Brattin, James running for MO State Senate

Incumbent Rick Brattin, R, Harrisonville will face off against Raymond James, D, Leeton, for the Missouri State Senate District 31 seat in the Nov. 5 election.

A small business owner, James is running for his second term in office. James has served in a number of local positions, including the Johnson County Central Dispatch 911 Board and as a Environmental Public Health Specialist for Johnson County.

Each candidate was asked to fill out a questionnaire. Answers were limited to 150 and are listed in the order the candidates appear on the ballot. The candidates' responses have been lightly edited for grammar and a few were edited for length.

Why are you running for office?

Brattin: It has been my honor to serve this Senate District since my election in 2020, and I would like to have the opportunity to serve a second term so I can keep standing up for our Constitution and fighting to make sure truly conservative legislation is passed by the Missouri Senate.

James: Every Citizen has a duty to do what they can with what they have, where they are to make their community better. Such as serving as a Scout leader or volunteering at a food bank. I saw our current State Senator called intentionally dysfunctional by his own Governor. Saw his attacks on Women's Rights, his efforts to ban books and his attacks on families with gay or trans children. While he professes to be for parental rights and claims to be for protecting children he ignores the rights of parents and citizens to make their own decisions. You are Free to make decisions that conform to his church's teachings not yours. He voted to ban abortion. Voted to force 12 year old rape victims carry to term. Voted to defund clinics providing birth control.

ARRENSBURG — In the words of Kool & The Gang, "Oh, yes, it's Ladies' Night/ And the feeling's right."

Indeed, it was Ladies' Night or time for the Ladies' Night Out event on Tuesday, Oct. 8, as the Western Missouri Medical Center hosted its 12th annual breast cancer awareness event at the Jerry M. Hughes Athletics Center.

Over 750 women attended the event on Tuesday, representing a large increase from the WMMC's first event held seven years ago in the hospital's conference room hosting a mere 15 attendees according to WMMC Foundation Board President Jan Glover.

The event has aimed to raise awareness of breast cancer and encourage women to schedule mammograms as needed. FujiFilm, a Japanese company that is in Dallas, Texas and a beautiful and intricate proud citizen of Austin, Texas, died in Warrensburg, Missouri on October 7, 2024, at age 92. She had moved to Warrensburg with her husband, poet and CMSC professor Robert C. Jones in 1961. They established them-

OBITUARIES

Nancy Dale Jones

Nancy was a civic-minded activist. She received a bachelor's degree in journalism from the University of Texas. She always voted, was an associate of the Danforth Foundation, began the League of Women Voters in Warrensburg and was behind the opening of the Planned Parenthood clinic. She worked in the PR department of CMSU, turned to teaching at the Writing Lab there, and took a master's degree in English from Central Missouri State University, writing her thesis on the letters of Emily Dickinson.

Nancy was adventurous and independent, traveling and living abroad in Romania, England, Greece, and Hungary. And she remained independent living at home, despite physical hardships, until it was no longer possible. While at home, she loved art, classical music, the ballet, and literature. Her house was full of books, paintings, and music. Guests were always treated to a cup of coffee and a pastry from Andres in Kansas City.

Nancy was a creative person. During her life she sewed clothes and quilts, Nancy Dale Jones, born knitted, finished many cross stitch pieces, hung wallpaper, upholstered furniture, caned chairs.

In the 1970's, she established a knitting group with like-minded women – a group that lasted through the years though its original members have dwindled. As an architectural preservationist, she refurbished two Warrensburg historic houses. She researched both houses and had them placed on the National Register of Historic Places (Herbert A. and Bettie E. Cress House and the Lewis and Sophie Griebel House).

Nancy was a gardener. Her yard won best lawn of the year more than once and was included in the garden walking tour of Warrensburg. She grew trees, shrubbery, and flowers, heritage roses being her favorite.

Her final years were made easier by the support of her care-giver Robbyn McColligan, her loving neighbors the Thomas family, and her friends throughout the decades and around the world. Her husband Robert and son Christopher both preceded her in death. She is survived by her three daughters: Susan, Robin, and Elizabeth (husband Wayne), and by her four grandchildren: Brent (wife Hannah), Benjamin, Michael (partner Amanda), and Abagael (partner Adira).

Arrangements were made under the direction of Sweeney-Phillips & Holdren Funeral Home in Warrensburg. There will be no service but memories to the family are appreciated.

Virgie Lee Fockler

Virgie Lee (Beard) Fockler, age 99 passed away October 7th, 2024 at Country Club Rehab and Healthcare Center in Warrensburg, MO. She was born on June 4, 1925 in Valley City, MO to Fred and Louise (Bode) Beard of Knob Noster, MO. On September 17, 1941 she was united in marriage to Lloyd George Fockler who preceded her in death on September 19, 1987. They were married for 46 years and to this union six children were born. They lived in the Knob Noster area most of their lives.

In addition to being a homemaker, Virgie worked outside the home performing housekeeping duties for families at Whiteman AFB, worked at several cafes and was a caretaker for individuals in their homes. She also worked at Unifemme Garment Factory in Warrensburg MO for 23 years. She was dedicated, honest and trusted by all. After her husband's death she moved to Parkview Gardens in Warrensburg, MO where she resided for 25 years until the age of 95. Her last four years were spent at Country Club Rehab and Healthcare Center.

Virgie was a member of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints. She had great faith in her Lord and Savior Jesus Christ and followed in her Savior's footsteps by expressing her love, generosity, compassion and service to others.

Virgie is survived by children Dean (Bren> da) Fockler of Sedalia, MO, Cherylene (Bob) Alexander of Tucson, AZ, Roxanna (Vaughn) Walters of Chillicothe, MO and Doug (Terry) Fockler of Centerview, MO; 15 grandchildren, 35 great grandchildren, and 3 great-great grandchildren, and many other relatives. She is also survived by her beloved twin sister Mildred Beard with whom she shared a room at Country Club Rehab and Healthcare Center for the last two years of her life.

Virgie was preceded in death by her husband and parents; daughters Iris Smith (and her husband Larry) and Debra Morris; granddaughters Terri Lynn Smith and Meghan Kimbler; brothers Noah Beard and Ervin Beard; sisters Dora Beard, Vera Beard, Roxie Ballew, Helen Cundiff, Lela Fockler and Zeta Boyle.

Funeral services will be held Saturday October 12, 2024 at 11:00 a.m. at Sweeney-Phillips & Holdren Funeral Home in Warrensburg, MO. The family will receive friends from 10:00 -11:00 a.m. prior to the service. Interment will follow at Memorial Gardens, Warrensburg, MO

Memorial contributions are suggested to the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints and may be entrusted to the care of Sweeney-Phillips & Holdren Funeral Home.

announce the passing of Jessica Basta-Audsley, who left us on October 5, 2024. Jessica was born on November 1, 1984, and in her 39 years, she touched many lives with her kindness, courage, and a distinctly loving approach to life.

Jessica is survived by her loving partner, Robert Strohmeyer, and her cherished children, Alison Audsley and Russell Strohmeyer. She also leaves behind her devoted parents, Barbara and Wayne Basta, and her caring siblings, Coleen Johnston and Wayne Basta II. Jessica's vivacious spirit and loving heart will be deeply missed by all who knew her.

Jessica had a deep fondness for comfort food, most notably her mom's homemade egg McMuffins and pot roast, along with Crispix mix. She was an avid reader who found an irresistible allure in historical crime books and forensics. A lover of cinema, Jessica was passionate about horror movies and had a soft spot for 'Titanic'.

As an enthusiastic supporter of the Kansas City Chiefs, she often found herself in friendly debates about the team's performances. Jessica's leisure time was often spent playing video games, camping, and most importantly, creat-sorbed in learning more about them.

Among her notable accomplishments was saving a man's life from a house fire after discovering him passed out inside. It was a testament to Jessica's instinctive desire to help others and her fearlessness in face of life-threatening situations. Her favourite colour was never set in stone, often saying it 'depends on the day' — a well-rounded reflection on her vibrant personality.

In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions are suggested to the Erase PTSD Now in care of the funeral home.

Jessica's spirit will live on in the hearts of many, and she will be remembered for her unwavering love for her family, her courage, and her advocacy for causes she truly believed in. May she rest be closer to his daughter, who lives in Buckner.

Byars, 73, worked in boarding schools for many years serving upwards of 9,000 kids during his time. But, he never felt the schools were serving food the right way.

"I've had as many as 600 kids at a time," Byars said. "So, when you're feeding that many (kids), you have a lot of processed food."

Having spent time in seven different culinary schools and many restaurant kitchens, Byars has seen the deficiencies and adequacy in today's food market. Opening up his own food truck, where he can control the ins and outs of his product, seemed like the best thing to do.

"It's about giving (the customer) an experience," Byars said. "I'm a little bit older and so I grew up caring about customer service. That's the most important thing."

Looking for the best deal is a theme for the One Man Band Food Truck.

Byars purchased his food truck from China, saying the price was hard to beat. Buying it just before the COVID-19 pandemic began, Byars didn't receive his truck until three months later.

The truck itself can't be classified as a truck, however. To move it around, Byars drives a small motorcycle that, with the rest of the truck hooked up, can reach a mere 35 miles per hour. Byars could care less about the speed because of the small price he paid overall and the perks coming within the truck itself.

"It came with a grill and everything you see in here," Byars said pointing to the truck's built-in fridge, freezer and other amenities.

Byars believes that food is only good when the customer leaves satisfied. Burger joints are around every corner in the U.S., but if you have the best burger, people have a reason to come

"You can get anybody to come eat with you once, but how do you get them the second time or the third time?" Byars said.

For the One Man Band Food Truck, which got its name because Byars runs it on his own and was inspired by the One Man Band Diner in Utah, accommodation is key. Nobody wants to pay an arm and a leg for a hamburger in the same way nobody wants extra fat that they can avoid. Byars avoids both of those with a dedication to freshness and the customers he cooks for every day he is

"Your taste buds are different than mine," Byars said. "If you're a customer and you come in, you say, 'I prefer not this, or I'd like a little bit more of this,' then I will accommodate you and make it your way, because who's eating it?"

All of the meat and produce at One Man Band is done fresh and local. Byars grinds his own hamburger meat, dices all his vegetables and only outsources his bread from Philadelphia.

"The difference in our food is it's all like what I grew up with. More fresh and it's not been processed a lot," Byars said.

And don't worry, the food isn't pricey either. For less than $20, customers can order from a range of sandwiches like its best-selling Philly cheesesteak and receive a bottled beverage and hot and ready french fries. Not available during lunch, the One Man Band Food Truck also offers breakfast bur-

Byars said he is looking to expand more on his menu with fresh squeezed lemonade and handcrafted pizzas in the future.

LOCAL BRIEFS

Meeting scheduled to educate over new program for bed and breakfasts, short-term rentals

City of Warrensburg staff invite the public to attend an educational meeting regarding the new licensing and inspection program for bed and breakfast inns and short-term rentals.

This new program provides standards to ensure the safety, health, and general welfare of both guests and the public. The intent of the meeting is to review the program requirements and answer questions concerning the process of completing inspections and obtaining a business license.

The meeting will be held at 2 p.m. October 16 at the Municipal Center, 200 S. Holden Street.

Based on both evolving local conditions and state and national trends for regulating these establishments, the City adopted two ordinances (Ordinance No. 5825 and Ordinance No. 5826) related to bed and breakfasts and short-term rentals in late 2023. All bed and breakfast inns or short-term rentals operating inside Warrensburg City limits will be required to successfully complete an inspection and get a city business license prior to June 1, Inspections held between January 1 and February 28 are free, and any inspection after March 1 is $125 per inspection. Short-term rental/bed and breakfast operators are encouraged to call in their inspections before January 1. Moving forward, this license must be renewed each year by June 1 and a new inspection will be required to renew the business license.

MoDot schedules resurfacing along Route Z

The Missouri Department of Transportation will be conducting lane closures on Lafayette and Johnson County Route Z between Interstate 70 and U.S. Highway 50 for resurfacing.

Work will take place from Friday, Oct. 11 until Thursday., Oct. 31, from approximately 7 a.m. until 4 p.m. daily. This project will involve the use of a flagging operation with pilot cars to help traffic navigate through the work zone. All work is weather permitting.

Motorists are reminded to slow down and pay attention while driving in work zones. Not all work zones look alike. Work zones can be moving operations, such as striping, patching or mowing. They can also be short term, temporary lane closures to make quick repairs or remove debris from the roadway.

Charter and Go partners with University of Central Missouri to enhance aviation, technology education

WARRENSBURG — Charter and Go, a rapidly growing tech startup in the air charter industry, has announced a longterm partnership with the University of Central Missouri.

The collaboration has been in development for the past three years and officially marks Charter and Go's first partnership with a higher education institution. Charter and Go started working with the program in fall 2022, aiming to enhance both UCM's academic offerings and Charter and Go's development efforts.

Through this partnership, UCM students have gained access to Charter and Go's continually evolving flight management system, using it for coursework, senior projects and research. The program covers a wide range of topics, including cloud computing, serverless applications, artificial intelligence (AI), web applications, cybersecurity and aviation.

By incorporating real-world use cases into their academic studies, UCM students can apply their theoretical knowledge to practical challenges, gaining valuable experience in these cutting-edge fields. UCM plans to expand its aviation studies program further, utilizing Charter and Go's software to provide students with more hands-on learning opportunities and industry exposure.

The idea for this collaboration began three years ago when Charter and Go approached Dr. Belinda Copus, Chair of the Department of Computer Science and Cybersecurity at UCM. They proposed a joint effort to integrate their air charter software into UCM's academic curriculum, and since then, the partnership has blossomed.

UCM students have worked closely with Charter and Go's development team, contributing to senior projects and research that directly benefit the aviation industry. This collaboration has also offered students mentorship from industry professionals, while Charter and Go has gained valuable insights from the next generation of tech talent.

Peter Gossell, who worked with Charter and Go as an intern, emphasized the hands-on learning that students experience. "My internship with Charter and Go was an exciting opportunity to use the skills I learned in college working on a massive project to be used by our customers. We started working on small aspects of the application, then put them together. We worked daily with stakeholders and other developers refining the usability and requirements of the platform so it would provide the best benefit to clients," Gossell said.

worked with Charter and Go software and staff prior to his graduation. Now employed as a developer at Charter and Go, Westhoff encourages current students to make the most of the internship opportunity. "Ask a lot of questions," he advises. "Don't be afraid to try out new technologies."

Demietrius Huff, vice president of development at Charter and Go, oversees the company's internship program and serves on the UCM Computer Science and Software Engineering Advisory Board. Huff, who holds a Bachelor of Science in Computer Science with a concentration in Software Engineering from UCM, has been instrumental in fostering the collaboration. The success of the partnership is evident, as four individuals from UCM's internship program have since been hired into full-time roles at Charter and Go.

"We're thrilled to partner with UCM and work closely with such talented students. As a UCM alumnus, it's especially rewarding to give back to the program that helped shape my career," Huff said. "This collaboration allows us to nurture the next generation of tech professionals while also driving innovation within Charter and Go. The students bring fresh ideas and energy, and by working on topics like cloud computing, serverless applications, artificial intelligence, web applications, cybersecurity and aviation, they're earning real-world experience that will help them succeed in their careers."

"This partnership is a unique opportunity for our students to gain hands-on experience with industry-leading technology while working closely with professionals in the field," Dr. Copus said. "It aligns perfectly with our commitment to providing students with practical, real-world applications for their studies. We're excited to see how this collaboration continues to evolve and benefit both UCM and Charter and Go."

Gosell added, "Working a project for Charter and Go is a great way to get real-world experience and count it towards college credit. It provides an opportunity to work with classmates, encounter new technologies, and get a taste of a larger goal for a project that will provide value to end-user customers."

No, the government does not control the weather

By Liz Schleicher Contributing Columnist

he devastation of Hurricane Helene has reactivated a juicy conspiracy theory that has been floating in and out of the public consciousness for the past 30 years.

The story goes like this: A United States military science project called

LIZ SCHLEICHER COLUMNIST

(High-frequency Active Auroral Research Program), stationed in Alaska and begun in the 1990s, discovered how to control and weaponize the weather. Now, the federal government uses HAARP to punish its foreign and domestic political enemies by enhancing hurricanes, conjuring up blizzards, and causing earthquakes.

In the latest retelling of the tale, the feds have used HAARP to enhance Hurricane Helene and make sure rural Appalachia, a Republican stronghold, is too weakened to vote. Or, in another version, the hurricane was sent to destroy Appalachia so developers could swoop in and access valuable mineral stores lying underneath the Carolina mountains.

Here are two things I know for sure: I do not trust the government, and weather manipulation science is real. Here are two other things I know for sure: the government did not control Hurricane Helene, and it cannot control the weath-

I love a good conspiracy theory, so I did some light reading on HAARP and the history of weather manipulation science. I encourage you to do the same. Start with the easy stuff on Wikipedia, and then extend your search to the detailed primary sources mentioned in the articles on HAARP. You will be able to see what HAARP is, what it does, and why people are afraid of it. You will learn a lot about the history of scientific attempts to control the weather, what we can do, and what we cannot. I found it fascinating and slightly spooky, although not at all in the "government is sending natural disasters to kill us" sense.

Our distrust of the federal government runs so deep that many of us will believe it's up to anything nefarious, no matter how kooky or improbable the theory may be. Mind control, weather control, lizard people, alien doppelgängers

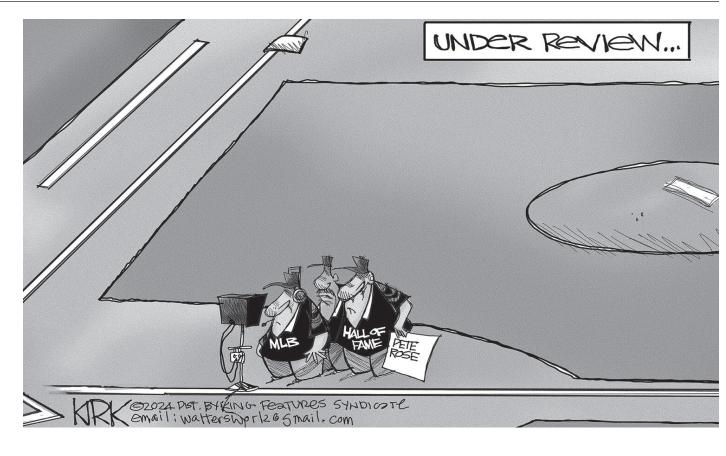

... the reason we suspect our leaders are capable of these things is because we know they're power-hungry charlatans who would absolutely use those technologies if they were available. But they're not. We can see that by looking around us. Our federal government is criminally incompetent, stupid and wasteful. We cannot have it both ways — either they are evil masterminds with power, or bumbling idiots with power. It is pretty clear to me it's the latter, which is bad enough.

God is the one who controls the weather. Remember that guy? The one who is more powerful than any earthly prince and is in control, no matter how wild things get? Sometimes I think it's simpler and less painful for Americans believe in the conspiracy theories. An evil cabal controlling the world and doling out natural disasters is an easier thing for the mind to reckon with than a good God who somehow also allows things like Helene to happen to his people. So we discard the Problem of Evil and clamp down on a problem that is slightly easier to get our heads around: the government is behind it all. As author G.K. Chesterton famously quipped, "once abolish the God, and the government becomes the God." It's an idol we both worship and loathe, powerful and terrible, but one that we can hold out hope will be smashed, so we finally see what makes it tick.

The power idols have is given to them only by the people who bow down and worship. They have none of their own. They feed on offerings of rumors and tales, dreams of dominance and unfounded fears. Idols are just as happy to be thought boogeymen as benevolent gods, because power is power. The more power people believe you have, the more people you can control.

The government is an idol, not God. It cannot control the weather. Do not let it control you either. Do not buy into conspiracy theories that give it the power it so desperately craves.

THE ROCKWOOD FILES

Do you really know your nose?

By Gwen Rockwood Syndicated Columnist

egardless of age or level of education, sometimes we think we know things only to find out we were wrong or knew only a fraction of the facts. That's what happened last week when I discovered details about the human nose that blew my mind (and my nose). Since we're at the beginning of cold and flu season, I'll share a story that your nose knows, which perhaps you don't.

I owe this revelation to a writer named Sarah Zhang, who wrote an article for The Atlantic about a year ago titled "Everything I Thought I Knew About Nasal Congestion Is Wrong." I was skeptical when I saw the headline because I didn't think there was much to know about congestion. Your nose is stuffy. You blow it. End of story.

But according to Sarah's article and the experts she interviewed, the nose is so much more complex than that. When I noticed that the subtitle of her article was "You really have two noses," I knew I needed to sniff out the truth.

I've been a nose owner for five decades, so I assumed I knew how this thing works. And even though I'm not great at math, I was convinced I had precisely one nose. But that's because I was foolishly judging my nose by its cover. It might look singular, but those two nostrils are the entry points for completely separate structures.

You know that tiny piece of the nose located between vour nostrils? Think of it like a wall separating two hallways that lead to sideby-side rooms. For various reasons ranging from genetics to injury, sometimes the wall is crooked or curved, and that's okay because, usually, it's harmless. But sometimes the crooked wall partially blocks one of the passageways. That crooked wall is called a "deviated septum."

Regardless of whether the wall is straight or not. those separate passageways are like twins who look alike but work different schedules. At any given time, one half of your nose is more open than the other half. Most of us don't notice it, but those nasal twins are trading off on handling the work. The "dominant nostril" switches sides every couple of hours in what doctors call the "nasal cycle." (When we're sick and hosting gobs of mucus, we can more easily feel which nose twin is open for business and which one is currently a dead end.)

Why do our nose twins operate on this back-andforth schedule? No one is exactly sure, except for God, who probably has a good reason. Maybe they trade off because the nose has to work around the clock while the other facial organs get to relax. The eyes mostly shut down during sleep, and the mouth often goes slack. But the nose keeps breathing in and out, filtering air, and detecting smells.

Your nose twins are like two bouncers standing in front of a busy nightclub. Sometimes they get irritated because they're dealing with everything trying to get into the club, including dirt, allergens, and viruses. Most of the time. the bouncers kick them out with a sneeze. But occasionally, a troublemaker slips through and inflames the linings inside our twin noses.

When those linings get angry, they swell up like the Incredible Hulk. The more they swell, the more congested we feel. Blowing the nose helps get the extra gunk out, which is great, but it won't help with swelling. That's why decongestants are designed to temporarily reduce swelling inside the

But suppose all the swelling and mucus back up into the sinuses (which are usually pockets filled with air). In that case, you may feel like a solid brick of gunk has formed behind your face, causing pain and (in my experience) chronic crankiness.

We're at the time of year when ragweed gets rowdy and Covid cranks up, so it's important to know what's happening right under your eyes. Your nose twins are partnering in an intricate dance to help you breathe, and breathing according to 100 percent of doctors - is good. It's as plain as the nose on your face.

BEN ON WINE

Low prices do not always neglect quality

f vou have not sampled wines from the Iberian Peninsula, Spain and Portugal, you are missing some very excellent wines that sell for even better prices.

I have often indicated, there are no longer any bad wines being made, only wines that you may not like. Modern technology has lifted winemaking from a hit and miss endeavor to a science. Among the beneficiaries for this change were the wineries of Spain and Portugal.

In the years after World War II, the wines of Iberia tried to fill the gap in the supply of wines affected by the war but unfortunately, their wines were waining.

It did not take long for help to arrive in the form of modern winemaking techniques and improved sanitation. With those in place, their wines took a quantum leap in quality.

Today the Spanish and Portuguese wines are the equal to wines made anywhere in the world. There is one Sword of Damocles that is still hanging over the heads of their wines, price. Wine customers often associate price with Iberia as their economy and cost of living permits their wines to sell at, shall we say, very attractive prices. Please, please, please do not judge quality by price anymore.

I have sampled and enjoyed a Gallo Hearty Burgundy at $9.99 for a magnum and poured a $127 bottle of cabernet sauvignon wine from a famous name producer, down the drain, with witnesses to both events.

La Capilla 2019 Crianza ($24)

This full bodied red wine comes from the Ribera del Duero grape growing district in the north central part of Spain and is made from a grape variety indigenous to that specific region, the Tinta del País. Going even further, the wine was aged in oak barrels, allowing the wine to pick up the best attributes of the wood and also soften the wine.

The wine displays a deep, ruby color and an aroma of black fruits, oak and just a hint of pepper and vanilla while the flavor offers blackberries, blueberries with hints of vanilla and spice in the background. This is an excellent wine and to me, was reminiscent of a fine Cabernet Sauvi-

Marques de Caceres 2018 Rioja Reserva ($18.50)

Here is another Spanish wine that is made from mostly tempranillo grapes.

In this example, there is a balsamic background that adds a very interesting extra layer of enjoyment to the flavor of this wine. The finished wine has spent two years aging in oak barrels resulting in a dark wine offering the aromas black fruits, coconut, mocha and oak.

These aromas join the flavor and carry right through to the very long and flavorful finish and is a wine that leaves nothing to be desired and an excellent example of the quality that Spanish wines have achieved.

Marques de Caceres 2020 Crianza ($15)

This wine was also made from 100% tempranillo grapes from the Rioja district of Spain and displays its traditional dark red color which acts as an introduction to the flavors and aromas of strawberry, raspberry, vanilla and just the right amount of oak.

The Marques de Caceres 2020 Crianza is an excellent ambassador for tempranillo wines and the Crianza style.

Symington 2021 Altano Douro Red ($14.99)

Here is a wine that has been made from a blend of the most popular of the Portuguese wine grapes; 40% touriga, 30% tinta barroca, 30% tinta roriz.

What resulted is a wine that offers a prominent black fruit flavor and aroma accented by a hint of oak.

To eliminate one question that might arise, this wine is not a sweet port and the only thing that they have that is common is its very dark color courtesy of the indigenous touriga grapes, which in this case have been made as a dry wine to accompany a meal and not for or as a dessert.

for its film photography, had a truck outside the event geared with its newest mammographic technology and the ability for locals to schedule their next mammogram. In addition, many local businesses and sponsors of the WMMC set up booths at the event to answer questions from attendees.

"We've scheduled so many mammograms that we've realized that we need to improve our equipment and efficiency at the Western Missouri Medical Center," Glover said.

Glover said that the hospital will launch its "Empower Through Early Detection" plan in 2025. The plan consists of purchasing two state-of-the-art three-dimensional mammogram machines and a new ultrasound machine to better evaluate those with dense breast tissue or inconclusive mammogram

"The current machines that we have (take around) 25 seconds," Glover said. "The new machine (will take) four seconds. So less pain, improved patient experience and a better image."

The project will cost $855,000, according to Glover. The hospital will have a fundraising event for the project in January.

Guest speaker Ashley Walls spoke on her breast cancer diagnosis at the age of 29. After a gym workout, she felt her upper body and something didn't feel right. She got a mammogram screening which determined the tumor found in her breast wasn't in the correct location. Six months later and another mammogram screening later, however, the tumor had doubled in size and Walls was diagnosed with Triple-negative breast cancer in Sept. 2021.

Walls was shocked at the diagnosis that only makes up 50% of all breast cancers.

"I really didn't know anything about it," Walls told the Star-Journal. "I didn't have a family history or any risk factors that would have made me higher on the scale for doctors to watch for."

Over the next few years, Walls went through chemotherapy, radiation, immunotherapy treatments and many surgeries to fight her cancer. Amidst that fight, she gave birth to her now 10-month-old son Cash.

Walls unfortunately may never be considered cancer-free due to spots on her lungs and liver that have occurred over the past year before Cash's birth. But she is continuing to fight and inspire others.

A math teacher at Blue Springs High School, Walls is using her platform to educate her fellow peers and her students.

"As soon as I got diagnosed, being a teacher, I always wanted to learn," Walls said. "I share that through the young adults having cancer and the children having cancer, both of which being pretty rare."

At the end of the first semester of school, Walls holds a fundraiser where students can shave or cut their hair to raise awareness for children with hair loss. Over the years, the fundraiser has raised several thousands of dollars.

"It kills me to see that vou know so many people have been affected by breast cancer," Walls said. "Breast cancer doesn't discriminate. It can happen at any age, as you can see in my situation. My goal is for people to raise awareness and continue to get their checks, do their selfchecks, so that hopefully they can catch it early on if they have anything." Walls wanted the women in attendance to make sure they were receiving checks yearly. She also encouraged women to be active and have good support behind them.

"My parents were my ultimate caregivers throughout my treatment," Walls said. "My family and friends made sure that I never went to chemo alone, and I've always had somebody there to cheer me on."

She also asked those who don't have breast cancer to continue spreading the word and raising awareness of the disease that affects one in every eight women in the U.S.

"You don't have to have breast cancer to be able to change the world," Walls

WMMC Director of Communications and Development Jennie Snapp thanked those in attendance and presented women who had beat breast cancer with gifts from the hospital.

"I've had the honor of being a part of this event for the last seven years," Snapp said. "Each year, this event has grown and evolved into an evening filled with love, support and commitment to cause.

his life and mission in the stars.

Hernández grew up in Stockton, California, as the youngest of four children. He worked in the fields harvesting crops along with his family.

When he was 10, Hernández watched the last Apollo space mission, Apollo 17, on black and white television in 1972.

"I still remember the reporter Walter Cronkite narrating that moonwalk," Hernández said. "That's when it hit me. I said, 'I want to be an astronaut."

A long road awaited Hernández before he could end up in space. But, the road was paved with the help of Hernández's father, who gave him a recipe for success.

"First, determine your purpose in life," Hernández recalled. "Second, recognize how far you are from it. You got to draw yourself a roadmap. You gotta prepare yourself according to the challenge."

Hernández's father pointed to his son's textbooks and said to put his efforts into them. Then after college, make the same effort in Hernández's line of work. Hernández said he added a sixth ingredient to the recipe: perseverance. "This is what I live by every day," Hernández said.

Using that recipe for success, Hernández graduated from the University of the Pacific in Stockton with a bachelor's degree in electrical engineering. He earned his master's degree in electrical and computer engineering from the University of California, Santa Barbara after receiving a full scholarship to attend.

After college, in 1987, he

accepted a full-time job with Lawrence Livermore National Laboratory, working on signal and image processing applications in radar imaging, computed tomography and acoustic imaging.

Later in his career. Hernández worked on developing quantitative X-ray film imaging analysis techniques for the X-ray laser program. Using these techniques, he co-developed the first fullfield digital mammography imaging system. This system has proven helpful in detecting breast cancer at an earlier stage than film/screen mammography methods. Hernández won recognition awards for his work on the project.

He has also worked in the international arena, representing Lawrence Livermore and the U.S. Department of Energy on Russian nuclear non-proliferation issues.

But, Hernández's efforts were always aiming for the stars of NASA. After being denied 11 times previously, Hernández was finally accepted on his 12th attempt in 2004 as a NASA astronaut candidate, joining 10 other candidates as the 19th group of astronauts.

Five years of grueling physical and mental training followed Hernández's acceptance until he was ready to go to space in 2009 as part of the STS-128 mission as the mission's flight engineer.

"They snapped this picture of me smirking faceto-face," Hernández said of a photo during his presentation. "Why am I smirking? Because I know in a few hours, I'm gonna realize a 37-year-old dream of going to space."

Before he left, Hernández took time to answer questions from the audience, take Hernández's biographical pictures, and sign copies of film "A Million Miles Away" his book "Reaching for the starring Michael Peña as Stars The Inspiring Story Hernández is available on of a Migrant Farmworker Amazon Prime Video after Turned Astronaut" that was being released in 2023. on sale outside the audito-

2024 GENERAL ELECTION

By Zach Wendling Nebraska Examiner

OMAHA, Neb. — Four secretaries of state and a federal agency director in cybersecurity described their work Wednesday as a line of defense in upholding election integrity and security ahead of the Nov. 5 election.

Nebraska Secretary of State Bob Evnen, in explaining the reason for Wednesday's summit, asked simply, "Why not?" He said the Midwest states of Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri and South Dakota have demonstrated that elections can be safe, smooth and secure.

"Election security is not static. Election security is not a one-and-done deal. Election security is dynamic," Evnen said at the news conference. "If you're going to continue to address these dynamic challenges to elections, then you do so in a dynamic fashion."

The 'imperative' of election confidence

The National Counterterrorism Innovation, Technology and Education Center, or NCITE, headquartered at the University of Nebraska at Omaha, hosted the event.

Evnen's three counterparts from Iowa (Paul Pate), Missouri (Jay Ashcroft) and South Dakota (Monae Johnson) joined the event, which Evnen said he expects to be repeated in future years. Kansas Secretary of State Scott Schwab participated in other summit events, including briefings on NCITE research, but was unable to attend the news conference, officials said.

Pate, who is in his fourth term as Iowa's secretary of state, said he has seen elections evolve and become "more aggressive" in the past two decades, particularly through technology.

Yet election confidence remains essential, Pate said, and secretaries of state are doing everything they can to uphold integrity and security.

"It's imperative that Americans, and Iowans, have confidence in those election results because the day after the election, if they don't believe that that's their governor or their senator or their president, our Republic has fallen without a single bullet being fired," Pate said. "That's not acceptable, so we're going to continue to be vigilant and do what we can on our front."

Director Jen Easterly of the U.S. Cybersecurity and Infrastructure Security Agency, said CISA stands "shoulder to shoulder" with election officials nationwide. She said she has "tremendous confidence" in U.S. elections.

Easterly said CISA was established in 2018 from a previous U.S. Department of Homeland Security agency in part due to foreign attempts to influence the 2016 presidential election and after election infrastructure was designated as "critical" infrastructure.

Security protocols and training

The agency helps state and local election officials to prepare for any threats, including ransomware, physical threats and threats from foreign adversaries (such as Russia, Iran and China). Some of the support the agency provides, Easterly said, are security assessments, hypothetical scenario training and training for de-escalation and anti-active shooter incidents.

"At the end of the day, we know that elections will be safe. They will be secure.

They will be free. They will be fair. But there will be things that go wrong," Easterly said. "The good news is these disruptions, while problematic, will not affect how votes are counted and how votes are cast.'

Evnen said some of the ways that Nebraska has partnered with CISA in the past two years have included weekly scans of all 93 Nebraska county election websites for vulnerabilities, giving local officials ".gov" emails and website addresses and setting up internal protocols for day-to-day security.

"These are important steps we're taking across Nebraska to ensure that our cyberinfrastructure is protected," Evnen said.

Pate said those steps are national standards as officials 'plan for the worst and hope for the best.'

Elections for 'we the people'

All five secretaries of state who partnered with NCITE this week are elected Republicans, and Ashcroft said the officials don't serve just Republicans or Democrats or Libertarians or any other third parties in their respective states.

He said if officials do their job well, they are the basketball ref or linesman of a football game who "no one notices.'

The secretaries of state and Easterly invited more people to get involved in the election process, such as serving as poll workers or watchers, and for anyone who has questions to ask.

"We run elections for the people of the states," Ashcroft explained. "We run elections for our government because it is how 'we the people' decide that our Republic will move forward."

Ashcroft added that no matter who wins or loses, or which issues pass or fail, "at the end of the day, the American people can drink their beverage of choice and either celebrate or commiserate, but know that they were a part of the decision, that their votes counted and that the votes made a difference."

The election officials noted that it is typical for "official" results not to be finalized for up to a week after Election Day, but they said that's due in part due to the need to process provisional ballots, as well as conducting the "checks and balances" needed to ensure accurate results. particularly in close races, or possibly hand-count some ballots.

But for the most part, the secretaries of state said of their jurisdictions, most election results are typically available within a few hours of polls closing on Election Dav.

"I believe in getting quick results out, my colleagues do, but we all believe in getting it right, and we believe in making sure that every American, no matter where Uncle Sam has sent them, has the right to participate in our elections," Ashcroft said, indicating overseas voters.

Johnson, from South Dakota, said the "greatest unease" about the general election is the period between when polls close and when results are finalized. She said officials are workshopping scenarios with public safety teams to ensure that post-election events proceed smoothly and on time.

"Protecting the voting process and its facilitators is a collaborative process, and we have full faith in our state's ability to overcome any disruptions," Johnson said.

NCITE research

NCITE at the University of Nebraska at Omaha, said the center, which includes 38 partner universities, is working on four projects, such as tracking threats to election workers through federal charges and possible threats from emerging technologies.

Ligon said the federal charges are the "tip of the iceberg" as federal charges are a "really high bar," while other NCITE research includes threats or violence specifically against election officials in swing states, including Pennsylvania, Arizona and Georgia.

Those states have seen the largest spikes in data in recent years, Ligon said.

That project is extending to Nebraska, partially with the competitiveness of Nebraska's 2nd Congressional District for president. There are currently no federal charges, according to Ligon.

Other research, out of the University of Arkansas, includes interviews of election workers who have faced threats of violence. Initial research has indicated women don't always report when they are victims of violence, Ligon said, and that people don't understand when they cross First Amendment protections from anger to prohibited threats.

"As much as people say this is nothing new — 'we've experienced this for a long time' - our data just doesn't support that," Ligon said. 'It's up to all of us'

As of this time, Easterly said, there have been no specific election threats from terrorists, though she noted federal authorities thwarted the apparent plans of an Oklahoma City man on Tuesday and charged him with allegedly plotting a terrorist attack on Election Day in support of ISIS.

"If there are other things that we are seeing from the terrorist landscape, we will ensure that election officials are apprised of that immediately," Easterly said.

Easterly said the period between Election Day on Nov. 5 and the presidential inauguration on Jan. 20 will be critical. She said foreign adversaries will try to create a "wedge" and attempt to "shred our institutions" or sow discord as each milestone of certification and validation passes.

"That's why it's up to all of us as Americans — as the secretary [Ashcroft] said, 'We the people' — these elections are for us," Easterly said. "It's up to all of us to do our part in protecting and preserving our democracy."

Missourians to vote on paid sick leave and minimum wage hike next month

By Clara Bates Missouri Independent

A measure that would guarantee paid sick leave for over 700,000 Missouri workers who currently lack it, as well as gradually raise the minimum wage to $15, will appear on voters' ballots next month.

The ballot initiative, called Proposition A, has been backed by various unions and workers' advocacy groups, social justice and civil rights organizations, over 500 state business owners and others.

Some business groups, including the state Chamber of Commerce, have opposed it, especially the guaranteed sick leave portion. But thus far there hasn't been a coordinated opposition campaign.

The campaign in favor of the measure, called Missourians for Healthy Families and Fair Wages, has raised over $5 million — including from out-of-state groups that don't disclose their donors— and collected 210,000 signatures to have the issue placed on the statewide ballot

Most expect the ballot measure to succeed, given polling, national trends with similar ballot measures and the lack of coordinated opposition. Missourians have approved minimum wage increases on the ballot twice before by wide margins.

"We believe full-time work deserves better than poverty," said Richard Von Glahn, campaign manager for Missourians for Healthy Families and Fair Wages, "but current minimum wage — that's what it leads to."

The current minimum wage in Missouri is $12.30, which is equivalent to $492 per week, before taxes

And without sick leave, proponents argue, workers have to choose between their financial and physical wellbeing — going into work sick or losing out on a needed paycheck.

"Everybody gets sick. Everybody has a child or someone they care for that gets sick," Von Glahn said, "But when there's an unequal ability to care for yourself or care for your family, that is unjust."

Businesses would be required to provide one hour of paid sick time for every 30 hours worked, up to five days per year for small businesses and seven days per year for larger businesses. Small businesses are those with fewer than 15 employees.

Some business groups have said the proposal constitutes government overreach in what should be the decisions of business owners.

"A business owner's ability to set their own workplace policies and procedures is really the bedrock on which our free enterprise system is built," said Kara Corches, interim president and CEO of the Missouri Chamber of Commerce and Industry. "So this is creating a new mandate for employers in terms of wage as well as paid leave policy, that is really against that principle of 'let business decide."

"...We want to make sure that Missouri is the most business friendly state in the nation, and we don't think that this proposition is sending that message," Corches added.

Sick Leave

The ballot measure would make sick leave guaranteed for 728,000 workers who currently lack it statewide, or over 1 in 3 Missouri workers, according to an analysis from the progressive nonprofit the Missouri Budget Project.

Many of those who lack paid sick leave are the lowest earners.

"Sick days are very common amongst the highest paid workers, you know, executives, those types of positions," Von Glahn said, "but particularly in some of the lower wage industries — the industries that we've been calling essential for a number of years now — construction, retail, food service, nursing home, childcare workers, they lack access to this."

Employees would be allowed to take the time for mental or physical illness, to take care of a family member, or due to a domestic violence situation, according to the proposition.

Employers could require documentation when a worker takes three or more days off in a row, such as a doctor's note, but wouldn't be allowed to require disclosure of detailed health information.

Corches said the paid sick leave part of the measure is what "gives us a little more heartburn, just because it's so nebulous," and open to interpretation. She pointed specifically to confusion around provisions that would give employees a civil cause of action to sue if employers break the law, and another provision that prohibits employers from retaliation when workers take leave.

"Business owners have enough on their plates, just trying to, you know, keep their businesses open, retain and recruit employees, and this nine page new proposition is very complicated and is going to make compliance quite challenging," Corches said.

If the measure passes in Missouri, the paid sick time provision will kick in on May 1, 2025.

Ray McCarty, CEO of Associated Industries of Missouri, a business advocacy organization, raised concerns that "you will have people that abuse the system," meaning those who take sick leave who don't qualify. McCarty said in some cases employers may need proof of the legitimate absence earlier than three days in, or need to ask for more detailed information.

Missouri would join 15 states that require employers to provide paid sick leave. The United States, unlike nearly every other country, lacks federal paid sick leave, so states, as well as cities, have taken the lead.

In states that have adopted sick leave mandates, employees take, on average, two more sick days a year than prior to the law going into effect, a National Bureau of Economic Research report found.

Studies have found that offering paid sick time can increase workers' productivity and reduce illness, and generally adds little or nothing to business expense

Nebraska and Alaska also have paid sick leave on the ballot this year.

Minimum wage

The ballot measure also would raise the state's minimum wage to $13.75 next year and $15 in Jan. 2026.

The increase would affect over 562,000 workers in the state, according to the Missouri Budget Project, or nearly one in every four workers. The minimum wage would be adjusted based on inflation every year after 2026.

McCarty said most members in Associated Industries of Missouri already pay at least $15 hourly, though they may not realize the "whole wage scale will slide up," meaning raising the minimum wage could have spillover effects on other wages, for businesses to remain competitive.

He said some employers could go over to Kansas and pay less, so may choose to be based in neighboring states.

The states neighboring Missouri already have lower minimum wages, except for Illinois, which is $14 per hour.

A coalition of hundreds of businesspeople in the state have signed on to support the ballot measure, arguing the policies help their bottom line, causing lower employee turnover, increased productivity and better health and safety conditions.

Ballot initiatives to raise the minimum wage are generally likely to succeed, and have previously succeeded in Missouri, amidst legislative inaction or opposition.

Voters approved a minimum-wage hike in 2006, with 75% of the vote, and again in 2018, with 62% of the vote.

Advocates have had success with ballot measures as, for years, Republicans in the legislature have voted against or failed to hear proposals to increase the minimum wage, Von Glahn said. In 2017 the legislature passed a law prohibiting cities from raising the minimum wage beyond that of the state's, after St. Louis city passed an ordinance to raise the city's minimum wage.

The federal minimum wage has been stagnant, at $7.25, since 2009. Thirty states, including Missouri, have a minimum wage higher than the federal one.

'Confident it will pass'

Missourians for Healthy Families and Fair Wages has so far raised over $5 million, according to campaign filings.

That includes two $1.2 million donations from the D.C.-based Sixteen Thirty Fund, in August and October, a progressive nonprofit that is not required to disclose its donors. Other large donors include Missouri Jobs with Justice Voter Action and the D.C.-based The Fairness Project.

The campaign has purchased over $1.4 million in television ads, slated to begin airing next week, according to Federal Communications Commission filings.

The ballot measure would change the state law but not the constitution, meaning the legislature could overturn it, but that is unlikely, McCarty said.

"I don't see any politician in their right mind — if this passes with a high percentage of votes, which we expect it will — I don't see any politician in their right mind completely repealing the entire law," he said, citing potential concerns about overturning the will of voters.

Corches said the Chamber is focused on the election and would only "start looking at, is it possible to modify this in the Capitol" if it passes.

Von Glahn said Prop A will be a test of whether or not the legislature "respects the will of voters."

The St. Louis University/You-Gov poll conducted in August found the ballot measure had a strong backing, with 57% of those surveyed supporting it.

"We feel confident that it will pass next month, but we're also doing the work," Von Glahn said. "I mean, we've got people out canvassing every day, talking to voters about it."

Company recalls nearly 10 million pounds of meat and poultry dishes for listeria contamination

A company is recalling nearly 10 million pounds of meat and poultry products made at an Oklahoma plant because they may be contaminated with listeria bacteria that can cause illness and death. includes 75 mea BrucePac of Wood-chicken products.

burn, Oregon, recalled the roughly 5,000 tons of ready-to-eat foods this week after U.S. Agriculture Department officials detected listeria in samples of poultry during routine testing. Further tests identified BrucePac chicken as the source. The recall includes 75 meat and chicken products The foods include products like grilled chicken breast strips that were made at the company's facility in Durant, Oklahoma. They were produced between June 19 and Oct. 8 and shipped to restaurants, food service vendors and other sites nationwide, government officials said.

The products have a best-by date of June 19, 2025 to Oct. 8, 2025. Officials said they are concerned that the foods may still be available for use or stored in refrigerators or freezers. The products should be thrown away, they added.

There are no confirmed reports of illness linked to the recall.

Eating foods contaminated with listeria can cause potentially serious illness. About 1,600 people are infected with listeria bacteria each year in the U.S. and about 260 die, according to the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

WARRENSBURG — Warrensburg volleyball raised approximately $2,500 for the Johnson County Cancer Foundation during its Dig Pink game Tuesday, Oct. 8, at Warrensburg High School.

Proceeds raised came through the form of t-shirt sales, a bake sale and a live auction in between the Lady Tigers' JV and varsity contests with Pleasant Hill.

"It was a great match for the community to come out," Warrensburg head coach Chandler Vaughan said. "We had a huge crowd. Both teams had a crowd. I thought we did a great job. I'm happy we were able to raise that much money for the foundation. We did it last year, and I feel like we had a better turnout this year. I can't wait until next year."

Warrensburg (10-10-2, 0-3 MRVC West) wore pink shirts during warmups, while the gym was decorated with pink in honor of breast cancer awareness month.

"This was our fourth theme tonight," Vaughan said. "Overall, I love giving back to the community ... It's good for the girls to find awareness and represent that and give back to the community. It is a good thing for them. They don't go unnoticed."

Central Missouri men's basketball aims to continue building

By Joe Andrews

joea@warrensburgstarjournal.com

KANSAS CITY, Mo — The foundation is poured, and Central Missouri men's basketball is ready to begin the framework.

The Mules are heading into their second season under head coach Adam Bohac and return seven members from last year's team.

"It's good to be on year two," Bohac said Tuesday, Oct. 8, during MIAA Media Day at the College Basketball Experience. "There's a familiarity with all things. Warrensburg, UCM, all of the processes with the guys. I'm much more help with that."

UCM was picked to finish seventh out of 14 teams in the MIAA Preseason Coaches Poll, and 10th in the MIAA Preseason Me-

Central Missouri brings back starting experience from sophomore Tim Jordan Jr.. sophomore Corey Skillman Jr., senior Jalen Knott and senior Yafet

"We certainly have some returners," Bohac said. "We have some guys that are familiar with me and that I'm familiar with.

Hopefully, Mules fans are familiar with. That's comforting. I think we've added some good guys. Some high character guys. Some guys that can play. I think it will be interesting to see how it all fits together."

Jordan highlights the returning Mules in terms of numbers, coming off an All-MIAA honorable mention season that featured 11.5 points per game, 4.3 rebounds per game and 1.2 assists per game.

Knott averaged 11.6 points per game, four rebounds per game and 1.35 assists per game.

"The old and the new connecting together has been going easy," Jordan said. " I feel like the new guys coming in, we have the potential to win. That's all we want to do. With them coming in and us knowing the expectation from Coach Adam, we're instilling that into the new guys and showing them the way as a returner. That's been going easy for us lately. Practices have been very good with that."

Central Missouri brings in seven newcomers, highlighted by four grabs via the transfer portal.

Jennies basketball opens season with new look

By Joe Andrews

joea@warrensburgstarjournal.com

KANSAS CITY, Mo -Though head coach Dave Slifer is back for his 21st season in cardinal and black, his 36th as a head coach overall, the 2024-25 season will begin a new era for Central Missouri women's basketball. The Jennies welcome six new faces into the locker room this season, while returning five from a year ago.

Four of those five saw regular minutes. Redshirt senior Lauren Frost and redshirt senior Allie Clevenger are the lone players returning with starting experience. Juniors Cierra Smith and Shannon Karlin return from significant contributing minutes, while sophomore Rylee Vierthaler played some.

"It's been a very interesting couple of weeks," Slifer said at MIAA Media Day Tuesday, Oct. 8, at the College Basketball Experience. "We have so many kids that everybody was very very quiet and trying to feel themselves out. We've had five practices now. The kids are getting more talkative, getting more comfortable. I like the work ethic. We have a long way to go, but we have a chance."

Central Missouri was picked to finish sixth out of 14 teams in the MIAA Preseason Coaches' Poll, and fifth in the MIAA Preseason Media Poll.

Osborn threw the final 2 1/3 innings, allowing one hit while walking two and striking out two.

The loss followed a 11-0 shutout downfall to Oak Grove 11-0 on Tuesday, Oct. 8, in Oak Grove.

The Tigers trailed 3-0 through three innings, but surrendered eight runs in the bottom of the fourth inning. Oak Grove had just three hits game-wide, but reached through walk on six occasions.

Osborn pitched 3 1/3 innings, allowing eight earned runs on two hits, six walks and two strikeouts. Sophomore Olivia Johnson pitched the last 2/3 of an inning, allowing no earned runs on one hit and one walk. Warrensburg tallied two hits, belonging to Bloom

Central Missouri women's golf wins Grace Shin Regional Preview

By Star-Journal Staff

Central Missouri women's golf topped the Grace Shin Regional Preview, held Monday, Oct. 7, through Tuesday, Oct. 8, at the Kicking Bird Golf Course in Edmond, Oklahoma.

The Jennies finished with a 36-hole score of 13-over par 573 (286-287).

Junior Mia Rallo (69-70) and sophomore Maya McVey (71-68) tied for third with 1-under par 139s. Junior Libby Green finished 23rd with a 6-over par 146 (73-73) and redshirt junior Kiki Bruner finished 37th with a 9-over par 149 (73-76).

Senior Nicole Rallo participated in one round, shooting a 5-over par 75. She did not record a score in the second round.

Central Missouri competes in the Midwest Classic on Monday, Oct. 14 through Tuesday, Oct. 15, at Mozingo Lake Golf Club in Maryville.

Previewing week seven of Johnson County football

By Joe Andrews

joea@warrensburgstarjournal.com

The bulk of Johnson County programs are on the road for week seven of high school football.

All games are within a hour's drive, however, with three out of the four teams continuing their conference schedules.

Warrensburg (5-1, 2-1 MRVC West) at Center (1-5, 0-3 MRVC West), 7 p.m.

Following back-to-back down to the wire contests, Warrensburg will have the chance to catch its breath against a Center team that has been shutout in three consecutive games.

Senior quarterback Kobe Westphal had impressive numbers a week ago, running for 357 yards and four touchdowns in a 50-42 win against Odessa. He averaged 15.5 yards per

The 42 points surrendered were the most the Tigers have allowed in a game this season, holding its opponents to an average 23.7 points per game

That total is just over the 5.7 points per game Center is averaging this season. The Yellowjackets have not scored in four of their six games this year. The two exceptions came in a 20-14 win against FL Schlagle out of Kansas City, Kansas and a 55-14 loss to Harrisonville.

Center has given up 40 or more points in four of its six games this year.

the MSHSAA online record book keeping era.

A Panthers win will create a two to three team race for the MRVC East title. A Huskers win clears the way for their final leg to another conference championship.

Knob Noster plays Richmond (4-2, 1-1 MRVC East) and Holden (3-3, 1-1 MRVC East) in the final two weeks of the regular season while Lafayette County plays Lexington (1-5, 0-2 MRVC East) and Carrollton (4-2, 0-2 MRVC East).

Senior running back Sam Livingston leads the Panthers on the ground, running for 108.3 yards per game. He's tallied 13 rushing touchdowns this season. Add a return for a touchdown, he's visited the endzone 14 times in 2024.

Knob Noster had two takeaways last week, continuing its string of games with at

The Huskers trailed Holden after a half last week, but went on to win 42-21.

Lafayette County is averaging 45.3 points per game while limiting its opponents to 19.5. Knob Noster is averaging 42.8 points per game, while limiting its opponents to 9.8.

Holden (3-3, 1-1 MRVC East) at Richmond (4-2, 1-1 MRVC East), 7 p.m.

Holden will look to bounce back from last week's loss to Lafayette County against Richmond.

On paper, the Eagles handled the Huskies much better than the Spartans.

Holden lost to Lafayette County 42-21 compared to Richmond's 70-28 downfall.

Holden's key to frustrating Higginsville began with an early blocked kick by senior Jacob Andes.

Senior running back Sam Comer is sitting at 808 yards on the season for the Eagles. He is averaging 6.69 carries, and has reached the end zone 12 times on the ground. Holden is averaging 27.8 points per game while allowing their opponents to 27.8. The Spartans are averaging 35.8 points per game while allowing their opponents to 24.2. Last week, Richmond beat Carrollton 56-7.

The lone home contest of the week brings an unknown opponent to Centerview.

Crest Ridge enters the matchup riding momentum from a 52-36 win against Lone Jack.

The Cougars ran for 312 yards, including 158 from junior quarterback Wes Taylor ane 118 from junior Carsen Hursh. The two combined for five touchdowns on the ground.

Taylor also had a touchdown pass to junior Kegan Walsh.

Crest Ridge's defense tallied three different takeaways, made up of interceptions from senior James Shelton, Hursh and senior Gavin Wyatt.

Westran is located just to the west of Moberly. The Hornets are riding a four-game winning streak into Friday's contest.

Last week, Westran beat Scotland County 39-22.

Westran is averaging 27.5 points per game while allowing its opponents to 30.8. Crest Ridge is averaging 25.8 points per game while allowing its opponents 39.3

Friday's contest will feature interactive festivities with T-Mobile, celebrating the Cougars' advancement to the final round of 16 for the "T-Mobile Friday Night 5G Lights" contest. A $25,000 grant will be presented to the district at halftime.

Central Missouri volleyball sweeps Missouri Southern

By Star-Journal Staff

Central Missouri volleyball swept Missouri Southern 25-20, 25-17, 28-26 on Tuesday, Oct. 8, at the Leggett & Platt Athletic Center in Joplin.

The Jennies (6-8, 2-3 MIAA) finished the match with a .270 attacking percentage, including a season-low 12 errors.

Senior Tiffany Little and sophomore Maya Fergerson each led the Jennies with 11 kills, while sophomore Elinor Engel was right behind with 10. Junior Kavla Baer had 40 assists.

Redshirt junior Grace Winkelmann had 16 digs while Baer had 13, freshman Brenna Kelly had 12 and Fergerson had eight. Junior Rachel Ziesman had five blocks.

The Jennies won the kills margin 45-38, blocks margin 9-4, assists margin 44-37 and digs margin 61-58. Southern (2-15, 0-5 MIAA) had six service aces compared to UCM's two.

Central Missouri visits Pittsburg State on Friday, Oct. 11, before venturing to Newman on Saturday, Oct. 12.

Backhaus named 2024 ABCA/Marines Division II National Assistant Coach of the Year

Mules Baseball Assistant Coach and Recruiting Coordinator Alex Backhaus has been named the 2024 American Baseball Coaches Association (ABCA)/Marines NCAA Division II National Assistant Coach of the Year, it was announced Wednesday, Oct. 9, by the ABCA.

Backhaus, who is in his eighth season as an assistant coach and recruiting coordinator for the Mules, helped lead the Mules to the MIAA Regular Season and NCAA Division II Central Regional Championships in 2024 as UCM compiled an overall record of 52-10 and a MIAA mark of 29-4. Central Missouri advanced to the College World Series for the 20th time in program history.

UCM hit a single-season re-

University of Central Missouri cord 126 homers and 38 triples and stole a season-record 197 bases. The 38 triples, 126 home runs and 197 stolen bases are also MIAA records. In addition, Central Missouri compiled program and MIAA single season records for RBIs (605), runs (662) and total bases (1,344).

> Outfielder Brennen van Breusegen was named the MIAA Player of the Year and was a consensus First Team All-American while fellow outfielder Carter Young and pitcher Conner Wolf also earned All-America accolades from various Division II baseball organizations. In addition, Wolf was the MIAA and D2CCA Central Region Pitcher of the Year.

> Van Breusegen, Young and designated hitter Vance Tobol all earned College Sports Communicators Academic All-American honors for their successes both on the field and in the classroom.

In Backhaus's eight seasons with UCM, Central Missouri has won six MIAA Championships and three NCAA-II Central Region Titles, and advanced to the College World Series three times, including a runner-up finish in 2021.

Backhaus graduated from William Jewell in 2012 with a degree in Physical Education and earned his master's in education intervention from Ottawa in 2014.

Alex and his wife, Jaimie, were married in 2015 and have a son, Ty, and daughter, Mae, as well as two dogs, Lebowski and Elphie. Backhaus's dog, Lebowski, serves as the official Crane Stadium Perimeter Protector.

The ABCA began honoring a National Assistant Coach of the Year in 1999. In 2018, the award was expanded to recognize a National Assistant Coach of the Year in each of the 11 divisions: NCAA Div. I, NCAA Div. II, NCAA Div. III, NAIA, NJCAA Div. I, NJCAA Div. II, NJCAA Div. III, Pacific Association Division & High School Divisions Coaching expertise, recruiting, loyalty to the program and respect for the players and the game are some of the many criteria examined when reviewing the candidates for ABCA National Assistant Coach of the Year.

MIAA announces conference-wide partnership with Teamworks Compliance + Recruiting

The Mid-America Intercollegiate Athletics Association (MIAA) has announced a five-year partnership with Teamworks to implement Compliance + Recruiting across all 14 member institutions. This partnership positions the MIAA as a leader within Division II athletics, demonstrating its commitment to embracing innovation and enhancing operations across the conference.

Enhancing Efficiency and Collaboration

For the MIAA, technology is a catalyst for streamlining operations, increasing efficiency, and maximizing collaboration across departments. Prior to the conference-wide deal, several member institutions were already leveraging Teamworks Compliance + Recruiting to support their compliance efforts.

Mike Racy, the MIAA Commissioner for the last 8 years, emphasized the motivation behind this partnership: "We wanted to continue to enhance our operations, to continue to get better, to continue to be more efficient with the things that we're doing, and with Teamworks we can accomplish all of those goals at once."

Anthony Rittof, Director of Membership Services at MIAA, highlighted the impact on compliance administrators: "Having a best-in-class product that centralizes and standardizes everything for our compliance teams is crucial. This one-stop-shop, where all resources are housed under one roof, will streamline tasks and significantly enhance efficiency across our conference."

At the AD level, this conference-wide partnership opens up even more opportunities for senior leadership to support their staff and overall effectiveness in what they do, "the MIAA ADs continue to look for ways that technology can enhance our campus operations and streamline administrative duties. Teamworks offers excellent solutions, and this partnership makes these services even more affordable for all MIAA members," says Athletic Director, Stan Wagnon at the University of Central Oklahoma.

Leading in Technology Adoption

The MIAA has a history of being at the forefront of technology adoption in Division II athletics. Commissioner Racy stated, "Technology is becoming more and more important in everything that we do in the MIAA. We've really been a leader within Division II as it relates to streaming our MIAA contests and games."

This partnership with Teamworks is seen as another step in that direction. "We see this Teamworks partnership as another advancement of technology for the MIAA as a conference," Racy added.

Dixie Balman, the Assistant Athletic Director of Compliance and Senior Woman Administrator at Fort Hays State University, stated, "I am excited to see this partnership with Teamworks and the MIAA. Compliance + Recruiting has provided efficiencies and additional institutional control of our Compliance program while streamlining processes and managing our recruiting, CARA and roster management much more effectively. Compliance + Recruiting is a solution that can fit the needs of any athletic department and provide solutions to many of our MIAA institutions' needs."

Warrensburg had back-to-back errors to allow Pleasant Hill (19-7, 3-0 MRVC West) to take the sweep.

"At the end of the day, we did make a lot of errors," Vaughan said. "We need to fix a lot of things on our side. We weren't doing the defensive corrections against their hitters to get better balls up to transition to attack."

The loss was the Tigers' seventh by sweep this season, the third taking place in MRVC West play.

Warrensburg is the third MRVC West opponent Pleasant Hill has swept this year, a list that also includes Clinton and Harrisonville.

"At the end of the day it was following the game plan, executing the game plan, along with just some of the errors on our side of the court," Vaughan said.

Warrensburg travels to Harrisonville on Thursday, Oct. 10, before hosting Clinton for senior night on Tuesday, Oct. 15, and closing the regular season at Center on Thursday, Oct. 17.

Portal signings include senior DeAirius Barker out of NCAA Division II Charleston, senior KJ Lee out of Division I Western Illinois, graduate student Elijah Farr out of Lincoln University and redshirt junior Eain Mowat out of Southern Nazarene.

True freshmen feature Kyran Tilley out of Louisville, Kentucky, Jake Fritz out of Overland Park, Kansas, and Kyree Polk out of Denver, Colorado.

"It's interesting," Bohac said. "You look at we need this, we need that, we need more shooting, we need more athleticism, we need more length, we need more size or whatever it is. Then you get it. The fun part I think is putting all of that together. We want to play in a way that allows each guy to do what they do best. You get them all here and you start to put it together. It's hard trying to figure out how we need to play and how does this go with that."

Bohac added the building for this year's team was all about improving upon a season that ended with a 13-15, 8-14 MIAA season, just barely missing the MIAA Tournament.

"It's been fun because they're such high-character guys to work with, and good guys to work with that are all about the right things," Bohac said. "I'll be disappointed if we're not a little bit better this year."

The Mules head into the year with the added winning experience of Barker and Mowat.

Along with the newcomers, Central Missouri will also be welcoming junior forward Josh Nwankwo back into the mix this season.

He injured his Achilles in last year's opener but is set to be among the handful of forwards the Mules turn to this season.

"We got some new guys, they came in ready to listen and ready to be all on the same page trying to win," Nwankwo said. " Our coach did a great job telling us how to win. We just have to follow him to win games."

The Mules began practices last week, putting the efforts to blend the pieces in full swing.

"We're meshing well on and off the court," Lee said. "We're all getting along. Practices are going super well. We're pretty competitive"

Central Missouri begins its season in the tipoff Classic Friday, Nov. 8, through Saturday, Nov. 9, at the Municipal Auditorium in Kansas City.

UCM will play Bemidji State at 11 a.m. Friday, followed by St. Cloud State at 1 p.m. Saturday.

"The more we get to practicing and the more we buy in with each other, I think we can be really good," Barker said. "We have a lot of good pieces. We have a lot of older guys. I think we have a lot of guys that can buy into winning. If we put it all together, I think we can do something special this year."

Smith and Frost are the two senior most members of the team, heading into their third years in the program.

"I think we're doing pretty good," Smith said. "We don't have anything to lose. Everyone is just locked in and trying to play their hardest."

Central Missouri will have to replace the majority of its production from last year, losing Olivia Nelson and Brooke Littrell in the transfer portal.

Nelson is now playing at the University of Idaho while pursuing a master's degree in chemistry, while Brooke Littrell is now playing at Creighton University.

"I think you saw a lot of older coaches retire," Slifer said. "They didn't want to deal with the portal, they didn't want to deal with NIL. I feel like I've got some good years left. You have to adjust. I think it's a year-to-year deal. If somebody has a fantastic year, hey they can go mid-major, they can go high-major and make good money. That's part of the deal right now. You don't want to become a junior college, but we'll try to keep as many players as we can. It's important to have that repetitiveness in your program. We'll keep a lot of players. It's a new reality."

Central Missouri grabbed four from the transfer portal. Redshirt senior Nicole Davis transferred in from NCAA Division I Bucknell in Lewisburg, Pennsylvania, graduate student Ashton Verhulst transferred in from Division I University of

Central Florida, senior Callie Ziebell transferred in from Division I Bradley University and junior Reese Schaaf transferred in from Division

Newcomers also include true freshmen Taylor Weishaar (Wathena, Kansas) and freshman Jolie Bonderer (Chillicothe).

"We have a bunch of new players obviously," Frost said. "I think we're adjusting to each other. I think we can do well this year ... We have a lot of transfers who have played at a high level before. They know what the expectation is. We also have some height, a lot of girls over six foot, which is new for us but also a good thing. We'll be able to play in the post a lot but also run the floor. I can't wait to start here in November."

Central Missouri begins its season against St. Joseph as part of the Division II Conference Coaches Association Tip-Off Classic.

The Jennies will play Southern Nazarene at 11:30 a.m. Saturday, Nov. 2, before playing Ferris State at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 3. Southern Nazarene was a regional runner-up last year, while Ferris made a run to the national semifinals.

"I want us to improve," Slifer said. "I want us to be there at the end. We had a couple of years where we kind of had the toughest schedule in the nation and we've finished ninth in the region. Only eight teams make it. You can't finish ninth. It does no good. We got to put ourselves in a position that we can win games early, and hopefully win games late."

Joe Andrews can be reached at 660-747-8123.

CONTEST

"Being a finalist has really rallied our community together for a cause that would touch so many of our students," Crest Ridge Athletic Director Adam Odle said in a statement. "If we were lucky enough to win the makeover it would help all of our students with practices and games but not only that because the school is our community center, so it would help with all the groups in our community to gather together to make space more flexible for everyone to use. The impact would be immeasurable for Crest Ridge."

Crest Ridge's needs surround all aspects of the current football facility, including its field, track, lighting, scoreboard, press box and locker room.

The upgrade needs to surround student safety and the spectator experience.

"We are very excited about the opportunity to win the Friday Night 5G Lights contest. Safety and community pride are priorities in our district," Crest Ridge Superintendent of Schools Heather Gross said in a statement. "To be able to provide a complex for athletics and activities that would keep our students safe and make our community proud would help us to fulfill the promises we make to students each day. The intangible pieces of Cougar pride are deeply rooted, but to potentially have a physical facility that matches that pride would be a wonderful gift for our students and community."

T-Mobile will host a celebration for Crest Ridge's advancement to the finals during the Cougars' home game against Westran on Friday, Oct. 11.

The event will feature games, giveaways and free foods at the concession stand. The $25,000 grant will be presented at halftime.

Finals voting runs from now until Nov. 12, taking place in the form of a simple like of a Instagram video. It can be found at bit.ly/3YhGZxh.

The final prize includes a $100,000 grant, a new teched-out scoreboard, a consultation with football field experience experts, a new weight room from Gronk Fitness, a 5G network upgrades package and a tailgate party celebration with a live drone show.

The winner will be announced in early December. "Our school has been very proud of our football program, which was started through the efforts and generosity of the community," Crest Ridge Principal James Frank said in a statement. "Through donations and hard work, patrons literally transformed farmland into a football field. The facility served the school well in the beginning, but our makeshift groundwork and gravel track do not meet modern expectations for hosting sporting events. Getting this grant would be transformational to our school district, not only to our football program but in a multitude of ways that affect many of the students and families in our district."

To learn more about the contest, visit fridaynight-5glights.com

"Upgrades to our football facility could mean additional opportunities and practice time for other sports and activities," Frank said. "Improved weight room facilities would impact not only sports teams but over 2/3 of our high school students who take fitness and conditioning. We are the center of our rural community, so improvements to our facilities also mean increased opportunities for youth sports and community organizations."

DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY FEDERAL EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT AGENCY Proposed Flood

Hazard Determinations for the City of Holden, Johnson County, Missouri, Case No. 24 - 07- 0417P.

The Department of Homeland Security's Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) solicits technical information or comments on proposed flood hazard determinations for the Insurance Rate Map (FIRM), and where applicable, the Flood Insurance Study (FIS) report for your community. These flood hazard determitions may include the addition or modification of Base Flood Elevations, base flood depths, Special Flood Hazard Area boundaries or zone designations, or the regulatory flood-way. The FIRM and if applica-

Brattin: As a Christian and a conservative, I believe that our values and our fundamental rights must be protected, and I won't back down. As a small business owner, I know that big government gets in the way of our economy, and I have worked to keep government smaller and reduce the tax burden.

What are your qualifications?

James: I have served my community since I was a kid. Boy Scout Senior Patrol leader, Scoutmaster, US Army Master Sergeant (21 years), Volunteer Firefighter (10 years), 911 Dispatch Center Board Member, an Environmental Public Health Specialist for Johnson County and currently volunteering with our homeless population. Recently Widowed, after 39 years, I have the time to do the job as my three stepdaughters are grown as are my grandson and granddaughter. I have lived, worked and observed governments in several countries and states. Seen what can work and what can happen when politicians put themselves before the people they serve. I have a deep sense of duty and think everyone should do their part in making our community better for all of our citizens.

Do you support Amendment 2, which would legalize sports betting in the state of Missouri? Why or why not?

Brattin: I'm personally opposed to gambling, but I also believe it is up to the individual. I oppose Amendment 2 because it should be passed through the legislative process and placed into state law, instead of being potentially placed in our state constitution through the initiative petition process.

James: I support it as I do not think the government should limit your personal freedom. If you want to read a book, read it. If not, put it back on the shelf. If you want to attend a Church or a Pride Festival, attend. If not, don't. I don't think it will result in any more money for schools. The GOP has in the past offset money coming from gambling. The gambling tax does go to the school. However, if the school got one dollar from the state, the state then gives .90 cents + .10cents from gambling. It is how the GOP has been able to give tax breaks to their wealthy donors diverting money that had been going to schools from the general fund. I will try and not allow a decrease in state support and schools get more money as a result of having gambling.

Do you support Amendment 3. which would establish a right for individuals to make decisions about reproductive health care, including abortion and contraceptives without governmental interference? Why or why not?

Brattin: I oppose Amendment 3 and truly hope that this misleading measure is rejected by the people of Missouri. Not only would it legalize abortion at any stage of development, it would also potentially undo legislation passed last year that protects minors from the life-changing impacts of radical gender reassignment procedures.

James: I think people should control their own bodies and make their own medical decisions based on what is best for them and their family, not the Government. Religions that believe life begins at conception should follow their religion and allow other religious believers who believe that life begins with the first breath to follow their religion. Forcing a 10 or 12 year old rape victim to try and carry to term is almost certainly insuring she will lose her future fertility, if not her life, and makes no sense to most people. Abortion bans have resulted in women's deaths as physicians wait until there is a medical emergency, as required by law, to perform an abortion. A woman may choose to try bedrest and wait to see if she can "hold on " and deliver in a couple weeks but that decision, and the risk, is hers not the Government's.

Do you support Amendment 7, which would make the Missouri Constitution consistent with state law by only allowing United State citizens to vote, limit registered voters to a single vote and require the winner of a political party primary to be the single candidate at a general election? Why or why not?

Brattin: I fully support Amendment 7, which will protect the integrity of our elections and prevent liberal activists from forcing "ranked-choice voting" – a voting system that favors radical leftist candidates – on people across our state.

James: It is illegal for noncitizens to vote. The wording on this bill is Ballot Candy and has nothing to do with the intent of the bill. Added, in my opinion, in a dishonest way to get voters to vote for the measure. Rank Choice voting should be an option for citizens of cities, school districts and other governmental districts to adopt if the voters in that district see fit to adopt. If the voters want it they should be able to do it.

Do you support Proposition A, which would increase minimum wage to $13.75 per hour, increasing $1.25 per hour each year until 2026? Why or why not? Editor's note: The question also asks voters to approve sick leave. The item was unintentionally not included in the questionnaire to candidates.

Brattin: I oppose Proposition A. Artificially inflating wages will hurt small mom-and-pop businesses while making inflation worse.

James: As a Environmental Health Specialist / Health Inspector I support the Sick Leave that is in this Proposition that is not mentioned in the question. Food service workers are supposed to not work when sick but many do not have sick leave. When rent is due next week and you do not have sick leave you tend to start thinking you are not that sick. You will be extra careful and wash your hands more often and it will be OK. It is not OK to work while sick. If you do not want food service workers working while sick, especially diarrhea, they need sick leave. I will be voting for it.

Do you support limiting social media usage for minors through the form of state legislation? Why or why not?

Brattin: While I personally limit my children's usage of social media, it is not the government's place to tell families what decisions they should make. I believe that parents should play an active role in shaping their children's lives without being subjected to government mandates.

James: I do not support this. Parents need to Parents. Supervise your child while online. I do support voluntary efforts by social media companies to restrict some sites/content to adults only. You show an ID when entering a bar, you should also have to prove your age if a social media company asks for it.

How can Missouri improve the quality of mental health resources for its citizens?

Brattin: Missouri has a number of mental health resources available for citizens, and the best way to improve them is to ensure funding is not being spent on bureaucratic overhead but invested in programs that provide the care that Missourians need.

James: We could stop the hate and vitriol towards the "others". Legislators Protesting at Pride Events, talking about how normal human relationships are an abomination and people are going to hell are harmful to many families. That is the easy, cheap thing we can do right now to stop a lot of bullying and the resulting suicides. Othering people based on religion, ancestry, skin color or gender makes no sense in 2024 and frankly it never did.

Access to care, online and in person, our medical insurance programs have to allow access to mental health professionals. We can fund Medicaid programs for mental health and seek federal funds to improve our programs.

How would you change funding for K-12 and higher education?

Brattin: I believe strongly that parents should be able to choose educational options that are the best fit for their children, and I would like to see true school choice available for every child across our state. Funding for K-12 education should follow the child, not be doled out by formula. For higher education, I would like to see a focus on funding programs that prepare young Missourians for the working world and for jobs of the future. Schools that do not serve their students well should receive funding cuts, as should schools that prioritize fancy new buildings over quality instruction. James: I would look at the funding formula. I hear the GOP controlled House and Senate say that our schools are fully funded according to the formula yet the school boards say they need additional funds. We need state funds for transportation and an increase in funding to schools. I would look at the large tax breaks given to the wealthy in the last 10 years and reverse them as Trickle Down does not work as Daddy Bush said it is Voodoo. I would not fund vouchers in any form, public funds are for public schools only.

How can Missouri combat fentanyl trafficking?

Brattin: We have to put an end to the soft-on-crime prosecutions in our state's largest cities. Criminals will keep bringing drugs into our state if we keep putting them right back out on the street with little more than a slap on the wrist. In addition, I believe that our state should keep looking for opportunities to enforce immigration laws that our federal government has been ignoring. Much of the fentanyl coming into Missouri is coming through the southern border, and putting a stop to illegal immigration will help stop the flow of illegal drugs and other smuggling.

James: Education on the dangers of buying medications from online sellers. Education on the dangers of illegal drugs that are often spiked with fentanyl stressing the safe and legal use of Marijuana instead. We need dedicated task forces of Federal, State and local police to find and prosecute traffickers.

WHAT'S NEW ON PRIME VIDEO

"Brothers" (2024)

It's family over everything in the new action comedy "Brothers," premiering Thursday, Oct. 17, on Prime Video. The movie finds Moke (Josh Brolin, "Outer Range"), a former criminal, doing his best to walk the straight and narrow and find a fresh start. However, his attempt to stay on the up and up is thoroughly derailed when he reunites with his equally criminal — and happy that way — twin brother Jady (Peter Dinklage, "Game of Thrones"), who is on the hunt for the score of a lifetime. Embarking on a cross-country road trip to pull off their heist, the brothers soon find themselves "dodging bullets, the law and an overbearing mother along the way," needing to "heal their severed family bond before they end up killing each other" (per Prime Video). With a story by Etan Cohen ("The Bad Guys," 2022) and a screenplay by Macon Blair ("57 Seconds," 2023), "Brothers" is directed by Max Barbakow ("Palm Springs," 2020). The cast of the film is rounded out by Brendan Fraser ("Doom Patrol"), Glenn Close ("Tehran"), Taylour Paige ("Beverly Hills Cop: Axel F," 2024), M. Emmet

Walsh ("Blade Runner," 1982) and Marisa Tomei ("My Cousin Vinny," 1992).

"The Pradeeps of Pittsburgh" - Season 1

Settle into a new way of life when "The Pradeeps of Pittsburgh" premieres Thursday, Oct. 17, on Prime Video. Moving from India to Pittsburgh, this sitcom follows the Pradeep family through their everyday lives. Ending up with neighbors who could not be more different from themselves, the series - told through a series of flashbacks from an interrogation room — sees the Pradeeps and their neighbors tangled up "romantically, personally and professionally" (per Prime Video). Directed by Michael san ("For All Mankind"), Arjun Sriram ("Sydney to the Max"), Ashwin Sakthivel ("Pip and Posy"), Sindhu Vee ("Matida: The Musical," 2022), Nicholas Hamilton Andrews ("It," 2017), Megan Hilty ("Smash"), Ethan Suplee ("My Name is Earl"), Pete Holmes ("Crashing") and Romy Rosemont ("A Million Little Things") star.

"The Devil's Hour" -Season 2

'Tis the season for all things spooky, and Prime Video is ready to keep the thrills rolling. Season 2 of the suspensepacked mystery series "The Devil's Hour" premieres on the Amazon streamer Friday, Oct. 18. In Season 1, Lucy (Jessica Raine, "Fortitude"), inexpli-

WHAT'S NEW ON NETFLIX "The Lincoln Lawyer" -

Season 3

American crime novelist Michael Connelly's work comes to the screen once again when the legal drama series "The Lincoln Lawyer" returns to Netflix Thursday, Oct. 17, for its third season. Based on the fifth novel in Connelly's The Lincoln Lawyer series, "The Gods of Guilt," this new season follows lawyer Mickey Haller (Manuel Garcia-Rulfo, "The Magnificent Seven," 2016) as he runs his law practice out of the back seat of his Lincoln. Taking on cases big and small across the city of Los Angeles and managing to find danger around every corner as he does so — Season 3 sees Haller diving headfirst into some juicy leWarner ("Priorities Chapter One: Money Isn't Everything," 2021), Fiona Rene ("Tracker"), Devon Graye ("Nope," 2022), Merrin Dungey ("Alias"), Allyn Moriyon ("The Only 'T' in Skechers," 2023), John Pirruccello (Barry") and Philip Anthony-Rodriguez ("Good Trouble").

WHAT'S NEW ON HULU

"Rivals" - Season 1

Some fierce competition gets underway when "Rivals," the adaptation of Dame Jilly Cooper's 1988 novel of the same name, debuts all eight episodes Friday, Oct. 18, on Hulu. Set in 1980s England, the series looks at the ruthless world of independent television and the multitude of "romantic entanglements, dastardly deals, Cook, Katherine Parkinson ("Here We Go") as Lizzie Vereker and Bella Maclean ("Spring Awakening," "Sex Education") as Taggie O'Hara. The cast also includes Emily Atack ("Almost Never"), Catriona Chandler ("The Wives"), Oliver Chris ("My Lady Jane"), Danny Dyer ("Mr. Bigstuff"), Rufus Jones ("W1A"), Lisa McGrillis ("Inspector George Gently"), Luke Pasqualino ("Shadow and Bone"), Claire Rushbrook ("My Mad Fat Diary") and Victoria Smurfit ("Once Upon a Time").

WHAT'S NEW ON PEACOCK

"Hysteria!" - Season 1

Get caught up in the madness with Peacock's new comedy-infused thriller series "Hysteria!" when it makes its debut on the streamer Friday, Oct. 18. Set in the 1980s during the height of America's Satanic panic, "Hysteria!" follows along with a high school heavy metal band, made up of social outcasts, as they devise a plan to "capitalize on the town's sudden interest in the occult by building a reputation as a Satanic metal band" (per Peacock). Upping their social standing and recognition, all seems to be going well — until a slew of bizarre incidents, including supposed supernatural activity, kidnappings and even murders, leads the town on a crazed, "leatherstudded witch hunt" that leads right to the young band (Peacock). From writers and executive producers Matthew Scott Kane ("Stitchers") and David A. Goodman ("The Orville"), the series stars Julie Bowen ("Modern Family"), Anna Camp ("Pitch Perfect," 2012), Emjay Anthony ("Physical"), Chiara Aurelia ("Cruel Summer"), Kezii Curtis ("Secret Headquarters," 2022), Nikki Hahn ("American Housewife"), Bruce Campbell ("Ash vs Evil Dead"), Garret Dillahunt ("Raising Hope"), Nolan North ("Pretty Little Liars"), Elijah Richardson ("The Falcon and the Winter Soldier"), Milly Shapiro ("Hereditary," 2018), Allison Scagliotti ("Stitchers") and Jessica Treska ("Sharp Objects").
