their pianist when it was first started almost 50 years ago, but has been active as a singer, pianist and director for the last 15 years.

After 50 years of being a choir director, Truesdale said her favorite part is when people show up to practice, preferably on time.

Financial Report

Assistant Superintendent Troy Marnholtz discussed the bills for September 2022 and the quarterly report.

“Total balances at the end of September were $13,961,334.99,” Marnholtz said. “In comparison, just the operating (budget) that was $6,338,779 and comparing where we were last year in 2021, we were at $7,048,045. We are approximately $710,000 less than we were last year at this time.”

Marnholtz said state funds are up a little bit and federal funds are down a little bit, but that it was expected.

Student Services

Assistant Superintendent John Finnane discussed student enrollment for this year compared to last year.

Total enrollment for this year is 3299. Finnane said this is a modest increase from last year.

Career Center grant

The board approved an application for a grant for the Warrensburg Area Career Center.

If awarded the grant, the district would use the funds to add a building for the Building and Trades program and possibly another program.

The grant requires a 75/25 match and the district would contribute no less than $133,333.

Survey work is currently out for bid to find a possible location for the building.

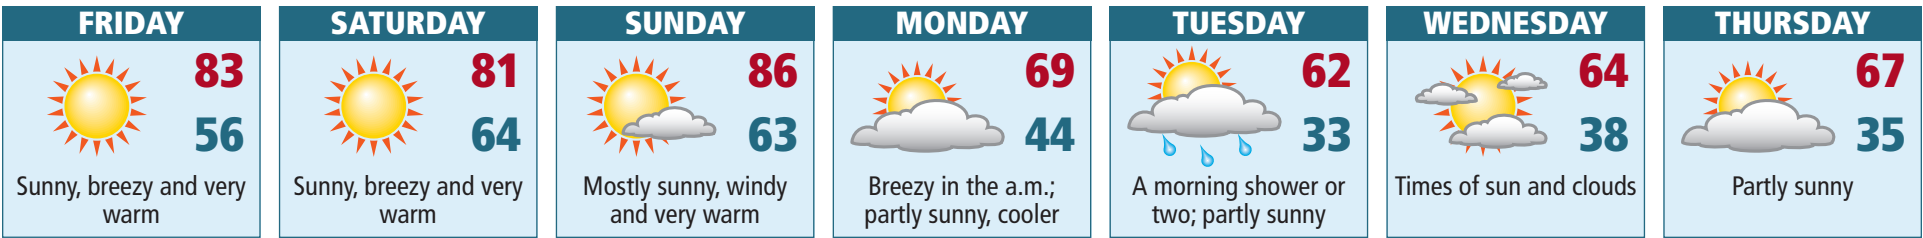

Paraprofessional position

The board approved a full-time position for a paraprofessional at Maple Grove Elementary School.

West Third Street home a Tudor gem

Homeowner Mike Zimmerschied bought the home, made with brick that was yred in Knob Noster, in 1977. It was originally built in 1931 for $7,000.

House nominated for National Register of Historic Places

By Chris Howell

SEDALIA — A Sedalia home was approved Friday for listing on the National Register of Historic Places by the Advisory Council of the Missouri State Historic Preservation Office. The nomination will be forwarded to the Keeper of the National Register of Historic Places at the National Parks Service in Washington, D.C., which will confirm the listing.

When Mike Zimmerschied bought his brick home In the 1800 block of West Third Street in 1977, it could hardly be seen from the road.

“When I bought the house, you couldn’t see it,” Zimmerschied said. “They had let it over-grow, so I’ve cut down about 30 trees.”

Originally built by Thomas and Mildred Yount, the unique materials, craftsmanship, and design make it a unique find for preservationists.

“They’re the original owners, I’m the second owner,” Zimmerschied said. “He was in the insurance business, and he had bought this property in 1920. They had made a lot of money in the banking and insurance business.”

Located a block from 65, the Yount home was one of the first built along the stretch of Third Street near Liberty Park.

“They finished October 1931,” Zimmerschied said. “This house was probably the only house out here in this location in 1931. Of course, 65 was a dirt road. I remember that it was built in 1963.”

He works to keep the home in top shape but is careful to leave it intact as much as possible.

“Anytime you have a historic home or a home as old as this, it’s almost 100 years old, you have to do a lot of remodeling, continuously work on it,” Zimmerschied said. “But you have to stay within certain bounds. I mean, you want to keep it as original as possible.”

And that patience and respect for the original builders keep Zimmerschied’s remodeling ambitions in check.

“You should keep everything as much as you can original,” Zimmerschied said, “but it would take a lot of money to keep all the original pieces, like the original windows that used to roll out.”

But the home displays its understated elegance with building materials not found in most homes today.

“Most of the trim is solid walnut,” Zimmerschied said. “The house originally cost about $7,000 in 1931.”

The basement is filled with Zimmerschied’s extensive model train layout featuring mountains, tunnels and miles of scale track. Nestled among the trains is the home’s original boiler, still in perfect working order.

“I mean, it’s old-style heating,” Zimmerschied said. “It’s got a boiler downstairs and it’s the original one. Mr. Yount looked at it at a fair in Kansas City in 1927 because it was the latest at that time.”

The sandy-yellow brick was fired in Knob Noster and brought to the building site across from Liberty Park.

“It’s the color of the brick you just don’t see in this style of home,” Zimmerschied said. “It’s a Stockbroker Tudor home.”

style, some of England’s first mass-produced homes.

“They started building the Tudor homes in England in 1485,” Zimmerschied said. “I always liked Tudor homes and wanted one of the more original ones. I wish I could pick it up and move to England because that’s where I wanted to live. I always wanted to have an English cottage, built between, oh, 1650 and 1750, with a thatched roof.”

Zimmerschied said, for now, he is content to stay in his shady neighborhood in Sedalia and hopes his home will make it into the National Registry of Historic Places once a final decision has been made.

Zimmerschied’s home was nominated with much documentation by local historian Dr. Rhonda Chalfant and Sedalia Community Development Director John Simmons, who attended the Advisory Council meeting with letters of approval from Mayor Andrew Dawson and Pettis County Eastern Commissioner Israel Baeza.

First Native American woman in space awed by Mother Earth

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The first Native American woman in space said Wednesday she is overwhelmed by the beauty and delicacy of Mother Earth, and is channeling "positive energy" as her five-month mission gets underway.

NASA astronaut Nicole Mann said from the International Space Station that she's received lots of prayers and blessings from her family and tribal community. She is a member of the Wailacki of the Round Valley Indian Tribes in Northern California.

Mann showed off the dream catcher she took up with her, a childhood gift from her mother that she's always held dear. The small traditional webbed hoop with feathers is used to offer protection, and she said it's given her strength during challenging times. Years before joining NASA in 2013, she flew combat in Iraq for the Marines.

"It's the strength to know that I have the support of my family and community back home and that when things are difficult or things are getting hard or I'm getting burned-out or frustrated, that strength is something that I will draw on to continue toward a successful mission," Mann told The Associated Press, which gathered questions from members and tribal news outlets across the country.

Mann said she's always heeded her mother's advice on the importance of positive energy, especially on launch day.

"It's difficult for some people maybe to understand because it's not really tangible," she said. "But that positive energy is so important, and you can control that energy, and it helps to control your attitude."

Mann, 45, a Marine colonel and test pilot who was born in Petaluma, California, said it's important to recognize there are all types of people aboard the space station. It's currently home to three Americans, three Russians and one Japanese astronaut.

"What that does is it just highlights our diversity and how incredible it is when we come together as a human species, the wonderful things that we can do and that we can accomplish," she said.

While fascinated with stars and space as a child,

Mann said she did not understand who became astronauts or even what they did. "Unfortunately, in my mind at that time, it was not in the realm of possibilities," she said.

That changed later in her career. Now, she's taking in the sweeping vistas of Earth from 260 miles (420 kilometers) up and hoping to see the constellations, as she encourages youngsters to follow their dreams.

As for describing Earth from space, "the emotions are absolutely overwhelming," she said. "It is an incredible scene of color, of clouds and land, and it's difficult not to stay in the cupola (lookout) all day and just see our planet Earth and how beautiful she is, and how delicate and fragile she is against the blackest of black that I've ever seen — space — in the background."

Mann rocketed into orbit with SpaceX on Oct. 5. She'll be up there until March. She and her husband, a retired Navy fighter pilot, have a 10-year-old son back home in Houston.

The first Native American in space, in 2002, was now retired astronaut John Herrington of the Chickasaw Nation.

US awards $2.8B in grants for EV batteries in 12 states

By Matthew Daly
Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Biden administration on Wednesday awarded $2.8 billion in grants to build and expand domestic manufacturing of batteries for electric vehicles in 12 states. A total of 20 companies will receive grants for projects to extract and process lithium, graphite and other battery materials, manufacture components and strengthen U.S. supply of critical minerals, officials said.

The announcement comes as the administration seeks to boost production and sales of electric vehicles as a key part of President Joe Biden's strategy to slow climate change and build up U.S. manufacturing. Biden has vowed to boost U.S. production of lithium and other critical minerals, and the sweeping climate and health-care law passed in August includes several provisions to boost electric vehicles, including tax credits for EV buyers worth up to $7,500.

Energy Secretary Jennifer Granholm, who announced the grant competition in May, called the funding announcement "huge" news that would expand made-in-America battery manufacturing for EVs and the electric grid. Projects funded under the grants will "make battery materials and components here at home that we currently import from other countries" such as China, she said.

In a separate development, German automaker BMW said Wednesday it will invest $1 billion in its sprawling factory near Spartanburg, South Carolina, to start building electric vehicles and an additional $700 million to build a battery plant nearby.

The federal grants announced Wednesday are funded by last year's $1 trillion infrastructure law and are separate from an executive order Biden issued last spring invoking the Defense Production Act to boost production of lithium and other critical minerals used to power electric vehicles.

Albemarle Corp., Piedmont Lithium Inc., Entek and Syrah Technologies are among 20 companies to win Energy Department grants that will help fund projects in at least 12 states: Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Missouri, Nevada, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Tennessee and Washington state.

At least two projects will be located in states that have yet to be selected.

Companies selected for the grants will be required to match the federal investment to "leverage a total of more than $9 billion to boost American production of clean energy technology, create good-paying jobs" and support Biden's goal for electric vehicles to make up half of all new vehicle sales by 2030, the White House said.

Electric vehicle sales are expected to rise dramatically between now and 2030 in the U.S. and globally. But even at the start of the next decade, they will amount to just over one-third of U.S. new vehicle sales.

The LMC Automotive consulting firm expects EVs to represent 5.6% of U.S. sales this year, rising to 13.5% by 2025 and 36.4% in 2030.

Even as Granholm and other officials tout success in boosting the U.S. EV industry, automakers are warning that the vast majority of EV purchases won't qualify for the full $7,500 tax credit.

That's mainly because of the climate law's requirement that, to qualify for the credit, an electric vehicle must contain a battery built in North America with minerals mined or recycled on the continent.

Granholm said the projects announced Wednesday should help the U.S. address that issue and "supercharge the private sector to ensure our clean energy future is American-made."

Producing advanced batteries and components in the U.S. "will accelerate the transition away from fossil fuels to meet the strong demand for electric vehicles, creating more good-paying jobs across the country," she said.

GENETIC TWIST:

Medieval plague may have molded our immunity

By Laura Ungar
AP Science Writer

Our Medieval ancestors left us with a biological legacy: Genes that may have helped them survive the Black Death make us more susceptible to certain diseases today.

It's a prime example of the way germs shape us over time, scientists say in a new study published Wednesday in the journal Nature.

"Our genome today is a reflection of our whole evolutionary history" as we adapt to different germs, said Luis Barreiro, a senior author of the research. Some, like those behind the bubonic plague, have had a big impact on our immune systems.

The Black Death in the 14th century was the single deadliest event in recorded history, spreading throughout Europe, the Middle East and northern Africa and wiping out up to 30% to 50% of the population.

Barreiro and his colleagues at the University of Chicago, McMaster University in Ontario and the Pasteur Institute in Paris examined ancient DNA samples from the bones of more than 200 people from London and Denmark who died over about 100 years that stretched before, during, and after the Black Death swept through that region.

They identified four genes that, depending on the variant, either protected against or increased susceptibility to the bacteria that causes bubonic plague, which is most often transmitted by the bite of an infected flea.

They found that what helped people in Medieval times led to problems generations later — raising the frequency of mutations detrimental in modern times. Some of the same genetic variants identified as protective against the plague are associated with certain autoimmune disorders, such as Crohn's disease, rheumatoid arthritis and lupus. In these sorts of diseases, the immune system that defends the body against disease and infection attacks the body's own healthy tissues.

"A hyperactive immune system may have been great in the past but in the environment today it might not be as helpful," said Hendrik Poinar, an anthropology professor at McMaster and another senior author.

Past research has also sought to examine how the Black Death affected the human genome. But Barreiro said he believes theirs is the first demonstration that the Black Death was important to the evolution of the human immune system. One unique aspect of the study, he said, was to focus on a narrow time window around the event.

Monica H. Green, an author and historian of medicine who has studied the Black Death extensively, called the research "tremendously impressive," bringing together a wide range of experts.

"It's extremely sophisticated" and addresses important issues, such as how the same version of a gene can protect people from a horrific infection and also put modern people — and generations of their descendants — at risk for other illnesses, said Green, who was not involved in the study.

All of this begs the question: Will the COVID-19 pandemic have a big impact on human evolution? Barreiro said he doesn't think so because the death rate is so much lower and the majority of people who have died had already had children.

In the future, however, he said more deadly pandemics may well continue to shape us at the most basic level.

"It's not going to stop. It's going to keep going for sure."

USDA

announces $1 billion debt relief for 36,000 farmers

By David Pitt
Associated Press

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — The federal government announced Tuesday a program that will provide $1.3 billion in debt relief for about 36,000 farmers who have fallen behind on loan payments or face foreclosure.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture announced the farm loan relief program funded from $3.1 billion set aside in the Inflation Reduction Act allocated toward assisting distressed borrowers of direct or guaranteed loans administered by USDA. The law was passed by Congress and signed by President Joe Biden in August.

The USDA provides loans to about 115,000 farmers and livestock producers who cannot obtain commercial credit. Those who have missed payments, are in foreclosure or are heading toward default will get help from the USDA. Financial difficulties for farmers may be caused by a variety of issues including drought and transportation bottlenecks.

"Through no fault of their own, our nation's farmers and ranchers have faced incredibly tough circumstances over the last few years," said Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack. "The funding included in today's announcement helps keep our farmers farming and provides a fresh start for producers in challenging positions."

About 11,000 farm borrowers delinquent on direct or guaranteed loan payments for 60 days or longer are receiving automatic electronic payments to get them current on their loans. Each farmer with a direct loan received about $52,000 and those with guaranteed loans received about $172,000. The total cost for this group is nearly $600 million. Farmers who received this help will get a letter informing them that their payments have been made and they will remain current until their next annual payment is due in 2023, Vilsack said.

Another $200 million has been used to immediately help 2,100 farm borrowers after their loans had been foreclosed but who still owed money and had their tax refunds and other resources taken by the U.S. Treasury. The money will be used to pay the money these farmers owe to give them a fresh start, Vilsack said. The USDA said farmers in this category received an average of $101,000.

Another $571 million will be used help several additional groups including:

—7,000 farmers who during the COVID pandemic delayed loan payments to the end of their loans. This will cost $66 million.

Nimmo posts All-State finish in Class 3 Championships

By Joe Andrews
joea@warrensburgstarjournal.com

COLUMBIA — A year ago, Reece Nimmo spectated as the top 15 athletes in Class 2 received All-State medals at the Columbia Country Club.

Soon after, the goal of earning a medal in 2022 was established. The result arrived Tuesday, Oct. 18, with Nimmo tying for 11th in the MSHSAA Class 3 Championships at the same course.

“I knew I had to play well,” Nimmo said. “I was just trying to stay focused. Stay in the moment. It’s definitely an experience to enjoy.”

Nimmo posted a 36-hole sum of 29-over par 171, breaking down to 84 in round one and 87 in round two.

Weather played a factor on both days, including frost changing round two from tee times to a shotgun start. Wind gusts of up to 30 miles per hour also went along with temperatures between 35 degrees and 48 degrees.

“It’s been cold,” Nimmo said. “It’s been cold for everyone. You really got to concentrate. The wind’s this way, I have to aim this much further that way. Even on the greens, which you don’t really think about that much. The way it affects the putt, even.”

Nimmo’s first 18 holes featured one birdie, six pars, eight bogeys and three double bogeys. She proceeded to post six pars, eight bogeys and four double bogey in round two.

The two days accounted for her third overall appearance in the championships, previously finishing 57th in Class 2 as a freshman and 27th in Class 2 as a sophomore.

Nimmo entered the second round of her junior season tied for fifth.

“It was cold both days,” Warrensburg head coach Chris Nimmo said. “Those scores were going to be higher. She put some things together. She

Willis, McNeil win individual MRVC titles

By Joe Andrews
joea@warrensburgstarjournal.com

RICHMOND — Before results from the MRVC Championship were broken down to east and west, Holden senior Zach Willis already knew he was a champion.

Willis topped the combined race Wednesday, Oct. 19, on a course running through property surrounding Richmond High School. It marked his second-consecutive MRVC East title.

“Really, once I saw the top guys from Knob and Lexington, the whole thing was staying ahead of them,” Willis said. “Eventually, once I got past them, I just followed the cart.”

Willis crossed the finish line in 17:13.9, continuing toward the goal of reaching a sub-17:00 PR. The next runner from either conference didn’t come in until senior Alex Worthington capped his run at 17:45.6.

Warrensburg junior Julian McNeil came in third while topping the MRVC West with a time of 17:48.1.

“I knew I could get first in the conference,” McNeil said. “I was looking at the times last year, I’ve been looking at the times from the meets previously. I knew I had a shot at it. I just gave it everything I had.”

McNeil in from either conference, helping the Panthers top the MRVC East for the first time in program history.

He was one of four Knob runners to earn All-Conference status, joined by junior Noah Wallace, sophomore Micah Rivera and junior Levi Wilhelm.

Wallace finished fourth in the east with a time of 18:43 and Rivera finished fifth with a time of 18:51.8 and Wilhelm finished eighth with a time of 19:11.5. Sophomore Eli Vaughan finished .2 seconds outside the All-Conference range, wrapping up the

Knob’s Styles wins MRVC East, ‘Burg tops West

By Joe Andrews

RICHMOND — Nerves kicked in for Knob Noster freshman Lyla Styles ahead of the MRVC Championship on Wednesday, Oct. 19.

After running through the final 5K of the regular season, she realized there wasn’t anything to worry about. Styles topped a slate of 20 MRVC East runners, finishing with a time of 22:09.7.

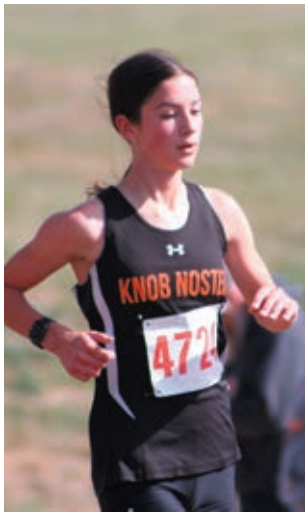

“It was stressful, I’m not going to lie,” Styles said. “It was a little scary, but I thought it was a good race.”

Styles marked the third overall runner to cross the finish line, with Pleasant Hill sophomore Brooke Beck topping the race and MRVC West with a time of 20:20.6. Clinton sophomore Leah Kenney came in second with a time of 21:57.1.

Lexington freshman Tessa Lovell came in directly behind Styles, completing the race in 22.29.

“It was a really hilly course,” Styles said. “The hills helped me a lot. Some of the other girls died on the hills, and I feel like since our coaches train us a lot on hills, I feel like I was able to kind of push my way up them. I was happy with how it turned out.”

Howard finished in 23:04.8, while Yates finished in 23:35.9. Knob was one of two teams in the east to be eligible for team competition, finishing second behind Lexington with 36 points.

“They just continue developing,” Knob Noster head coach Bridgette Carpenter said. “Lyla Styles, your conference champion, continues to impress.

Chapman to retire as Warrensburg AD

By Joe Andrews
joea@warrensburgstarjournal.com

WARRENSBURG — For Keith Chapman, the appropriate time is approaching.

After 24 years with the Warrensburg R-VI School District, the last 16 as activities director, Chapman will retire effective June 30, 2023. The Warrensburg Board of Education accepted his decision Tuesday, Oct. 18.

“I think I’ve come to a point where I’ve put a lot of time and energy into the position,” Chapman said. “I think it’s time for me to move on and take on new challenges and allow somebody else to lead our program into a new direction.”

Chapman joined the school district in 1999, a path that began with various coaching titles, including positions with football and baseball between 1991-2001, boys and girls golf between 2001-07 and boys basketball between 2005-07.

He took on responsibilities as the district activities director in 2007, a tenure that also included three different seasons of stepping into the girls basketball head coach role.

“The important part for me is to make sure we try and do things right,” Chapman said. “What keeps me motivated is to try and find ways to provide opportunities for our student-athletes.

The addition of facilities has been helpful, but also finding quality coaches to lead our programs.”

New facilities brought to Warrensburg during Chapman’s tenure include the current main high school gymnasium, a new weight room, a new aerobics room, a new middle school gymnasium and the Warrensburg Activities Complex.

All came in collaboration with various administrators, school district patrons and community support to benefit student-athletes. The activities complex allows all sports, with the exception of golf and swimming, to remain on campus for practices.

“The last 16 years have been an evolution,” Chapman said. “Really, about four and a half years ago, we had some patrons in the district alongside with leadership of the central office, staff, with other building leaders having a focus on it’s time to move in that direction of providing a quality complex for our student-athletes as we move into the future.”

During Chapman’s time as AD, Warrensburg’s had top four team finishes 18 different times, including state championships from the 2009 boys golf team, 2011 boys cross country team, 2013 girls golf team and 2022 boys tennis team.

The Tigers have also had 12 different individual state champions.

“We’ve been fortunate enough that we’ve been able to find quality coaches that are both head coaches and assistants,” Chapman said. “I’ve also been fortunate enough to have one of the best assistants with Tina Hall, helping me keep organized and lead these programs in a direction to provide opportunities for our student-athletes.”

Chapman received athletic administrator certification in 2012 from the National Interscholastic Athletic Administrators Association (NIAAA).

He was named the Central District Athletic Director of the Year by the Missouri Interscholastic Athletic Administrators Association in 2016, and received the Missouri State Award of Merit from the NIAAA.

Chapman has also served as the President of the MIAAA over the last two years. He’ll remain as activities director through the

Johnson County football preview – Week Nine

By Joe Andrews
joea@warrensburgstarjournal.com

Two guaranteed games remain in the 2022 high school football season – week nine and district quarterfinals.

Teams will get the chance to close the regular season with a win with hopes of improving their position in district standings one final time.

Ahead of the regular season's conclusion, Warrensburg sits seventh in Class 4 District 7 standings with 29.09 points. Pending a change in positioning, the Tigers should travel to Lincoln College Prep or Nevada next week.

Knob Noster and Holden remain locked into a battle for the No. 2 seed in Class 2 District 6. The Panthers hold the position with 39.77 points heading into a matchup with Holden. The Eagles are third with 37.05 points.

Depending on how seeding lines up, both should be at home next week against Hogan Prep or Pembroke Hill.

Crest Ridge sits sixth out of eight spots in Class 1 District 4, holding 17.23 points.

The Cougars will look to hold their ground from Midway, which has 17.14 points. Pending this week's results, they should open districts at Sherwood or Adrian.

Warrensburg (3-5, 1-4 MRVC West) vs Oak Grove (1-7, 1-4 MRVC West), 7 p.m.

Warrensburg seeks to close the regular season out on a positive note in a battle with Oak Grove.

The Tigers are coming off a 65-7 win over Clinton, accounting for their first win since week three. They dominated through the ground, including 133 rushing yards and four touchdowns off seven carries from senior Xavier Morris and four touches for 132 yards and a touchdown from junior Cole Kreisel.

In terms of skill level, this week should be a completely different contest, facing an Oak Grove team that's only beat Clinton. The Panthers are coming off a 47-36 loss to Harrisonville, one of three games decided by one to two possessions on their schedule this season.

Oak Grove's kept things mostly to the ground this season, rushing for an average of 253.9 yards per game while recording 17 touchdowns.

Their rush includes senior Jacob Shrout running for 861 yards and six touchdowns, sophomore Logan Pittman running for 766 yards and eight touchdowns, junior Jordan Hall running for 487 yards and four touchdowns and junior Grady Salmon running for 281 yards and six touchdowns.

Oak Grove averages 25.5 points per game compared to Warrensburg's 31. It allows an average of 40 points per game, while the Tigers have limited their opponents to 29.

Fans unable to attend can catch a stream via Prepcasts at bit.ly/3VSLKue.

Knob Noster (6-2, 2-2 MRVC East) vs Holden (5-3, 2-2 MRVC East)

The fight for third place in the MRVC East and the No. 2 seed in Class 2 District 6 will take place in Knob Noster.

Knob Noster enters the matchup in search of its first score since beating Lexington 41-20 on Sept. 30. The Panthers have been outscored 124-0, split between state-ranked Lafayette County and Richmond in the last two weeks.

Knob Noster will look to get its offense going against a Holden team that lost to Lafayette County 48-0 but played Richmond to a 26-20 final.

Panthers that'll look to make an impact include junior quarterback Trey Payne, sophomore running back Sam Livingston, senior wide receiver Tony Diaz and senior wide receiver Ray Goldsby.

Holden's coming off a 52-0 win over Carrollton, a game that included 370 rushing yards. Junior Reco Jenkins led with 156 yards and two touchdowns off 16 carries.

The Eagles had five takeaways in the contest, including two interceptions from senior Bryce Faust.

Holden will look to get similar success going with hopes of also benefiting from athletes, including junior quarterback Aiden Morarity, junior Jayden Davis-Hacker and senior Garrett Smith.

The Eagles average 28.9 points per game compared to Knob Noster's 24.5. They've held their opponents to 20.3 compared to Knob Noster's 22.9.

Holden was shut out by Lafayette County 48-0 but stayed within reach of Richmond 26-20.

Fans unable to attend the game can catch a stream at youtube.com/c/KnobNosterHighSchoolEvents.

Crest Ridge (1-7) vs Slater (2-6), 7 p.m.

Crest Ridge will look to close out the regular season with a win.

The Cougars are coming off a 44-14 loss to Windsor, a game that continued to showcase the focus on putting things in the air.

Junior quarterback Daniel Doak completed 13-of-29 passes for 158 yards and one touchdown against the Greyhounds. Junior Ryan Carey had three receptions for 64 yards and a touchdown.

Slater heads into the contest following a 41-20 loss to Wellington-Napoleon.

The Wildcats tend to mix things up between the air and ground. Slater's earned two wins on the season, beating Midway 38-14 and Lone Jack 39-13.

They average 20.4 points per game compared to Crest Ridge's 18.3 and allow 38.3 points per game compared to Crest Ridge's 38.1.

The Cougars aim to avoid their second consecutive one-win regular season. Fans can listen to the game at digitalburg.com/thebeat.

would’ve liked to finish better on 18, but that’s why you play 36 holes. One hole doesn’t break or make you, fortunately.”

Reece Nimmo accounted for one of three Tigers to appear at state, joined by senior Allie Phelps and junior Elise Lewis.

Phelps finished 19th with a 178, three strokes outside of All-State consideration. She posted a 90 in round one and 88 in round two.

“I started a little bit better than I thought (in round one),” Phelps said. “I got a roll on the pars, I just kept parring and parring. I got into some trouble, but I was able to come back. All I wanted to do (in round two) was do as good as yesterday and find areas to improve.”

Phelps posted five pars, nine bogeys and four double bogeys in round one. She had four pars, 11 bogeys and three double bogeys in round two.

The finish marked the best of Phelps’ high school career at state, previously placing 39th in Class 2 as a sophomore and 49th in Class 2 as a junior.

“She played much better (in round two), as her score showed,” Chris Nimmo said. “I’m really, really proud of her not only as a player, but as a person. She’s fantastic. She’s had a wonderful four years.”

Lewis tied for 68th, posting 102 in round one and 103 in round two for a sum of 205.

Her first round featured one birdie, two pars, six bogeys and nine double bogeys. She followed up with six pars, two bogeys and 10 double-bogeys in round two.

It marked her second appearance at state, going along with a 62nd-place finish last year.

Her two-round sum improved by 16 strokes.

“She played so much better (in round two),” Chris Nimmo said. “That’s kind of the way golf works. She just didn’t get breaks. The ball didn’t bounce her way. There were a lot of unfortunate and unlucky breaks. She’s going to be a lot better having gone through this.”

Father Tolton junior Audrey Rischer won the individual championship with a 12-over par 154 (77-77).

Glendale earned the team championship, posting a 687.

Reece Nimmo accounts for Warrensburg’s first All-State girls golfer since Taylor BeDell in 2016. She is the first since girls golf shifted from two to four classes in 2020.

I’m just really happy. I’m excited.”

Warrensburg posted four All-Conference athletes in the 25-runner MRVC West, including sophomore Peyton Bruner, senior Emma Gebbia, senior Ellie Wiederhoeft and junior Avenelle Kientzy.

Bruner finished sixth in the conference with a time of 22:58.3, Gebbia finished eighth with a time of 23:14.1, Wiederhoeft finished ninth with a time of 23:39.6 and Kientzy finished 10th with a time of 23:40.3.

The placements, plus a 14th place showing from sophomore Lily Applegate with a time of 24:32.1, helped the girls to a MRVC West Championship.

They had 36 points in the three-team field. Pleasant Hill came in second with 45.

“They all ran very well,” Warrensburg head coach Creighton Collier said. “Several runners ran season bests this year, which I was impressed with especially with how tough the course is.”

Warrensburg’s conference title marked the third since joining the MRVC West in 2018, going along with championships in 2019 and 2020.

“We talked before the race about the tradition of Warrensburg cross country and how we’ve done in the conference race,” Collier said. “They knew what’s expected from them and they executed the plan.”

Local all-conference honors also included Holden freshman Malea Brewington and sophomore Ava Young in the MRVC East.

Brewington finished ninth with a time of 23:37.7, while Young finished 10th with a time of 23:45.4.

Styles marked the first local girls MRVC East champion since Knob Noster’s Abigail Collier in 2020.

team score in 11th with a time of 19:23.6.

“This is what one of our goals has been, to be at this race and run at this race we did today,”

Knob Noster head coach Bridgette Carpenter said. “They were all super excited to be able to do the things that they were. I’m super proud of them for what they’ve done.”

Other local medalists included Warrensburg sophomore Jeremiah Akinbohun finishing third in the MRVC West with a time of 18:18.2 and Holden sophomore Garrett Hankins finishing ninth in the MRVC East with a time of 19:17.

Akinbohun’s performance joined McNeil’s to help the Tigers to a runner-up finish in the West with 63 team points.

Warrensburg’s top-five scores also included junior Carson O’Neal finishing 11th with a time of 19:27.3, sophomore Anthony Long finishing 17th with a time of 20:01.0 and senior Colton Robbins finishing 31st with a time of 21:29.5.

“I was impressed with the boys today, specifically because last year we didn’t have a whole lot to start off the season and we ended up in fourth place,” Warrensburg head coach Creighton Collier said. “It was such a huge jump from where we were last year. A lot of improvements from a lot of the boys that ran last year, particularly with Julian and Jeremiah.”

With Willis’ title, a Johnson County runner has topped the MRVC East each season since 2018. The string includes Samuel Wilhelm’s three individual titles (2018, 2019, 2020).

A Warrensburg runner has topped the West in all but one season in 2018. Previous champions include Colton Palmer (2018) and Drew Belardo (2020 and 2021).

WHAT'S NEW ON NETFLIX

"From Scratch"

Take a journey of love and self-discovery with the eight-part romantic drama series "From Scratch," premiering Friday, Oct. 21, on Netflix. Inspired by the memoir of the same name by Tembi Locke ("Eureka"), the series stars Zoe Saldana ("Guardians of the Galaxy," 2014) as Amahle "Amy" Wheeler, an American student studying abroad in Italy. While there, Amy falls into a whirlwind romance with Sicilian chef Lino (Eugenio Mastrandrea, "La fuggitiva"), and as they grapple with vastly different cultural backgrounds and their opinionated families, the pair find themselves desperately in love. But when Lino is faced with unimaginable health challenges, their two families come together to prove that love can conquer more than just international borders. Written for the screen by Tembi and Attica Locke ("Empire"), "From Scratch" is directed by Dennie Gordon ("Burn Notice") and Nzingha Stewart ("Little Fires Everywhere"). Roberta Rigano ("I Know This Much Is True"), Ruby Kammer ("That Dirty Black Bag"), Saad Siddiqui ("Coroner"), Jonathan Dylan King ("Taking the Fall," 2021), Paride Benassai ("Baaria," 2009), Kellita Smith ("Z Nation"), Carlos Arellano ("Our Flag Means

But instead of the cleansing journey she hopes for, Laura discovers a real demon instead — and this one isn't quite so willing to let go. From director and writer Ben Steiner
